Dominican Rebels Fire Over Heads of Refugees at Hotel

L.B. WOMAN TELLS OF MOB TERRORISM

By ROY McGHEE

SAN JUAN, P. R. (UPI) — Refugees from the Dominican Republic told Saturday how armed civilians and a few uniformed revolutionists terrorized more than 600 Americans and other foreigners before the arrival of the Marines Wednesday.

Among the refugees was Mrs. Beth Hoke of Long Beach.

Mobs of high-school-age boys armed with shotguns and rifles and soldiers carrying machine guns traded fire with the defenders of the Embajador Hotel over the heads of the women and children in the courtyard below.

"Miraculously, no one was hit," said George Cerny of St. Paul, Minn.

Cerny was one of 591 refugees who landed here Saturday from the USS Yancey after an overnight trip from Santo Domingo.

He said units of the Dominican Air Force began bombing and strafing the Presidential Palace last Sunday afternoon. Their aim was so bad, he said, that bullets hit as far as four blocks away.

He said he barricaded his family in their home. The next day, Monday, Americans were urged to move into the Embajador.

On Tuesday, the evacuees were moved to the hotel's front lawn to get ready for transportation to the docks.

But before the transportation could arrive, Cerny said, "a group of civilians with pistols, rifles, and shotguns came upon the scene."

"They started questioning everybody," he added. "They said they were after a Cuban. Some of them wore army clothes."

Cerny said someone fired from the rebel ranks into the hotel and the fire was returned. Some rebels rushed into the hotel, lined up occupants against walls, and threatened to fire down the corridors.

Chauncey Kelley, of Savannah, Ga., was in the country to conduct a concert of the Dominican National Orchestra. He said he went on with the concert last Sunday night despite the revolt.

He said he was amazed at the coolness of the men, women, and children at the hotel when the shooting started — "they hit the ground just like soldiers."

Mrs. Hoke, a secretary in the U.S. Information Service office, said the rebels fired over the heads of women and children with machine guns.

(Mrs. Hoke, 47, lived in Long Beach with her sister, Mrs. Mary Shaw, at 1722 Coronado Ave. She went to the Dominican Republic March 7. Earlier, she worked with USIS in Tunisia and Cambodia.)

Another secretary, Mary Vacca, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who works in the U.S. Embassy, said bands of young men fired aimlessly as they roved through the city Tuesday morning.

Officials said another ship, the USS Ruchamkin, will dock here today with 397 more refugees.

The Yancey's 591 refugees included the Belgian ambassador to the Dominican Republic, who suffered a possible stroke during the fighting.

More Marines, GIs in Santo Domingo

OAS Names Five-Nation Conciliators

LBJ Says Force Too Small for Necessary Task

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson announced late Saturday night that about 2,000 Army paratroopers and Marines are being added to the U.S. military forces in the Dominican Republic.

Earlier, the Organization of American States had appointed a five-nation peace mission to go there to seek a peace agreement in the strife-torn Caribbean nation.

Johnson said the new troops were being sent into the area because those on hand—close to 5,000—were "thinly spread and subject to continuing attack and sniper fire."

The President, in a statement issued at 10 p.m. EST, said that, under present circumstances, the U.S. force centered around Santo Domingo did not have a capability adequate for its mission.

* * * *

JOHNSON described that mission as establishing a neutral zone of refuge in Santo Domingo and keeping the port area of Haina "free from attack from any side." He said the current responsibility of the U.S. troops "extends over nine square miles of a largely urban area."

Johnson said the new force, which was already moving into position, consisted of some 1,500 men from two battalions of the 82nd Airborne Division.

* * * *

IN ADDITION, he announced, further detachments of Marines were moving in.

The President gave no figure on the number of Marines involved in the move but officials said they would total "a few hundred."

Two Paratroopers Die in Battle to Clean Out Snipers

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (UPI) — Two U.S. paratroopers were killed Saturday by leftist rebel sniper fire in a successful battle to link up with U.S. Marines in rebel-infested eastern Santo Domingo. Their deaths brought the American toll in the bloody week-old Dominican revolution to five.

The paratroop action was aimed at cleaning out leftist rebels defying a cease-fire agreed to by their leaders.

The two dead were members of the 82nd Airborne Division. Five other paratroopers were wounded, bringing the total number of American wounded to 33. The three earlier dead were Marines killed Friday.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)— The Soviet Union, charging aggression and armed interference, tried but failed Saturday to get an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council on U.S. military landings in the Dominican Republic.

It will come right after a brief council debate on Southern Rhodesia, previously scheduled for 10:30 a.m. that day.

U.S. Jet Breaks Red Speed Mark

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said Saturday night that an American jet interceptor created by the designer of the U2 spy plane has bettered world speed records set by the Soviet Union.

Johnson said the YF12A aircraft, formerly called the A-11, exceeded 2,000 miles per hour on a straight course and hit a speed of 1,688 miles an hour on a closed course — meaning a round-trip flight from one point to another and back.

The plane's new world records on two flights were made Saturday by different crews at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The old record for a straight course—1,665.8 miles per hour — was set July 7, 1962, by a Soviet E166 jet. The same Soviet aircraft established the old closed-course record of 1,491.9 miles per hour on Oct. 7, 1961.

* * * *

JOHNSON noted in a statement that the YF12A was designed by Vice President "Kelly" Johnson of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., the builder of the plane. It was Lockheed's Johnson who designed the U2.

The YF12A was designed in secret, and its existence was not revealed until Feb. 12, 1964.

5 Killed in Crash of Copter

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Sunday (AP) — A U.S. Navy Sikorsky helicopter crashed about seven miles from Keflavik Air Base Saturday killing all five Americans aboard.

The helicopter was coming into Keflavik after an inspection trip to a U.S. base at Fiord Hvalfjoerdur.

Killed were the commander of the naval station at Keflavik, Capt. Robert R. Sparks, Lt. Col. Arthur House, commander of the U.S. Marine detachment at Keflavik and Hvalfjoerdur; civilian Jack Brink, who worked in the naval station special services; and the pilot of the helicopter, Lt. Col. Tuttle, and an unnamed crewman.

URGES MORE USE OF FEDERAL YARDS

House Panel Votes to Kill 65-35 Navy Repair Ratio

By BUCK LANIER

The House Armed Services Committee has junked the proviso which required the Navy to assign at least 35% of its conversion and repair work to private shipyards.

The committee also approved proposals for the Navy to build 62 new ships.

Long Beach civic and naval officials praised the action Saturday and Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., committee chairman, told The Independent, Press - Telegram that the shipyard requirement had not proved to be "militarily or economically sound."

The committee's action was a big victory for naval shipyards which have protested the rule since Congress laid it down 3½ years ago after a long legislative fight by private shipyards.

The Long Beach shipyard commander, Capt. Jaime Adair, said he was "delighted" with the news, adding, "It is good to see the Congress is choosing to eliminate the 65-35 proviso. I feel the Navy Department can do its overhaul, conversion and repair business in a more businesslike manner, and in a way more suitable to the needs of the fleet.

"I further look for no significant dollar volume of business going to private shipyards."

These key committee decisions were part of a $15.3-billion defense bill authorizing $8.86 billion for new weapons and $6.44 billion for research and development.

Now the Navy will be able to build its long-sought new ships, including another nuclear-powered missile frigate and its first "fast deployment logistics ships. These are to be positioned in remote areas for quick movement to trouble spots where they will serve as supply depots for ground forces.

Mayor Edwin Wade told the I, P-T:

"This is the greatest news to come out of Washington in a good number of years. The Navy needs new ships to make a more mobile fleet.

"The world situation today illustrates we have to be prepared to strike out quickly."

Rep. Rivers said also the bill will allow the four armed services to buy about 2,300 aircraft and 38,000 missiles.

It was indicated that additional work may be coming to the U.S. Naval Shipyard here in the future, although a spokesman said a study would have to be made first of present and programmed work loads for the balance of the year.

County Budget to Top Billion

I, P-T Los Angeles Bureau

The preliminary 1965-66 budget for Los Angeles County will be submitted Tuesday and, when coupled with budgets for special districts, probably will top $1 billion for the first time in history.

L. S. Hollinger, chief county administrative officer, will make his budget recommendations to county supervisors at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Hall of Administration, 500 W. Temple St., Los Angeles.

Taxpayers' organizations have been invited to attend and hear the budget message, but will not have an opportunity to speak at that time.

* * * *

BUDGET hearings, at which taxpayers may state their views on proposed county spending, will begin Thursday, June 10, at 2 p.m. and run for 10 days. They also will be in the Hall of Administration.

The current, 1964-65 general county budget totals $771,668,691. Budgets for the nearly 250 special districts—such as flood control, lighting, fire protection, parks and recreation and library — total more than $113 million.

* * * *

ALTHOUGH Hollinger's office has given no indication of what his recommendations will be, the continued growth of the county seems to guarantee that expenditures will continue to increase in 1965-66 as they have in all recent fiscal years.

With even a slight increase, the combined $771 million general budget and more than $113 million special budgets will soar past the $1-billion mark.

L.A.C. Says:

When Higher Ups Shy From Investigation

The scandal disclosed by the Securities Exchange Commission involved Texas Gulf Sulphur directors and officers—and a member of the President's executive branch. The charge was that these people held up announcement of the large copper deposit found in Canada by the company. It was withheld several days while the insiders bought up large amounts of the company's stock before the other stockholders and general public were informed. The stock then jumped to several times its price. The government official resigned after the SEC suit was filed. The President stated this official did right in resigning.

One example of how the American people have lost their capacity for indignation is the way the Bobby Baker, Walter Jenkins and President Johnson's attitude toward them is ignored. The people seem to be so entranced by the President's speeches on the Great Society and the handouts promised, they rarely discuss the sordid scandals that have been so successfully "swept under the carpet." It is a subject I hesitate to write about because I fear it will bore my readers—who would rather ignore it than to recognize this attitude as an example of our moral decay.

One comment we read was, "The Bobby Baker case proved one point. It's hard to get to the bottom of some things without getting too close to the top." The more we go into conflict-of-interest in public officeholders, the more glaring is the President's record of using his political power to keep for himself and family a television monopoly in the Texas state capital.

Then, I was thinking back to the McClellan Committee hearing where Jimmy Hoffa was pictured as a hoodlum and to have misused union funds. Bobby Kennedy was the prosecutor for the committee and used it to build up his brother, who was a member of the committee. But during the period of these hearings Bobby Baker was playing his leading role as the protege of the Senate Democratic organization leader Lyndon Johnson. His scandals involved greater political conflict of interest than anything done by Hoffa. But Hoffa was tried and convicted of wrong doing. Bobby Baker and Jenkins, secretary to the President, are enjoying the rewards they gained while under protection of the President. Hoffa is facing a prison term.

It is unfortunate the President has not disposed of his television monopoly interests. It is estimated they are worth over $10 million. The monopoly can be maintained only by approval of the Federal Communications Commission whose members are appointed by him. The fact that he has turned his interests over to a "trustee" is not convincing since the trustee is one of his oldest and closest associates. And as the property grows in value it all accrues to the Johnson family—whose influence perpetuates its monopoly.

It is a moral issue most people agree deserves correction. When business leaders so conduct themselves they encourage all those who condemn our system as corrupt. The bank failures we have been having have involved some shady dealers who misused their money and power. But are they any different than the senators, their assistants or the President who continue to flaunt moral laws? It is probable the Bobby Baker case and the Austin TV monopoly are no longer news or that a majority of the people care. If that is true, it is an example of how the American people have come to accept a letdown of morality. We have had similar cases throughout our history. But never have we seemed to be as complacent about them.—L.A.C.

JONES had been in ill health from a respiratory disease in recent months. He had a history of asthmatic attacks.

Early in April, he was hospitalized in Santa Monica following a severe attack but, his agent said, he appeared on the way to recovery.

In addition to his wife and daughter, he leaves a son, Lindley Armstrong Jr., 16 and a daughter, Gina Maria, 6.

L.B. Girl's Rescuer Free in Killing

A 20-year-old Frenchman who killed a would-be rapist in defense of a Long Beach girl was found innocent in a court in Turkey Friday.

The girl, a former Long Beach State College student who hopes to become a kindergarten teacher after her trip to Europe, is Charlotte Engstrand, 22, daughter of Jerry Engstrand, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Glenn Witherbee, of Hawthorne.

She was attacked by three men early Monday near Edirne. She clubbed them with a handbag containing two cameras, and her friend, a bearded, long-haired youth variously identified as Andre Raymond and Andre Corso, killed one of them with a pocketknife. The surviving assailants received 3½-year prison terms.

Probably A Cat-astrophe!

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — A write-in candidate for the University of New Mexico Student Council received enough votes to take her place on the council, but she won't.

Chelsea Montoya received 1,100 votes, enough to beat out one of the candidates running.

Counterfeit of $315,000 Laid to Four

OAKLAND (AP)—The Secret Service said Saturday four men are under arrest on charges of counterfeiting about $315,000 in $20 bills at a Portland, Ore., printshop.

Police at Hayward arrested Charles L. Bell, 35, identified as owner of the printshop, Friday night after a clerk at a shopping center reported suspicion about a bill.

Officers said John K. Kearney, 23, of Hermosa Beach, Calif., was arrested near the shopping center in a car.

At an Oakland motel, police reported arrest of Charles Collins, 26, and Gerald Barnett, 26, both of Hermosa Beach.

* * * *

TOM HANSEN, in charge of the regional office of the Secret Service, said about $100,000 in counterfeit bills had been cached in two deposit boxes in the Los Angeles area.

Officers quoted Bell as saying he turned to counterfeiting in his Portland shop after his regular business turned bad.

Authorities said the men first passed bills in Southern California, then worked their way north, passing others in San Jose, San Francisco and Oakland.

For Nuclear Rocket Engine, a 'Milestone'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Aerojet-General Corp. Saturday announced a "major milestone" in the development of a nuclear rocket engine.

Aerojet said it had for the first time brought together and tested major components in the Nerva (nuclear engine for rocket vehicle application) engine.

L.A.C. Says:

When Higher Ups Shy From Investigation

The scandal disclosed by the Securities Exchange Commission involved Texas Gulf Sulphur directors and officers—and a member of the President's executive branch. The charge was that these people held up announcement of the large copper deposits found in Canada by the company. It was withheld several days while the insiders bought up large amounts of the company's stock before the other stockholders and general public were informed. The stock then jumped to several times its price. The government official resigned after the SEC suit was filed. The President stated this official did right in resigning.

One example of how the American people have lost their capacity for indignation is the way the Bobby Baker, Walter Jenkins and President Johnson's attitude toward them is ignored. The people seem to be so entranced by the President's speeches on the Great Society and the handouts promised they rarely discuss the world scandals that have been so successfully swept under the carpet. It is a subject I hesitate to write about because I fear it will bore my readers—who would rather ignore it than to recognize this attitude as an example of our moral decay.

One comment we read was: "The Bobby Baker case proved one point. It is hard to get to the bottom of some things without getting too close to the top." The more we go into wrongdoing in public office, the more glaring is the President's record of using his political power to keep for himself and family a television monopoly in the Texas state capital.

Then I was thinking back to the McClellan Committee hearing where Jimmy Hoffa was portrayed as a hoodlum and to have insulted Union Lady Bobby Kennedy was the prosecutor for the committee and used it to prod up his career, was a member of the committee. But during the period of these hearings Bobby Baker was playing his leading role as the protege of the Senate Democratic organization leader Lyndon Johnson. His scandals involved greater political conflict of interest than anything done by Hoffa. But Hoffa was tried and convicted of wrong doing. Bobby Baker and Jenkins, secretary to the President, are enjoying the rewards they gained while under protection of the President. Hoffa is far on a lower rung.

It is unfortunate the President has not divested of his television monopoly interests. It is estimated they are worth over $10 million. The monopoly can be maintained only by approval of the Federal Communications Commission whose members are appointed by him. The fact that he has turned his interests over to a "trustee" is not convincing since the trustee is one of his oldest and closest associates. And as the property grows in value it all accrues to the Johnson family—whose influence perpetuates its monopoly.

It is a moral issue most people agree deserves correction. When business leaders so condition themselves they encourage all those who condemn our system as corrupt. The back failures we have been having have involved some shady dealers who misused their money and power. But are they any different than the senators, their associates or the President who continue to flaunt moral laws? It is probable the Bobby Baker case and the Austin TV monopoly are no longer news, or that a majority of the people care. If that is true it is an example of how the American people have come to accept a letdown of morality. We have had similar cases throughout our history. But never have we seemed to be so complacent about them.—L.A.C.

Spike Jones Services Set for Tuesday

Funeral services will be held in Los Angeles Tuesday for Spike Jones, famed Long Beach-born entertainer who died at his Bel Air home Saturday.

Rosary will be recited Monday at St. Victor's Catholic Church in West Hollywood with a Requiem Mass Tuesday. Entombment will follow in Holy Cross Mausoleum in Los Angeles.

The family issued this statement with a sad voice face died in his sleep at 12:30 a.m. His wife and vocalist, Helen Grayco, and their daughter, Leslie, 19, were at his side.

JONES was born Lindley Armstrong Jones in Long Beach on Dec. 14, 1911. He was drum major for Polly High School and in the late 1920's led the school's 96-piece marching band in parades down Pine Avenue.

After graduation he attended Chaffey Junior College then became a professional drummer and several "big bands" of that era.

The zany musician formed his own band and became famous when he introduced gunshots and screams for musical sounds. Some of his more popular compositions were included in renditions of "Cocoanut Grove," "Cocktails for Two" and "Der Fuehrer's Face."

JONES had been in poor health from a respiratory disease of recent months. He had a history of asthmatic ailments.

Early in April he was hospitalized in the Motion Picture Country Hospital following a heart attack. His agent said he appeared on the way to recovery.

In addition to his wife and daughter, he leaves a son, Lindley Armstrong Jr., 15, and a daughter, Cora Maria, 6.

Counterfeit of $315,000 Laid to Four

OAKLAND (UP)—The Secret Service said Saturday four men are under arrest on charges of counterfeiting about $315,000 in $20 bills at a Portland, Ore. printshop.

Police at Hayward arrested Charles L. Bell, 35, identified as owner of the printshop Friday night after a clerk at a shopping center reported suspicion about a bill.

Officers said John M. Kearney, 21, of Hermosa Beach, Calif., was arrested near the shopping center in a car.

At an Oakland motel, police reported arrest of Charles Collins, 26, and Gerald Bachner, 26, both of Hermosa Beach.

GATHERING OF THE CLAN

Looking almost like birds circling in preparation for a massed flight south, some of the 474 sailboats entered in the Balboa-to-Ensenada race make their last tacks Saturday morning just as the race begins. Reports late in the day indicated many of the sleek craft were becalmed off the coast near Oceanside but hoped to pick up enough wind before dawn to get under way.

Heroine Saves 3 From Drowning

By LEE BROWN

A 13-year-old Long Beach girl saved a younger girl from drowning Saturday in the Colorado Lagoon. To do it, however, she had to rescue the girl's mother and older sister, too.

Cindy Warden, 13, of 4315 Massachusetts St., a Franklin Junior High student, said she was about 50 yards away at 1 p.m. when she heard two girls scream for help.

As she swam toward the pair, she saw the girls' mother also respond to their cries. The mother got there first, but being a nonswimmer, was herself in trouble when she stepped into a dropoff.

* * * *

CINDY, a graduate of a YWCA swimming school, said she ordered the fast-panicking children to "grab on to your mom, and I'll pull you out." Swimming up to the mother, who couldn't touch the bottom, she pulled the floundering three to firm footing.

Lifeguards confirmed a troublesome two-foot dropoff in the Lagoon which causes trouble when the tide is low.

* * * *

NO ONE got the names of the two youngsters — about 10 and 11 respectively — or that of the thankful mother whose offer to reward Cindy was declined by the blonde youngster.

Tennessee Race Row, One Knifed

SOMERVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—A 17-year-old Negro civil rights worker was stabbed and at least five others, four of them white were injured Saturday afternoon as a mixed group of about 50 persons tested accommodations at four restaurants and a drug store here.

The victim of the stabbing, James Gray of Somerville, was treated by a private physician. He was identified as president of the Fayette County Student Union, a sponsor of the demonstrations.

Others injured were Peter Beagle, 25, of Santa Cruz, Calif., and his brother, Danny Beagle, 21, of New York City, both white civil rights workers who have been here for several weeks; Tim Hall, 22, a white worker from Cleveland, Ohio; Deborah Rib, 25, a white worker from New York City; and R. V. Horton, a Negro, about 35, of Somerville. None of the injuries necessitated hospitalization.

3 Area Women Killed in Crashes

Traffic accidents claimed the lives of three women Saturday. A 4-year-old Buena Park boy remained in critical condition after being struck down by a car near his home late Friday.

Mrs. Pearle McClurg, 94, of 525 W. First St., died in St. Mary's Hospital two hours after the 9:20 a.m. crash at Eighth Street and Cedar Avenue.

* * * *

SHE WAS riding in a car driven by Mrs. Consuelo Rothwell, 62, of Sherman Oaks. The car was struck at the intersection by a truck driven by Arthur Henry, 29, of Los Angeles, who was not hurt.

Mrs. Wilma Sprague, 63, of 432 Denni St., Wilmington, died at Harbor General Hospital at 5 p.m., after she was fatally injured in a two-car crash in Torrance.

Police said the victim was a passenger in her daughter's auto when it was struck near the Del Amo shopping center on Hawthorne Boulevard. The daughter, Bonnie C. Wilson, 38, who lived with her mother, received minor injuries, officers said.

* * * *

THE DRIVER of the second car, Carroll J. Crowley, 22, of 24263½ Los Cadona, Torrance, was not injured.

A Costa Mesa housewife, Patricia Ann Schutz, 26, of 362 E. 20th St., was dead on arrival at Hoag Memorial Hospital at 2:15 a.m. after she had been hit by another car after she fell from her husband's car on Harbor Boulevard near Fair Drive.

Police said before her husband William could get back to his wife she had been run over by a car that did not stop.

Bradley Reed, of 6431 Carolyn St., Buena Park was reported in critical condition at Lincoln Community Hospital late Saturday. The younger had been struck down near his home Friday night, police said.

Police Join Jet Set

BRIGHTON, England (UPI)—Police on the south coast of England have bought eight Lotus-Cortina racing cars to use as patrol vehicles. The 115-mile-an-hour cars will "give crooks the fright of their lives," an official says.

Bodies of Two Fliers Recovered at Sea

BOSTON (UPI)—The Coast Guard Saturday recovered the bodies of two Navy fliers who died when their experimental plane crashed into the Atlantic.

The bodies of Cmdr. Murdock M. McLeod, 40, the pilot, a native of Minneapolis and the father of eight, and Lt. Cmdr. Thomas A. Eades, copilot and a native of Dallas, were sighted off Cuttyhunk Island by a search plane. They were recovered by a cutter.

Female Bandit Suspect Seized

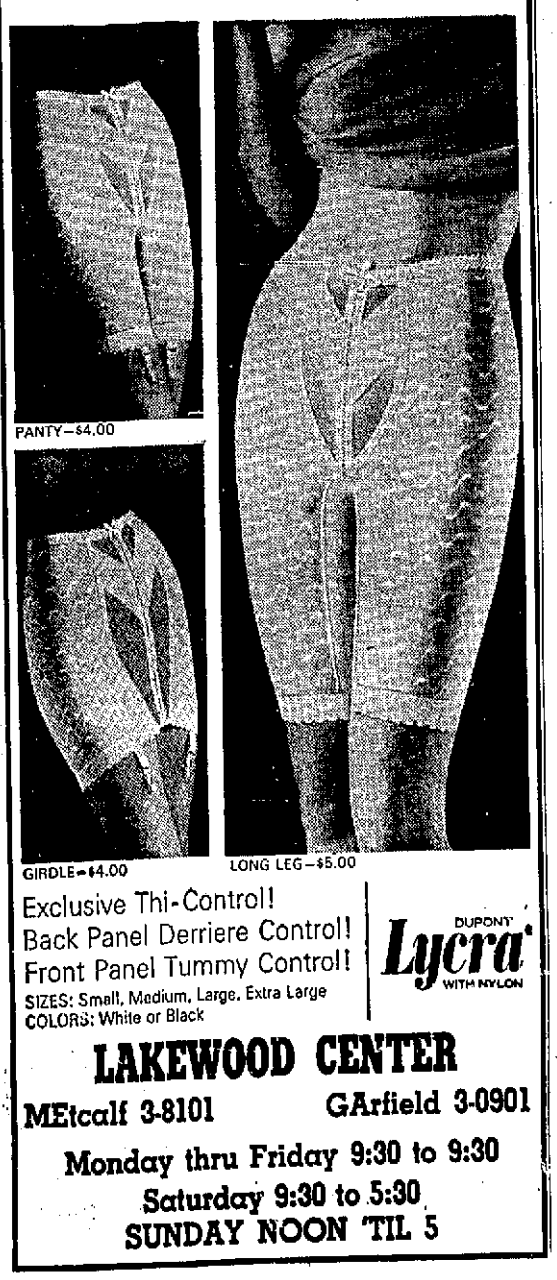

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Police Saturday arrested a 23-year-old woman they said lured tourists into dark alleys where they were beaten and robbed by a gang of girls.

Police said Alma Rodriguez Hernandez, a sultry brunette, admitted trying to pick up men but denied any connection with female bandits terrorizing the Merced Market area in downtown Mexico City.

GATHERING OF THE CLAN

Looking almost like birds circling in preparation for a massed flight south, some of the 474 sailboats entered in the Balboa-to-Ensenada race make their last tacks Saturday morning just as the race begins. Reports late in the day indicated many of the sleek craft were becalmed off the coast near Oceanside but hoped to pick up enough wind before dawn to get under way.

GIRL, 13, AIDS FAMILY

Heroine Saves 3 From Drowning

By LEE BROWN

A 13-year-old Long Beach girl saved a younger girl from drowning Saturday in the Colorado Lagoon. To do it, however, she had to rescue the girl's mother and older sister, too.

Cindy Warden, 13, of 4315 Massachusetts St., a Franklin Junior High student, said she was about 50 yards away at 1 p.m. when she heard two girls scream for help.

As she swam toward the pair, she saw the girls' mother also respond to their cries. The mother got there first, but being a nonswimmer, was herself in trouble when she stepped into a dropoff.

CINDY WARDEN Lagoon Rescue

CINDY, a graduate of a YWCA swimming school, said she ordered the fast-panicking children to "grab on to your mom, and I'll pull you out." Swimming up to the mother, who couldn't touch the bottom, she pulled the floundering three to firm footing.

Lifeguards confirmed a troublesome two-foot dropoff in the Lagoon which causes trouble when the tide is low.

* * * *

NO ONE got the names of the two youngsters — about 10 and 11 respectively — or that of the thankful mother whose offer to reward Cindy was declined by the blonde youngster.

Cindy went back to baby-sitting, and finally took her charges home. Her reaction—"Well, I was pretty tired for awhile."

Tennessee Race Row, One Knifed

SOMERVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A 17-year-old Negro civil rights worker was stabbed and at least five others, four of them white were injured Saturday afternoon as a mixed group of about 50 persons tested accommodations at four restaurants and a drug store here.

The victim of the stabbing, James Gray of Somerville, was treated by a private physician. He was identified as president of the Fayette County Student Union, a sponsor of the demonstrations.

Others injured were Peter Beagle, 25, of Santa Cruz, Calif., and his brother, Danny Beagle, 21, of New York City, both white civil rights workers who have been here for several weeks; Tim Hall, 22, a white worker from Cleveland, Ohio; Deborah Rib, 25, a white worker from New York City; and R. V. Horton, a Negro, about 35, of Somerville. None of the injuries necessitated hospitalization.

3 Area Women Killed in Crashes

Traffic accidents claimed the lives of three women Saturday. A 4-year-old Buena Park boy remained in critical condition after being struck down by a car near his home late Friday.

Mrs. Pearle McClurg, 94, of 525 W. First St., died in St. Mary's Hospital two hours after the 9:20 a.m. crash at Eighth Street and Cedar Avenue.

* * * *

SHE WAS riding in a car driven by Mrs. Consuelo Rothwell, 62, of Sherman Oaks. The car was struck at the intersection by a truck driven by Arthur Henry, 29, of Los Angeles, who was not hurt.

Mrs. Wilma Sprague, 63, of 432 Denni St., Wilmington, died at Harbor General Hospital at 5 p.m., after she was fatally injured in a two-car crash in Torrance.

Police said the victim was a passenger in her daughter's auto when it was struck near the Del Amo shopping center on Hawthorne Boulevard. The daughter, Bonnie C. Wilson, 38, who lived with her mother, received minor injuries, officers said.

* * * *

THE DRIVER of the second car, Carroll J. Crowley, 22, of 24263½ Los Cadona, Torrance, was not injured.

A Costa Mesa housewife, Patricia Ann Schutz, 26, of 362 E. 20th St., was dead on arrival at Hoag Memorial Hospital at 2:15 a.m. after she had been hit by another car after she fell from her husband's car on Harbor Boulevard near Fair Drive.

Police said before her husband William could get back to his wife she had been run over by a car that did not stop.

Bradley Reed, of 6431 Carolyn St., Buena Park was reported in critical condition at Lincoln Community Hospital late Saturday. The younger had been struck down near his home Friday night, police said.

Police Join Jet Set

BRIGHTON, England (UPI)—Police on the south coast of England have bought eight Lotus-Cortina racing cars to use as patrol vehicles. The 115-mile-an-hour cars will "give crooks the fright of their lives," an official says.

Bodies of Two Fliers Recovered at Sea

BOSTON (UPI)—The Coast Guard Saturday recovered the bodies of two Navy fliers who died when their experimental plane crashed into the Atlantic.

The bodies of Cmdr. Murdock M. McLeod, 40, the pilot, a native of Minneapolis and the father of eight, and Lt. Cmdr. Thomas A. Eades, copilot and a native of Dallas, were sighted off Cuttyhunk Island by a search plane. They were recovered by a cutter.

Female Bandit Suspect Seized

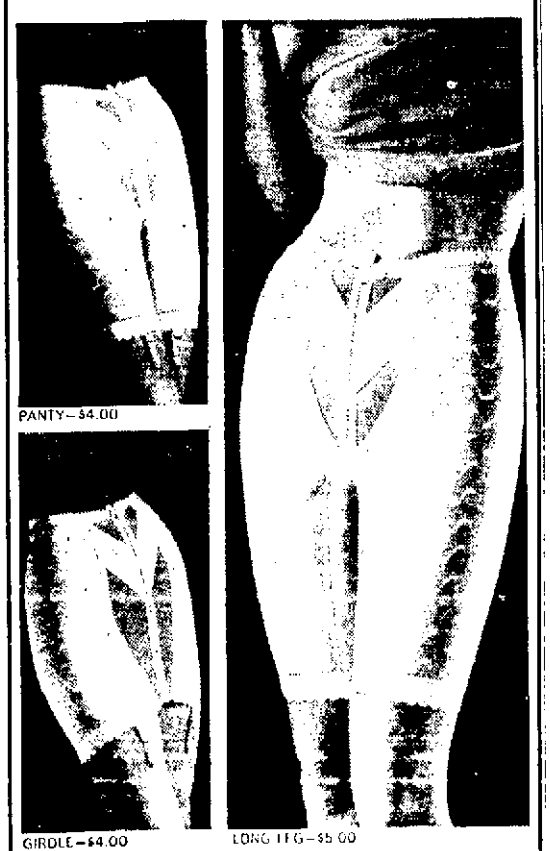

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Police Saturday arrested a 23-year-old woman they said lured tourists into dark alleys where they were beaten and robbed by a gang of girls.

Police said Alma Rodriguez Hernandez, a sultry brunette, admitted trying to pick up men but denied any connection with female bandits terrorizing the Merced Market area in downtown Mexico City.

HOSMER OPENS UROC SESSION

Reagan Draws Cheers for Attacks on Demos

By JIM McCAULEY
I. P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO—Ronald Reagan, addressing a United Republicans of California convention in which Reagan-for-governor buttons blossomed, Saturday delivered a slashing attack on Democratic administrations.

Freedom is periled by Communist victories abroad and new federal and state government controls at home, he warned.

Reagan chimed in to the unity theme of the convention by dramatizing a point-by-point "challenge to freedom."

He concluded: "Is there any feud or differences with our fellow Republicans that is any greater than our challenge today?"

Twelve hundred delegates cheered in a standing ovation. Banners waved. It was the most enthusiastic demonstration of the UROC convention.

Later, the delegates approved a resolution endorsing President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam.

* * * *

EARLIER, Congressman Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, criticized the Johnson administration over the Domincian Republic rebellion.

Hosmer revealed that he learned Wednesday that Cuba's Fidel Castro had been shipping arms to sympathizers in the Dominican Republic to aid a Communist-takeover there. Among those armed: chaildren as young as 10 years.

Hosmer noted that it was three days after Dominican Republic fighting began before President Johnson acknowledged it was partly Communist-inspired.

"I feel we were remiss in not getting proper people down there earlier," said Hosmer, chairman of the Congressional Joint Atomic Energy Committee.

* * * *

HE ALSO disclosed that the American Security Council has a forthcoming bulletin that will tell how a Castro "Fifth Column" is selling narcotics in the United States to finance Communist subversion.

Hosmer, quizzed by reporters after his convention - opening address, was asked whether he intends to run for California governor or some other statewide office.

"There is no talk on my running for statewide office next year," he replied.

Though UROC leaders plan no gubernatorial endorsement till 1966, Reagan was the man of the hour. The young Americans for Freedom put on sale Reagan - for - governor buttons and bumper stickers. They were going like hot cakes.

Reagan, delivering his keynote address in an auditorium two blocks from the governor's mansion, drew thunderous applause when he attacked the present resident of the mansion, Gov. Brown.

He said of these Brown administration programs:

Bare-Bones Budget—"It is the largest budget ever proposed in any of the 50 states. We know whose bones are going to be bare."

Bracero Harvest Crisis—"The Labor secretary stomps through our fields and it turns out he isn't the Jolly Green Giant."

Gas-tax Increase—"It is supposed to be a temporary one-cent increase for nine months . . . but I've never seen a temporary tax."

Proposed Jobless-insurance Increase—"Some industry is canceling plans to expand or come to California . . . It is a way of life for a segment of our society to work just long enough to establish eligibility for unemployment insurance."

Reagan, a onetime member of Americans for Democratic Action and United World Federalists, blasted his former organizations. "If they have their way, a tragedy will occur," he said.

He later disclosed that he changed his registration from Democratic to Republican in 1962, though he supported Republicans Richard Nixon and President Eisenhower in presidential elections during the past decade.

* * * *

REAGAN all but declared his candidacy at a press conference. "I am willing and I have made up my mind . . ." he said. But he tacked on the condition that he wanted to be sure he could be a broad-base rather than a factional candidate before officially declaring.

Meanwhile, Sen. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska needled Californians over Democratic state policies.

"While your state's population has increased 126% in 20 years, the number of state employes has zoomed 228% . . . What do all these employes do? Handle your farm problems? Maintain university discipline? Reduce the crime rate?" asked Curtis with tongue in cheek.

Goldwaterite Spirit Feared by Governor

LOS ANGELES (CNS) — Declaring that "the Goldwater spirit is as alive and vibrant today as it was last fall," Gov. Brown Saturday warned the California Federation of Young Democrats they are in for "the fight of our lives" in next year's gubernatorial election.

Speaking at the CFYD's convention in the International Hotel, Brown said a Republican victory in California next year would "provide a new resurgence of conservatism" which could "stop President Johnson's program in its tracks."

For that reason, the governor said, all Republican candidates would have to be judged by the "GOP vote on such issues as" Sen. George Murphy's no votes on federal aid to education, Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, aid to Apalachia and Medicare.

* * * *

"BELIEVE ME, that's only a beginning," said Brown, adding, "The record of Republican 'No' votes in Congress, votes against the greatest progressive legislative program since Franklin Delano Roosevelt, is an awesome thing. And the voters must be told about it."

Telling the voters will be up to organizations like the Young Democrats, Brown said.

State Controller Alan Cranston, who also spoke to the more than 350 delegates and alternates at the convention, said Democrats have accomplished many things, "mostly because good Democrats everywhere dared to dream and then went to work."

CAR BOOBY TRAP

Probable Killer of Editor Seen

HOUSTON (UPI) — Police said Saturday a well-dressed man was seen Friday night tampering with the car in which mild-mannered Melvin L. Steakley, the Houston Chronicle's Religion Editor, was slain by a pistol booby trap.

Steakley, 37, was killed about 1 a.m. CST (3 a.m. EDT) by a gun rigged with a wire to the clutch pedal of his small foreign car.

Officers also learned of a crank letter addressed to Steakley and 17 other persons, which implied a threat of death to persons who believe in racial integration. The letter carried no direct threat against Steakley, however. Police said the letter, which was unsigned, was violently segregationist in tone. It was neatly typed.

* * * *

OFFICERS said a witness they did not identify told them he saw a man in Steakley's car after leaving work in a downtown building at midnight as he walked toward a parking lot a short distance from Steakley's car.

"I stopped for a traffic light on Main Street, and as I crossed the street, I saw a gray-haired man park a station wagon immediately in front of a red Volkswagen parked several spaces from the corner," the witness told Detective N. (Blackie) Free. "The man passed me, walking west.

"As I approached the Volkswagen I saw a man seated in it with his left foot on the pavement outside. He seemed to be doing something inside the car with his hands.

"When I approached he looked up and smiled sheepishly. He had very white teeth. He stopped what he was doing with his hands and watched me as I walked past."

MELVIN L. STEAKLEY
Slain in Houston

The witness said the man in Steakley's car wore a dark suit, white shirt, dark tie and appeared to be about 27 to 32 years old.

* * * *

POLICE said they were seeking a second possible witness who parked a station wagon near Seakley's car and may have seen the killer.

The light-haired, balding Steakley, who carried heavy insurance but had no known enemies, staggered out of the auto, mortally wounded in the chest by a single shot. He fell dead 49 feet away.

Police started tests on the auto, the weapon and its crude mount to the steering column.

Hosmer Denies Dam Will Flood Canyon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., denied Saturday that the proposed $500-million Bridge Canyon Dam on the Colorado River would result in "flooding out" of the Grand Canyon.

The California Republican said the 93-mile lake which the 637-foot high dam would create would not harm the Grand Canyon National Park as contended by conservationist groups.

* * * *

HOSMER charged that conservationists opposed to the project were conducting "an unreasonable campaign aimed at an unreasonable objective, namely, paralysis of the growth of progress of America."

In a speech prepared for delivery in the house, Hosmer said the huge dam was a necessary feature of a "bold, necessary and imaginative project" to provide water for Arizona, California and Nevada.

The Bridge Canyon Dam, built at the headquarters of Lake Mead, would back water all the way through the Grand Canyon National Monument and 13 miles into Grand Canyon National Park.

"Less than 1% of the total geographic area of the park will be affected," Hosmer said.

Steve Allen to Talk to Downey Demos

By BOB HOUSER
I. P-T Political Editor

Steve Allen, TV-movie personality, will be gues speaker at 8 p.m. Wednesday for the Downey Democratic Club in Downey High School Gym, Firestone Boulevard and Brookshire Avenue.

Club president James Sperrazzo said Allen's speech closes the club's current information series designed to effect a better undersanding of both right and left political extremism. He also noted Allen's designation by the New York Board of Trade as young man of the year in New York for an anticrime documentary he wrote and produced.

DR. TELLER TALK

Dr. Edward Teller, "father of the hydrogen bomb," will speak on "Defense and Public Understanding" before Los Angeles County Young Republicans at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Ambassador Hotel Sunset Room, Los Angeles. The meeting is public. Admission is 50 cents.

* * * *

ZAHLER ELECTED

Arthur Zahler, insurance executive, has been elected president of the Marina Democratic Club of Seal Beach. Other officers named are Robert Webb, vice president, and Robert A. Knox, corresponding secretary.

* * * *

CHRISTOPHER TO SPEAK

George Christopher, former mayor of San Francisco and a potential 1966 GOP gubernatorial candidate, will make a major address at the Wednesday night meeting of the Republican Alliance in the Caravan Inn, 2804 E. Garvey Blvd., West Covina. A reception is scheduled for 7:45 p.m. Christopher will speak at 8:15. Admission is free.

* * * *

GOP '66 GOALS

Mrs. Ann Bowler, Republican National Committeewoman for California, will speak for the El Dorado 39th Assembly District California Republican Assembly, Tuesday evening at 3451 Claremore Ave. All CRA unit presidents have been invited. Mrs. Bowler will speak on "Republican Goals for 1966."

Pierre Sees Kuchel LBJ Rival in '68

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Saturday he felt Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California was a darkhorse candidate for the Republican presidential nomination for 1968.

Salinger said Kuchel also was a potential contender for California Gov. Edmund Brown's seat in 1966, although he said recent surveys show that if Kuchel had to run against actor Ronald Reagan in a GOP primary, Reagan would win.

"Reagan is more articulate than Murphy (actor George Murphy who defeated Salinger for the U.S. Senate seat last November), farther to the right, and his potential as governor would be more dangerous to California," Salinger said.

As for his own political ambitions, Salinger, who was in Salt Lake City for a Jefferson-Jackson Day speech, said he had no current ones—at least not until 1968, when another U. S. Senate seat opens up in California.

Molly Brown Bugged

NEW YORK (AP) — Gemini astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young were "bugged" by 650 communication engineers of the Rendix Corporation at ground tracking stations around the world. The interior of the Molly Brown capsule was probably the most completely monitored room in history. Everything—from casual conversation to the astronauts' heartbeats—was communicated by telemetry to these tracking stations.

Anti-Reds Lay Plan for Party

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Congress of Conservatives ended a three-day meeting Saturday with a pledge "to participate in the formation of a national anti-Communist party."

A declaration said delegates to the meeting would constitute an advance committee to "encourage the formation of appropriate new state parties, support existing independent parties, seek the achievement of a national committee, and encourage the appearance of potential candidates for the new national party's nomination."

* * * *

DELEGATES roared approval of a 16-point action program prepared by the political action executive committee.

The action program urged liberating Cuba "from its Communist conquerors."

"We should capture Chinese and Russian Communists now based in Cuba, and hold them as hostages pending release of Americans from Russia and Red China," the program said.

It also would:

—Re-establish free government on the mainland of China "as a permanent solution to Communist aggression in Southeast Asia."

—End "federal support of Communist subversion of America through agitation of racial turmoil in the streets."

—Break relations with Russia and the East European satellites and continue non-recognition of Red China.

—"Reappraise the political and military doctrines which have, during the past 20 years, reduced the United States from a position of incomparable power to a condition of national peril" and "stop unilaterial disarmament."

The light-haired, balding Steakley, who carried heavy insurance but had no known enemies, staggered out of the auto, mortally wounded in the chest by a single shot. He fell dead 49 feet away.

Police started tests on the auto, the weapon and its crude mount to the steering column.

Hosmer Denies Dam Will Flood Canyon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., denied Saturday that the proposed $500-million Bridge Canyon Dam on the Colorado River would result in "flooding out" of the Grand Canyon.

The California Republican said the 93-mile lake which the 637-foot high dam would create would not harm the Grand Canyon National Park as contended by conservationist groups.

* * * *

HOSMER charged that conservationists opposed to the project were conducting "an unreasonable campaign aimed at an unreasonable objective, namely, paralysis of the growth of progress of America."

In a speech prepared for delivery in the house, Hosmer said the huge dam was a necessary feature of a "bold, necessary and imaginative project" to provide water for Arizona, California and Nevada.

The Bridge Canyon Dam, built at the headquarters of Lake Mead, would back water all the way through the Grand Canyon National Monument and 13 miles into Grand Canyon National Park.

"Less than 1% of the total geographic area of the park will be affected," Hosmer said.

Steve Allen to Talk to Downey Demos

By BOB HOUSER
I, P-T Political Editor

Steve Allen, TV-movie personality, will be gues speaker at 8 p.m. Wednesday for the Downey Democratic Club in Downey High School Gym, Firestone boulevard and Brookshire Avenue.

Club president James Sperazzo said Allen's speech closes the club's current information series designed to effect a better undersanding of both right and left political extremism. He also noted Allen's designation by the New York Board of Trade as young man of the year in New York for an anticrime documentary he wrote and produced.

GOP '66 GOALS

Mrs. Ann Bowler, Republican National Committeewoman for California, will speak for the El Dorado 39th Assembly District California Republican Assembly, Tuesday evening at 3451 Claremore Ave. All CRA unit presidents have been invited. Mrs. Bowler will speak on "Republican Goals for 1966."

Pierre Sees Kuchel LBJ Rival in '68

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Former White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Saturday he felt Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California was a darkhorse candidate for the Republican presidential nomination for 1968.

Salinger said Kuchel also was a potential contender for California Gov. Edmund Brown's seat in 1966, although he said recent surveys show that if Kuchel had to run against actor Ronald Reagan in a GOP primary, Reagan would win.

"Reagan is more articulate than Murphy (actor George Murphy who defeated Salinger for the U.S. Senate seat last November), farther to the right, and his potential as governor would be more dangerous to California," Salinger said.

As for his own political ambitions, Salinger, who was in Salt Lake City for a Jefferson-Jackson Day speech, said he had no current ones—at least not until 1968, when another U.S. Senate seat opens up in California.

Molly Brown Bugged

NEW YORK (AP)—Gemini astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young were "bugged" by 650 communication engineers of the Bendix Corp station at ground tracking stations around the world. The interior of the Molly Brown capsule was probably the most completely monitored room in history. Everything—from casual conversation to the astronauts' heartbeats—was communicated by telemetry to these tracking stations.

Anti-Reds Lay Plan for Party

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Congress of Conservatives ended a three-day meeting Saturday with a pledge "to participate in the formation of a national anti-Communist party."

A declaration said delegates to the meeting would constitute an advance committee to "encourage the formation of appropriate new state parties, support existing independent parties, seek the achievement of a national committee, and encourage the appearance of potential candidates for the new national party's nomination."

* * * *

DELEGATES roared approval of a 16-point action program prepared by the political action executive committee.

The action program urged liberating Cuba "from its Communist conquerors."

"We should capture Chinese and Russian Communists now based in Cuba, and hold them as hostages pending release of Americans from Russia and Red China," the program said.

It also would:

—Re-establish free government on the mainland of China "as a permanent solution to Communist aggression in Southeast Asia."

—End "federal support of Communist subversion of America through agitation of racial turmoil in the streets."

—Break relations with Russia and the East European satellites and continue non-recognition of Red China.

—"Reappraise the political and military doctrines which have, during the past 20 years, reduced the United States from a position of incomparable power to a condition of national peril" and "stop unilateral disarmament."

LBJ Studies New Envoy Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States ambassadors to France, Germany, Britain and India were reported Saturday to be solidly established in their present posts but informed sources said President Johnson is considering five or six other diplomatic appointments.

One of them would be to the long-vacant ambassadorial position in Australia.

* * * *

REPORTS and rumors of diplomatic shifts keep recurring. But the word Saturday was that Charles E. Bohlen will stay on in France, George McGhee in West Germany, David Bruce in England and Chester Bowles in India.

At the same time, sources said, a vacancy in Jamaica is going to stay vacant for a time, since Frank McKinney of Indianapolis has turned down an offer of the appointment. McKinney is from Indianapolis, Ind., and a former Democratic National Chairman.

At the time of the White House announcement that he would be named Ambassador to Jamaica, he said he knew nothing about it. Now checks are being run on other possibilities for the post.

* * * *

ASIDE from Australia, there were no indications of what other diplomatic assignments may be expected among the five or six now coming up.

Some changes also are expected in the State Department command in Washington, including some assistant secretaries, and in the U. S. delegation to the United Nations.

All of these, along with the filling of the chairmanship of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Equal Opportunities Commission, will just about finish the list of major appointments now in the mill, informants said.

L.B. Physician Found Dead in Backyard

A freak accident Saturday took the life of a 61-year-old Long Beach physician.

Police said Dr. Max Sinay, of 1021 Andrews Dr., apparently drowned when he fell into a small sump hole in the rear yard at his home.

Officer E. R. Carter said the body of the doctor was found shortly before 8 p.m., head down in a two-by-three foot excavation which contained several inches of water. Bruises on the doctor's hands and arms indicated he had battled to free himself from the small hole.

Dr. Sinay was reported missing about 7:35 p.m. by his wife, Leonore. He maintained offices at 5829 Atlantic Ave.

Dog Is No Dumbbell, Barks for Ice Cream

By DICK EMERY

In Wilmington one day four years ago they gave Nell, then a boxer pup, an ice cream bar.

Next day when the ice cream truck jingled by, Nell pleased everyone by saying, "Woof!"

So they bought her another ice cream bar.

Being a smart pup, Nell learned to say "Woof!" in every note of the chromatic scale. Every day she got another bar from the truck.

"That's how it started," Louise Jacobus said today, of the now 73-pound pooch, as Nell swallowed still another ice cream bar in front of the Jacobus residence at 1052 Banning Blvd.

"Best customer I ever had," said the ice cream truck man, Harry Wilson.

World Speed Record Set by Research Projectile

MOFFETT FIELD, Calif. (AP)—The Ames Research Center claimed Saturday a new world speed record for projectile of 25,300 mph.

The .22-caliber projectile was fired in a 20-foot-long light-gas gun. Scientists at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's research center said it was about 3,200 mph faster than the previous record for ground-based controlled projectile flight.

B. Pat Denardo, scientist in charge of the test, said it represented a hardware triumph in advancing the development of hypervelocity guns.

The devices are used for research on entry into the atmosphere of the earth and other planets and to study materials under superspeed conditions.

Nasser Attacks Tunisian Stand

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser accused Tunisia's President Bourguiba Saturday of supporting "Zionism and Imperialism."

He denounced Bourguiba's proposals for peaceful coexistence with Israel in a 90-minute speech before a mass May Day rally in Cairo.

Isle Fears for Girls Amid 130 Gendarmes

ST. PIERRE, St. Pierre et Miquelon (UPI)—Residents of the French colonial possession of St. Pierre and Miquelon kept a watchful eye on their girls Saturday, fearful they might become too friendly with 130 French riot police sent here to deal with possible labor trouble.

"Our girls are not venuses," Mayor Joseph Leheunen of St. Pierre said, "but between the ages of 16 and up they are quite impressionable, you know."

"What they will do, they will try and run after the girls," the mayor said. "Imagine the effect this will have on our girls if these troops stay here for months."

The police arrived in the French colony off Newfoundland last week aboard two frigates. It was the first visit in peacetime by the gendarmes to this last remnant of French colonialism in North America. They came at the invitation of Gov. Jacques Herry, who said there were "direct and indirect" threats of trouble resulting from a two-day general strike earlier last week.

The strike apparently stemmed from the refusal of Albert Briand, president of General Council, to approve a wage hike on a French-government multimillion-dollar harbor project.

Takes Nest Egg With Him

DORMANS LAND, England (UPI)—A bird's nest containing one egg takes a daily ride of 16-miles between Dormans Land and Horley in Surrey. The nest is built under the mudguard of William Burgon's car.

Find Bomb on Crowded Italian Train

BRENNERO, Italy (AP)—Italian police checking a crowded passenger train on the Austrian-Italian border Saturday said they found a time bomb ticking away in one of the cars.

The police were making a routine train check at this Brenner Pass border point in the Alto Adige (South Tyrol), a section of Italy frequently troubled in terrorist bombings.

Officers said they found 6½ pounds of dynamite attached to a clock set for 9:45 a.m. The bomb, placed in the wastebasket of a washroom, was uncovered at 2:35 a.m.

The car was part of the Munich - Milan Express, crowded with German and Austrian tourists heading into Italy for the May Day weekend.

The car was emptied of passengers, detached from the train and shunted onto a siding. Artillerymen removed the bomb and set it off in an open field outside the city.

A 'Booming' Haul

KALI, Yugoslavia (AP)—Fishermen of this Adriatic island pulled happily at their big net which was so heavily laden that it promised a good catch. Then they saw what they had hauled in—a 1,000 pound World War II aerial bomb.

Pope Paul Exalts Spacemen's Work

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI told an audience of Italian space engineers and technicians this week: "The church, in the peaceful and exalting race for the conquest of space, sees a stupendous confirmation of the possibilities of the human nature which God created in his own image and likeness."

Danish Princess Starts Trip to U.S. on Monday

COPENHAGEN (UP) — Princess Benedikte, newly 21, is starting Monday her first trip to the United States. She will visit New York, Washington and Maryland.

Second in line for the throne, Benedikte has been less in the public eye than her sisters, Margrethe, the crown princess, and Anne-Marie, Queen of Greece.

At 21 he can act as regent if both King Frederik IX and Margrethe are abroad. She will be more in the spotlight as a roving ambassador for the royal family.

Many Danes call her the prettiest of the royal daughters. Benedikte has dark blue eyes, chestnut hair and a tall slim figure. She speaks English and German, and some French. She likes skiing and swimming, but most of all horseback riding.

$42.7 Million Lost in Argentine Casino

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina (UP)—More than a million persons dropped 7.3 billion pesos ($42.7 million at the official exchange rate) in the gambling casino at this Atlantic beach resort during the four-month summer season, officials announced.

Kosygin Plans Trip

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Alexei Kosygin will head a Soviet delegation on a visit to East Germany Thursday, the official Tass news agency reported today.

Sukarno to Talk at Red Meet

JAKARTA (UPI)—President Sukarno will address the Indonesian Communist Party May 20 at a meeting celebrating its 45th anniversary.

Communist leader D. N. Aidit also said that communist delegations from Red China, North Korea, North Viet Nam, Albania, the Soviet Union, Japan, Romania and The Netherlands would be present.

Rowan Speaker at Journalism Awards Dinner

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Carl T. Rowan, director of the United States Information Agency (USIA) will be the principal speaker at the UCLA Foreign Journalism Awards May 14.

The four winners of the awards are Nells Norlund, editor of the Berlinkske Tidende Copenhagen; Maarten C. Bolle, Washington correspondent for the Amsterdam Het Vrije Volk; Guido Gerosa, New York correspondent for the Italian Magazine Epoca, and John David Hamilton, Canadian Broadcasting Corp., Toronto. They will each receive $1,000 and a commemorative plaque.

Arrange Loan of Michelangelo's Tondo

LONDON (UP) — A marble bas-relief by Michelangelo is being offered on loan to the world's museums in exchange for a chance to exhibit their art treasures in Britain, the president of Britain's Royal Academy announced.

Sir Charles Wheeler told the Academy's annual dinner negotiations are already underway for the Russians to borrow Michelangelo's Tondo, one of the Renaissance artist's few sculptures outside Italy.

Rhesus Monkey Mourns Mate

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Annie, a rhesus monkey whose mate recently died in the flooded zoo at Mankato, Minn., shows little inclination to get married again.

Brought to new quarters at the Como Park Zoo, Annie has been caged with two males and officials at the zoo hoped their might result a happy union.

But Annie apparently is deep in grief and shuns both males. She spends most of the time peering through the bars. When not at the bars, Annie sits in a distant corner, shielding her eyes with her hands and sometimes even sucking a thumb.

Zoo officials said today they're confident Annie will get over her grief in time.

Danish Princess Starts Trip to U.S. on Monday

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Princess Benedikte, newly 21, is starting Monday her first trip to the United States. She will visit New York, Washington and Maryland.

Second in line for the throne, Benedikte has been less in the public eye than her sisters, Margrethe, the crown princess, and Anne-Marie, Queen of Greece.

At 21 he can act as regent if both King Frederik IX and Margrethe are abroad. She will be more in the spotlight as a roving ambassador for the royal family.

Many Danes call her the prettiest of the royal daughters. Benedikte has dark blue eyes, chestnut hair and a tall slim figure. She spenks English and German, and some French. She likes skiing and swimming, but most of all horseback riding.

$42.7 Million Lost in Argentine Casino

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina (AP)—More than a million persons dropped 7.3 billion pesos ($42.7 million at the official exchange rate) in the gambling casino at this Atlantic beach resort during the four-month summer season, officials announced.

Where Else?

LONDON (UPI)—The London offices of the Timber Decay Enquiry Bureau are located in Wormwood Street.

Sukarno to Talk at Red Meet

JAKARTA (UPI)—President Sukarno will address the Indonesian Communist Party May 20 at a meeting celebrating its 45th anniversary.

Communist leader D. N. Aidit also said that communist delegations from Red China, North Korea, North Viet Nam, Albania, the Soviet Union, Japan, Romania and The Netherlands would be present.

Kosygin Plans Trip

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Alexei Kosygin will head a Soviet delegation on a visit to East Germany Thursday, the official Tass news agency reported today.

Rowan Speaker at Journalism Awards Dinner

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Carl T. Rowan, director of the United States Information Agency (USIA) will be the principal speaker at the UCLA Foreign Journalism Awards May 14.

The four winners of the awards are Neils Norlund, editor of the Berlinkske Tidende Copenhagen; Maarten C. Bolle, Washington correspondent for the Amsterdam Het Vrije Volk; Guido Gerosa, New York correspondent for the Italian Magazine Epoca, and John David Hamilton, Canadian Broadcasting Corp., Toronto. They will each receive $1,000 and a commemorative plaque.

Arrange Loan of Michelangelo's Tondo

LONDON (AP) — A marble, bas-relief by Michelangelo is being offered on loan to the world's museums in exchange for a chance to exhibit their art treasures in Britain, the one of the Renaissance artist's few sculptures outside Italy.

Sir Charles Wheeler told the Academy's annual dinner negotiations are already under way for the Russians to borrow Michelangelo's Tondo, president of Britain's Royal Academy announced.

Rhesus Monkey Mourns Mate

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Annie, a rhesus monkey whose mate recently died in the flooded zoo at Mankato, Minn., shows little inclination to get married again.

Brought to new quarters at the Como Park Zoo, Annie has been caged with two males and officials at the zoo hoped their might result a happy union.

But Annie apparently is deep in grief and shuns both males. She spends most of the time peering through the bars. When not at the bars, Annie sits in a distant corner, shielding her eyes with her hands and sometimes even sucking a thumb.

Zoo officials said today they're confident Annie will get over her grief in time.

Record $51.7 Billion Expansions Planned

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. business plans to spend a record $51.7 billion on new plants and equipment this year, McGraw-Hill publications said.

This would be an increase of $6.6 billion, or 15%, over last year, and mark the first time that American business capital spending topped $50 billion.

Exiled Chief's Wife Is Halted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Juan Bosch, wife of the ousted president of the Dominican Republic, was barred temporarily from entering the room while the Organization of American States met Saturday on the Dominican crisis.

The chief security guard stopped her in the corridor leading to the meeting place at the Pan American Union Building.

"You can't go forward," the guard told Mrs. Bosch.

"I am here as a private citizen of the Americas," she replied.

She stayed in the corridor until OAS protocol officials intervened and escorted her into the meeting.

Mrs. Bosch, dressed in black, arrived at the building in downtown Washington with a group of women also in black dress.

"I am in mourning clothes because democracy in the Dominican Republic is dead," she told newsmen.

MRS. JUAN BOSCH
Barred From Meet

She came here Saturday from San Juan, Puerto Rico, where she lives with her exiled husband whose supporters helped spark the uprising in the Dominican Republic.

issued simultaneously, Johnson applauded the Organization of American States, saying it "acted decisively" in creating the committee from five member states to go to the Dominican Republic, work for a cease-fire and investigate the situation there.

* * * *

JOHNSON said the United States is ready to support with every resource the inter-American system and "will help carry out the solemn judgments of the assembled American republics."

The President said this is the goal of the United States in the Dominican Republic:

"That the people of that country must be permitted to freely choose the path of political democracy, social justice and economic progress."

* * * *

HARKING back to the Dominican regime of assassinated strong man Rafael Trujillo, Johnson said:

"Neither the United States, nor any nation, can want or permit a return to that brutal and oppressive despotism which earned the condemnation and punishment of this hemisphere and of all civilized humanity. We intend to carry on the struggle against tyranny no matter in what ideology it cloaks itself."

Johnson made no direct mention of Communists, though officials believe they have been active in the rebel cause in Santo Domingo.

* * * *

THE NUMBER of U.S. forces in the country is unofficially estimated at more than 6,000 from announcements thus far of the totals involved.

Named to the peace-seeking mission flying to Santo Domingo before dawn today were Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Guatemala and Panama.

quests for evacuation have been reported.

The new fighting broke out despite the signing of a cease-fire agreement by leaders of the leftist revolution that began last Saturday in an effort to return ousted leftist, former President Juan Bosch to power. Loyal military leaders who resisted the Communist-supported rebels signed the agreement.

Former U.S. Ambassador John Bartlow Martin and the Papal Nuncio Emanuele Clairizo personally went into the rebel-held area of the capital to get the cease-fire signature.

* * * *

BUT renegade leftist rebels refused to obey the commands of their leaders to lay down their arms. There were reports that some die-hard Communists wanted to continue the fighting at all costs.

The pro-Bosch faction had distributed arms to citizens shortly after the revolt began a week ago. It was believed the rebels still holding out were among those who were given such arms.

(In San Juan, Bosch said he has ordered his supporters in Santo Domingo not to resist the American forces, CBS News reported in a broadcast.)

In Santiago, U.S. paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division crossed the Guarate Bridge over the Osama River and fought their way into the eastern end of the Dominican capital. The paratroopers cleaned out the defiant rebel snipers block by block as they pushed down streets strewn with glass and rubble.

The paratroopers and Marines involved in Saturday's action were part of a force of 4,000 U.S. servicemen rushed into the capital to safeguard the lives of U.S. civilians trapped by the revolt that has taken at least 400 Dominican lives and injured thousands of persons.

Monument in the background, then picked out a white iron chair with a green seat, plopped down, and talked and answered questions for more than an hour. Mostly he talked.

As is customary for these roving and sometimes stationary sessions, the bulk of what he said was not to be reported.

PART way through, a butler produced a tray of coffee and paper cups for everybody, Johnson included. Three times an aide interrupted to place papers before him, which he scanned briefly and handed back or stuffed in a coat pocket.

It was a good thing the meandering menage wound up on the balcony, because the sun had disappeared and a shower spattered down.

It was another lovely spring day when the walk got under way in the President's Rose Garden. He had his beagle "Him" on a leash at the start but soon freed him to run and romp with his white collie "Blanco." Blanco got in so much exercise he had to stop at the people's drinking fountain along the drive and take on some water.

$39-Million City Outlay Seen Likely

A Long Beach municipal budget keyed to an estimated $25-million public works program—largest for any fiscal year—is more than halfway through the drafting stage for submission to the City Council next month.

City Manager John R. Mansell, discussing results of a month's preliminary work in his office and that of the Budget and Research Division, pointedly refrained from such standard budget cliches as "bare bones."

"It will be the best summary of revenues and appropriations we can put together in view of our increasing resources and needs and the expansion of public improvements," he said.

* * * *

HE ALSO refused to speculate on an over-all total. Indications were that the figure for tax-related departments will approach $39 million. The comparable appropriations this year were $37,259,092. Annual increases on this scale have been normal in the city's period of population growth.

Mansell will hand his proposals to the council about June 15. Normally the council makes its changes and approves a final budget in mid-July. New appropriations will become effective with the start of the 1965-66 fiscal year July 1.

* * * *

* * * *

THE $25-MILLION estimate for next year's public improvements covers main elements in the already-approved downtown shoreline construction, streets and highways, parks and beautification and a continuation of the streetlighting program jointly financed by the city and by district property owners.

Impact of these expenditures on the tax rate will be lightened by the use of tideland oil revenues and increased allotments from gasoline-tax collections.

Aside from the new Department of Oil Properties (formerly a Harbor Department function, and still financed for the most part from tideland oil), the principal personnel increases will go to the police and engineering departments, Mansell said.

Additions to police patrols carry out an established policy approved by the council in recent budgets, the city manager said.

In the engineering department, the added technical personnel will be assigned to planning shoreline, park and beautification and street improvements. These duties also include surveying, inspection, testing and administrative work.

* * * *

"WE EXPECT to employ more architects and engineers under contract, but the size of the program is such that we will also have a greater workload in the city engineer's office," Mansell said.

Revenue estimates still are incomplete, he reported, and won't be formulated for the budget document until about June 1. The principal unknown factors are income from such sources as the sales tax and various state subventions.

The budget staff so far has found no necessity for new sources of revenue—meaning new kinds of taxes.

Planning for next fiscal year, however, assumes substantial income from a cigarette tax of two cents a package or, alternatively, a 1½-cent allotment under pending state legislation.

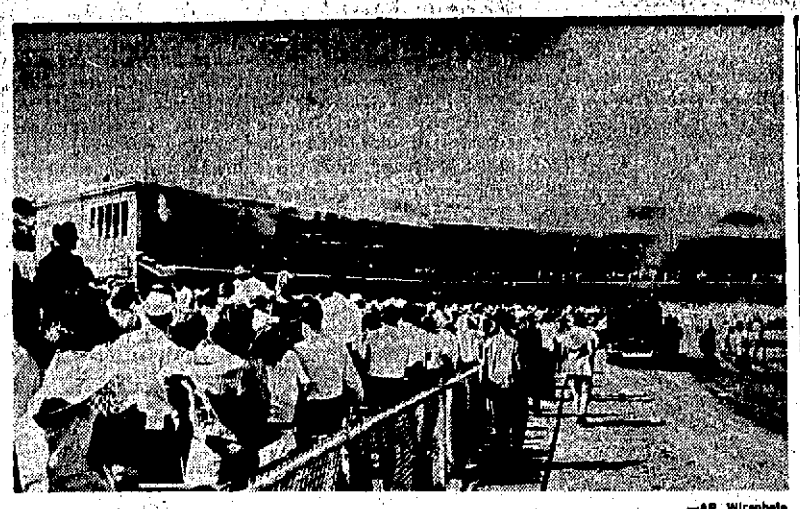

* * * *

THE COUNCIL already has approved in principle the assignment of these revenues to offstreet parking facilities, including assistance to property owners forming special assessment districts to buy and improve parking lots or build garages.

One of the major unknown factors is city salaries. Employe groups have not yet filed their annual requests for raises. The city's own salary surveys, comparing salaries here and in comparable public jurisdictions, is also far from complete.

County Budget Over $1 Billion Forecast

this expenditure, however, must be raised by the local property tax.

All of the special districts have their own tax rates, which are imposed only on the areas served.

Of the $771,668,691 being spent in the current general budget, $445,228,130 is provided from state and federal subventions and minor sources such as fines and forfeitures, service fees and licenses. Another $4,934,024 came from surplus funds.

* * * *

THE remaining $321,454,537 represents the amount which must be raised by the tax levy. During the current fiscal year, this called for a tax rate of $2.3997 per $100 of assessed valuation. This was the highest tax rate in county history.

On a home assessed at $4,000 — which means one with a market value of about $16,000 — the current tax rate would mean a general county tax of about $95.

The county tax bill on such a home would be considerably higher, but this is because it also includes taxes for cities, schools and special districts. About half of the average taxpayer's total tax bill goes to support local schools.

* * * *

AFTER Hollinger's presentation, supervisors must accept the preliminary budget so that the auditor may make arrangements for its printing and make it available to the public by May 30. The acceptance does not indicate supervisors' approval of the recommendations, however.

Beginning at 2 p.m. Tuesday, supervisors will hear department heads who disagree with Hollinger's recommendations insofar as their individual departments are concerned.

On Tuesday, May 11, at 9:30 a.m., Hollinger will make his recommendations on 1965-66 salaries for the approximately 47,000 county employes.

* * * *

BEGINNING the following Tuesday, May 18, at 2 p.m., supervisors will conduct hearings on employe salaries. The salary ordinance must be adopted no later than May 31. Supervisors are expected to take such action at their meeting Tuesday, May 25, although they also have a meeting scheduled on Thursday, May 27.

Taxpayers will get their say at proposed expenditures at the annual budget hearings, which open Thursday, June 10, at 2 p.m.

Supervisors must adopt the 1965-66 budget before July 1. Their last scheduled meeting in June is on Tuesday, June 29.

Fire Routs 3,500 Fans at Derby

(Race Details in Sports)

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A fire broke out on the fourth floor of the ancient clubhouse section of Churchill Downs Saturday, an hour and ten minutes before the scheduled start of the Kentucky Derby.

It was brought under control in about 12 minutes after an outrider brought the first fire truck from the backstretch. About 3,500 fans were evacuated from that section of the boxes and the floor beneath as firemen poured water onto the blaze then ripped apart the boards.

* * * *

THE SCHEDULED start of the Derby was delayed 30 minutes.

The fire apparently started when a cigarette ignited a piece of paper and quickly spread to the dry wood.

Thousands of the estimated crowd of 100,000 probably never knew what was taking place in the stands on the edge of the first turn. The track announcer merely said the sixth race would be delayed. It was held up 35 minutes.

Libya Only U.S. Base for Europe-Assigned Planes

FIGHTER PLANE . . . At Lybian Base

By LOUIS DYER
(Last of Series)

WHEELUS AIR FORCE BASE, Libya—"It's a flush-out!"

Maj. George Arns shouted as he explained the clanging of bells and the distant roar of jet engines which signified a "general base alert."

Arns, assistant base operations officer at this U.S. Air Force installation, leaned out the window and looked toward the flight line.

"Yeah, they're flushing the birds back home."

* * * *

BY BIRDS, Arns meant the more than 100 fighter aircraft which were being returned to their home bases in Europe.

"They'll keep taking off all day long," Arns said. "It's an alert to get the jets back to their units and into the NATO lineup."

Arns, of Louisville, Ky., had started a general briefing about Wheelus and the American forces in Libya before a group of visiting U.S. Air Force reservists when the alert "broke up" the session.

Just then a flight of two F-105s roared off the runway.

And as the roar of their engines died away as they jetted away into specks, the low, throaty boom of other jets revving-up could be heard.

* * * *

THIS strategically important U.S. base generally maintains close to 200 jet fighter and fighter-bomber aircraft. It's the only training base for the Europe-based elements of the U.S. Air Force.

The air movement was part of a training program to test the speed in which the fast F-100s, F-101s and F-105s could return to Europe, fully equipped with ammunition and ready to step into combat in any war emergency.

Similar "alerts" were held during the Berlin Wall and Cuban crises. The supersonic aircraft have been "flushed back" several other times because of "brinkmanship" war threats.

* * * *

THE AIRCRAFT come to Wheelus for their training because of lack of facilities in Europe, where highly concentrated populations make it unfeasible to train the jet pilots in strafing, rocketing and bombing.

THE FLYING weather is almost perfect here, with generally something like 350 good flying days each year. This allows for some 150 sorties per day at El Uotia.

Each year approximately 78,000 bombs, 71,000 rockets and 640,000 rounds of ammunition are expended in training.

Flying personnel are rotated every 90 days from their units in Europe. In this time, pilots pass proficiency tests. And upon their return to their home unit, they are fully qualified to fly their assigned missions. Thus, flying proficiency is maintained at a high level.

This is why Whellus is so important to American forces in Europe. It is considered the "Gateway to the East," a base from which aerial support could be provided for any possible action that might break out in Africa, Europe and the Middle East.

* * * *

PRESENTLY, Libya, which is twice the size of Texas and seventh in the world in production of oil, would like USAF to withdraw from the base, which houses some 11,000 American personnel. But lease agreements give the U.S. rights to the base until 1970.

However, the Libyan government has recently requested renegotiation of present leases. And if American forces were to withdraw, it is a toss-up to determine which way the political fortunes of Libya will go—with Nasser and Egypt on one side and Ben Bella and Algeria on the other, both of whom play "footsies" with the Soviet bloc.

The one favorable aspect lies in the fact that the U.S. diplomatic mission in Libya is on excellent terms with Libya, which is as large as all Italy, France and Germany.

And the diplomatic mission is striving to maintain these excellent relations in order to ascertain that this international outpost remains within the American and NATO "Arsenal of Defense."

Cal. Welfare Rolls Scanned for Potential Farm Labor

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's welfare rolls are being scanned for potential workers who could help solve the state's farm labor crisis, Gov. Edmund G. Brown reported Saturday night.

Brown said it was difficult at this time to tell how many additional workers the welfare rolls can make available because most welfare recipients are already registered with the California Employment Service.

"But we are taking this special step in an effort to make sure we do everything we can to help our farmers harvest the crops that are beginning to ripen," the governor said.

California's farm labor crisis developed after Public Law 78, the statute under which Mexican braceros were imported into the United States for farm work, expired on Dec. 31.

Since the expiration of PL 78, growers have maintained that they cannot get enough domestic workers to fill the gap despite vigorous recruiting campaigns by the state and federal governments.

The California Social Welfare Department, Brown said, has asked all county welfare directors to reexamine their caseloads to identify those men and women who have the ability to perform as agricultural workers.

* * * *

STATE SOCIAL Welfare Director John M. Wedemeyer said that after identification, the welfare receivers should be referred to the local offices of the employment department in accordance with state regulations governing referral of aid recipients to jobs.

The emergency recruitment program was worked out by Wedemeyer and Employment Director Albert B. Tieburg.

"When referrals are made by the Department of Employment, the actual wage offered will be the amount paid," Wedemeyer said. "We also have been assured that the health and welfare of all workers referred by the employment service to farm labor will be safeguarded."

Wedemeyer said the immediate need for farm workers was "particularly great" in the strawberry and asparagus harvests in the Salinas and San Joaquin Delta areas. Steady work, he added, should be available all summer and fall.

The social welfare director said the main source of possible farm workers would be fathers and mothers who receive aid to families with dependent children-unemployed.

Bolivian Chief Quits Vote Race

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) — Military Junta Chief Gen. Rene Barrientos Saturday took himself out of the race for the presidency in the Oct. 31 general elections.

Barrientos said he personally would supervise the electoral process to assure it would be "the cleanest in the history of the country." He said he expected the country's many political parties to "assume responsibility" for the election outcome. The armed forces, he said, will turn over control of the country to the winner of the election, regardless of political identity.

Libya Only U.S. Base for Europe-Assigned Planes

FIGHTER PLANE . . . At Lybian Base

By LOUIS DYER
(Last of Series)

WHEELUS AIR FORCE BASE, Libya—"It's a flush-out!"

Maj. George Arns shouted as he explained the clanging of bells and the distant roar of jet engines which signified a "general base alert."

Arns, assistant base operations officer at this U.S. Air Force installation, leaned out the window and looked toward the flight line.

"Yeah, they're flushing the birds back home."

* * * *

BY BIRDS, Arns meant the more than 100 fighter aircraft which were being returned to their home bases in Europe.

"They'll keep taking off all day long," Arns said. "It's an alert to get the jets back to their units and into the NATO lineup."

Arns, of Louisville, Ky., had started a general briefing about Wheelus and the American forces in Libya before a group of visiting U.S. Air Force reservists when the alert "broke up" the session.

Just then a flight of two F-105s roared off the runway.

And as the roar of their engines died away as they jetted away into specks, the low, throaty boom of other jets revving-up could be heard.

* * * *

THIS strategically important U.S. base generally maintains close to 200 jet fighter and fighter-bomber aircraft. It's the only training base for the Europe-based elements of the U.S. Air Force.

The air movement was part of a training program to test the speed in which the fast F-100s, F-101s and F-105s could return to Europe, fully equipped with ammunition and ready to step into combat in any war emergency.

Similar "alerts" were held during the Berlin Wall and Cuban crises. The supersonic aircraft have been "flushed back" several other times because of "brinkmanship" war threats.

* * * *

THE AIRCRAFT come to Wheelus for their training because of lack of facilities in Europe, where highly concentrated populations make it unfeasible to train the jet pilots in strafing, rocketing and bombing.

This base, the only American bastion in North Africa and therefore of strategic importance, is one of the busiest bases in the world. Landings average one per minute during daytime hours as the fighters take off and land during their training sessions.

U.C. MOLECULE HUNT

Life 2.7 Billion Years Old Found

BERKELEY (AP)—An international research team working at the University of California has found life-produced molecules in rocks 2.7 billion years old, establishing earth life existence almost a billion years earlier than has ever been possible before, they report.

Discovery of the molecules, pristane and phytane, in rocks from the Soudan Formation of Minnesota, oldest known carbon-rich rock formation in North America, was reported Saturday in "Nature," British science journal.

* * * *

THE molecules are members of a hydrocarbon class called isoprenoids, which provide the architectural base for cholesterol and many other well-known biological materials. Pristane and phytane are synthesized only by living systems.

The scientists said they can not identify the forms of life from which the molecules came, but speculate they were produced by some chlorophyll-containing organism like blue-green algae, the most primitive plant known.

The researchers used chemical techniques and a sequence of procedures in chromatography, molecular sieving, infrared and moss spectroscopy in their analysis for the presence of the two molecules.

* * * *

LIVING systems of more than about 600 million years ago apparently were all soft—without hard skeletons that would leave bony fossils in ancient rocks, the scientists explain.

The research team included Dr. Melvin Calvin, University of California Nobel prize winning chemist; Theodore Belsky, graduate student; Dr. R.B. Johns, Australian chemist on leave from the University of Melbourne; E. D. McCarthy, Cambridge University graduate student; Dr. A.L. Burlingame, Berkeley assistant professor of chemistry; and Dr. Wilhelm J. Richter, post-doctoral fellow from Austria.

The scientists plan to analyze South African rocks 3.4 billion years old for biological molecules. And later they hope to use their methods on moon rocks when they are brought back to earth.

Japanese Race Birds Missing, Protests Fly

TOKYO (AP)—Bird-lovers in Japan were in a flap Saturday after about 1,900 homing pigeons failed to make it back to their coops in Tokyo in a 470-mile grand prix pigeon race.

"It is utterly cruel to stage such a race knowing that some of the pigeons will be lost and never seen again," huffed a spokesman for Japan's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. "Sponsors of the race should have carefully studied weather conditions and the course to avoid the loss of life."

The Japan Homing Pigeon Association, sponsors of the race, reported more than 100 of pigeons have returned since the race started Thursday in Otaru, Hokkaido.

International Relations Week to Open at L.B. State

Long Beach State College's first International Relations Week, featuring scores of events with a foreign flavor, starts Monday and concludes Friday night.

Included are a series of noted speakers, panel discussions, foreign films, banquets and parties.

Adding color will be international display booths featuring products for sale from various countries; foreign students attired in their native dress, and international dishes served in the campus cafeteria.

Robin Miller, senior political adviser to the United Nations and mediator for the Cyprus crisis will be the featured speaker, appearing Wednesday at noon on the speaker's platform in front of the college bookstore.

* * * *

P. N. MENON, San Francisco counsel general for India, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Long Beach Yacht Club as part of the observance.

All events during the week are open to the general public.

Monday's activities include a panel at noon in Lecture Hall 150 on U. S. policy in Vietnam. Participants will be James Farmer, executive of the Rand Corp. of Santa Monica and Dr. Sudersan Chawla and Tom Porter of the college's political science department.

"College Life Around the World" will be discussed from 1 to 3 p.m. in the cafeteria. At 7:30 p.m., campus foreign students will speak to residents of the college dormitories, a Japanese tea ceremony will be held in Los Cerritos Hall, and a foreign film series will be shown in Lecture Hall 151.

On Tuesday from 1 to 3 p.m. an international discussion group in the cafeteria will consider "Dating, Courtship, Marriage, Birth Control, Family and Divorce Around the World."

Concluding the Tuesday activities, Kosso Eloul of Israel, college artist-in-residence and assistant director of the International Sculpture Symposium which will be held there this summer, will show slides of past symposiums in Israel, Canada and Japan.

In addition to the two principal speakers, the Wednesday program will feature a 3 p.m. round-table discussion of "The Future of the United Nations" in Lecture Hall 151. Participants will be Basel Bleck of the British Embassy; Benad Avital, counsel general for Israel; and Dr. William Gerberding from UCLA.

An international discussion of "The Student Role in Politics" will be held at 1 p.m. in the cafeteria, and a foreign film series will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall 151.

Jim Lathrop, regional director of the World University Service which aids students in foreign countries, will speak at noon Thursday. A 1 to 3 p.m. international discussion of "Religion" in the cafeteria will be followed by a foreign film series at 7:30 in Lecture Hall 151 and an 8 p.m. Japanese tea ceremony at the Soroptimist House.

Friday activities include a noon address from the speaker's platform by James Cortada, past counsel general to Cairo, Havana and Barcelona, on "The State Department's Policy in the Middle East." Foreign and U.S. entertainment will be featured from 2 to 5 p.m. in the cafeteria, followed by a 7:30 p.m. party at the Soroptimist House.

U.C. MOLECULE HUNT

Life 2.7 Billion Years Old Found

BERKELEY (AP)—An international research team working at the University of California has found life-produced molecules in rocks 2.7 billion years old, establishing earth life existence almost a billion years earlier than has ever been possible before, they report.

Discovery of the molecules, pristane and phytane, in rocks from the Soudan Formation of Minnesota, oldest known carbon-rich rock formation in North America, was reported Saturday in "Nature," British science journal.

* * * *

THE molecules are members of a hydrocarbon class called isoprenoids, which provide the architectural base for cholesterol and many other well-known biological materials. Pristane and phytane are synthesized only by living systems.

The scientists said they can not identify the forms of life from which the molecules came, but speculate they were produced by some chlorophyll-containing organism like blue-green algae, the most primitive plant known.

The researchers used chemical techniques and a sequence of procedures in chromatography, molecular sieving, infrared and moss spectroscopy in their analysis for the presence of the two molecules.

* * * *

LIVING systems of more than about 600 million years ago apparently were all soft—without hard skeletons that would leave bony fossils in ancient rocks, the scientists explain.

The research team included Dr. Melvin Calvin, University of California Nobel prize winning chemist; Theodore Belsky, graduate student; Dr. R.B. Johns, Australian chemist on leave from the University of Melbourne; E. D. McCarthy, Cambridge University graduate student; Dr. A.L. Burlingame, Berkeley assistant professor of chemistry; and Dr. Wilhelm J. Richter, post-doctoral fellow from Austria.

The scientists plan to analyze South African rocks 3.4 billion years old for biological molecules. And later they hope to use their methods on moon rocks when they are brought back to earth.

Japanese Race Birds Missing, Protests Fly

TOKYO (AP)—Bird-lovers in Japan were in a flap Saturday after about 1,900 homing pigeons failed to make it back to their coops in Tokyo in a 470-mile grand prix pigeon race.

"It is utterly cruel to stage such a race knowing that some of the pigeons will be lost and never seen again," hutted a spokesman for Japan's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. "Sponsors of the race should have carefully studied weather conditions and the course to avoid the loss of life."

The Japan Homing Pigeon Association, sponsors of the race, reported more than 100 of pigeons have returned since the race started Thursday in Otaru, Hokkaido.

International Relations Week to Open at L.B. State

Long Beach State College's first International Relations Week, featuring scores of events with a foreign flavor, starts Monday and concludes Friday night.

Included are a series of noted speakers, panel discussions, foreign films, banquets and parties.

Adding color will be international display booths featuring products for sale from various countries; foreign students attired in their native dress, and international dishes served in the campus cafeteria.

Robin Miller, senior political adviser to the United Nations and mediator for the Cyprus crisis will be the featured speaker, appearing Wednesday at noon on the speaker's platform in front of the college bookstore.

* * * *

P. N. MENON, San Francisco counsel general for India, will speak at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Long Beach Yacht Club as part of the observance.

All events during the week are open to the general public.

Monday's activities include a panel at noon in Lecture Hall 150 on U. S. policy in Vietnam. Participants will be James Farmer, executive of the Rand Corp. of Santa Monica and Dr. Sudersan Chawla and Tom Porter of the college's political science department.

"College Life Around the World" will be discussed from 1 to 3 p.m. in the cafeteria. At 7:30 p.m., campus foreign students will speak to residents of the college dormitories, a Japanese tea ceremony will be held in Los Cerritos Hall, and a foreign film series will be shown in Lecture Hall 151.

On Tuesday from 1 to 3 p.m. an international discussion group in the cafeteria will consider "Dating, Courtship, Marriage, Birth Control, Family and Divorce Around the World."

Concluding the Tuesday activities, Kosso Eloul of Israel, college artist-in-residence and assistant director of the International Sculpture Symposium which will be held there this summer, will show slides of past symposiums in Israel, Canada and Japan.

In addition to the two principal speakers, the Wednesday program will feature a 3 p.m. round-table discussion of "The Future of the United Nations" in Lecture Hall 151. Participants will be Basel Bleck of the British Embassy; Benad Avital, counsel general for Israel; and Dr. William Gerberding from UCLA.

An international discussion of "The Student Role in Politics" will be held at 1 p.m. in the cafeteria, and a foreign film series will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in Lecture Hall 151.

Jim Lathrop, regional director of the World University Service which aids students in foreign countries, will speak at noon Thursday. A 1 to 3 p.m. international discussion of "Religion" in the cafeteria will be followed by a foreign film series at 7:30 in Lecture Hall 151 and an 8 p.m. Japanese tea ceremony at the Soroptimist House.

Friday activities include a noon address from the speaker's platform by James Cortada, past counsel general to Cairo, Havana and Barcelona, on "The State Department's Policy in the Middle East." Foreign and U.S. entertainment will be featured from 2 to 5 p.m. in the cafeteria, followed by a 7:30 p.m. party at the Soroptimist House.

Police Warrant Detail Serving 2,300 a Month

By BILL HAZLETT

The "bloodhound bureau" is the tag fellow officers have hung on the men and woman of the Long Beach Police Department's warrant detail.

Every month the detail is hard at work living up to the nickname.

Headed by Inspector Les Johnson, veteran of nearly three decades on the department, the warrant detail is handling more than 2,300 traffic and other local warrants a month, in addition to hundreds of "foreign" (out-of-state) warrants, and scores of subpoenas.

"Since each warrant represents an average bail of $30," the inspector pointed out, "the detail is responsible for almost $70,000 every month."

* * * *

DESPITE their heavy caseload, warrant officers will go to almost any length to find and serve the wanted offender.

Loud disputes and scuffles are commonplace, and one officer recently found himself staring down the muzzle of a .30-caliber rifle, held by an irate citizen who refused to accept service on a $10 traffic warrant.

During 1964 the detail—six policemen and one policewoman—served almost 20,000 warrants, in addition to 2,187 subpoenas. In revenue, these warrants and citations amounted to more than $848,000 last year.

"Although this seems like a lot of warrants," Johnson said, "it should be remembered that only about 12% of all citations ever become warrants."

* * * *

FOR EXAMPLE, last month, police officers and metermaids wrote 38,309 traffic citations for moving violations, and 84,355 parking tickets.

An additional work-load was added to the warrant detail last month when the California Highway Patrol took over patrol of the city's freeway system. During an average month, the patrol writes about 3,000 traffic citations, which, based on averages, adds more than 300 warrants to the current backlog.

"Because of the time involved, we prefer not to arrest a person on a simple traffic warrant.

"Our first concern is settlement of the bail-bond requirement, except in aggravated cases. We remain open in the evening so many of those served with warrants can settle the complaint without losing time from work.

"And we give everyone an opportunity to clear up these warrants before an arrest is made," Inspector Johnson said.

* * * *

OFFENDERS first are warned that a warrant is about to be issued. Secondly, another letter is sent to inform the person that a warrant has been issued, and asking him to appear at police headquarters to settle the matter.

Next, a warrant officer attempts to telephone the offender and request payment of the obligation.

"Even when we are forced to go after a person, we always urge them to settle the matter, if possible, to avoid being booked into jail," the inspector added.

"But, sometimes even this attempt fails."

When all attempts at settlement fail, the officers of the warrant detail swing into "bloodhound" action, tracing wanted persons or "skips" harder than a loan shark.

* * * *

"SOMETIMES it takes a long time, but we usually get the guy—or gal—we're after," Johnson, who has headed the warrant detail for the past 19 years, said with a wry grin.

Subordinates say Inspector Johnson, who has worked nearly every detail, from beat patrolman to detective sergeant, in his 28 years on the force, is one of the best "bloodhounds" on the warrant detail.

Current plans call for beefing up the warrant detail by adding at least another patrolman and clerk.

Bigger detail, or not, you can bet there'll be a "bloodhound" on your trail if you neglect to pay that traffic ticket you got last week.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Castro Calls U.S. Action 'Criminal'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro Saturday night called the United States' role in the Dominican Republic civil war "one of the most criminal and humiliating actions of this century."

CASTRO

The Cuban prime minister, addressing a huge May Day crowd in Havana's Revolutionary Square, added:

"Not often can 'Out with Yankee imperialism' be said with more indignation than on this occasion."

Castro, speaking in excited tones, ripped into the United States at the outset of his broadcast speech, monitored in Miami.

The speech climaxed a five-hour parade in Havana, which the Cuban radio said was watched by hundreds of thousands.

The radio said the crowd carried banners proclaiming: "Santo Domingo Fights Against the Invader—Liberty or Death," "We Are with Viet Nam and with All the Countries that Are Victims of Yankee Imperialism," "With the Sugar Harvest We Will Defeat the Yankees and Help Viet Nam," and "Ten Million Tons of Sugar by 1970."

May Day Demonstrators Assail U.S.

By United Press International

A hula-hoop parade in Red Square and attacks against U.S. policy in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic marked world communism's May Day observances Saturday. Capitalists took a holiday while Communists demonstrated.

Red flags, workers and students turned out en masse in Russia and Communist China. Communist demonstrations and workers' rallies were held in Rome, London, Berlin, Rangoon and Rabat.

Left-wing demonstrators battled police in Singapore, Tokyo and San Sebastian, Spain.

Snow and rain did not hamper the traditional Moscow outing. Kremlin leaders Leonid Brezhnev and Alexei Kosygin stood atop Lenin's tomb to lead the nation's May Day celebrations.

The Kremlin canceled the traditional military parade and postponed it for a May 9th celebration of the 20th anniversary of the defeat of Germany in World War II.

Montreal U.S. Consulate Bombed

MONTREAL (UPI)—A May Day time bomb believed planned by leftists wrecked the U.S. Consulate Saturday in the most vicious anti-U.S. attack in this country in recent Canadian history.

Officials had been fearful that further trouble would erupt from an afternoon meeting of about 150 leftists in celebration of the international Communist holiday.

But the meeting, sponsored by 11 leftist organizations including the Quebec Communist Party, passed without incident except for anti-American speeches. One speaker called for the ouster from Quebec of "Anglo-Saxon capitalistic exploiters."

Vast Farm Area Flooded as Dike Fails

QUINCY, Ill. (UPI)—The flood-gorged Mississippi River sliced through a levee and poured across $4 million worth of farmland north of here Saturday, easing pressure on levees at Quincy and at Hannibal, Mo.

But the pressure continued on dikes farther upstream. The river was swollen to an eight-mile-wide torrent at Burlington, Iowa. At Keokuk, all barge traffic was halted and most riverfront industrial plants closed.

In Illinois' Henderson County more than 30,000 acres of farmland were under water. Only the tops of buildings protruded from the vast sheet of water at Gulfport, Ill., across the river from Burlington, Iowa.

About 23,700 acres in Illinois' Adams County were flooded, including all three of the county's drainage districts.

Viet Reds Build Up for Offensive

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist forces are packing in sophisticated weapons—from light artillery to flamethrowers—and seem to be building up for major offensives in South Viet Nam to coincide with the start in mid-May of the monsoon season, U.S. and South Vietnamese military informants said Saturday.

They reported South Vietnamese troops are bracing for attacks all the way from the Mekong River Delta south of Saigon to the border of Communist North Viet Nam.

The rainy season, which runs until October or November, generally limits air activity and the movement of heavy armor on the ground.

Speculation on possible heavy Communist offensives came to light after South Vietnamese troops found a big cache of Red arms in coastal mangrove swamps about 60 miles south of Saigon. The weapons included precision, lightweight flamethrowers believed furnished by Communist China. There also were East German heavy machine guns, rifles, plastic explosives and tons of ammunition.

Cerritos Team Tops in Debate

The Cerritos Junior College debate team successfuly defended its championship and was declared the sweepstakes winner Saturday in the national Phi Rho Pi tournament in Centralia, Wash.

The Cerritos women's team took first and second in the women's debate. The winners were Gloria Hartmann and Jodie Milhause.

Twenty-three schools from six states participated in the four-day tourney at Centralia Junior College.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Castro Calls U.S. Action 'Criminal'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Fidel Castro Saturday night called the United States' role in the Dominican Republic civil war "one of the most criminal and humiliating actions of this century."

CASTRO

The Cuban prime minister, addressing a huge May Day crowd in Havana's Revolutionary Square, added:

"Not often can 'Out with Yankee imperialism' be said with more indignation than on this occasion."

Castro, speaking in excited tones, ripped into the United States at the outset of his broadcast speech, monitored in Miami.

The speech climaxed a five-hour parade in Havana, which the Cuban radio said was watched by hundreds of thousands.

The radio said the crowd carried banners proclaiming: "Santo Domingo Fights Against the Invader—Liberty or Death," "We Are with Viet Nam and with All the Countries that Are Victims of Yankee Imperialism," "With the Sugar Harvest We Will Defeat the Yankees and Help Viet Nam," and "Ten Million Tons of Sugar by 1970."

May Day Demonstrators Assail U.S.

By United Press International

A hula-hoop parade in Red Square and attacks against U.S. policy in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic marked world communism's May Day observances Saturday. Capitalists took a holiday while Communists demonstrated.

Red flags, workers and students turned out en masse in Russia and Communist China. Communist demonstrations and workers' rallies were held in Rome, London, Berlin, Rangoon and Rabat.

Left-wing demonstrators battled police in Singapore, Tokyo and San Sebastian, Spain.

Snow and rain did not hamper the traditional Moscow outing. Kremlin leaders Leonid Brezhnev and Alexei Kosygin stood atop Lenin's tomb to lead the nation's May Day celebrations.

The Kremlin canceled the traditional military parade and postponed it for a May 9th celebration of the 20th anniversary of the defeat of Germany in World War II.

Montreal U.S. Consulate Bombed

MONTREAL (UPI)—A May Day time bomb believed planned by leftists wrecked the U.S. Consulate Saturday in the most vicious anti-U.S. attack in this country in recent Canadian history.

Officials had been fearful that further trouble would erupt from an afternoon meeting of about 150 leftists in celebration of the international Communist holiday.

But the meeting, sponsored by 11 leftist organizations including the Quebec Communist Party, passed without incident except for anti-American speeches. One speaker called for the ouster from Quebec of "Anglo-Saxon capitalistic exploiters."

Vast Farm Area Flooded as Dike Fails

QUINCY, Ill. (UPI)—The flood-gorged Mississippi River sliced through a levee and poured across $4 million worth of farmland north of here Saturday, easing pressure on levees at Quincy and at Hannibal, Mo.

But the pressure continued on dikes farther upstream. The river was swollen to an eight-mile-wide torrent at Burlington, Iowa. At Keokuk, all barge traffic was halted and most riverfront industrial plants closed.

In Illinois' Henderson County more than 30,000 acres of farmland were under water. Only the tops of buildings protruded from the vast sheet of water at Gulfport, Ill., across the river from Burlington, Iowa.

About 23,700 acres in Illinois' Adams County were flooded, including all three of the county's drainage districts.

Viet Reds Build Up for Offensive

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist forces are packing in sophisticated weapons—from light artillery to flamethrowers—and seem to be building up for major offensives in South Viet Nam to coincide with the start in mid-May of the monsoon season, U.S. and South Vietnamese military informants said Saturday.

They reported South Vietnamese troops are bracing for attacks all the way from the Mekong River Delta south of Saigon to the border of Communist North Viet Nam.

The rainy season, which runs until October or November, generally limits air activity and the movement of heavy armor on the ground.

Speculation on possible heavy Communist offensives came to light after South Vietnamese troops found a big cache of Red arms in coastal mangrove swamps about 60 miles south of Saigon. The weapons included precision, lightweight flamethrowers believed furnished by Communist China. There also were East German heavy machine guns, rifles, plastic explosives and tons of ammunition.

Cerritos Team Tops in Debate

The Cerritos Junior College debate team successfuly defended its championship and was declared the sweepstakes winner Saturday in the national Phi Rho Pi tournament in Centralia, Wash.

The Cerritos women's team took first and second in the women's debate. The winners were Gloria Hartmann and Jodie Milhause.

Twenty-three schools from six states participated in the four-day tourney at Centralia Junior College.

SOUND OF MUSIC

Film Is Whopper at the Box Office

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Remember that old World War II movie, "Mrs. Miniver," and the MGM publicity campaign that went with it?

To promote the Greer Garson-Walter Pidgeon epic the studio mounted an ad campaign based on celebrities endorsing Mrs. Miniver as one of the ten best pictures they'd ever seen.

It worked wonders at the boxoffice. Who knows, perhaps some of them sincerely believed the hokey drama was one of the best. But the campaign was artfully schemed, the testimonials laboriously solicited. It was a calculated and successful word-of-mouth campaign.

* * * *

NOW SOMETHING along the same lines actually is happening spontaneously.

The picture is "The Sound Of Music." A surprising number of people, non-professionals mostly, acclaim the musical as the best motion picture they've ever seen.

Whether it is or not is almost beside the point. "Sound of Music" is a whopper at the turnstiles. Audiences, however, come away with something more than just a sense of having been entertained. They have seen a work of art, a genuine thing of beauty.

* * * *

BEHIND such a creation, as with any artistic triumph, generally can be found the genius of a single man. In this case the man is producer-director Robert Wise.

Wise produced and directed one of Hollywood's greatest hits, "West Side Story." It won 10 Academy Awards and re-established movie musicals as successful and profitable enterprizes.

JULIE ANDREWS, as a whistle-blowing governess to the seven Von Trapp children, helps her little charges welcome their father, Christopher Plummer, in "The Sound of Music."

Cameras Roll on 'Bunny Lake'

LONDON — Principal photography has begun here on Otto Preminger's "Bunny Lake Is Missing."

Starred in the Evelyn Piper novel's screening are Laurence Olivier, Carol Lynley, Keir Dullea, Martita Hunt, Anna Massey, The Zombies and Noel Coward. The story is a suspense thriller revolving about the strange disappearance of three-year-old Bunny Lake.

Jill Tells About Preminger

NEW YORK—The freshest, prettiest bundle of woman at a recent party at Gracie Mansion was a 5-foot-1, 95-pounder named Jill Haworth, 19.

Suddenly this blonde prodigy, who was graduated from high school in England at 15, is moving into starring roles.

With her ringleted blond hair way up, and her decollete way down, little Jill looks real womanly . . . she's dating old guys like George Maharis.

"Otto Preminger doesn't scream at you, does he?" I asked her, thinking that she seemed so delicate and fragile, he wouldn't DARE.

"Oh, sure, he screams at everybody," replied Jill, whom Preminger discovered and put in "Exodus," then used in "The Cardinal," and now in "In Harm's Way."

"What does he scream ABOUT?" I asked.

"He just screams. You usually don't know what he's screaming about; when he's screaming . . . .

FABULOUS COMEDY PAIR REAPPEAR IN THEIR GREATEST FILM TRIUMPH

Buena Park: Every day Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy re-enact a scene from their hilarious laugh classic, "The Perfect Day", at Movieland Wax Museum. So life-like are the sculptured wax figures of these famous funsters you actually expect them to speak.

Many other such brilliant stars of yesterday and today are here in this, the world's largest and finest wax museum. You'll see the Barrymores, Gloria Swanson, Humphrey Bogart, Marilyn Monroe, Gary Cooper, Mary Pickford, Shirley Temple, Clark Gable and many other screen immortals, all in colorful settings from their premiere pictures — every figure a true-to-life work of art in glowing wax.

Give the family a real holiday treat this week at Movieland Wax Museum. Just south of the Santa Ana Freeway on Beach Boulevard in Buena Park. Near Knott's Berry Farm. Open daily and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday till midnight. Children under eight admitted free with an adult. Cameras welcome too. Plenty of free parking.

Sandra Dee to Star in 'Beddoes'

Sandra Dee has been set to star with James Garner, Melina Mercouri and Tony Franciosa in Universal's forthcoming "Welcome, Mr. Beddoes."

Miss Dee will portray an American tourist in Lisbon who becomes involved in a torrid romance with Franciosa in the comedy drama, scripted from David Walker's novel, "Diamonds For Danger."

The New Films

KARL MALDIN (above) views dead in scene from "Cheyenne Autumn" one of three new films opening in the area Wednesday. Cast includes James Stewart, Carroll Baker, Edward G. Robinson, Sal Mineo, Dolores Del Rio, Richardo Montalban and Gilbert Roland. Film tells epic 1500-mile Cheyenne freedom march.

GINA LOLLOBRIDGIDA, Rock Hudson and Edward Judd, the middle man (above), argue their futures in "Strange Bedfellows." George Maharis and Anne Francis (right) appear in scene from the suspense thriller, "The Satan Bug," whose cast also includes Dana Andrews and Richard Basehart.

'Green Beret' Slated

"The Green Beret," story of Army Special Forces, has been scheduled as a major Columbia Studios release.

Ice Capades Opens in L.A. on Wednesday

A touch of Broadway has been added to the 25th silver anniversary edition of the Ice Capades which opens Wednesday, at the Los Angeles Sports Arena. It will be a limited three-week run, closing May 23.

Blending with the usual colorful costumes, lilting music and numerous world-famed skating stars are several innovations introduced by producer-director Sid Smith, who has staged several of national television's biggest spectaculars. The frozen fantasy includes seven full-scale production numbers plus 20 novelty acts.

Special half-price rates for children 13 and under will be in effect for the Monday through Thursday evening performances and the Saturday 5 p.m. matinees. Tickets are on sale at all Mutual and Liberty ticket agencies.

Rooney Cast

Mickey Rooney will portray a fast-talking ad man in American International's "How to Stuff a Wild Bikini," fifth in AIP's series of "beach musicals."

U.S. Fed Up With Threats and Attacks

By Associated Press

With the lives of Americans endangered, Lyndon Baines Johnson called in the Marines, and dispatched them to the Dominican Republic—reversing in one quick action a generation of Washington policy towards Latin America.

It had been more than three decades since the Western hemisphere had witnessed anything similar, and there were immediate shouts of "gunboat diplomacy" from governments which didn't like it.

* * * *

BUT President Johnson let the criticism bounce off, and shipped in the Army to aid the Leathernecks in their job of evacuating and protecting Americans caught in the civil war which had torn Dominica apart since last weekend.

Combined with the U.S. determination to fight communism in Southeast Asia, and a toughening policy on foreign aid, it appeared Johnson was finally getting his point across to the rest of the world:

The United States is fed up with having its citizens threatened, its embassies attacked, its interests violated, either by lawless mobs or hostile foreign governments.

The Dominican revolt broke out last weekend. It toppled the government of Donald Reid Cabral, who had received U. S. support.

* * * *

IN SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Juan Bosch, who had once been president, started packing his bags. But there was to be no quick, triumphal return. At week's end, a struggle for power continued, waged by various branches of the armed forces.

In its wake came deaths for hundreds, injuries for hundreds more, anarchy, a complete break down in law and order, and looting.

Among the dead were two U.S. Marines, killed by sniper fire as they advanced side-by-side with Dominican forces to set up an "international safety zone" in San Domingo. At least four Leathernecks were injured and an unknown number of paratroopers were hurt.

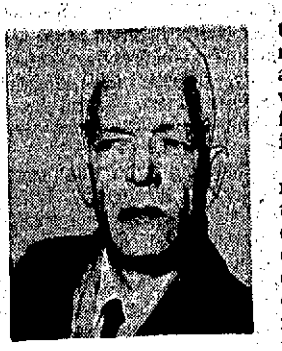

Johnson told a radio and television audience Friday night that the Organization of American States had worked out a cease-fire formula with the help of the papal nuncio in Santo Domingo. But Johnson said some elements were ignoring the peace effort and added: "There are signs people outside the Dominican Republic are seeking to gain control."

* * * *

IN CUBA, Fidel Castro was certain to take note of the U.S. action in case he had ideas of trying to take advantage of the Dominican upheaval. At the United Nations, Cuba asked Secretary-General Thant to start action there to prevent occupation of the Dominican Republic by U.S. forces.

Across the world in the jungles of Viet Nam, the dirty little war continued on its inexorable way.

U. S. officials claimed

JUAN BOSCH
No Quick Return

that the bombings of North Vietnamese communications routes were beginning to show results.

"Now we're slowing them down," said an American military office. In 12 weeks of bombing, 24 North Vietnamese bridges were knocked out, and photographs showed destroyed bridge spans, looking like so much missing teeth.

But—and in Viet Nam there always is a but—the South Vietnamese air force commander declared: "The raids against communications are not really effective. The Communists can always find ways of moving through the jungle."

* * * *

DESPITE his intervention in Dominica, President Johnson held out the olive branch in South Viet Nam. He repeated, Tuesday, that the United States stands ready to meet anytime with any government, anywhere, without preconditions, to find ways to end the war in Viet Nam.

Tenaciously, a veteran of many union battles clung to his post. "I am president of this union until the first of June," he said. But tellers of the United Steelworkers Union had made the final count and declared that I.W. Abel was the new president, and that David J. McDonald, despite his 40 years guiding the union, was out. McDonald said the teller's report was "the first, not the last, word."

On the economic front, the news of the week was far brighter. Union and management negotiators in the steel industry agreed to extend the current contract, thus fending off the threat of a disastrous strike.

Johnson heartily congratulated both sides for what he called "a statesmanlike agreement."

Steel also made headlines in Britain where it goes beyond the chaos of a possible strike or a struggle for leadership. In England, the government could change over the issue. For Prime Minister Harold Wilson wants to nationalize the steel industry. His labor government gave some details of its controversial nationalization plan Friday.

BOTH opposition parties—the Conservatives and the Liberals—flatly oppose nationalization. And Wilson has only a razor-thin majority in the House of Commons.

Forty-five seconds can be a blink or a lifetime, and for thousands of persons the 45 seconds that began at 8:28 a.m., Thursday in Seattle and Tacoma seemed endless. The earth heaved and rolled, building bricks and stone toppled to streets, windows and masonry crumbled, streets opened in great cracks. The earthquake which struck the Pacific Northwest was felt for 600 miles along the coast.

Natural calamity can come slowly, too, as it does at flood time. With today's communication, a man can sit at his door stoop and count to the minute, more or less, when the water will lap at it.

* * * *

AND SO it is now with the lazy ole Mississippi. With the awakening of spring, the Mississippi spins and turns and rushes and churns. It rushes down from northern reaches, spilling over banks, crumbling the dams and dikes and sandbag piles put up by men.

By Monday, the worse already was over in southern Minnesota and Wisconsin. Northern Illinois took the brunt toward week's end, but as the river rose with water from larger tributaries below Dubuque, the experts could see there was worse to come. This weekend, they said, the Mississippi from Keokuk, Iowa, to Hannibal, Mo., might bring record floods.

* * * *

THE matter-of-fact baritone voice, the set face that seemed etched with worry, and the ever-present cigarette became known throughout the world. For Americans, in the early days of World War II, he brought a new experience in radio journalism. His broadcasts started with the phrase, "This . . . is London." And millions listened to Edward R. Murrow and the news. Tuesday, at the age of 57, after 18 months of illness from cancer he died at his home in Pawling, N.Y.

Quote of the week:

This is the clearest lesson of our time. From Munich until today we have learned that to yield to aggression brings only greater threats and brings even more destructive war. To stand firm is the only guarantee of a lasting peace."—President Johnson, Washington news conference.

FOREIGN PRESS VIEWS

Johnson Policies Criticized

By United Press International

President Johnson drew tempered editorial criticism from some European newspapers last week for his handling of foreign affairs.

The West German Frankfurter ABENDPOST said, "President Johnson's success in domestic politics stands in striking contrast to the faultiness of his foreign policy. It has long been known that Johnson feels nowhere near at home in the international arena as he does in his own house.

"His lack of knowledge of the mentalities of other people becomes constantly clearer. His cancellation of the planned visits by the Indian and Pakistan heads of state in Washington has led to a serious falling out of these nations with Washington," the newspaper said.

The Austrian OBEROESTERREICHISCHE NACHRICHTEN said, "Lyndon Johnson is a successful President who vigorously, purposefully and skillfully serves his country and its role in history. With daring and strict self-control he has been trying honorably to liquidate the evil heritage in Southeast Asia, and it seems possible—though by no means sure—that he will succeed."

KHAN

But, it added, "The President has also overworked himself. When Pakistani chief of state Ayub Khan, an ally for many years, criticized America's stand on Viet Nam and visited hostile Peking, Johnson was angry and strengthened his disinclination to cope with problems of arms deliveries and economic aid for the quarreling rivals on the Indian sub-continent. If (the President) were not overworked, however, the visit by an old ally who has new contacts with Peking would not have been cancelled in a diplomatically indelicate way."

The Dutch ALGEMEEN DAGBLAD said, "We believe that Washington is wrongly drawing a parallel between the Cuba crisis and the crisis in which the war in Viet Nam has escalated. We are afraid that Kennedy's success over Cuba has gone to the head of the Johnson administration.

"First of all, America's position over Cuba was morally much stronger. The whole world then realized that America's security was involved and domestically as well as internationally the then Kennedy administration received support.

"But now, with Viet Nam, the world is energetically aiming for a peaceful settlement in spite of U.S. opposition, while in America itself division (over Viet Nam) is as big as ever. Johnson, his government and his generals are standing practically alone.

On the subject of Viet Nam, the TIMES of London said, "American student protest against the administration's policy in Viet Nam represents a basic change in the American scene. There was nothing like it during the McCarthy period, the Korean War or the several Cuban crises . . .

"The war, in fact, is not one to which much direct idealism can be attached, and a more restless and critical youth is finding it difficult to support. The protest may be negative, ill-defended, and irritating to those who are closer to the facts. But it has hopeful aspects," the Times said.

The Belgian GAZET VAN ANTWERPEN said it was impossible for Johnson to agree with French President Charles de Gaulle's viewpoint on withdrawing from commitments in Southeast Asia "because, as he (Johnson) emphasized, this war in Viet Nam is much more than a local conflict, because the prosperity and the freedom of the free world is indirectly threatened by it. In brief, because too much is at stake."

Drinking A New Red Headache

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP)—Alcoholism, especially among young people, is increasing in Communist Bulgaria, the party paper Rabotnichesko Delo reported.

The paper did not disclose figures, but said that more than 3,000 alcoholics had to be taken to hospitals in Sofia in the last two years.

Rabotnichesko Delo demanded closure of some of the bars and the help of police "to prevent that our youth falls prey to alcoholism."

L.B. Writers Conference Widens Scope in 7th Year

The best Long Beach Writers Conference of them all is predicted by officials of Long Beach City College. The popular event, now in its seventh year, will be held next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Lafayette.

"We have expanded our program to include most of the fields of professional and artistic writing," said Mrs. Eva Logan, conference director. "We hope that everyone interested in writing will find many of our sessions helpful and worthwhile."

The conference opens with a luncheon at noon Thursday. Kenton Scudder, author of "The 20 Billion Dollar Challenge" and "Between the Dark and the Daylight", will be the principal speaker. Theme of the luncheon is "Crime DOES Pay." Hostesses are the Long Beach Council of Parents and Teachers.

* * * *

A PANEL ON POETRY will be held at 2 p.m. Speakers will be Helen Farries, editor for Buzza-Cardoza Publishers; Ethel Jacobson, author of "Larks in My Hair"; Beatrice Janosco, author of many poems, and Myra Livingstone, author of verses for children.

At 7:30 p.m. on Thursday will be two panels.

The drama panel will feature James Powers, critic on the Hollywood Reporter, Edward Ludlum, producer-director of the Ludlum Theater, and others.

The technical writing panel will consider the question of the professional certification of technical writers. Speakers will include Mabel C. Weeks, of Long Beach City College; Dr. Keith F. James, LBCC; Merle R. Felkner, Douglas Aircraft Co.; Ivar M. Holliday, Space Technology Inc.; Lt. Col. William R. Jones, Norton Air Force Base, and Robert O. Shockney, Mercury Publications.

* * * *

ON FRIDAY at 9:30 a.m. will be a panel on fiction and nonfiction writing. Speakers will include Mladin Zarubica, "The Year of the Rat"; Irving Cox, mystery and detective stories; John Robert Clarke, "The Importance of Being Imperfect," and Helen Doss, author of fiction and nonfiction.

The Long Beach Writers Club will host the Friday luncheon. The topic will be "Fitting the Writing to the Market." Speakers will be Ruth Harmer of California State Polytechnic College and Mrs. F. A. Rockwell, teacher andand writer on the craft of authorship.

In the afternoon on Friday will be a number of discussion groups presided over by John Robert Clarke. And there will be a panel on publicity and public relations on the theme, "Publicity and the Public Image." Speakers will be Iola Masterson, of the Independent, Press-Telegram; Don Cracke of Max W. Becker Advertising; Verne Baker, of Long Beach Promotions Inc., and Bob Wells of Long Beach State College.

* * * *

THE BANQUET on Friday night will have four speakers. They are John Bloch, a writer for "The Defenders" and "The Man From UNCLE"; Marshall Robbins of Commander Publications; David Harmon, TV writer, and Bob Russell, lyricist.

On Saturday, for the first time in conference history, the newspaper profession will be discussed in a panel. Speakers are Don Ohl of the Independent, Press-Telegram; Mary Ann Callan of the Los Angeles Times; Chafin Wallace of Copley Newspapers, and Don Roberge, of Northrup Aviation.

Authors Ruth Radlauer, Dorothy Rhoades and Margaret Leighton will speak on writing for young people in another panel.

The National League, Long Beach Branch, will be hosts of the luncheon. Ora Pate Stewart will speak.

In the afternoon will be a panel on movies and television. Speakers will be Dr. Edward Borgers of University of Southern California; Robert Springer, KCET; Ben Conway, author's agent; Elizabeth Emmanuel, writer and researcher for 20th Century Fox, and Otis Skinner Blodgett, author's agent.

* * * *

THERE WILL BE an exhibition of outstanding photographs by Independent, Press-Telegram cameramen and a display of cartoons by Richard Wallmeyer, I, P-T artist.

Many books will be exhibited and offered for sale.

There is a token registration fee of $1 for the entire conference. Luncheons and the banquet cost $2.25 to $4.

Cushing Cheery in First Outing

BOSTON (UPI) — Richard Cardinal Cushing said Saturday he hopes to live "many, many more years" because "not even almighty God wants to shoot a Santa Claus."

The cardinal, making his first public appearance since undergoing major surgery Feb. 20, attended a lunch sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America.

"Despite the shape I'm in, I'm feeling fine," the Roman Catholic archbishop told newsmen. "I'm very happy to be taking the first step forward back into duty."

Spiking the Drinks?

ATHENS (AP) — Greek customs officials are checking closely into whisky imports. The investigation was started when British export figures showed Greece had imported 40,000 cases of whisky last year but Greek customs records showed only 22,000 cases listed as entering the country.

AS COMMAND CHANGES

Honor Hero's Widow

By BUCK LANIER

Adm. C. Turner Joy's widow was on hand Saturday as one of her late husband's former staff officers assumed command of the destroyer USS Turner Joy (DD-951) at Long Beach Naval Base.

Cmdr. Robert McClinton took over from Cmdr. Robert Barnhart Jr. with Mrs. Joy in a place of honor.

The Turner Joy was in "hot" action last Aug. 4 in the Tonkin Gulf, after an attack on a sister ship, the Maddox, by North Vietnamese torpedo boats.

Cmdr. Barnhart was awarded the Bronze Star and the ship a unit commendation for repulsing the attack, sinking two and damaging two of the enemy.

He said he was "reluctant to leave after being at the helm for 21 months and 76,100 miles."

Cmdr. Barnhart reports to Washington for duty with the chief of naval operations in the Pentagon.

McClinton served on Adm. Joy's staff as communications officer while the admiral was superintendent of the Naval Academy. He has had 25 months previous duty in Long Beach as captain of the minesweeper USS Conflict. His last assignment was as executive officer on the missile frigate USS Norfolk (DL-1).

Also present were Rear Adm. Donald G. Irvine, commander Cruiser-Destroyer Flotilla 3; Capt. C. W. Harrison, chief of staff, and Capt. W. S. Bradway Jr., commodore, Destroyer Division 19.

Mosquito-Eating Fish to Be Given

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

The county's annual distribution of Gambusia affinis — the tiny, guppylike fish which feed on mosquitoes — will begin Tuesday.

The fish will be given without charge to any property owner requesting them for an ornamental pool, lily pond, lake or other body of water in which mosquitoes are likely to breed, according to Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer.

Distribution will take place each Tuesday and Thursday at different health centers throughout the county.

Free fish will be available at the Torrance Health Center, 2300 Carson St., Torrance, May 25, from 9 a.m. to noon. The Southeast Mosquito Abatement District, 9510 S. Garfield Ave., South Gate, will have fish available Mondays through Fridays in May from 8 to 9 a.m. and from 3:30 to 4:40 p.m.

The only limitation is that the fish must be used for mosquito-control purposes, Dr. Sutherland said.

Four Family-Life Experts to Speak in Church Series

Four Southland family-life authorities will serve as guest leaders in a lecture-discussion series titled "Adventures in Christian Living" Monday through Thursday at Willow Street Church of God. The program is planned as a community service during National Family Week.

Monday evening Everett Porter, juvenile authority with the Los Angeles County Domestic Relations Court, will speak on "Parent-Child Relationships."

Horace F. Flynn, coordinator in the Los Angeles County Department of Senior Citizen Affairs, will speak Tuesday on "Planning for Future Years."

"Facing Family Crises" will be the topic Wednesday of Maurice E. Wagner, professional counselor with the Christian Counseling Center of Pasadena.

Thursday, Dr. Orval L. Kerr, administrator for Long Beach city schools and teacher at Lakewood High School and City College, will discuss "The Role of the Schools in Teaching Moral and Spiritual Values."

Each lecturer will speak from 7:30 to 8:15, with a period of questions and answers to follow, and refreshments served. The church, sponsor of the programs, is at 1455 W. Willow St. The public is invited.

Putting Knowledge to Work Urged to Save Heart Victims

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

Simply by putting to work new medical knowledge, a community-health program can save the lives of many more heart-disease victims, a doctor said in Long Beach Friday.

Dr. J. Gordon Barrow, a leading participant in the recent Second National Conference on Cardiovascular Diseases, told public-health leaders in a regional conference at the Long Beach Health Department that the public-health nurse can play a leading role in salvage of lives from the No. 1 killer.

* * * *

FOR EXAMPLE, he said, only 80% of children with congenital heart defects show up for scheduled diagnostic workups such as a heart catheterization.

Parents of these children need to be reassured, he said. A public-health nurse can explain to them just what is in store for the child. The low risk in these procedures has not been explained properly to most parents, he charged.

Dr. Barrow is director of the cardiovascular disease control service of the Georgia State Department of Public Health.

He said community-health leaders should direct candidates for heart surgery to major medical centers where surgeons operate frequently rather than occasionally.

When doctors operate on the heart only occasionally, the mortality is two to three times greater than when the surgeon does the procedure fairly often, Dr. Barrow said.

* * * *

STROKE-rehabilitation programs show great promise, he said.

"Eighty percent of stroke patients live to be discharged from the hospital," he said, "and three-fourth of these can be made completely independent again."

The public-health nurse can play an important role in these programs, he went on. She can teach the families of stroke victims how to supervise home-exercise programs.

Dr. Barrow said that the coronary-prone individual can now be identified and that the risk of having a heart attack can be reduced by 75% among these if they take corrective action.

He urged every sizable hospital to develop heart-resuscitation teams.

3,000 Steelworkers in Scattered Strikes

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Scattered locals of the United Steelworkers walked off the job Saturday after failing to reach a contract agreement with some independent steel producers.

The strikes, which began at midnight, idled 2,700 workers at Copperweld Steel Co.'s Warren, Ohio, works and 300 workers at Bliss and Laughlin's Harvey, Ill., works.

PERSONAL APPEAL, 'FRESH' GOP FACE

Reagan Seen Strong Contender

(Editor's Note — Now that George Murphy proved actors can win in California, Ronald Reagan's hat may be the next one in the ring. With the proper nudging he may try to unite the Republicans in next year's primary, hoping for a shot at Gov. Brown and the Democrats.)

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ronald Reagan for governor of California?

His hat is all but definitely in the ring. And politicians of both major parties say he would be a powerful contender.

The slim, eloquent advocate of conservative Republicanism has progressed from party workhorse to potential candidate due to:

1. His personal appeal and effectiveness as a campaigner for Barry Goldwater in the 1964 presidential campaign.

2. George Murphy's election to the U.S. Senate from California.

3. California's incessant political feuding, which this year finds Democrats split sharply and Republicans splintered in the wake of Goldwater's defeat. Reagan's is the only fresh GOP face.

REAGAN, LONGTIME leading man in movies and television, is working almost full time building support for next year's June GOP primary. If he should win, he'd probably face Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown in November.

Try to pin Reagan down and he says:

"I think the Republican Party has reached a position where it's got to find out whom the broad cross-section of the rank and file thinks it could unite behind.

"If it's someone else, I'll support someone else."

THE MOST LIKELY someone else, if there proves to be another, is Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, titular head of the California GOP. Friends say he opposes control of the state organization by conservatives and is considering seeking the governorship as a means of preventing it. But as GOP whip in the U.S. Senate he already occupies a position of power, and his term does not expire until 1970.

Republican chances are believed enhanced by a Democratic power struggle between Gov. Brown and State Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh.

Barry Goldwater has said "the time is getting ripe" for Reagan to go into politics. And John Krehbiel, then chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, mentioned Reagan among a dozen potential candidates four years ago.

Reagan, although then a registered Democrat, had campaigned vigorously for Richard M. Nixon's presidential bid against John F. Kennedy.

In the latest presidential campaign Reagan was co-chairman of the California Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee—and a fiery, persuasive speaker.

A nationally televised Reagan campaign speech brought in more than $150,000 in small donations—more than was raised by any other speaker or rally, says Walter Knott, chairman of the Goldwater-Miller National TV Committee.

While Goldwater lost, George Murphy, like Reagan a former president of the Screen Actors Guild showed that an actor can win high office.

AMONG PARTY PROS, however, the feeling that Reagan is the best possible candidate is by no means unanimous.

Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, 68, now an insurance executive, says he's seriously thinking of seeking another term himself.

"It's an overwhelming job," Knight says. "I don't know what tools this man would use. This is no reflection on his character, sincerity and talent as an actor and speaker—but you've got to be more than an actor to hold down that job."

Former Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell, an independent oilman who lost the 1962 gubernatorial nomination to Nixon, may make another try. Asked Reagan's qualifications for governor, Shell said: "He's a fine actor."

REAGAN, WHO DIDN'T register as a Republican until two years ago, is a self-styled former "bleeding-heart liberal." But he voted for Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956—"didn't everyone?"—and says he has been making speeches on limitation of government since about 1954.

Six feet one, 180 pounds, Reagan at 54 is brown-haired and blue-eyed, with wrinkled, startlingly pink features.

He lives in a magnificent Pacific Palisades hillside house whose wall-sized windows offer a sweeping view of the Beverly Hills-Los Angeles plain. His wife is actress Nancy Davis. Their children are Pati Ann, 12, and Ronnie II, 6.

Undeniably, Ronald Wilson Reagan — the middle name was his mother's maiden name — personifies the up-from-nowhere, rugged individualism he advocates. Some career highlights:

Birth at Tampico, Ill., Feb. 6, 1911. . . . Schooling in Dixon, Ill., where he made the basketball, football and track teams, became interested in dramatics and was president of the high school student body. . . .

After graduation from Eureka College became a sports broadcaster on a Des Moines radio station, covering big-league baseball and Big Ten football. . . .

To Los Angeles to cover the Chicago Cubs' training camp . . . introduction to an agent who got him a screen test at Warner Brothers. First role: radio commentator in "Love Is On The Air," 1937. . . . Eight years' marriage to actress Jane Wyman, who in 1948 got a divorce and custody of their two children. . . .

—AP Photo

RONALD REAGAN and wife, former actress Nancy Davis, discuss merits of tractor on their 305-acre ranch in Santa Monica mountains.

REAGAN SAID THE governorship was never his idea. He's seeking information from "knowledgeable people" to help him decide: "Would I be acceptable enough to the party over-all to heal some of the wounds to give us a united effort?"

How does he categorize himself politically? "I'm a Republican. I'm convinced we've got to get rid of those adjectives and hyphens—for the most part handed us by the opposition—in a damn successful attempt to divide and conquer."

He adds: "Today, the way the words are used, I suppose I would have to accept the word conservative—and very proudly. Because in my interpretation, and that of a lot of people, it's the only word commonly used to describe this belief in constitutional government with emphasis on individual freedom."

Is he to the right or left of Goldwater? "I don't think there is a left or right. There's only up or down. Up . . . to the ultimate in individual freedom consistent with law and order — or down to the antheap of totalitarianism. . . ."

Civil rights? "I've spent my entire life actively on the side of opposing prejudice of all kinds. I'll match my record in that field against some of the marchers today. But again I say there is a definite limit to how far in the private sector you can go by legislation and law. You can't guarantee someone's freedom by imposing on someone else's. . . ."

AS FOR NEVER HAVING held office before: "Everybody has to start some place. Some, in spite of having had previous offices, still didn't turn out to be very good governors. . . ."

Business experience: he was president in 1947-52 and in 1959 of the Screen Actors Guild, "an organization responsible for the working conditions of 14,000 actors and actresses."

He was chairman twice of the Motion Picture Industry Council, "representative of 31 unions and both producer organizations, to deal with all problems that affect the industry as a whole." He's a director of International Holding Corp. and Coastal Life Insurance Co.

The governor's $44,100-a-year salary (plus $17,400 for support of the governor's mansion and a special $15,000 expense fund) would mean a setback financially, Reagan said. "Oh, sure. That's something I would have to face."

He has promised a decision within the next few months. Toughest of his life?

"Pretty close to it," he said.

No King at Spring

SPRING VALLEY, Calif. (UPI) — Monte Vista High School's athletic teams are known as the Monarchs, the school paper is called the Royal Page and its pep band is known as the Jesters' Band.

But the student governing council has defeated by one a proposal to rename the student body president the king.

Jamaica Premier Faces Eye Surgery

'Snap-Shot' Satellite Logs 10,000 Mi.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "snap-shot" satellite — the world's first space nuclear reactor power system — has logged 10 million miles since it was launched April 3 and is behaving flawlessly.

This was reported by the Atomic Energy Commission which devised the reactor—called SNAP—10A. "Snap" stands for "Systems for Nuclear Auxiliary Power."

The reactor, which generates more than 500 watts of electric power for space-research instruments, was launched by the Air Force atop an Atlas-Agena rocket. It is orbiting the earth at an altitude of about 800 miles in a path that takes it over both the north and south polar areas.

PERSONAL APPEAL, 'FRESH' GOP FACE

Reagan Seen Strong Contender

(Editor's Note — Now that George Murphy proved actors can win in California, Ronald Reagan's hat may be the next one in the ring. With the proper nudging he may try to unite the Republicans in next year's primary, hoping for a shot at Gov. Brown and the Democrats.)

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ronald Reagan for governor of California?

His hat is all but definitely in the ring. And politicians of both major parties say he would be a powerful contender.

The slim, eloquent advocate of conservative Republicanism has progressed from party workhorse to potential candidate due to:

1. His personal appeal and effectiveness as a campaigner for Barry Goldwater in the 1964 presidential campaign.

2. George Murphy's election to the U.S. Senate from California.

3. California's incessant political feuding, which this year finds Democrats split sharply and Republicans splintered in the wake of Goldwater's defeat. Reagan's is the only fresh GOP face.

REAGAN, LONGTIME leading man in movies and television, is working almost full time building support for next year's June GOP primary. If he should win, he'd probably face Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown in November.

Try to pin Reagan down and he says:

"I think the Republican Party has reached a position where it's got to find out whom the broad cross-section of the rank and file thinks it could unite behind.

THE MOST LIKELY someone else, if there proves to be another, is Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, titular head of the California GOP. Friends say he opposes control of the state organization by conservatives and is considering seeking the governorship as a means of preventing it. But as GOP whip in the U.S. Senate he already occupies a position of power, and his term does not expire until 1970.

Republican chances are believed enhanced by a Democratic power struggle between Gov. Brown and State Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh.

Barry Goldwater has said "the time is getting ripe" for Reagan to go into politics. And John Krehbiel, then chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, mentioned Reagan among a dozen potential candidates four years ago.

Reagan, although then a registered Democrat, had campaigned vigorously for Richard M. Nixon's presidential bid against John F. Kennedy.

In the latest presidential campaign Reagan was co-chairman of the California Citizens for Goldwater-Miller Committee—and a fiery, persuasive speaker.

A nationally televised Reagan campaign speech brought in more than $150,000 in small donations—more than was raised by any other speaker or rally, says Walter Knott, chairman of the Goldwater-Miller National TV Committee.

While Goldwater lost, George Murphy, like Reagan a former president of the Screen Actors Guild showed that an actor can win high office.

AMONG PARTY PROS, however, the feeling that Reagan is the best possible candidate is by no means unanimous.

Former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, 68, now an insurance executive, says he's seriously thinking of seeking another term himself.

"It's an overwhelming job," Knight says. "I don't know what tools this man would use. This is no reflection on his character, sincerity and talent as an actor and speaker—but you've got to be more than an actor to hold down that job."

Former Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell, an independent oilman who lost the 1962 gubernatorial nomination to Nixon, may make another try. Asked Reagan's qualifications for governor, Shell said: "He's a fine actor."

REAGAN, WHO DIDN'T register as a Republican until two years ago, is a self-styled former "bleeding-heart liberal." But he voted for Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956—"didn't everyone?"—and says he has been making speeches on limitation of government since about 1954.

Six feet one, 180 pounds, Reagan at 54 is brown-haired and blue-eyed, with wrinkled, startlingly pink features.

He lives in a magnificent Pacific Palisades hillside house whose wall-sized windows offer a sweeping view of the Beverly Hills-Los Angeles plain. His wife is actress Nancy Davis. Their children are Pati Ann, 12, and Ronnie II, 6.

Undeniably, Ronald Wilson Reagan — the middle name was his mother's maiden name — personifies the up-from-nowhere, rugged individualism he advocates. Some career highlights:

Birth at Tampico, Ill., Feb. 6, 1911. . . . Schooling in Dixon, Ill., where he made the basketball, football and track teams, became interested in dramatics and was president of the high school student body. . . .

After graduation from Eureka College became a sports broadcaster on a Des Moines radio station, covering big-league baseball and Big Ten football. . . .

To Los Angeles to cover the Chicago Cubs' training camp . . . introduction to an agent who got him a screen test at Warner Brothers. First role: radio commentator in "Love Is On The Air," 1937. . . . Eight years' marriage to actress Jane Wyman, who in 1948 got a divorce and custody of their two children. . . .

REAGAN SAID THE governorship was never his idea. He's seeking information from "knowledgeable people" to help him decide: "Would I be acceptable enough to the party over-all to heal some of the wounds to give us a united effort?"

How does he categorize himself politically? "I'm a Republican. I'm convinced we've got to get rid of those adjectives and hyphens—for the most part handed us by the opposition—in a damn successful attempt to divide and conquer."

He adds: "Today, the way the words are used, I suppose I would have to accept the word conservative—and very proudly. Because in my interpretation, and that of a lot of people, it's the only word commonly used to describe this belief in constitutional government with emphasis on individual freedom."

Is he to the right or left of Goldwater? "I don't think there is a left or right. There's only up or down. Up . . . to the ultimate in individual freedom consistent with law and order — or down to the antheap of totalitarianism. . . ."

Civil rights? "I've spent my entire life actively on the side of opposing prejudice of all kinds. I'll match my record in that field against some of the marchers today. But again I say there is a definite limit to how far in the private sector you can go by legislation and law. You can't guarantee someone's freedom by imposing on someone else's. . . ."

AS FOR NEVER HAVING held office before: "Everybody has to start some place. Some, in spite of having had previous offices, still didn't turn out to be very good governors. . . ."

Business experience: he was president in 1947-52 and in 1959 of the Screen Actors Guild, "an organization responsible for the working conditions of 14,000 actors and actresses."

He was chairman twice of the Motion Picture Industry Council, "representative of 31 unions and both producer organizations, to deal with all problems that affect the industry as a whole." He's a director of International Holding Corp. and Coastal Life Insurance Co.

The governor's $44,100-a-year salary (plus $17,400 for support of the governor's mansion and a special $15,000 expense fund) would mean a setback financially, Reagan said. "Oh, sure. That's something I would have to face."

He has promised a decision within the next few months. Toughest of his life?

"Pretty close to it," he said.

Independents to Discuss Oil Controls

By MAX B. SKELTON

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Oil and natural gas price controls will be among the chronic problems to be discussed the next three days by the nation's independent oil operators.

About 1,000 oilmen from nearly 40 states are to attend the mid-year policy drafting session of the 7,000-member independent Petroleum Association of America.

It will be the trade group's first session since last October's annual meeting at Houston, where the imports policy committee, with heated debate, deliberated seven hours and 45 minutes.

H. A. (Dave) True Jr., national president from Casper, Wyo., made indirect reference to the rather stormy Houston session in his official call for the Denver meeting.

True said several committees and subcommittees given specific assignments at Houston will report findings and recommendations here.

* * * *

HE THEN added:

"Despite its age and wear there is still basic truth in the 'unity' and 'strength' parallel."

Representatives of several state and regional groups sought at Houston to have the national association abandon traditional policy and endorse a direct or indirect tariff as the best method for controlling oil imports.

The national body reaffirmed its policy of seeking tighter imports restrictions by executive order but did authorize True and other officers to go to Congress if necessary. The general membership also rejected a motion that would have denied voting privileges to importers serving the association's policy committees, an issue that had been smoldering since mid-1964.

Two special subcommittees that may make their first reports here have been studying the effects of offshore Louisiana federal lease oil production on the domestic market and tax discrimination or non-discrimination between foreign and domestic producers.

* * * *

RESULTS of a mid-March Interior Department hearing failed to include a 275,000 barrels per day imports rollback sought by the independents. The Defense Department agreed, however, to purchase from domestic sources about 30,000 barrels per day in military petroleum products requirements now being purchased from foreign sources.

True was instructed in October to appoint a special committee to draft legislation under which Congress would remove all natural gas producers from the price controls jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission.

The decontrol bill has made no progress and some independents have indicated no major push in its behalf will be made until the FPC rules later this year in the Permian Basin case that has been under study since early 1961.

* * * *

THE FPC ADOPTED in 1960 an area formula for controlling gas prices in 23 major producing areas. The Permian Basin of west Texas and southeastern New Mexico was selected as the test area for establishment of ground rules for the new formula.

The imports and natural gas policy committees meet Wednesday.

Speakers at the general sessions Monday and Tuesday include True, Gov. John A. Love, R-Colo., Rep. Omar Burleton, D-Tex., and Matthew E. Welsh, former governor of Indiana.

West Berliners Ask Parliament to Come

BERLIN (AP) — A public opinion poll shows 74% of the West Berliners favor further West German Parliament meetings here even if this would bring new Communist harassment. The poll was conducted by the West Berlin city government after the recent Berlin sitting of Parliament here during Communist plane buzzings and road stoppages.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Market Still Cautious; Investors Eye Viet Nam

By C. J. PARNOW

NEW YORK (UPI)—An air of caution seemed to hang over the stock market last week, but market indicators managed to score a modest gain through a series of halting advances.

The absence of any really significant selling pressure combined with the selective upthrust in blue chips and some secondary shares led analysts to believe investors were still swayed by the uncertainty of the Viet Nam situation.

A number of analysts have said the market has discounted the Viet Nam problem but, although reactions to developments there are no longer as violent as in the past, some hesitancy is noted following adverse developments.

* * * *

THE SHOOTING incident off the coast of North Korea Wednesday probably sparked some of the selling that day but the pressure was almost negligible compared with previous conflicts of the same sort.

Prices made little progress in the opening session, gaining only 0.45 in the Dow-Jones Industrial average. Gains of 1.30 and 0.70 were rung up in the next two sessions but a loss of 0.15 was hit Thursday. Strength in a handful of blue chips, particularly chemicals, boosted the average 3.60 Friday.

Dow-Jones Industrials advanced 5.90 on the week to finish at a new all-time peak of 922.31. Rails inched up 0.51 to 212.63, but utilities slipped 0.60 to 161.76. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.23 at 89.11, also a new peak.

* * * *

TURNOVER slowed to 28,115,890 shares from 29,622,740 shares a week before and compared with 27,746,760 shares in the same week last year.

Market observers are highly pleased with the incoming first quarter earnings reports and are optimistic about the outlook for the second quarter. They also are pleased by the technical outlook. However, a number of the experts say they believe the market will continue to be vulnerable to news events and will continue to display caution.

Despite the rise in the market barometers, losses outnumbered gains 716 to 636 as 1,520 issues crossed the tape. New 1965 highs swelled to 309 while new lows reached only 91.

Pan American Sulphur took first place in the active list with a loss of 12½ points at 35⅛ on 759,800 shares. The Mexican government announced plans last week to restrict the company's sulphur exports. The delay in the loading of a Pan American ship at Vera Cruz the week before was apparently a prelude to the move.

* * * *

FORD'S record sales and profits for the first quarter put it in second place with a gain of 3¼ at 61½ on 501,100 shares.

The selloff in Texas Gulf Sulphur slowed considerably and two consecutive point-sized gains were scored in the two final sessions. It finished the week with a loss of 2⅛ at 65⅜ on 484,200 shares.

RCA also was active. It dipped ⅜ to 43⅛ on 264,400 shares. The stock eased a bit Wednesday after General Electric announced it was developing a new color television tube, but rebounded Friday when RCA reported that heavy demand for the color tubes was forcing it to restrict shipments.

General Motors added only ⅞, also in active trading, despite record sales and profits for the first quarter.

Livingston Oil skidded 1⅞ in active dealings. It reported first quarter profits fell to 44 cents a share from 76 cents in the like 1964 period.

* * * *

STEELS responded rather mildly to the four-month extension of the present labor contract. Bethlehem added a point as did Republic. Copperweld moved up 1½ but U.S. Steel slid ⅛.

Eastman Kodak spurted 8⅜ on first quarter earnings. Union Carbide added a point. Allied Chemical, which reported a slight increase in per share earnings in the first three months, dropped 2⅝.

Atlantic Refining moved up 2⅛ on profits news. Standard Oil (N.J.) slipped 1⅞ after it reported a loss of about 6% in first quarter earnings. Pennzoil and Richfield Oil were hit by profit-taking and lost 2½ and 3¾ respectively.

IBM advanced 4¾ but Control Data dropped 3. Honeywell shed only ⅜. It reported a drop in its first quarter net.

Motorola climbed 3½ but Zenith skidded 3.

National Airlines dropped 3⅜ and Eastern dipped ⅛. The Civil Aeronautics Board last week set aside its four previous decisions granting the two lines the New York-Florida route held by Northeast Airlines. The decisions were rescinded under a court order.

ANACONDA Copper rose 1½ on news of a more than 50% rise in first quarter earnings. General Electric gained 1⅜. It reported better earnings, plans for a new color television tube and also was awarded a $52 million contract with a Swedish firm for work on the vast West Coast electric power intertie.

Howard Johnson slipped ⅞ on news of a sharp drop in first quarter profits. Freeport Sulphur was strong, rising 4⅛. Procter & Gamble advanced 4⅞. Great Northern Paper, which has been in an uptrend over the past several weeks, gained 4⅜.

Basutoland Begins Period of Self-Rule

MASERU, Basutoland (AP)—Britain's 97-year-old rule over this South African territory was relaxed ceremonially this weekend. The Oxford-educated paramount chief, Motlotlehi Moshoeshoe II, took the oath of allegiance as the official representative of the chief of state, Queen Elizabeth II. Full independence is to follow in about a year if law and order are maintained.

Independents to Discuss Oil Controls

By MAX B. SKELTON

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Oil and natural gas price controls will be among the chronic problems to be discussed the next three days by the nation's independent oil operators.

About 1,000 oilmen from nearly 40 states are to attend the mid-year policy drafting session of the 7,000-member independent Petroleum Association of America.

It will be the trade group's first session since last October's annual meeting at Houston, where the imports policy committee, with heated debate, deliberated seven hours and 45 minutes.

H. A. (Dave) True Jr., national president from Casper, Wyo., made indirect reference to the rather stormy Houston session in his official call for the Denver meeting.

True said several committees and subcommittees given specific assignments at Houston will report findings and recommendations here.

* * * *

HE THEN added:

"Despite its age and wear there is still basic truth in the 'unity' and 'strength' parallel."

Representatives of several state and regional groups sought at Houston to have the national association abandon traditional policy and endorse a direct or indirect tariff as the best method for controlling oil imports.

The national body reaffirmed its policy of seeking tighter imports restrictions by executive order but did authorize True and other officers to go to Congress if necessary. The general membership also rejected a motion that would have denied voting privileges to importers serving the association's policy committees, an issue that had been smoldering since mid-1964.

Two special subcommittees that may make their first reports here have been studying the effects of offshore Louisiana federal lease oil production on the domestic market and tax discrimination or non-discrimination between foreign and domestic producers.

* * * *

RESULTS of a mid-March Interior Department hearing failed to include a 275,000 barrels per day imports rollback sought by the independents. The Defense Department agreed, however, to purchase from domestic sources about 30,000 barrels per day in military petroleum products requirements now being purchased from foreign sources.

True was instructed in October to appoint a special committee to draft legislation under which Congress would remove all natural gas producers from the price controls jurisdiction of the Federal Power Commission.

The decontrol bill has made no progress and some independents have indicated no major push in its behalf will be made until the FPC rules later this year in the Permian Basin case that has been under study since early 1961.

THE FPC ADOPTED in 1960 an area formula for controlling gas prices in 23 major producing areas. The Permian Basin of west Texas and southeastern New Mexico was selected as the test area for establishment of ground rules for the new formula.

The imports and natural gas policy committees meet Wednesday.

Speakers at the general sessions Monday and Tuesday include True, Gov. John A. Love, R-Colo., Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex., and Matthew E. Welsh, former governor of Indiana.

West Berliners Ask Parliament to Come

BERLIN (AP) — A public opinion poll shows 74% of the West Berliners favor further West German Parliament sessions here even if this would bring new Communist harassment. The poll was conducted by the West Berlin city government after the recent Berlin sitting of Parliament here during Communist plane buzzings and road stoppages.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Market Still Cautious; Investors Eye Viet Nam

By C. J. PARNOW

NEW YORK (UPI)—An air of caution seemed to hang over the stock market last week, but market indicators managed to score a modest gain through a series of halting advances.

The absence of any really significant selling pressure combined with the selective upthrust in blue chips and some secondary shares led analysts to believe investors were still swayed by the uncertainty of the Viet Nam situation.

A number of analysts have said the market has discounted the Viet Nam problem but, although reactions to developments there are no longer as violent as in the past, some hesitancy is noted following adverse developments.

* * * *

THE SHOOTING incident off the coast of North Korea Wednesday probably sparked some of the selling that day but the pressure was almost negligible compared with previous conflicts of the same sort.

Prices made little progress in the opening session, gaining only 0.45 in the Dow-Jones Industrial average. Gains of 1.30 and 0.70 were rung up in the next two sessions but a loss of 0.15 was hit Thursday. Strength in a handful of blue chips, particularly chemicals, boosted the average 3.60 Friday.

Dow-Jones Industrials advanced 5.90 on the week to finish at a new all-time peak of 922.31. Rails inched up 0.51 to 212.63, but utilities slipped 0.60 to 161.76. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.23 at 89.11, also a new peak.

* * * *

TURNOVER slowed to 28,115,890 shares from 29,622,740 shares a week before and compared with 27,746,760 shares in the same week last year.

Market observers are highly pleased with the incoming first quarter earnings reports and are optimistic about the outlook for the second quarter. They also are pleased by the technical outlook. However, a number of the experts say they believe the market will continue to be vulnerable to news events and will continue to display caution.

Despite the rise in the market barometers, losses outnumbered gains 716 to 636 as 1,520 issues crossed the tape. New 1965 highs swelled to 309 while new lows reached only 91.

Pan American Sulphur took first place in the active list with a loss of 12½ points at 35¼ on 759,800 shares. The Mexican government announced plans last week to restrict the company's sulphur exports. The delay in the loading of a Pan American ship at Vera Cruz the week before was apparently a prelude to the move.

* * * *

FORD'S record sales and profits for the first quarter put it in second place with a gain of 3¼ at 61½ on 501,100 shares.

The selloff in Texas Gulf Sulphur slowed considerably and two consecutive point-sized gains were scored in the two final sessions. It finished the week with a loss of 2⅛ at 65⅜ on 484,200 shares.

RCA also was active. It dipped ¾ to 43⅛ on 264,400 shares. The stock eased a bit Wednesday after General Electric announced it was developing a new color television tube, but rebounded Friday when RCA reported that heavy demand for the color tubes was forcing it to restrict shipments.

General Motors added only ⅞, also in active trading, despite record sales and profits for the first quarter.

Livingston Oil skidded 1⅞ in active dealings. It reported first quarter profits fell to 44 cents a share from 76 cents in the like 1964 period.

* * * *

STEELS responded rather mildly to the four-month extension of the present labor contract. Bethlehem added a point as did Republic. Copperweld moved up 1½ but U.S. Steel slid ⅛.

Eastman Kodak spurted 8⅜ on first quarter earnings. Union Carbide added a point. Allied Chemical, which reported a slight increase in per share earnings in the first three months, dropped 2⅝.

Atlantic Refining moved up 2⅛ on profits news. Standard Oil (N.J.) slipped 1⅞ after it reported a loss of about 6% in first quarter earnings. Pennzoil and Richfield Oil were hit by profit-taking and lost 2½ and 3¾ respectively.

IBM advanced 4¾ but Control Data dropped 3. Honeywell shed only ⅜. It reported a drop in its first quarter net.

Motorola climbed 3½ but Zenith skidded 3.

National Airlines dropped 3⅜ and Eastern dipped ⅛. The Civil Aeronautics Board last week set aside its four previous decisions granting the two lines the New York-Florida route held by Northeast Airlines. The decisions were rescinded under a court order.

ANACONDA Copper rose 1½ on news of a more than 50% rise in first quarter earnings. General Electric gained 1⅜. It reported better earnings, plans for a new color television tube and also was awarded a $52 million contract with a Swedish firm for work on the vast West Coast electric power intertie.

Howard Johnson slipped ⅞ on news of a sharp drop in first quarter profits. Freeport Sulphur was strong, rising 4⅛. Procter & Gamble advanced 4⅞. Great Northern Paper, which has been in an uptrend over the past several weeks, gained 4⅜.

WHEN 'THE KRAUTS QUIT' IN 1945

'I Made It,' Bellflower GI Sighed

Editor's Note — Twenty years ago peace broke over Europe; the Continent's bloodiest war was over. From Normandy to the steppes of Russia the lucky ones celebrated, each in his own way, and thought of the comrades who hadn't made it. Here's the way it was on the battlefield on historic May 7, 1945, as re-created by an Associated Press writer and two-time Pulitzer Prize winner, who was there.

By RELMAN MORIN

The soldier sat on the riverbank, looking at the water but not seeing it.

He had been cleaning his rifle and now it lay across his knees and he stared at the Mulde River, sparkling in the May sunshine. Someone had just yelled, and he never could remember who it was, "The war's over. The Krauts have quit. This time it's official!"

This was when Pfc. Fenton Rowe of Bellflower, Calif., stopped cleaning his rifle. Some things are too big, too numbing, to take in right away.

* * * *

AFTER A long moment, Pfc. Fenton Rowe sank back, with his face to the sky, and murmured, "I made it, I made it, I made it."

A detachment of the British 141st Royal Armored Corps had camped on a heath, south of Emden. The section officers, one to every three tanks, had gone to see the commander.

"When our officer came back," said Corp. Freddie Fox of London, "he said, 'The rumors were right, chaps. It stops tomorrow morning.'"

Three tanks had been shot out from under Corp. Fox, and he had come through each time without a scratch. But that kind of luck was rare, and it certainly couldn't hold forever.

So now, the corporal felt that he should do something, something special to let off steam. At first, he couldn't think of anything. Then an idea came to him. As a tank man, there never had been an occasion to use his revolver.

He pulled it from the holster and fired a shot into the ground.

That same night, First Lieut. Eberhard Schaube-Kuffler, erstwhile commander of a special "Auffangkommando" unit—which rounded up stragglers—was on a riverboat on the Stoer Canal, near the village of Banzkow. He was now acting as an interpreter for the Americans.

The boat was tied up on the west bank. On the east bank, Siberian guardsmen were firing rifles into the air.

* * * *

THE LIEUTENANT and some other Germans on the boat had a bottle of schnapps, "liberated" from the German medics. Presently, four GIs joined them, bringing a nearly full bottle of whisky. They sat talking about the end of the war.

Suddenly, they heard tapping on the boat's hull.

There in the water, in uniform, were four Siberian soldiers. Speaking German, they said they would like to join the party. Also, they had a bottle of vodka to contribute.

The party lasted until midnight, Americans, Russians and Germans toasting each other and the end of the war.

But on the whole, there was little celebrating, little dancing in the streets or drunkenness, on any of the fronts where the fighting ended.

For some, the official end of the war came as an anticlimax.

* * * *

IN ITALY, the Germans had surrendered en masse five days earlier.

From the U.S. First Army in Germany, Don Whitehead of the Associated Press cabled, "Suddenly the war just melted away into nothingness and the guns were silent . . . They (the soldiers) have seen this Nazi world come apart at the seams and its miserable people straggling along the roads of defeat, marked more plainly with the signs of a fallen nation than any proclamation ever could."

Tragedy and joy walked hand in hand in those last days of the war in Europe.

A man liberated from an extermination camp, and probably weak from malnutrition, fell off a truck and was killed. He had survived the war and the camp and then, free at last, lost his life.

In Leipzig, an aide of Maj. Arnold Wilson Samuels of Columbus, Ohio, found the major's daughter. Samuels hadn't seen her since she was taken to Germany as a child, 17 years before. He said, "With Anton (the aide) was the sweetest girl I had ever seen in my life. She took one look at me and was in my arms. I guess I was stunned with happiness."

In London, for the first time in nearly six years, the sandbag parapets were coming down. In New York, storekeepers were boarding up their windows against the expected frenzy of the crowds on V-E- Day.

This was the week of May 2-8, 1945, just 20 years ago.

Many Germans, even ordinary foot soldiers, later said they recognized the hopelessness of the situation in the spring of 1945.

Thus, but for one man, the war in Europe might well have ended on or before April 1. He decreed that it must continue to the bitter end, which only came five weeks later.

In this hideous and reasonless Walpudgis Night, hundreds of thousands of people had to die, fighting men of many armies, prisoners in German concentration camps, women, children, the aged.

This was Adolf Hitler's last crime.

The Germans entered the room and stood for a moment, blinking in the bright lights. Cameras began to whir. Four Allied officers were sitting on one side of the long table. Maps and casualty charts covered the walls. Behind a rope in one corner, 17 correspondents began scribbling. They represented, as a "pool," the whole accredited press groups, running into the hundreds.

It was 2:30 in the morning, May 7, 1945.

This was Gen. Eisenhower's forward headqaurters, a red brick building, part of a French technical school in Rheims, France.

The Germans, Col.-General Gustav Jodl and Adf. Hans Georg von Friedeburg, took seats at the table, opposite Allied officers. They were authorized by Hitler's successor, Adm. Doenitz, to sign the documents of surrender.

They had arrived in Rheims nine hours earlier. It had taken time to work out the technical details of the surrender. Apart from these, however, it appeared that Jodl was stalling for more time to allow thousands of German civilians and soldiers, fleeing the Russians, to pass through Allied lines.

Eisenhower finally sent word that unless the documents were signed at once, he would seal off the fronts to the Germans.

When Jodl and Von Friedeburg were seated, Lt.-Gen. Walter Bedell Smith rose to his feet. He was short, husky, with craggy features and black hair.

"There are four copies to be signed," he said. His voice was dry and matter of fact.

The Germans signed. Then Smith, Gen. Ivan Susloparov of the U.S.S.R., Gen. Francois Sevez of France, and Adm Sir Harold Burrough of Britain, took the pens and signed.

It was now 2:41 a.m., British double summer time.

Jodl rose and said, in English, "I want to say a word." He paused and then said.

"General, with this signature the German people and the German armed forces are, for better or worse, delivered into the victors' hands. . . . In this hour, I can only express the hope that the victor will treat them with generosity."

They were then taken to Eisenhower's office. He asked, sternly, if they understood the terms of the surrender and if they would carry out these terms. They said they would.

After the Germans left, Eisenhower sent a terse message to the combined chiefs of staff:

"The mission of this allied force was fulfilled at 0241, local time, May 7, 1945."

Thus, after five years, eight months and seven days, the war in Europe officially ended.

SHOP MONDAY THRU SATURDAY 9:30 A.M. TO 9:15 P.M.

THIS one-time denizen of the high country, who feels nostalgic stirrings at this season of the year, got a brief but satisfying high-altitude experience late in the week on an overnight trip to Mt. Baldy.

It was the first jaunt up there in a year, and waiting for me were the things that had figured in my happy memories—the clear air, the scent of the pines, the nippy night and morning, the gentle slumber by the crackling hearth fire, the hearty rough-cooked dinner and breakfast assuaging a husky hunger.

Our little stag group spent the night at the cabin of Dr. and Mrs. Sutter Kunkle, near the foot of the Baldy lifts, a rough gem of a place filled with mementoes of Kunkle's European skiing adventures.

Snow that surrounded the cabin just a few days ago has now been burned off by the warm suns of mid-spring, although here and there we found a patch. One, in the cool shade near the cabin, served as a refrigeration facility for a watermelon we fortuitously lugged into the hills.

COOKERY lacked the gentle and efficient touch of woman, but it was pretty darned good. Kunkle set a grill in the fireplace for the thick steaks but, in accordance with a tradition with our gang, some of us insisted on the hot pan. (I've always contended that no broiled steak can equal that from a pan if expertly handled.)

And speaking of experts, those who know Pic McIvor, the crude-oil consultant and big Navy League man, may not be aware of his deft touch with a salad. McIvor makes a major project of this dish. He carefully selects the ingredients in the market and spends as much as two hours carefully turning them into a delicious conglomeration that would surely draw the unstinted admiration of our Food Editor Millie Flanary if she were ever permitted in the sacred precincts of this masculine one-night hideaway. I'm something of a cooking enthusiast myself, but I've never given such tender and affectionate treatment to a dish as that which McIvor applies to a salad. It's something to see—and eat!

A trusting host, Dr. Kunkle late in the evening departed for Long Beach with some of the group, leaving the rest of us to make a night of it in his cabin.

Some of us had to get back into town for a full business day and dawn found the fire revived on the hearth and the smell of coffee emanating from the kitchen.

THERE'S nothing quite like the mountains in the morning, with the sun showing over the ridge to take the nip out of the air, the birds and small animals cavorting about, the dawn wind in the pines soon giving way to a peaceful calm.

It's not easy to leave a place like that, but what can one do when he is a slave to the requirements of a busy life in that noisy flat that lies below the rugged ridges?

So soon we were winding our way down the canyon road, slowly maneuvering the high switchbacks, then rolling out easily on the long stretches. Between 7 and 8 we saw only four or five cars on the entire mountain sector of the road. These were all downward bound, their drivers impatiently passing us when safety permitted. Perhaps our slower pace reflected reluctance to leave the brief sanctuary from rush, traffic and serious task.

Once on the freeway, we were in all these and for good.

STRANGELY enough, I write of all this as if it were all far away. Yet we were home in an hour and a half from the cabin.

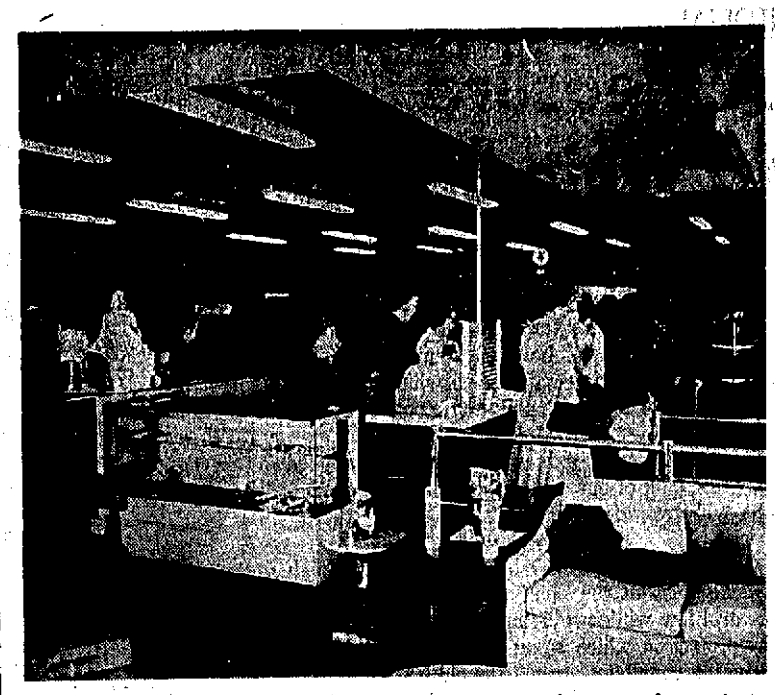

We could go there more often, but perhaps we don't just to keep it as something rare and special.

It's Good Will

By GEORGE ERES

WIGHTMAN MEMORIAL Goodwill plant on Pacific Coast Highway is the collection center for items. Here workers sort clothing. Sale of cleaned and repaired clothing accounts for 75% of Goodwill's income.

INTERIOR OF the new Goodwill Store in Torrance shows modern, attractive merchandising methods employed. Many Goodwill stores have off-street parking. This store was built by Goodwill through contributions by Mrs. E. J. Wightman and others.

On an average day, the unloading dock at the Wightman Memorial Goodwill Industries plant, 800 W. Pacific Coast Hwy., is a crazy jumble of discarded household items — refrigerators, appliances, rugs, drapes, dresses, men's clothing, rags, furniture . . .

It looks like a mountain of junk. But carefully sorted, cleaned and repaired it is saleable.

And over the years, from the sale of these discarded items Goodwill Industries here has jumped its payroll to handicapped persons from $12,000 in 1934, when the program began, to last year's $380,000, when 315 persons were employed; paid out a total of $4 million in wages since it has been in operation.

"The first year's wages were less than half the amount Goodwill employes paid in Social Security deductions last year," said Walter Case, executive vice president. "It was not even a third of the amount they paid last year in income tax deductions. Goodwill's program has made tax-paying, self-supporting citizens of many people who might otherwise have been in need of some sort of tax-supported program for their welfare."

* * * *

The material on the unloading dock is brought in by 10 trucks which daily make calls at homes and collection boxes throughout the territory — from Seal Beach to Manhattan Beach, and from the city of Bellflower to the Palos Verdes Peninsula.

Refurbished, the discards are ready for sale at one of the Industries' seven outlets: 247 E. Fourth St., Long Beach; 9604 Artesia Ave., Bellflower; 16220 S. Western Ave., Gardena; 317 Torrance Blvd., Redondo Beach; 109 W. Anaheim St., Wilmington; Costume Shop at 800 W. Pacific Coast Hwy., Long Beach, and the newest store, 22725 S. Western Ave., Torrance. Annual gross of these retail outlets tops $500,000.

Goodwill recently added a new operation at which handicapped are employed — the Contract Shop. Various industries contract out jobs which the handicapped can handle. Currently, for instance, handicapped at Goodwill are packing light bulbs for General Electric; folding brochures for Howard Zink and Memorial Hospital; polishing silverware for American Air Lines; making scratchpads for North American Aviation; repairing soft drink bottle cases for Coca Cola and Pepsi; salvaging plastic items for Mattells.

NOW marking annual National Goodwill Week, May 2-8, the local organization was founded as a means of finding work for the physically, mentally or socially handicapped. The idea got under way in the United States in 1902 when a Methodist pastor in a slum began a workshop program as an alternative to "handouts." The idea spread to 128 cities and 8 foreign countries. It is a religion-oriented nonsectarian program.

Its only reason for existence is to give employment to handicapped people. Some of these handicapped are people who walk in off the street, but for the most part they are referred to the agency by such organizations as the State Department of Vocational Rehabilitation and the Veterans Administration. More than 200 currently are employed. Not all employes are handicapped — but most are. As one non-handicapped employe put it, "if we had a handicapped person who could do my job, he'd be doing it."

Currently there are 11 autonomous Goodwill Industries in California. According to Case, the Goodwill group makes up a small percentage of the 110 sheltered workshops of a similar nature in the state — yet the Goodwill Industries employ 75% of the number of handicapped in the sheltered workshops.

* * * *

CONTRIBUTIONS from people of good-will supply the raw material for turning "discards into timecards" for the handicapped.

But there is a limit to what even Goodwill Industries can magically turn a hand to and come out with salaries for the handicapped. Overstuffed sofas, for example. There just is no market for them and to modernize them where they would have resale value would be too costly.

But some people think Goodwill can use them and unload them at the collection boxes, because the word has got around that Goodwill can make something. Please, no more sofas, says Goodwill.

Then there are a few other items that find their way into the collection boxes placed on various parking lots about the area, clothing, rags, etc. Among the et ceteras, glass clippings, a dead cat and a dead fish have turned up. One morning a truck driver even found a drunk in one of the containers.

Goodwill cannot make use of grass clippings, dead cats or fish. They might have been able to do something with the drunk, but he got away.

GOODWILL COLLECTION boxes are spotted about the area where contributors may leave items. Goodwill has 116 of these boxes in the area, about half are in Long Beach.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR IBC SET

Majestic Background to Be Built for Spectaculars

The largest set ever fabricated in the history of the huge Long Beach Municipal Auditorium will be built for the International Beauty Congress "Spectaculars."

Executive Producer Wayne Dallard said the set for the Aug. 4-14 event will measure 61½ feet wide and 22 feet high. A blue cyclorama, which will "surround" the set, will measure 110 feet in width and 30 feet in height.

Glen Holse, nationally recognized artist, was awarded a contract for the design of the 1965 sets.

Holse, 30, was an art director for NBC Television for five years, creating designs for various NBC "Specials," plus such series as "The Eddie Fisher Show" and "The Steve Allen Show." He was production designer for the Hotel Tropicana in Las Vegas when it opened and has since designed sets for such outstanding productions as "The Ziegfield Show," "Flower Drum Song," "South Pacific," "High Button Shoes" and "Anything Goes" at the Thunderbird Hotel in Las Vegas.

Holse's credits also include "The Ice Capades," Barry Ashton and George Arnold productions and industrial shows for such clients as RCA and Union Oil Co.

* * * *

HOLSE'S IBC designs include the use of 2,500 yards of black velvet and special black vinyl tiling, plus a series of white columns and a huge, white telescoping runway. Through the use of black quartz lighting for the first time in the history of the Auditorium, the set will give an instantaneous majestic effect to the production.

"We are keeping the set somewhat simple, so as not to compete with the 90 beautiful girls who will be coming here from all over the world, the cast and the star of the 'Spectaculars,' lovely Patricia Morison," Dallard stated.

"We shall create a simple elegance which will complement the cast and the girls, as well as the beautiful costuming, for both the theater audience and the 40 million persons who will be watching on televison," he added.

OIL PARLEY

Leonard W. Brock, director of Department of Oil Properties of City of Long Beach, will attend 38th Annual Petroleum Institute's Pacific Coast District Meeting at Bakersfield Municipal Auditorium May 11 through 13. Brock will present his "Discussion of the Bid and Contract for the Long Beach Oil Development."

Marine Radio Meet to Be Held

The latest developments in maritime communication and guidance systems will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Radio Technical Commission for Marine Services, to be held at the Edgewater Inn Wednesday through Friday.

With boating so prevalent in California, sponsors of the meet have decided to stress small craft communications this year, according to Lyle Moore, general chairman of the group.

Among other things, boat owners will be given an opportunity to learn about new sea communication laws scheduled to go into effect soon, he said.

The first of two symposiums will be held in the hotel's Empire Room at 2 p.m. Wednesday, and small boat owners, as well as others interested in maritime communications, are invited to attend, said Moore.

The RTCM chief said some of the world's leading experts in the communications field will deliver papers during the three-day gathering.

Dr. Ovrebo Joins Lab of Douglas

Dr. Paul J. Ovrebo has been appointed to the staff of Douglas Co.'s Advanced Research Laboratory now under construction at Huntington Beach.

Announcement of the noted physicist's appointment was made by Dr. Lewis Laramore, director of the new facility.

Dr. Ovrebo is credited with first demonstrating the use of infrared for long-range air-to-air aircraft detection. He will conduct basic research in the infrared and optics fields at the $2 million liboratory, on the site of the Douglas Space Systems Center.

The new facility is expected to be operational early next year and will be staffed by 100 scientists, technicians and supporting personnel.

Dr. Ovrebo is a graduate of St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and received his doctorate in physics from the University of Chicago.

Orange County Prepares as 'Fire Season' Begins

It's "fire season" officially today, and Orange County prepared to man two lookout posts and open six fire stations closed since December.

Meanwhile, recruitment of 30 men to augment regular crews of fire fighters will be launched by the State Division of Forestry headquarters in Orange.

It will take about two weeks to prepare Gilman Peak lookout near Yorba Linda and the Bolero Peak lookout near Modjeske Canyon.

Fire stations at San Juan Capistrano, Trabuco, Yorba Linda, Orange, Irvine Lake and El Toro will be reopened for the summer "fire season."

Although the official beginning of "fire season" is today, the county will not begin to feel effects of the dry season until mid-July. The "fire season" extends through December, and men hired usually serve through the fall months.

Because of extended service requirements, it is impossible to hire many high school or college boys, according to Elmer Benson, associate fire ranger.

Jewish Customs--Origin, Transition--Series Topic

The origin and transition of Jewish customs and practices will be the topic of a series of discussions offered by the Long Beach Jewish Community Center, 2601 Grand Ave., this month.

Every Tuesday morning from 10:30 to 12 noon, starting Tuesday and continuing through May 25, Long Beach rabbis will take turns leading the discussions.

Rabbi Yosef Miller, of Temple Beth Sholom, will speak Tuesday on Jewish Holiday Customs and Practices; Rabbi Wolll Kaelter, of Temple Israel, on Life Span Customs and Practices, May 11; Rabbi Sidney Guthman of Temple Sinai, on Sabbath Customs and Practices, May 18; and Rabbi Philip Fried of Temple Beth Zion, on Daily Customs and Practices, May 25.

The public is invited. There is no fee for Center members, $2 for guests. Registration is open at the Center.

Colorado Picnic

The Western Slope Colorado picnic will be at noon May 23 in Pearson Park, Harbor and Cypress Streets, Anaheim. Coffee will be served.

Vets' Tax Exemption Deadline

Monday is the last day for filing city and county claims for veterans' property tax exemptions.

The law allows a $1,000 exemption but it doesn't provide for an extension of the deadline beyond 5 p.m., Long Beach City Assessor J. R. Cole announced.

Veterans applying for the first time must file in person at the city hall and at a county office. These must bring their service discharge papers and the deed or other proof if they own real estate.

Persons who have filed in previous years may return their claims by mail.

Season Starts Monday

Thirty-six men's softball teams will open their ninth annual season in Lakewood Recreation Department-sponsored leagues Monday evening at Mayfair and Del Valle Parks.

Auxiliaries of Hospitals Plan Meet

More than 40 presidents of hospital auxiliaries in the Los Angeles area will converge on Memorial Hospital of Long Beach when the Council for Hospital Auxiliary Leaders meets on Thursday. Mrs. Roderic Pederfen, president, will preside over the morning activities. In attendance also will be Miss Evelyn Davis, director of special projects, Los Angeles Volunteer Bureau.

Auxiliary leaders from Memorial Hospital, Mrs. William Carls, president of the Children's Memorial Auxiliary; Mrs. Morse Travers, president of the Las Madrinas Guild, and Mrs. Robert Gray, president of the Volunteer Auxiliary, will host the visiting leaders at morning coffee hour, luncheon and tour of the hospital.

Four to Attend S.F. Nurses Meet

Four board members of Unit H, California League for Nursing, will attend the National League for Nursing Convention, opening today in San Francisco and continuing through Friday.

They are Ruth Evelev, president delegate; Vivian Susher, State College at Long Beach; Florence Genschmer, director of Visiting Nurses Service and Marjorie Squaires, UCLA School of Nursing.

Potluck Dinner

The New Jersey-California organization will hold a potluck dinner at noon May 9 in the auditorium of West Hollywood Park, 647 N. San Vincente Blvd.

First-Aid Course

An instructor's course in first aid will begin Thursday at 7 p.m. in the physical education room of Marshall Junior High School. The course will run for six Thursday evenings.

Glen Holse, nationally recognized artist, was awarded a contract for the design of the 1965 sets.

Holse, 30, was an art director for NBC Television for five years, creating designs for various NBC "Specials," plus such series as "The Eddie Fisher Show" and "The Steve Allen Show." He was production designer for the Hotel Tropicana in Las Vegas when it opened and has since designed sets for such outstanding productions as "The Ziegfield Show," "Flower Drum Song," "South Pacific," "High Button Shoes" and "Anything Goes" at the Thunderbird Hotel in Las Vegas.

Holse's credits also include "The Ice Capades," Barry Ashton and George Arnold productions and industrial shows for such clients as RCA and Union Oil Co.

HOLSE'S IBC designs include the use of 2,500 yards of black velvet and special black vinyl tiling, plus a series of white columns and a huge, white telescoping runway. Through the use of black quartz lighting for the first time in the history of the Auditorium, the set will give an instantaneous majestic effect to the production.

"We are keeping the set somewhat simple, so as not to compete with the 90 beautiful girls who will be coming here from all over the world, the cast and the star of the 'Spectaculars,' lovely Patricia Morison," Dailard stated.

"We shall create a simple elegance which will complement the cast and the girls, as well as the beautiful costuming, for both the theater audience and the 40 million persons who will be watching on televison," he added.

OIL PARLEY

Leonard W. Brock, director of Department of Oil Properties of City of Long Beach, will attend 38th Annual Petroleum Institute's Pacific Coast District Meeting at Bakersfield Municipal Auditorium May 11 through 13. Brock will present his "Discussion of the Bid and Contract for the Long Beach Oil Development."

Marine Radio Meet to Be Held

The latest developments in maritime communication and guidance systems will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Radio Technical Commission for Marine Services, to be held at the Edgewater Inn Wednesday through Friday.

With boating so prevalent in California, sponsors of the meet have decided to stress small craft communications this year, according to Lyle Moore, general chairman of the group.

Among other things, boat owners will be given an opportunity to learn about new sea communication laws scheduled to go into effect soon, he said.

The first of two symposiums will be held in the hotel's Empire Room at 2 p.m. Wednesday, and small boat owners, as well as others interested in maritime communications, are invited to attend, said Moore.

The RTCM chief said some of the world's leading experts in the communications field will deliver papers during the three day gathering.

Orange County Prepares as 'Fire Season' Begins

It's "fire season" officially today, and Orange County prepared to man two lookout posts and open six fire stations closed since December.

Meanwhile, recruitment of 30 men to augment regular crews of fire fighters will be launched by the State Division of Forestry headquarters in Orange.

It will take about two weeks to prepare Gilman Peak lookout near Yorba Linda and the Bolero Peak lookout near Modjeske Canyon.

Fire stations at San Juan Capistrano, Trabuco, Yorba Linda, Orange, Irvine Lake and El Toro will be reopened for the summer "fire season."

Although the official beginning of "fire season" is today, the county will not begin to feel effects of the dry season until mid-July. The "fire season" extends through December, and men hired usually serve through the fall months.

Because of extended service requirements, it is impossible to hire many high school or college boys, according to Elmer Benson, associate fire ranger.

Jewish Customs--Origin, Transition--Series Topic

The origin and transition of Jewish customs and practices will be the topic of a series of discussions offered by the Long Beach Jewish Community Center, 2601 Grand Ave., this month.

Every Tuesday morning from 10:30 to 12 noon, starting Tuesday and continuing through May 25, Long Beach rabbis will take turns leading the discussions.

Rabbi Yosef Miller, of Temple Beth Sholom, will speak Tuesday on Jewish Holiday Customs and Practices; Rabbi Wolli Kaelter, of Temple Israel, on Life Span Customs and Practices, May 11; Rabbi Sidney Guthman of Temple Sinai, on Sabbath Customs and Practices, May 18; and Rabbi Philip Fried of Temple Beth Zion, on Daily Customs and Practices, May 25.

The public is invited. There is no fee for Center members, $2 for guests. Registration is open at the Center.

Colorado Picnic

The Western Slope Colorado picnic will be at noon May 23 in Pearson Park, Harbor and Cypress Streets, Anaheim. Coffee will be served.

Vets' Tax Exemption Deadline

Monday is the last day for filing city and county claims for veterans' property tax exemptions.

The law allows a $1,000 exemption but it doesn't provide for an extension of the deadline beyond 5 p.m., Long Beach City Assessor J. R. Cole announced.

Veterans applying for the first time must file in person at the city hall and at a county office. These must bring their service discharge papers and the deed or other proof if they own real estate.

Persons who have filed in previous years may return their claims by mail.

Season Starts Monday

Thirty-six men's softball teams will open their ninth annual season in Lakewood Recreation Department-sponsored leagues Monday evening at Mayfair and Del Valle Parks.

Auxiliaries of Hospitals Plan Meet

More than 40 presidents of hospital auxiliaries in the Los Angeles area will converge on Memorial Hospital of Long Beach when the Council for Hospital Auxiliary Leaders meets on Thursday. Mrs. Rodena Pedotto, president, will preside over the meeting activities. In attendance also will be Miss Evelyn Davis, director of special projects, Los Angeles Volunteer Bureau.

Auxiliary leaders from Memorial Hospital, Mrs. William Curls, president of the Children's Memorial Auxiliary, Mrs. Morse Travers, president of the Las Madrinas Guild, and Mrs. Robert Gray, president of the Volunteer Auxiliary, will host the visiting leaders at morning coffee hour, luncheon and tour of the hospital.

Four to Attend S.F. Nurses Meet

Four board members of Unit II, California League for Nursing, will attend the National League for Nursing Convention, opening today in San Francisco and continuing through Friday.

They are Ruth Eveley, president delegate; Vivian Susher, State College at Long Beach; Florence Genschmer, director of Visiting Nurses Service and Marjorie Squires, UCLA School of Nursing.

Potluck Dinner

The New Jersey-California organization will hold a potluck dinner at noon May 9 in the auditorium of Western Hollywood Park, 647 N. San Vincente Blvd.

Dr. Ovrebo Joins Lab of Douglas

Dr. Paul J. Ovrebo has been appointed to the staff of Douglas Co.'s Advanced Research Laboratory now under construction at Huntington Beach.

Announcement of the noted physicist's appointment was made by Dr. Lewis Laramore, director of the new facility.

Dr. Ovrebo is credited with first demonstrating the use of infrared for long-range air to air aircraft detection. He will conduct basic research in the infrared and optics fields at the $2 million laboratory, on the site of the Douglas Space Systems Center.

The new facility is expected to be operational early next year and will be staffed by 100 scientists, technicians and supporting personnel.

Dr. Ovrebo is a graduate of St. Olaf C. Ogee, Northfield, Minn., and received his doctorate in physics from the University of Chicago.

First-Aid Course

An instructor's course in first aid will be a Thursday at 7 p.m. in the physical education room of Marshall Junior High School. The course will run for six Thursday evenings.

A Measure to Whip Smog

BECAUSE OF public hardships and confusion arising from rather stringent provisions in the smog control code, the Legislature in February repealed anti-smog requirements for used cars.

The smog problem, however, remains with us, and strong legislation is required to whip it.

Smith Griswold, air pollution control officer, warns:

"Unless effective exhaust controls are applied to the great bulk of our vehicle population, smog conditions will get worse rapidly."

A BILL INTRODUCED by State Sen. Randolph Collier disposes of the chief complaints against the old control law while providing much, though not all, of the protection which smog experts say is needed.

The big complaint against the old law came from owners of used cars made between 1950 and 1960. They found that the installation of the required crankcase device on these older cars often caused engine troubles which could not be cured by anything short of an overhaul.

Sen. Collier's bill would apply only to cars made after 1955. It requires that upon transfer of ownership a car made between 1955 and 1962 must have a crankcase device, but in any event, after Dec. 1, 1966 all cars of the 1955-62 vintage must have crankcase devices.

Some persons think that cars made previous to 1955 should be required to install both crankcase and exhaust devices. However, these cars represent but a fraction of the number of cars on the road today and in three or four years will be virtually nonexistent.

According to the smog experts, the big problem is created by car exhaust fumes. Collier's bill calls for exhaust controls on all cars 1955 or newer. Some legislators who agree that new cars after 1966 should come equipped with both crankcase and exhaust devices are hesitant about requiring exhaust devices on used cars. They remember the objections raised against the crankcase device earlier this year. But Sen. Collier notes:

"People have been forced to give up their backyard rubbish burners, business has had to control fumes from their stacks, and new car owners are about to be made to control the emissions of their cars. But despite the fact that so many have been forced to spend so much, the door may be left open for 15 more years of choking, burning, eye-rubbing and lung-searing smog."

ONE SERIOUS WEAKNESS in Collier's bill is that the requirements for crankcase and exhaust devices on older cars apply only to cars of registry in counties having air pollution control districts—even though cars from other counties swarm into the smoggy urban areas. This weakness should be corrected.

With a few repairs, the Collier bill can provide the state a fair means of testing the experts' belief that the automobile is the one big remaining source of smog. And if that belief is correct, we could be rid of smog by 1967.

Having thus become unemployed, the man applied, under a reciprocal agreement between California and Colorado, for California unemployment compensation.

Still unexplained is how you can live on a farm without being employed. However, that is of small moment.

A more important question is: Who has been selling marijuana to the California Unemployment Insurance Board?

Press Management a Part of Brown's '66 Battle Plan

Independent, Press-Telegram Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Brown, who trailed early season political polls before scoring gubernatorial election victories both in 1958 and 1962, has some interesting theories about hectic 1965.

McCAULEY

His observations are significant because 1965 polls show his popularity is lagging again—just before the 1966 third-term season.

How does Brown, the political giant-killer who knocked off both William Knowland and Richard Nixon, hope again to reverse the poll trends in time for a 1966 third term try?

He unveiled his battle plan at a recent press conference. It involves stumping the state to take his case to the people. He also is betting that he can neutralize any unfavorable press columns by new press-management techniques.

Here is how Gov. Brown sizes up the current polls:

"When you are up here every move you make . . . braceros, taxes or mental hygiene . . . involves taking difficult positions. And there's always a substantial group of people that can do it better than you.

"So as governor when I get out in the grass roots and I start making a case, then I'm able to convince the people because I don't have to depend upon anybody other than my own eloquence to convince them. Now I have to depend upon you press fellows and sometimes you're good and sometimes you're bad."

He coupled this with a broad-level attack on segments of the press.

* * * *

OTHER CAPITAL newsmen—including this columnist and at least one from a Los Angeles newspaper — have been called on the carpet personally by the governor at a private meeting.

Gov. Brown has every right to attempt to influence press coverage. But the public has every right to be aware of the behind-the-scenes capitol pressures.

No doubt Gov. Brown and some Independent, Press-Telegram readers have been puzzled that a newspaper that twice had supported Gov. Brown also would print columns and editorials embarrassing to him.

This fact is a tribute to the integrity of this newspaper. At no time has this columnist been told what to write on the Brown Administration.

This newspaper devotes scores of inches of news space monthly to wire-service articles on the programs and accomplishments of Gov. Brown. Among them: the California Water Plan, social-welfare improvements and tax-reform proposals.

* * * *

FOR A balanced presentation of Sacramento events, this column often concentrates on areas where the Brown Administration can be improved. It would do the same thing if George Washington or Abraham Lincoln were in the governor's mansion.

Legal but unethical conflicts of interest of Brown-appointed officials are valid public information. So also are these issues: nepotism, bungling by the State Economic Development Agency, state maps slighting Long Beach and infighting in both major political parties.

The Brown Administration and some of its admirers feel there has been unjust criticism.

Yet Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, a cousin-in-law and top legislative lieutenant of the governor, during the tidelands hearings last year leveled one of the most slanderous attacks against Long Beach that ever has been used against any community.

LONG BEACH, the state's fifth largest city, has been given second-class treatment on state freeway signing, state industrial promotion brochures and the allocation of central state office buildings.

Some Brown-leaning senators from the cow-counties said kinder things last session about Red China and venereal disease than they did about Long Beach and its stewardship over the shoreline.

Legislators friendly to Southern California interests —including Joseph Kennick, George Deukmejian, Jesse Unruh and James Mills — they have been insulted or snubbed. "Nitpicking," said Brown when Assemblyman Kennick criticized a state brochure that left Long Beach off the map.

Possibly someday this column and the Governor's Mansion may cuddle up a little closer. But on second thought, it is stimulating to meet regularly with the governor or his staff to discuss embarrassing columns. Apparently, Edmund G. (Pat) Brown feels the same way.

Harry's Had It With the Liberals

Distributed by Newsday Specials

A FAVORITE TOPIC in this pulpit is the demand for conformity among the liberals. The liberal who commits the slightest deviation from the line is subject to censure, abuse, castigation, and even banishment. Complete and absolute conformity is required of the men and women who join this movement non-conformist character. To belabor the obvious, there is nothing very liberal or non-conformist about the liberal non-conformists, nor is there anything new about this observation. It has always been so.

TRUMAN

Nevertheless there is always some amusement and comfort to be had when a new case is added to the liberals' record of illiberalism. From now on you may expect to see less and less tolerance of the lost sheep of Independence, Mo. As far as the liberals are concerned, Harry S Truman has had it. He will be damned from here to eternity, the piano player and captain of Battery D. And as is the custom when the liberals have to second-guess on a man, they must now set out to prove that they never really trusted him. At this very moment they may be going through his papers in an effort to compile a dossier that will offer proof that he had lunch in the senate restaurant with Joe McCarthy, and was more than polite to Senator Eastland. He will not be able to deny that he was on speaking terms with Russell and Byrd, and just let him try to get out of those Confederate Army ties in his ancestry. If they don't try to prove that Harry Truman was secretly soft on the Ku Klux Klan, my name is Hugo La Fayette Black.

Oh, Truman is in for it. The funny thing—and it is funny—is that he knew exactly what he was doing. He came to New York to accept a plaque from an organization called Freedom House, which is one of those black-tie groups that gives plaques to former presidents of the United States and other such deserving parties. They have a big dinner at the Waldorf at I-don't-know-how-much a plate, and presumably they pay the honored guest's travel expenses, which gives the h.g. a chance to see his grandchildren if they happen to be living in New York. In the course of the evening they say a lot of nice things about him right to his face, and everybody can be home and in bed by one a.m. As the Irish say, it's better than a poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

Mr. Truman arrived in New York a day or so before the big dinner, and as always he went for one of his daybreak strolls, on which he is invariably accompanied by newspaper reporters and the TV pests with their microphones and cables. You can see he enjoys these walks, on which he sets a pace that men a third his age have a hard time maintaining. Most of all he enjoys giving flip answers to the reporters' and TV mikeholders' questions.

On this occasion he was asked what he thought of Martin Luther King. He obliged by telling what he thought of Martin Luther King. He thinks King is a rabble-rouser, that the Selma marchers were show-offs, and that the demonstrators are not helping the cause of civil rights. When a reporter protested that King had been given the Nobel prize, the former president said, "He didn't get it from me."

* * * *

TRUMAN KNEW EXACTLY what he was doing. He was in town to get a plaque from an organization that probably considered giving the plaque to King and then thought better of it. My guess is that Freedom House had planned to have King as guest of honor, but got cautious when King announced his boycott of Alabama. Freedom House is a nothing, really, except for its annual dinner, and if King continues to regard himself as a dictator of national policy, his presence on the dais of a Freedom House dinner might easily make it the last dinner the organization ever had. Pursuing my guess, I can believe that the Freedom House people decided to wait and see what King does this summer, and if it isn't too outrageous, invite him to the dinner next year. In the meantime, a former President of the United States is always a drawing card.

But someone had to go and ask Truman what he thought of King, and it got in all the papers and on TV, and it spoiled the party for a great many ticket-buyers. A columnist on the Herald Tribune, who has fashioned himself into a combination of Brendan Behan and Jimmy Cannon, was so outraged by Truman's remarks about King that he accused Truman of being old.

Well, Truman is old. He is 81 years old. But he is not as old as a man of 30 who is afraid not to conform. In 1948 I voted for Truman, and now I'm rather glad I did.

Off-Record Dinner Patrons Boo Honored Guest Hosmer

I, P-T Political Editor

IT WASN'T THAT the North Long Beach Republican Assembly was withdrawing its invitation to cover the group's recent Jefferson Day Dinner, it was Congressman Craig Hosmer who told me it would be "off the record."

HOUSER

Off-the-record sessions have their place for news backgrounding but a public dinner didn't seem to be one of those places. Hosmer seemed to feel, however, that since the Assembly had specified his part in the program would not be a formal speech but rather to field audience questions, he might be unduly hamstrung in the scope of his remarks with a reporter present and "on-the-record."

A club spokesman said I was welcome to stay for the dinner and Hosmer—after we disagreed on the propriety of his "off-the-record" stipulation—relented and said, "Come on in and we'll make it a dull meeting." So I left.

I haven't talked to the Long Beach Congressman since that meeting but, on the basis of reports from sources who were there, he might wish now that a reporter had covered the story.

THEY JUMPED on Hosmer with a vengeance for his support of federal aid to education. They booed him. Their questions —typical of hostile groups—were as much speech as they were questions. One lady felt she had to quote from the Constitution until Hosmer reminded her to get on with her question. Former Assembly candidate Reg Dupuy suggested to another lady that she, having talked long enough, should sit down.

If it were possible to salvage such an evening, GOP National Committeewoman Ann Bowler did as good a job as could be expected under the circumstances. Directing her remarks to Hosmer, she said the group may have given him a bad time and then added, in approximately these words, "but we all love you and will vote for you and we think you're doing a good job in Washington."

This politically naive squeak out of North Long Beach is symptomatic of the yapping far right now dogging the heels of majority Republicanism and—more importantly —winning Republicanism.

GROUPS LIKE THIS are barely an instant away from complete isolation, the ultimate cocoon. But there is substantial movement within the party to gather present assets and resources toward another goal—winning!

This theme was sounded rather spectacularly Friday by Bruce V. Reagan, president of United Republicans of California (UROC), who told newsmen he would support whatever Republican who wins the 1966 gubernatorial primary, including Sen. Thomas Kuchel. Now Reagan started UROC as the conservative answer to the California Republican Assembly (CRA), which, two or three years ago, was too liberal for his taste.

Hosmer is far more conservative than Kuchel but is booed within his own district where his vote-getting prowess has become a state phenomenon and a case study for the national party.

Another indicator of the movement toward moderation is a recent letter by county GOP Central Committeeman Ted Bruinsma of Torrance. It was sent to all committee members asking that they advise county GOP chairman Jud Leetham of their distaste of his appointment of a "pro-Birch candidate" to a Central Committee vacancy.

BRUINSMA, SPEAKING of "intolerant extremists" and Birch members, criticized the stance of some Republicans that there is a place for active Birch members in the party. "To gain their consideration one cannot agree with a majority of their ideas, but must agree totally . . . theirs is a common, unyielding group line which will not permit them to support all of our primary nominees or party positions, but only those which they find acceptable," said Bruinsma.

Questions Today's Use of 'Consensus'

EDITOR:

One of the most abused words in the English language these days is "consensus."

Webster defines it: "Agreement in matters of opinion, testimony, etc.; accord; also, loosely, the convergent trend, as of opinion."

Today, the individual is considered to be incapable of forming his own opinions. The hand-picked staff of any organization to which he belongs establishes the group's position on all manner of subjects, including politics.

Such "policy" is then represented as being the viewpoint of hundreds of thousands, or millions, of members said to belong to the particular organization. This is true in labor, management, religion, education; and in many civic and fraternal groups.

By some strange coincidence, this so-called "consensus" of opinion generally seems to support the current trend toward greater centralization of government with accompanying additional powers over the lives of people.

The man who can make up his own mind in the face of what "everyone is thinking" these days, may be an odd-ball to society; but he is his own man in the shrinking world of integrity.

Guns Don't Kill, But People Do

EDITOR:

There has appeared at various times, divers remarks about the matter of guns and their relation to public safety. I do not hesitate to state that articles that are against private ownership of guns are, or can be, only from persons in one of two categories—erring sobsisters, and those who through ignorance or malicious intent would rob the honest law-abiding citizen of the ability to defend his home and possibly our country. It is a known fact, in law enforcement circles, that criminals will have arms regardless of the law even if they have to make them.

Guns don't kill people—people kill people. Firearms are not the culprits that some designing persons would have us believe, and my only suggestion is that the purchaser, legal that is, of a firearm should be required to show evidence of the proper, safe and sane way to handle firearms, or having taken a course in gun instruction approved by official sources.

Living Wage for Farm Work

EDITOR:

I agree with the gentleman who said that farm workers, American, Mexican or otherwise, should receive a living wage. It's a scandal to expect any man to work that hard and still not be able to feed and clothe his family decently. Low farm wages create generations of poverty since these people cannot afford a permanent home and cannot send their children to school.

No schooling, no jobs. Thus honest, hard-working people have no hope of ever raising themselves or their children out of inherited poverty. That doesn't sound very American to me.

'Time to Speak Up' Strikes the Mark

EDITOR:

In recent years, most of your editorials seem to me to miss the mark. However, a recent reprint from a Crowley, La., newspaper and your editorial, "A Time to Speak Up" indicate you are not wholly lost.

I believe if President Johnson would sample the 25 million or so individuals who voted for Barry Goldwater and add to this the support from within his own party, endorsement in large part of the current Viet Nam policy would be overwhelming.

FOR A balanced presentation of Sacramento events, this column often concentrates on areas where the Brown Administration can be improved. It would do the same thing if George Washington or Abraham Lincoln were in the governor's mansion.

Legal but unethical conflicts of interest of Brown-appointed officials are valid public information. So also are these issues: nepotism, bungling by the State Economic Development Agency, state maps slighting Long Beach and infighting in both major political parties.

The Brown Administration and some of its admirers feel there has been unjust criticism.

Yet Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, a cousin-in-law and top legislative lieutenant of the governor, during the tidelands hearings last year leveled one of the most slanderous attacks against Long Beach that ever has been used against any community.

LONG BEACH, the state's fifth largest city, has been given second-class treatment on state freeway signing, state industrial promotion brochures and the allocation of central state office buildings.

Some Brown-leaning senators from the cow-counties said kinder things last session about Red China and venereal disease than they did about Long Beach and its stewardship over the shoreline.

Legislators friendly to Southern California interests —including Joseph Kennick, George Deukmejian, Jesse Unruh and James Mills — they have been insulted or snubbed. "Nitpicking," said Brown when Assemblyman Kennick criticized a state brochure that left Long Beach off the map.

Possibly someday this column and the Governor's Mansion may cuddle up a little closer. But on second thought, it is stimulating to meet regularly with the governor or his staff to discuss embarrassing columns. Apparently, Edmund G. (Pat) Brown feels the same way.

Off-Record Dinner Patrons Boo Honored Guest Hosmer

I, P-T Political Editor

IT WASN'T THAT the North Long Beach Republican Assembly was withdrawing its invitation to cover the group's recent Jefferson Day Dinner, it was Congressman Craig Hosmer who told me it would be "off the record."

HOUSER

Off-the-record sessions have their place for news backgrounding but a public dinner didn't seem to be one of those places. Hosmer seemed to feel, however, that since the Assembly had specified his part in the program would not be a formal speech but rather to field audience questions, he might be unduly hamstrung in the scope of his remarks with a reporter present and "on-the-record."

A club spokesman said I was welcome to stay for the dinner and Hosmer—after we disagreed on the propriety of his "off-the-record" stipulation—relented and said, "Come on in and we'll make it a dull meeting." So I left.

I haven't talked to the Long Beach Congressman since that meeting but, on the basis of reports from sources who were there, he might wish now that a reporter had covered the story.

THEY JUMPED on Hosmer with a vengeance for his support of federal aid to education. They booed him. Their questions —typical of hostile groups—were as much speech as they were questions. One lady felt she had to quote from the Constitution until Hosmer reminded her to get on with her question. Former Assembly candidate Reg Dupuy suggested to another lady that she, having talked long enough, should sit down.

If it were possible to salvage such an evening, GOP National Committeewoman Ann Bowler did as good a job as could be expected under the circumstances. Directing her remarks to Hosmer, she said the group may have given him a bad time and then added, in approximately these words, "but we all love you and will vote for you and we think you're doing a good job in Washington."

This politically naive squeak out of North Long Beach is symptomatic of the yapping far right now dogging the heels of majority Republicanism and—more importantly —winning Republicanism.

GROUPS LIKE THIS are barely an instant away from complete isolation, the ultimate cocoon. But there is substantial movement within the party to gather present assets and resources toward another goal—winning!

This theme was sounded rather spectacularly Friday by Bruce V. Reagan, president of United Republicans of California (UROC), who told newsmen he would support whatever Republican who wins the 1966 gubernatorial primary, including Sen. Thomas Kuchel. Now Reagan started UROC as the conservative answer to the California Republican Assembly (CRA), which, two or three years ago, was too liberal for his taste.

Hosmer is far more conservative than Kuchel but is booed within his own district where his vote-getting prowess has become a state phenomenon and a case study for the national party.

Another indicator of the movement toward moderation is a recent letter by county GOP Central Committeeman Ted Bruinsma of Torrance. It was sent to all committee members asking that they advise county GOP chairman Jud Leetham of their distaste of his appointment of a "pro-Birch candidate" to a Central Committee vacancy.

BRUINSMA, SPEAKING of "intolerant extremists" and Birch members, criticized the stance of some Republicans that there is a place for active Birch members in the party. "To gain their consideration one cannot agree with a majority of their ideas, but must agree totally . . . theirs is a common, unyielding group line which will not permit them to support all of our primary nominees or party positions, but only those which they find acceptable," said Bruinsma.

Questions Today's Use of 'Consensus'

EDITOR:

One of the most abused words in the English language these days is "consensus."

Webster defines it: "Agreement in matters of opinion, testimony, etc.; accord; also, loosely, the convergent trend, as of opinion."

Today, the individual is considered to be incapable of forming his own opinions. The hand-picked staff of any organization to which he belongs establishes the group's position on all manner of subjects, including politics.

Such "policy" is then represented as being the viewpoint of hundreds of thousands, or millions, of members said to belong to the particular organization. This is true in labor, management, religion, education; and in many civic and fraternal groups.

By some strange coincidence, this so-called "consensus" of opinion generally seems to support the current trend toward greater centralization of government with accompanying additional powers over the lives of people.

The man who can make up his own mind in the face of what "everyone is thinking" these days, may be an odd-ball to society but he is his own man in the shrinking world of integrity.

Guns Don't Kill, But People Do

EDITOR:

There has appeared at various times, divers remarks about the matter of guns and their relation to public safety. I do not hesitate to state that articles that are against private ownership of guns are, or can be, only from persons in one of two categories—erring sobsisters, and those who through ignorance or malicious intent would rob the honest law-abiding citizen of the ability to defend his home and possibly our country. It is a known fact, in law enforcement circles, that criminals will have arms regardless of the law even if they have to make them.

Guns don't kill people—people kill people. Firearms are not the culprits that some designing persons would have us believe, and my only suggestion is that the purchaser, legal that is, of a firearm should be required to show evidence of the proper, safe and sane way to handle firearms, or having taken a course in gun instruction approved by official sources.

Harry's Had It With the Liberals

Distributed by Newsday Specials

A FAVORITE TOPIC in this pulpit is the demand for conformity among the liberals. The liberal who commits the slightest deviation from the line is subject to censure, abuse, castigation, and even banishment. Complete and absolute conformity is required of the men and women who join this movement non-conformist character. To belabor the obvious, there is nothing very liberal or non-conformist about the liberal non-conformists, nor is there anything new about this observation. It has always been so.

TRUMAN

Nevertheless there is always some amusement and comfort to be had when a new case is added to the liberals' record of illiberalism. From now on you may expect to see less and less tolerance of the lost sheep of Independence, Mo. As far as the liberals are concerned, Harry S Truman has had it. He will be damned from here to eternity, the piano player and captain of Battery D. And as is the custom when the liberals have to second-guess on a man, they must now set out to prove that they never really trusted him. At this very moment they may be going through his papers in an effort to compile a dossier that will offer proof that he had lunch in the senate restaurant with Joe McCarthy, and was more than polite to Senator Eastland. He will not be able to deny that he was on speaking terms with Russell and Byrd, and just let him try to get out of those Confederate Army ties in his ancestry. If they don't try to prove that Harry Truman was secretly soft on the Ku Klux Klan, my name is Hugo La Fayette Black.

Oh, Truman is in for it. The funny thing—and it is funny—is that he knew exactly what he was doing. He came to New York to accept a plaque from an organization called Freedom House, which is one of those black-tie groups that gives plaques to former presidents of the United States and other such deserving parties. They have a big dinner at the Waldorf at I-don't-know-how-much a plate, and presumably they pay the honored guest's travel expenses, which gives the h.g. a chance to see his grandchildren if they happen to be living in New York. In the course of the evening they say a lot of nice things about him right to his face, and everybody can be home and in bed by one a.m. As the Irish say, it's better than a poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

Mr. Truman arrived in New York a day or so before the big dinner, and as always he went for one of his daybreak strolls, on which he is invariably accompanied by newspaper reporters and the TV pests with their microphones and cables. You can see he enjoys these walks, on which he sets a pace that men a third his age have a hard time maintaining. Most of all he enjoys giving flip answers to the reporters' and TV mikeholders' questions.

On this occasion he was asked what he thought of Martin Luther King. He obliged by telling what he thought of Martin Luther King. He thinks King is a rabble-rouser, that the Selma marchers were show-offs, and that the demonstrators are not helping the cause of civil rights. When a reporter protested that King had been given the Nobel prize, the former president said, "He didn't get it from me."

* * * *

TRUMAN KNEW EXACTLY what he was doing. He was in town to get a plaque from an organization that probably considered giving the plaque to King and then thought better of it. My guess is that Freedom House had planned to have King as guest of honor, but got cautious when King announced his boycott of Alabama. Freedom House is a nothing, really, except for its annual dinner, and if King continues to regard himself as a dictator of national policy, his presence on the dais of a Freedom House dinner might easily make it the last dinner the organization ever had. Pursuing my guess, I can believe that the Freedom House people decided to wait and see what King does this summer, and if it isn't too outrageous, invite him to the dinner next year. In the meantime, a former President of the United States is always a drawing card.

But someone had to go and ask Truman what he thought of King, and it got in all the papers and on TV, and it spoiled the party for a great many ticket-buyers. A columnist on the Herald Tribune, who has fashioned himself into a combination of Brendan Behan and Jimmy Cannon, was so outraged by Truman's remarks about King that he accused Truman of being old.

Well, Truman is old. He is 81 years old. But he is not as old as a man of 30 who is afraid not to conform. In 1948 I voted for Truman, and now I'm rather glad I did.

Living Wage for Farm Work

EDITOR:

I agree with the gentleman who said that farm workers, American, Mexican or otherwise, should receive a living wage. It's a scandal to expect any man to work that hard and still not be able to feed and clothe his family decently. Low farm wages create generations of poverty since these people cannot afford a permanent home and cannot send their children to school.

No schooling, no jobs. Thus honest, hard-working people have no hope of ever raising themselves or their children out of inherited poverty. That doesn't sound very American to me.

'Time to Speak Up' Strikes the Mark

EDITOR:

In recent years, most of your editorials seem to me to miss the mark. However, a recent reprint from a Crowley, La., newspaper and your editorial, "A Time to Speak Up" indicate you are not wholly lost.

I believe if President Johnson would sample the 25 million or so individuals who voted for Barry Goldwater and add to this the support from within his own party, endorsement in large part of the current Viet Nam policy would be overwhelming.

Federal Money Spurs School Integration

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Today's column is written by Drew Pearson's associate Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — A mild-mannered educator from Harvard and a former schoolteacher from Texas, are now doing more to integrate — and simultaeonsly improve—public schools below the Mason-Dixon line than any other two men in history.

The mild-mannered educator from Harvard is Francis Keppel, U.S. Commissioner of Education, and the Texan, of course, is Lyndon B. Johnson. The two men are about as opposite in personality as Frank Sinatra and Maria Callas, but when it comes to education they are singing the same song.

ANDERSON

For years, the office of Commissioner Keppel has didn't amount to peanuts. Few people knew it existed. It got into the headlines briefly when it sent a commission to Russia to study Soviet education and came back with a report that the Russians were on the way to catching up with American public schools.

Then the office sank back into complacent oblivision.

But today Commissioner Keppel has jurisdiction over the spending of $1,300,000,000 of the new school aid program, including the right to allocate tremendous sums to the South — provided Southern schools integrate.

Local school superintendents are bucking like Texas broncos and some are appealing over the head of the former Harvard Dean of Education to the former Texas schoolteacher. One such appeal, made by Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, appears to have struck some paydirt with LBJ.

Here is the inside story on what's happening between Southern school superintendents and Commissioner Keppel.

* * * *

NORTHERN taxpayers haven't realized it, but Southern schools were getting large amounts of federal money even without integration. Alabama, for instance, was due to get $18,531,207 for the coming fiscal year—though it would have been required under the Civil Rights Act to make some motions toward integration.

However, under the new school-aid bill, Alabama would get an additional, juicy $35,727,438. This may be too much for the South's number one segregationists, Gov. George Wallace.

When no more than $18,531,207 was at stake, Alabama's State Superintendent of Schools, Austin Meadow, put on a show of political defiance. He contended that the Civil Rights Act spoke of discrimination, not desegration. Therefore, he claimed that Alabama school were already complying with the act.

This argument got nowhere with Commissioner Keppel. He wrote back coldly: "Our gravest concern arises from the implication in your letter and statement of compliance that the school districts of your state are already in compliance with ese Civil Rights Act. As you know, virtually all of the public school districts of Alabama are still operated on a segregaated basis."

By return mail, Dr. Meadows huffily accused the commissioner of seeking "to take over the public schools of Alabama as far as organization is concerned and that will be dangerous dictatorship by a federal officials."

But after the School-Aid Bill was passed, Dr. Meadows suddenly became more reasonable in his private talks with federal officials. Not even Alabama can afford to look lightly upon $35,727,438 in school assistance.

MISSISSIPPI schools, eligible for $11,206,784 under the old programs, would get an even more dramatic increase of $30,905,154 from the new school-aid measure.

Anxious to partake of the federal manna, Mississippi educators have offered to integrate their schools at the leisurely pace of one grade a year. This isn't fast enough to suit Commissoner Keppel, who has pronounced the plan inadequate and unacceptable.

The Mississippians have gone back to the planning table.

Bereaved Veteran Suggests Soldiers for War on Crime

WASHINGTON — President Johnson is to be commended for sending Marines into Santo Domingo to protect the lives of 1,200 or more Americans and European nationals — but there are those who say he hasn't gone far enough. They point to the tens of thousands of Americans living in Washington, D.C., who need similar protection, particularly at night. Even servicemen in military installations near large cities are being warned, because of the dangers of assault, not to go out alone but only in groups of at least two or three persons.

LAWRENCE

The situation in the District of Columbia is not far different from what it is in other parts of the United States. But it so happens that the President has complete authority to govern the National Capital and to use federal troops as policemen to protect the lives of the residents. Many Marines and soldiers in the regular Army have no heavy duties at their military bases or barracks and could be employed to guard the lives of American citizens in this country, especially in the evening hours.

The tragedies are numerous. Here is an excerpt from a letter just received by this correspondent from a serviceman who has fought gallantly for his country:

"MY WIFE and I both worked our way through college. We lived and worked in the District of Columbia, where she was graduated at the Southeastern University and also attended the Corcoran School of Art. She was a talented artist, accountant and legal secretary. In December 1962, she got off a bus in southeast Washington, where we lived. A teen-age colored boy ran up behind her and slugged her viciously with a brick or club, knocking her down on the walk, and almost broke her arm when he jerked the purse off her arm. She was covered with blood and hospitalized nearly a week.

"Last August 25, 1964, she went out of the apartment about midnight with a flashlight looking for her cat. She was 55 years old. A 20-year old Negro grabbed her around the neck with an arm lock and attempted to drag her into the nearby woods to rape here. When she screamed for help, he stabbed her four times with some vicious, narrow daggers, almost like ice picks. She died 12 days later in the hospital, although she was given many blood transfusions and operated upon by the best doctors in Washington. Servicemen in the Department of Defense gave 16 pints of blood to the hospital in her memory. There is no use my attempting to tell you how terribly I feel about this; I cry all the time about losing her, and just scream when I think of the attack by this vicious brute.

"THE POLICE did a good job of catching him, but he hasn't been convicted yet and may beat the case, although they found her wrist watch in his pocket. He has been in jail six months waiting trial.

"There is nothing more to add. It is really a matter of the survival of our country, if the crime wave isn't stopped. In the meantime, merchants are being shot to death and policemen maimed right here in the shadow of the Capitol.

"Would use of the Marines and troops be possible to stop the cime wave? Should all men be fingerprinted? Should criminals be deported? Surely there must be some solution to save our country. It is more dangerous to walk the streets of Washington, D.C., than anything I faced in in World War II or the service during the Korean police action, and I have nine campaign ribbons and lived through it, only to find my wife murdered in front of our home in Washington, D.C."

If the President were to send to Congress a message demanding immediate appropriations for the benefit of the states so that an emergency project for increasing the police forces could be put into operation, it would unquestionably be approved by American public opinion. For the war on crime deserves the highest priority on the list of domestic projects before the administration today.

Little Swamp War May Not Be So Puzzling, After All

By I, P-T Washington Bureau Staff

WASHINGTON—Diplomatic analysts here believe they have spotted the underlying reason for the Pakistan-India "little war" over a desolate swamp. Both governments involved are remaining mum, however.

What may be at issue is oil—great gobs of it. Within the past year, a consortium of American companies operating under a license from Pakistan has been exploring for oil in the area.

A few months ago, they dismantled a rig that had drilled a test hole at least 7,500 feet deep into the Rann of Kutch, where Indians and Pakistanis are now killing each other at a brisk clip.

Until the firing inexplicably started, neither country, nor anyone else for that matter, had indicated any interest. The Rann is a swampy mess. Hardly anyone lives there. Although the border had never been fixed after the partition of India and Pakistan, neither country has raised the question of precise boundaries, although both found plenty of other things to dispute.

The willingness of both sides to commit sizeable numbers of troops and materials into a pitched battle doesn't make sense to analysts in Washington—unless something valuable has been discovered in the Rann.

THE TWIN concepts of weapons evaluation and systems cost analysis which evoked a revolution in Defense Department thinking are being wheeled into frontline positions in the War on Poverty.

Anti-poverty czar R. Sargent Shriver recently told Congress his agency is "trying to bring to bear on social welfare programs the same type of disciplines that have been brought to bear on Defense Department programs."

The man in charge of the project is Joseph Kershaw, a disciple of Defense Controller Charles Hitch and a former associate in the Rand Corporation, the West Coast think factory. Shriver said Kershaw is trying to develop a weapons evaluation system "so that we in the war against poverty can begin to evaluate our weapons, one against the other, and also interpret as to their efficiencies in getting people out of poverty."

Kershaw is considering a recommendation that a corporation type of independent research facility be employed to do the same job for the Office of Economic Opportunity that the Rand Corporation does for the Defense Department.

"There is nothing more to add. It is really a matter of the survival of our country, if the crime wave isn't stopped. In the meantime, merchants are being shot to death and policemen malmed right here in the shadow of the Capitol.

"Would use of the Marines and troops be possible to stop the cime wave? Should all men be fingerprinted? Should criminals be deported? Surely there must be some solution to save our country. It is more dangerous to walk the streets of Washington, D.C., than anything I faced in in World War II or the service during the Korean police action, and I have nine campaign ribbons and lived through it, only to find my wife murdered in front of our home in Washington, D.C."

If the President were to send to Congress a message demanding immediate appropriations for the benefit of the states so that an emergency project for increasing the police forces could be put into operation, it would unquestionably be approved by American public opinion. For the war on crime deserves the highest priority on the list of domestic projects before the administration today.

Little Swamp War May Not Be So Puzzling, After All

By I, P-T Washington Bureau Staff

WASHINGTON—Diplomatic analysts here believe they have spotted the underlying reason for the Pakistan-India "little war" over a desolate swamp. Both governments involved are remaining mum, however.

What may be at issue is oil—great gobs of it. Within the past year, a consortium of American companies operating under a license from Pakistan has been exploring for oil in the area.

A few months ago, they dismantled a rig that had drilled a test hole at least 7,500 feet deep into the Rann of Kutch, where Indians and Pakistanis are now killing each other at a brisk clip.

Until the firing inexplicably started, neither country, nor anyone else for that matter, had indicated any interest. The Rann is a swampy mess. Hardly anyone lives there. Although the border had never been fixed after the partition of India and Pakistan, neither country has raised the question of precise boundaries, although both found plenty of other things to dispute.

The willingness of both sides to commit sizeable numbers of troops and materials into a pitched battle doesn't make sense to analysts in Washington—unless something valuable has been discovered in the Rann.

THE TWIN concepts of weapons evaluation and systems cost analysis which evoked a revolution in Defense Department thinking are being wheeled into frontline positions in the War on Poverty.

Anti-poverty czar R. Sargent Shriver recently told Congress his agency is "trying to bring to bear on social welfare programs the same type of disciplines that have been brought to bear on Defense Department programs."

The man in charge of the project is Joseph Kershaw, a disciple of Defense Controller Charles Hitch and a former associate in the Rand Corporation, the West Coast think factory. Shriver said Kershaw is trying to develop a weapons evaluation system "so that we in the war against poverty can begin to evaluate our weapons, one against the other, and also interpret as to their efficiencies in getting people out of poverty."

Kershaw is considering a recommendation that a corporation type of independent research facility be employed to do the same job for the Office of Economic Opportunity that the Rand Corporation does for the Defense Department.

CLINT FURRER—HE MADE THE NAVY WELCOME

White Hats in Long Beach Feel 'At Home'

By MARK CLUTTER

I went into a public house to get a pint o'beer.
The publican 'e up and sez, "We serve no Red-coats here."

CLINT FURRER . . . Friend of the Navy

The girls behind the bar they laughed and giggled fit to die.
I outs into the street again, and to myself sez I:
"Oh, it's 'Tommy this and Tommy that, and 'Tommy, go away.'
But it's 'Thank you, Mr. Atkins' when the band begins to play."

—RUDYARD KIPLING

Tommy Atkins' complaint has been the common story of warriors since history began. The men sworn to die for their country have not always been well-treated by the civilians they defend.

It used to be so in Long Beach, back in the days when World War II was a fear rather than a fact. This quiet little city could not quite approve of the white hats—strange young men with often boisterous manners.

All that has changed. Ask any sailor what he thinks of Long Beach, and you are likely to hear, "This is a swell liberty town," or "My family is happy here," or "Long Beach is where I'm going to live when I get out."

* * * *

REAR ADM. Kenneth L. Veth, former commanding officer of Los Angeles Naval Base, stated the case for Long Beach more formally: "Long Beach is a city that recognizes the job our Armed Forces are doing for our country. The people of this fine city do their utmost to make it a second home for naval personnel."

Clint T. Furrer, who as chairman of the Armed Services Committee of the Chamber of Commerce since 1946, often gets much of the credit for the change of attitude, said in an interview:

"No one guy or committee could have accomplished this. Rather, this is a Navy town. People have learned to understand and like the Navy."

He pointed to the enormous number of Navy veterans who live here. Some of them first saw and liked the city during World War II. Others settle here when they get their discharges.

"The Navy veterans are a fine element in the community," he said. "They almost never become a burden. They go into industry in jobs the Navy has prepared them for."

* * * *

WHATEVER Furrer says, the Navy is inclined to assign much credit to Furrer. He is the recipient of the Navy Distinguished Public Service Award, the highest honor the Navy can present to a civilian. He received the Navy Times "Good Neighbor" Award, and is often referred to as "Mr. Navy of Long Beach."

When Furrer retired in 1960 as assistant regional manager of the Standard Oil Company of California, he made the Navy—and other branches of the service—his full-time career. The Chamber of Commerce gave him an office and a secretary—but he receives no pay for his daily work.

"One of the pleasures of this job is the wonderful friends I have made," Furrer said. "I carry on correspondence throughout the world. People generally do not realize what excellent men are in command of our Navy."

The walls of his office are covered with photographs of ranking officers.

* * * *

THE ARMED Services Committee is made up of 40 business leaders and 85 ranking military officers, mostly Navy. At the meetings they discuss various problems relating to the Navy and Long Beach.

"Whatever has been achieved has been the work of many people," Furrer said. "I would especially like to praise the city government. It has maintained the right lines of communication.

"We have very few problems between the police and the Navy. If a sailor gets a bit out of hand, the Navy takes care of its own. The police work with the Navy."

* * * *

THE LIST of projects in which the committee has played a role is lengthy:

—Support of city ballot proposals for construction of Armed Services YMCA.

—Supported ballots for construction of Navy Landing.

—Developed eight-point program to improve military-civilian relations.

—Organized program to help obtain employment for reserve officers involuntarily separated from the service.

—Helped obtain water supply for El Toro Marine Corps Air Station.

—Formulated programs to obtain situable quarters for Navy dependents transferred to Long Beach.

—Helped in planning annual celebration of Armed Forces Day.

—Helped develop a community atmosphere of friendship and helpfulness between military and civilians.

Baker Will Sit in at Mayor Meet

Lakewood Mayor Robert W. Baker will attend a "landmark conference" of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey with mayors of middle-sized cities in Washington, D.C., May 5.

Mayor Baker said the conference "is the first of its kind and indicates a growing awareness on the part of the administration of the very significant role which city government occupies in United States affairs."

Sitting in on the conference will be Secretary of Labor Wirtz, Office of Economic Opportunity Director Shriver, and representatives of other agencies involved in urban programs, the vice president said.

Exchange Club Sets Talk on Art, Hosts Students

Dr. Joseph H. Krause, professor of art, Long Beach State College, will speak on "The Role of the Artist in a Democratic Society" at the Exchange Club luncheon on Wednesday in the Lafayette Hotel.

The club will host outstanding art students from the five high schools from the Long Beach Unified School District at the luncheon: Cheryl Reed, Jordan; Mike Quinn, Lakewood; Dave Kinstle, Millikan; Dan Horn, Poly, and Marka Hitt, Wilson.

These students will compete for a $50 art scholarship Monday at State College. The winner will be entered in finals at the State Exchange Club Convention to be held in June at San Francisco, according to Robert H. Dixon, chairman of the day.

Frank Bowman, president, will preside.

APPOINTED

Port of Long Beach General Manager Charles L. Vickers has been appointed to 1965 World Trade Week Committee. The 39th annual observance will be held in Long Beach-Los Angeles area May 16-22. World Trade Week is sponsored by Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with Ports of Long Beach and Los Angeles, International Airport and Board of Supervisors.

Parks to Hold May Festivals

Eight May Festivals are to be presented at local parks, free to the public, Saturday on the following schedule:

11 a.m.—California Center (Holland), Somerset Park (England).

1 p.m.—Ramona Park (Hawaii), El Dorado (Denmark), Cherry Park (Hungary).

1:30—Coolidge Park (England), College Estates (Jugoslavia).

2 — Cabrillo Playground (U.S.A.).

Each program will last approximately one hour, and consists of international songs and dances, clowns in tumbling acts, crowning of the May Queen, and finally winding of the May-pole.

CHP Unit Wins Safety Citation

Highway patrol units handling the Long Beach freeway system have been cited for safety, according to Capt. E. L. Greer, South Los Angeles area commander.

Capt. Greer said the motorcycles operated 736,265 miles with only two preventable accidents in 1964.

This record, top among the state's 62 patrol areas, also earned the South Los Angeles unit an award for the lowest number of preventable accidents per 100,000 miles of operation.

Harbor Freeway Job to Close Two Lanes

Paving of median strips on the Harbor Freeway between Pacific Coast Highway and 112th St., will result in the closing of the inside lanes in both directions from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. from May until mid-August, the highway department has announced.

The $162,000 project is designed to improve drainage in the area.

Lest We Forget . . .
MEMORIAL DAY NOTICES

In memoriam notices will be published in The INDEPENDENT, PRESS-TELEGRAM on May 30. It is the modern and accepted way of publicly remembering those deceased members of our respective families who have passed away.

A Memorial Verse, as a tribute of love and affection to one who still lives in cherished memory in the hearts of those who are left behind, is especially appropriate on Memorial Day, May 30.

If you would like to honor some friend or relative in this way, we will gladly assist you. Your notice will appear at the rate of 50c a line, 3 line minimum. (28 letters and spaces to a line). Closing date is 12 noon, May 27.

To call:

Long Beach, Miss Ford or Miss Johnson
HEmlock 2-5959
Lakewood, Miss Bell — MEtcalf 3-0764
Bellflower, Miss Wood, TOrrey 6-1721
Garden Grove, Miss James, JEfferson 7-9120

Lest We Forget . . .
MEMORIAL DAY NOTICES

In memoriam notices will be published in The INDEPENDENT, PRESS-TELEGRAM on May 30. It is the modern and accepted way of publicly remembering those deceased members of our respective families who have passed away.

A Memorial Verse, as a tribute of love and affection to one who still lives in cherished memory in the hearts of those who are left behind, is especially appropriate on Memorial Day, May 30.

If you would like to honor some friend or relative in this way, we will gladly assist you. Your notice will appear at the rate of 50c a line, 3 line minimum. 128 letters and spaces to a line). Closing date is 12 noon, May 27.

To call:

Long Beach, Miss Ford or Miss Johnson
HEmlock 2-5959

Lakewood, Miss Bell — MEtcalf 3-0764

Bellflower, Miss Wood, TOrrey 6-1721

STENO
More Than "Just a Job"

As the largest and fastest expanding toymaker in the world, we look for people with the ambition, the skill and the potential to grow rapidly with us. In Stenographers, we look for girls capable of handling responsibility of working unsupervised, who constantly don't have to be told what to do.

We have immediate need for several girls of this calibre—girls capable of independent thinking and action.

Working in our Sales Promotion Dept. is, by its very nature, exciting. Companies all across the country produce little girl's dresses under the name of Barbie. Licensing these various independent manufacturers is just one interesting phase of the work you'll be involved in.

The hundreds of Barbie dresses, as well as clothes for our other dolls, are made in the Orient. Working in our Import Dept., you will be corresponding with foreign lands and coordinating the importing of soft goods.

We require top-notch stenographic and typing skills, in addition to the requirements listed above. In return we offer excellent starting salaries, comprehensive benefits and challenging assignments with growth opportunities found only in a small handfull of dynamic firms.

CLERICAL
PART TIME WITH BARBIE

Did you ever go to a party and meet someone from Mattel? Remember how the people crowded around this person excitingly asking questions? Everyone was so interested!

Here's YOUR chance. We have several great clerical jobs definitely worth talking about!

PERSONNEL CLERK/TYPIST —Here's a great job for a friendly gal who likes to work with people and enjoys doing a lot of varied things. You'll maintain employment records, exercise your artistic bent by arranging the company bulletin boards, handle tickets for special events, order a variety of supplies, plus numerous other interesting things.

TRAFFIC—If you enjoy working with figures, you'll like the many interesting fact-finding and problem-solving areas in the Traffic Department as the movement of goods is coordinated throughout our entire operation. During our shipping season you'll work Saturday, too, putting extra time-and-a-half dollars in your pocketbook.

SALES/SERVICE CLERK—We need a real capable girl for this position. Do you have good handwriting, type fast, and enjoy working with numbers? You'll start out mailing to customers and doing general clerical work, and as you develop, you'll begin to work into special projects.

These jobs offer fine starting salaries and lots of free benefits. We guarantee, working with Barbie you'll be the life of the party!

STENO

More Than "Just a Job"

As the largest and fastest expanding toymaker in the world, we look for people with the ambition, the skill and the potential to grow rapidly with us. In Stenographers, we look for girls capable of handling responsibility of work on unsupervised, who constantly don't have to be told what to do.

We have immediate need for several girls of this calibre—girls capable of independent thinking and action.

Working in our Sales Promotion Dept. is, by it's very nature, exciting. Companies all across the country produce little girl's dresses under the name of Barbie. Licensing these various independent manufacturers is just one interesting phase of the work you'll be involved in.

The hundreds of Barbie dresses, as well as clothes for our other dolls, are made in the Orient. Working in our Import Dept., you will be corresponding with foreign lands and coordinating the importing of soft goods.

We require top-notch stenographic and typing skills, in addition to the requirements listed above. In return we offer excellent starting salaries, comprehensive benefits and challenging assignments with growth opportunities found only in a small handful of dynamic firms.

CLERICAL

PART TIME WITH BARBIE

Did you ever go to a party and meet someone from Mattel? Remember how the people crowded around this person excitingly asking questions? Everyone was so interested!

Here's YOUR chance. We have several great clerical jobs definitely worth talking about!

PERSONNEL CLERK/TYPIST —Here's a great job for a friendly gal who likes to work with people and enjoys doing a lot of varied things. You'll maintain employment records, exercise your artistic bent by arranging the company bulletin boards, handle tickets for special events, order a variety of supplies, plus numerous other interesting things.

TRAFFIC—If you enjoy working with figures, you'll like the many interesting fact-finding and problem-solving areas in the Traffic Department as the movement of goods is coordinated throughout our entire operation. During our shipping season you'll work Saturday, too, putting extra time-and-a-half dollars in your pocketbook.

SALES/SERVICE CLERK—We need a real capable girl for this position. Do you have good handwriting, type fast, and enjoy working with numbers? You'll start out mailing to customers and doing general clerical work, and as you develop, you'll begin to work into special projects.

These jobs offer fine starting salaries and lots of free benefits. We guarantee, working with Barbie you'll be the life of the party!

SALE

TO BE HELD MAY 17th, 1965, 10:00 O'CLOCK A.M. AT MOTEL LOBBY

The Farmers and Merchants Bank of Long Beach, as seller, invites offers for the purchase of the leasehold estates and improvements located thereon (consisting of a 106 unit motel structure, swimming pool and restaurant structure) located at 6285 E. Pacific Coast Highway, Long Beach, California.

Inspection of the property and of the terms, provisions and conditions of the leasehold estates and the leases, may be arranged by contacting Mr. James Preston, Assistant Vice-President of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Long Beach, 302 Pine Avenue, Long Beach, California, or by telephoning such bank officer at HEmlock 7-0011, Ext. 25. Inspections should be made prior to sale date.

Offers must be accompanied by a Money Order, Certified, Cashier's or other bank's check made payable to Farmers and Merchants Bank of Long Beach for not less than 10% of the offer, to be applied on the purchase or returned if the offer is rejected.

The right is reserved to reject any and all offers and to waive any informality in any bid.

TERMS: All cash preferred; some terms may be available to qualified buyer.

Brokers' participation invited.

All persons desiring to make offers should preferably do so in writing prior to the date of sale specified above and be present at the time and place of sale on the date designated above.

SALE

TO BE HELD MAY 17th, 1965, 10:00 O'CLOCK A.M. AT MOTEL LOBBY

The Farmers and Merchents Bank of Long Beach, as seller, invites offers for the purchase of the leasehold estates and improvements located thereon (consisting of a 106 unit motel structure, swimming pool and restaurant structure) located at 6285 E. Pacific Coast Highway, Long Beach, California.

Inspection of the property and of the terms, provisions and conditions of the leasehold estates and the leases, may be arranged by contacting Mr. James Preston, Assistant Vice-President of the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Long Beach, 302 Pine Avenue, Long Beach, California, or by telephoning such bank officer at HEmlock 7-0011, Ext. 25. Inspections should be made prior to sale date.

Offers must be accompanied by a Money Order, Certified, Cashier's or other bank's check made payable to Farmers and Merchants Bank of Long Beach for not less than 10% of the offer, to be applied on the purchase or returned if the offer is rejected.

The right is reserved to reject any and all offers and to waive any informality in any bid.

TERMS: All cash preferred; some terms may be available to qualified buyer.

Brokers' participation invited.

All persons desiring to make offers should preferably do so in writing prior to the date of sale specified above and be present at the time and place of sale on the date designated above.

MEET
RALPH WALKER & JOHN COTTER

at COTTER MOTORS

2165 LONG BEACH BLVD., DIAL 591-2334 L. B.

Ralph Walker, now a partner of John Cotter in COTTER MOTORS, has been associated with Cotter's for 20 years. Ralph has had a vast and varied experience in automobile sales in Long Beach. He has been active in civic and sporting events, including 10 years as an associate of the L. B. Mounted Police. The name Cotter has had a long and reputable acceptance in this area, the present location being the one and only COTTER automobile business in Long Beach. COTTER'S specialize in Cadillacs, Station Wagons, and other fine cars, covering an area of 1½ acres in the heart of auto row. All friends and customers of the COTTERS are cordially invited to stop by and see the finely appointed new lot.

*HERE'S HOW CHRYSLER'S ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY CONTINUES TO PROTECT YOU.
Chrysler Corporation warrants all of the following vital parts of this car for 50,000 miles or five years after delivery to the original purchaser, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, driveshaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage.

'Lucky' Old Shoe Comes Up Roses

THUNDER HEARD 'ROUND THE COUNTRY

Jockey Bill Shoemaker wields his whip as Lucky Debonair thunders across finish line to win Kentucky Derby Saturday. At left is Swift Ruler, who finished out of money.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) Lucky Debonair, given a perfect ride by controversial Willie Shoemaker, won the Kentucky Derby Saturday with a strong stretch run that held off the lightning closing strides of Dapper Dan, a 30-1 outsider.

Bold Lad, the 2-1 favorite, finished a tiring 10th and never was a major factor in the race.

Lucky Debonair, the third choice and winner of three previous stakes races this year, won by a long neck with Dapper Dan two lengths ahead of Tom Rolfe, who finished third in the field of 11 3-year-olds.

The husky son of Vertex matched the early speed of Flag Raiser for almost a mile and then after he pulled away at the head of the stretch, had the strength and courage to turn back a belated challenge by Dapper Dan, who came from last place with a half mile to go.

The crowd of about 100,000 made Bold Lad, the 1964 juvenile champion, its favorite but not quite as strongly as had been expected.

But Lucky Debonair, winner of the San Vincente, the Santa Anita Derby and the Blue Grass Stakes, paid off. He returned $10.60, $5.40 and $4.20 across the board while picking up a winner purse of $112,000 for the Chicago sportswoman. Dapper Dan paid $26.00 and $12.60 while Tom Rolfe paid $4.80.

Unexpected excitement preceded the classic when a fire broke out in the clubhouse of the ancient stands slightly more than an hour before the scheduled post time. The fire forced officials to postpone the start of the race 30 minutes.

The race was a thriller from the start to finish and Lucky Debonair was in the middle of things right from the very start.

He busted out of the gate like a bullet to challenge Flag Raiser for the early lead and in the run through the stretch for the first time ranged up head and head with the vaunted Flag Raiser, who won the Bay Shore, the Gotham and the Wood Memorial in his last three races.

Around the turn and down the backstretch the two horses showed the way with Tom Rolfe and Native Charger close behind them.

Flag Raiser gave it all he had but that was only good enough to carry him for a mile in this mile and one-quarter race.

Flag Raiser started to slow down and the drama of the classic started to unfold.

For Dapper Dan, who was dead last for the first three-quarters of a mile, finally started to run.

under jockey Ismael Valenzuela, Dapper Dan still was seventh with only the length of a stretch to go.

The crowd was cheering on Lucky Debonair, who quickly gained a two-length lead when Flag Raiser stopped and increased it to three lengths halfway through the straightaway.

But the closing burst of speed displayed by Dapper Dan began to attract attention as he bolted like an express train down the middle of the stretch. He was fifth, then fourth and in another jump second with only Lucky Debonair ahead of him.

Shoemaker, riding in the derby for the 14th time, urged on Lucky Debonair for all his worth. He managed to get his mount across the finish line in the nick of time. And Shoemaker now had Lucky Debonair to add to his previous winners—Swaps and Tomy Lee.

Shoemaker, who blew the 1957 Kentucky Derby when he misjudged the finish line with Gallant Man, flogged Lucky Debonair good in the stretch run to the wire this time just to make sure.

Shoemaker's ride also helped him wipe out the memory of his last two appearances in the classic when he was beaten each time with favorites—Candy Spots in 1963 and Hill Rise last year.

LUCKY DEBONAIR broke alertly to show the way through the opening furlong, dropped back a bit when Shoemaker took a snug hold nearing sixteenth marker, moved up again to engage FLAG RAISER midway of first turn, continued to duel with that one while along outside to final quarter where he moved to fore when sharply roused, moved off to a lengthy advantage through upper stretch but was fully extended to turn back a belated bid from DAPPER DAN. The latter, away slowly and unhurried for six furlongs, moved up along inside on leaving backstretch, angled out sharply to launch his closing rally on final bend and responding to strong handling was slowly getting to winner. TOM ROLFE in hand for a half-mile, moved up boldly along inside to engage top flight at half-mile ground, dropped back a bit on rounding second turn only to come again while under extreme pressure and finished gamely. NATIVE CHARGER bumped while between horses entering first turn, quickly recovered to remain in contention while along outside to loom menacingly on stretch turn and finished evenly in a good effort. HAIL TO ALL, slow to begin as usual, launched a rally on rounding second turn and finished boldly while between horses through closing drive. MR. PAK finished well. SWIFT RULER failed to reach contention. FLAG RAISER came out soon after start to bump with CARPENTERS RULE, was quickly straightened away to take a clear lead during the initial run through stretch. Came to inside thereafter to be well-rated only to weaken badly through closing drive. CARPENTERS RULE was bumped soon after the start and failed to reach contention. BOLD LAD, in hand while being outrun early and saving ground, was angled to outside soon after entering backstretch to reach a contending position at half mile ground, continued well to top of stretch where he gave way badly in final drive. NARUSHUA showed forwardly for three-quarters and tired badly.

'MIGHT MAKE ARNIE HUSTLE'

Nicklaus Roars Back, Trails Palmer by Only 6 in T of C

By DAVE LEWIS
I. P-T Staff Writer

LAS VEGAS—Arnie Palmer "slipped" to a 71 over the wind-whipped Desert Inn Country Club course here Saturday, but when the dust cleared he had managed to boost his lead at the three-quarters mark in the Tournament of Champions to three strokes.

While Palmer played cautious but steady golf for his one-under-par score and 54-hole total of 206, the other contenders were having extremely erratic rounds, with the exception of Jack Nicklaus and Dick Sikes.

Shaky even-par 72's by Doug Sanders and Chi Chi Rodriguez, who are tied for second at 209, enabled Palmer to bolster his advantage and pulled him to within 18 holes of registering his first PGA tour title in 11½ months. Sanders and Rodriguez are tied for second at 209.

* * * *

NICKLAUS came roaring back into the picture with the day's low round, a five-under-par 67 that lifted him to sixth place just six strokes back of Palmer.

Sikes, whose 74 on Friday caused him to slide down from a tie for second to sixth, posted a 68 Saturday for fourth place at 210, five strokes off the pace.

Sikes, sponsored on the tour by Art Modell, owner of the champion Cleveland Browns, actually fell 10 strokes back of Palmer on the first nine but blistered the back side with six birdies for a record-equalling 30 to stay in the thick of the running for the $14,000 first money.

Billy Casper was even par for the day and stands fifth at 214, a stroke ahead of Nicklaus at 212.

Sam Snead and Bruce Crampton, tied for fourth going into Saturday's play, both faltered, Snead shooting a 74 to fall into a tie for seventh, seven strokes back, while Crampton blew sky high with a 78.

Third best round of the day, a 69, boosted Kel Nagle into a tie with Snead at 213.

Dodgers' Bat Star Lost in 4-2 Win Over Giants

By GEORGE LEDERER

It was May Day at Dodger Stadium Saturday night and the distress signal could be heard plainly, despite the noise of 55,312 who cheered the Dodgers' 4-2 comeback victory over the Giants.

The Dodgers remained in first place, but their pennant hopes were fractured when Tommy Davis broke and dislocated his right ankle on a slide into second base.

The prognosis from team physician Dr. Robert Kerlan is that Davis will be sidelined "at least three months."

The injury to the two-time National League batting champion came in the fourth inning. Tommy's spikes caught in the hard dirt and he never reached the bag. He was tagged out while lying motionless, by Giants pitcher Gaylord Perry, to complete a double play.

* * * *

THE INJURY comes as a serious blow to the comeback-anxious Dodgers, off to their best start since 1957. They have won 11 of 16, lead Houston and Cincinnati by .021 points and have won three in a row from the Giants for the first time since May, 1963.

Davis was batting only .254, but was just warming up. He had six hits in his last 10 times up and trailed club leader John Roseboro in RBI by one, 10-9.

"There's no doubt this is a big loss," said manager Walter Alston. "He was just starting to hit. But this club has had injuries before and it's not the type to give up."

Alston announced that Wally Moon will start in left field today in the concluding game of the home stand.

* * * *

"AFTER THAT," said Alston, "I won't know. It'll be a day-to-day proposition."

There is a possibility that the Dodgers will bring up either Lou Johnson or Derrell Griffith from Spokane.

Claude Osteen (2-2) goes after the Dodgers' first

BEANBALL FEUD!

Drysdale Warns Giants to Duck

By GEORGE LEDERER

Don Drysdale was warned about his bean ball tactics by Giants pitcher Juan Marichal Saturday night, but refused to be intimidated.

"They better be careful themselves," said Drysdale. "I've never run away from a fight yet."

Marichal brought up Thursday night's brushback battle when he appeared on a television program before Saturday night's game. "The next time Drysdale comes even close to hitting anyone on our club, he'll be sorry," said Marichal.

Drysdale came close to hitting Willie Mays in the eighth inning Thursday. At least Mays made it appear close by hitting the dirt.

Drysdale had to pay the consequences as the first Dodger batter in the eighth and was hit in the back by reliever Bob Bolin's first pitch.

* * * *

DRYSDALE POINTED out that Mays "swung at a pitch in the same spot later on, when he was falling away from the plate. Maybe all this talk is a publicity stunt for our series at Candlestick Park next weekend. They're not drawing too well up there, you know.

"But if they want a fight, all they have to remember is that I'm only 60 feet, 6 inches away, batting or pitching. And they'd better be careful. I'll get four of them every time they get me. And they won't be .250 hitters, either."

LUCKY DEBONAIR broke alertly to show the way through the opening furlong, dropped back a bit when Shoemaker took a snug hold nearing sixteenth marker, moved up again to engage FLAG RAISER midway of first turn, continued to duel with that one while along outside to final quarter where he moved to fore when sharply rousted, moved off to a lengthy advantage through upper stretch but was fully extended to turn back a belated bid from DAPPER DAN. The latter, away slowly and unhurried for six furlongs, moved up along inside on leaving backstretch, angled out sharply to launch his closing rally on final bend and responding to strong handling was slowly getting to winner. TOM ROLFE in hand for a half-mile, moved up boldly along inside to engage top flight at half-mile ground, dropped back a bit on rounding second turn only to come again while under extensive pressure and finished gamely. NATIVE CHARGER bumped while between horses entering first turn, quickly recovered to remain in contention while along outside to loom menacingly on stretch turn and finished evenly on a good effort. HALF TO ALL, slow to begin as usual, launched a rally on rounding second turn and finished boldly while between horses through closing drive. MR. PAK finished well. SWIFT RULER failed to reach contention. FLAG RAISER came out soon after start to burrow with CARPENTERS RULE was quickly straightened away to take a clear lead during the first run through stretch. Came to inside thereafter to be well rated only to weaken badly through closing drive. CARPENTERS RULE was bumped soon after the start and failed to reach contention. BOLD LAD, in hand while breaking portion, drove along strongly, was angled to outside soon after entering backstretch to reach a contending position at half mile ground, continued well to top of stretch where he gave way badly in final drive. NARUSHUA showed forwardly for three quarters and tired badly.

'MIGHT MAKE ARNIE HUSTLE'

Nicklaus Roars Back, Trails Palmer by Only 6 in T of C

By DAVE LEWIS
I.-P-T Staff Writer

LAS VEGAS—Arnie Palmer "slipped" to a 71 over the wind-whipped Desert Inn Country Club course here Saturday, but when the dust cleared he had managed to boost his lead at the three-quarters mark in the Tournament of Champions to three strokes.

While Palmer played cautious but steady golf for his one-under-par score and 54-hole total of 206, the other contenders were having extremely erratic rounds, with the exception of Jack Nicklaus and Dick Sikes.

Shaky even-par 72's by Doug Sanders and Chi Chi Rodriguez, who are tied for second at 209, enabled Palmer to bolster his advantage and pulled him to within 18 holes of registering his first PGA tour title in 11½ months. Sanders and Rodriguez are tied for second at 209.

NICKLAUS came roaring back into the picture with the day's low round, a five-under-par 67 that hiked him to sixth place just six strokes back of Palmer.

Sikes, whose 74 on Friday caused him to slide down from a tie for second to sixth, posted a 68 Saturday for fourth place at 210, five strokes off the pace.

Sikes, sponsored on the tour by Art Modell, owner of the champion Cleveland Browns, actually fell 10 strokes back of Palmer on the first nine but blistered the back side with six birdies for a record-equaling 30 to stay in the thick of the running for the $14,000 first money.

Billy Casper was even par for the day and stands fifth at 214, a stroke ahead of Nicklaus at 212.

Sam Snead and Bruce Crampton, tied for fourth going into Saturday's play, both faltered, Snead shooting a 74 to fall into a tie for seventh, seven strokes back, while Crampton blew sky high with a 78.

Third best round of the day, a 69, boosted Kel Nagle into a tie with Snead at 213.

Dodgers' Bat Star Lost in 4-2 Win Over Giants

By GEORGE LEDERER

It was May Day at Dodger Stadium Saturday night and the distress signal could be heard plainly, despite the noise of 55,312 who cheered the Dodgers' 4-2 comeback victory over the Giants.

The Dodgers remained in first place, but their pennant hopes were fractured when Tommy Davis broke and dislocated his right ankle on a slide into second base.

The prognosis from team physician Dr. Robert Kerlan is that Davis will be sidelined "at least three months."

The injury to the two-time National League batting champion came in the fourth inning. Tommy's spikes caught in the hard dirt and he never reached the bag. He was tagged out while lying motionless, by Giants pitcher Gaylord Perry, to complete a double play.

THE INJURY comes as a serious blow to the comeback-anxious Dodgers, off to their best start since 1957. They have won 11 of 16, lead Houston and Cincinnati by .021 points and have won three in a row from the Giants for the first time since May, 1963.

Davis was batting only .254, but was just warming up. He had six hits in his last 10 times up and trailed club leader John Roseboro in RBI by one, 10-9.

"There's no doubt this is a big loss," said manager Walter Alston. "He was just starting to hit. But this club has had injuries before and it's not the type to give up."

Alston announced that Wally Moon will start in left field today in the concluding game of the home stand.

"AFTER THAT," said Alston, "I won't know. It'll be a day-to-day proposition."

There is a possibility that the Dodgers will bring up either Lou Johnson or Derrell Griffith from Spokane.

Claude Osteen (2-2) goes after the Dodgers' first

BEANBALL FEUD!

Drysdale Warns Giants to Duck

By GEORGE LEDERER

Don Drysdale was warned about his bean ball tactics by Giants pitcher Juan Marichal Saturday night, but refused to be intimidated.

"They better be careful themselves," said Drysdale. "I've never run away from a fight yet."

Marichal brought up Thursday night's brushback battle when he appeared on a television program before Saturday night's game. "The next time Drysdale comes even close to hitting anyone on our club, he'll be sorry," said Marichal.

Drysdale came close to hitting Willie Mays in the eighth inning Thursday. At least Mays made it appear close by hitting the dirt.

Drysdale had to pay the consequences as the first Dodger batter in the eighth and was hit in the back by reliever Bob Bolin's first pitch.

DRYSDALE POINTED out that Mays "swung at a pitch in the same spot later on, when he was falling away from the plate. Maybe all this talk is a publicity stunt for our series at Candlestick Park next weekend. They're not drawing too well up there, you know.

"But if they want a fight, all they have to remember is that I'm only 60 feet, 6 inches away, batting or pitching. And they'd better be careful. I'll get four of them every time they get me. And they won't be 250 hitters, either."

Watch Out For Giants!

San Francisco's Giants haven't exactly set the National League world on fire in the first few weeks of the season, but new skipper Herman Franks isn't overly concerned.

"When you can stay around the .500 mark without a tiger like Cepeda (Orlando) in the regular lineup and with a pitching staff that has completed only four games—all by one man (Juan Marichal)—and with a second baseman that isn't hitting his baby weight, then you've got to think things will get better. And that's the way I'm thinking," declared Franks as the Giants invaded Dodger Stadium for the first time this campaign.

HERMAN FRANKS
A Happy Man

"I'm not unhappy with our start, it's the finish I'm concerned about. The only real thing I'm unhappy about now is the two games we blew to the Mets last weekend. I try to keep my temper on an even level, but those two games lowered my boiling point."

Those two games (last Friday and Saturday) sent a rumble through San Francisco that almost upended both bridges. In one, the Giants held a solid 8-2 lead over Casey Stengel's fellows, then lost 9-8 in 11 frames. In the other, the Giants held a two-run lead in the ninth inning only to see somebody named Danny Napoleon smash a three-run pinch triple that toppled the Big Boppers from Bridgetown.

"Here we have two outs and a two-run-lead and a kid from the sticks at bat. All my pitcher has to do is curve him three times and we win the game. But what's he to do but groove one right down the middle and—pow—we lose the ball game. When you give away two games to the Mets the only solution is a psychiatrist."

Indeed, Napoleon was Herman Franks' Waterloo.

A GENIAL ROUND MAN, whom 'Frisco correspondents insist is independently wealthy, Herman apparently is in baseball only for the love of the game, not money.

"I felt kind of bad when the Giants offered me the managership just a short time after Al Dark was fired last season," commented Herman, "but I figured somebody had to take it. I liked Alvin very much and we got along fine together.

"As far as his relationships with the front office went, I know nothing. I'm only worried about my relationships with them now. I'll do the best job I can and if that's not enough, then I'll find out soon enough."

Franks has to be closer to the front office than his predecessor. Dark was as close-mouthed as a Mafia lieutenant. Not only did the front office corps of president Horace Stoneham and vice-president Chub Feeney insist that Dark inform them of every lineup change, but also of every bullpen movement.

For Dark this was tantamount to an after-dinner speech. For Franks it's routine business.

Herman will get along fine in his new position, if he continues to be inclined to file hourly reports.

DARK THREW a roundhouse curve at Franks during spring training when, as a Chicago Cub coach, Alvin picked the Giants to win the pennant.

"The Giants have everything, including a fine manager," said Dark.

Asked immediately why he didn't win the pennant with the same team, Alvin replied: "We only lost by three games. If our gang had been healthy, there'd have been no problem. A healthy Giant team is the best in the league."

Alvin hasn't been fired by the Cubs yet for that statement. Neither has his friendship with Franks been discarded.

"I'm supposed to be on the spot to win," said Herman Thursday night. "Alvin got me off the spot. He said a healthy Giant team is the best. We're not healthy . . . and look at Cepeda who's only been to bat three times. Al probably was misquoted, anyway. They do anything in Chicago to get stories."

He could have included New York, too.

AS OF THIS WRITING the Giants are in the first division, albeit on the low end of that totem pole. Give them those two games against the Mets and they're almost in first place.

It's a tribute to somebody that they're so close right now. Their second base combination couldn't hit Nitehawk pitching. Jose Pagan has an average around the .200 mark (and the poor soul still has a growth in his left eye). Hal Lanier is batting an unbelievable .135.

Aforementioned Cepeda went under the knife for removal of cartilage in his right knee . . . and he runs now like the loser in a fat man's race.

Pitcher Jack Sanford had a circulatory block in his money arm and hasn't completed one start this season.

The only hospital case to respond has been Willie McCovey, whose bat mark is about .380. That's no disgrace, but if Willie can hit like that with a sore left foot—and the Giants still are within shouting distance of first place, brother, man the life boats. If the Giants ever get completely healthy, concentrate strictly on second place bets.

A'S TRAVELLING MASCOT

Charlie O . . . A Mule No Fool

By ROSS NEWHAN
I, P-T Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY — John Steinbeck has nothing on Jim Schaaf except the Nobel Prize.

Jim Schaaf, who spent his days at Notre Dame clearing holes for Paul Hornung, is public relations director of the Kansas City Athletics, who can use a great deal of public-relations.

A la Steinbeck, Schaaf is currently conducting Travels With Charlie. Charlie O. is a mule (for want of a better name) and is the brainstorm and namesake of Charles O. Finley, an insurance man (for want of a better name).

The mule was a gift of Missouri Governor Warren Hearnes, a Democrat who obviously was not going to donate an elephant.

Hearnes' motives are not clear unless he felt a mule would fit in with the A's, generally regarded as the American League's donkeys.

Nevertheless, Charlie O. is the hottest thing to hit the circuit since Mickey Mantle and, clearly, his legs are sounder. He has drawn crowds in Detroit, Cleveland and New York.

"He has a great personality and genuinely likes people," said Schaaf with a straight-face. Of course, Charlie O. pays Schaaf well — and that's not hay.

Charlie O. was not available for comment when the I, P-T conducted its inquiry since he was returning from New York.

Charlie, a handsome sorrel who stands 15 hands, two inches and weighs 1,492 pounds, travels in an air-conditioned van which was presented by the Ford dealers of Kansas City. It is equipped with a stereo unit, but Charles has a one-track mind when it comes to music. His selection is always the same: "Mule Train."

The van is easy to spot since it is painted in the A's colors of green and gold and bears Charlie's picture on the side.

The first stop was the University of Missouri where Charlie staged a sit-in at the student union. Threatened with dissection in the zoology department, Charlie moved on to Detroit where the A's opened their first road trip.

Accompanied by a police escort, Charlie arrived at the Sheraton-Cadillac to the cheers of thousands. Mr. Finley distributed ballpoint pens, Little League Oats and Charlie O. decals and then squired his pride into the hotel to register.

Charlie O. chose the escalator, but halfway to the lobby it was shoved into reverse. Now, both the escalator and Charlie were stalled. After much prodding, Charlie backed off and announced all further travels would be by elevator.

The next stop was Cleveland where two stages were constructed in front of the Sheraton-Cleveland. One was for Charlie and the other for the A's. A throng two-blocks in length awaited a glimpse of Charlie. Not one player was asked for his autograph.

Charlie, however, was just starting to move. The past week was spent in New York and the only thing missing was for Jimmy Walker to greet Charlie on the steps of City Hall.

Charlie took up quarters in the garage of the Americana Hotel where his room consisted of green and gold drapes, a desk featuring Finley's picture, a TV set (he prefers Mr. Ed), and white-gloved attendants serving oats on silver trays.

Schaff, Finley and Charlie O. will appear in Los Angeles on Sept. 5. The mule will be stabled at the Statler-Hilton and Finley promises he will ride Charlie O. around the bases at Dodger Stadium.

At that moment, a vendor will probably yell: "You can't tell the owner without a program."

'He Has a Great Personality'

Angels Gain .500 Plateau

By ROSS NEWHAN
I, P-T Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY — It was May Day after all.

Bob Lee, who receives more stretch calls than a Kentucky Derby favorite, preserved Rudy May's first major league victory Saturday as the Angels nudged Kansas City, 3-1, before 3,761 paying patrons.

The Angels returned to the .500 plateau by lifting a winning streak to two for the first time this season. It was their eighth successive victory in Finley's Fantasyland and while May and Lee deserved the plaudits, the game still might be in session had not plate umpire Bill Haller hollered out during an eighth inning A's rally.

ANGEL OF DAY

BOB LEE

Fired three shutout innings in relief, picking up his third save, as Angels clipped Athletics, 3-1.

Manager Mel McGaha was outraged and Lee was out of the jam. There was one out and the Angels were leading, 2-1, when the A's loaded the bases on singles by Campy Campaneris and Wayne Causey and a walk to Nelson Mathews.

Diamond Jim Gentile then bled a slow roller up the first base line which Vic Power, inserted for defensive purposes at the start of the inning, fielded and fired to catcher Bob Rodgers.

It was the closest finish north of Churchill Downs with Haller ruling that Campaneris was nipped for the second out.

After McGaha's futile debate, Albie Pearson, while running full steam towards the A's bullpen dugout, made a backhanded catch of Ed Charles' foul drive for the third out. Had Haller judged Campaneris' safe, Charles' shot would have scored Causey with the third run.

Conjecture ended with McGaha's vain lecture and Lee, making his eighth appearance, completed his third save by retiring the A's in order in the ninth.

Both clubs collected seven hits with Paul Schaal driving in the only two runs the Angels needed.

* * * *

ANGEL ANGLES: Ken McBride makes one of the critical starts of his career today, replacing Dean Chance in the second game . . . Fred Newman (2-1) hurls the opener with the A's employing Moe Drabowsky (0-2) and Fred Talbot (1-1) . . . It's the trip finale and McBride gets credit for one of the best lines of the voyage . . . Asked by his roomie, Ron Piche, if he'd like to relax at a movie, McBride replied: "I don't go to movies anymore. I'm afraid they'll show newsreels of last season." Close observers of Friday's TV contest might have noticed Jose Cardenal hold the ball high over his head as he cleanly fielded Campy Campaneris' fifth inning triple off the fence . . . "When I play in the Dominican League the lights are real bad and it dark in center field," explained Cardenal. "I do that twice and fool the umpire" . . . Fellow Cuban, Marcelino Lopez, sports two gold-rings, a gold bracelet and a gold watch. Vic Power commented: "No wonder Castro want you back. When you leave, his treasury depleted."

Ford Goes Route, Yanks Riddle O's

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tom Tresh, Bobby Richardson and Joe Pepitone, the top third of the New York Yankees' batting order, collected eight hits and six runs between them Saturday in a 9-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Tresh had two singles and a double, Pepitone contributed a pair of two-baggers and a single, and Richardson added two singles in the Yankees' 12-hit attack on former teammate Don Larsen and three Baltimore relief pitchers.

Whitey Ford, although nicked for 10 hits, went the route for the Yankees.

White Sox Jump Back Into Lead

CHICAGO (UPI) — Righthander Joel Horlen pitched the Chicago White Sox back into the American League lead Saturday by stopping powerful Minnesota on six hits, 2-1.

It was Horlen's first win of the season and the first time in 23 innings his teammates had been able to score for him.

Don Buford was the White Sox hero with a home run and a single to give him nine hits in his last dozen times at the plate.

T. DAVIS SIDELINED

four-game sweep over the Giants since July 1962 when he pitches against Jack Sanford (1-1) today.

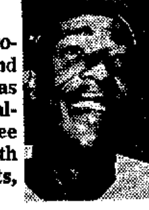

* * * *

DICK TRACEWSKI, whose third error in two nights had given the Giants an unearned run, Willie Davis and John Purdin were the Dodger men of the hour Saturday.

Tracewski made up for his misplay with a leadoff single in the eighth, scored the tying run and the first of three in the inning.

DODGER OF DAY

WILLIE DAVIS

Cracked two-run single and scored run as Dodgers rallied for three runs in eighth to beat Giants, 4-2.

Purdin, who hadn't pitched since an exhibition game on April 3, was the winner and Willie D. drove in the tying and lead runs.

Nate Oliver, batting for the first time this year, sacrificed for Purdin in the eighth and Maury Wills followed with a freak hit to third baseman Jim Davenport, who lost the high bouncer in the lights.

Perry, who had held the Dodgers to four hits, was excused after walking Wes Parker to fill the bases.

* * * *

BOB SHAW was the reliever and W. Davis tagged his first pitch for a two-run single to center, sending the Dodgers in front, 3-2. The final run came when Shaw wild-pitched and Willie made it home from second base.

The paid attendance was 49,758, largest in the majors this season.

Watch Out For Giants!

San Francisco's Giants haven't exactly set the National League world on fire in the first few weeks of the season, but new skipper Herman Franks isn't overly concerned.

"When you can stay around the .500 mark without a tiger like Cepeda (Orlando) in the regular lineup and with a pitching staff that has completed only four games—all by one man (Juan Marichal)—and with a second baseman that isn't hitting his baby weight, then you've got to think things will get better. And that's the way I'm thinking," declared Franks as the Giants invaded Dodger Stadium for the first time this campaign.

HERMAN FRANKS
A Happy Man

"I'm not unhappy with our start, it's the finish I'm concerned about. The only real thing I'm unhappy about now is the two games we blew to the Mets last weekend. I try to keep my temper on an even level, but those two games lowered my boiling point."

Those two games (last Friday and Saturday) sent a rumble through San Francisco that almost upended both bridges. In one, the Giants held a solid 8-2 lead over Casey Stengel's fellows, then lost 9-8 in 11 frames. In the other, the Giants held a two-run lead in the ninth inning only to see somebody named Danny Napoleon smash a three-run pinch triple that toppled the Big Boppers from Bridgetown.

"Here we have two outs and a two-run lead and a kid from the sticks at bat. All my pitcher has to do is curve him three times and we win the game. But what's he to do but groove one right down the middle and—pow—we lose the ball game. When you give away two games to the Mets the only solution is a psychiatrist."

Indeed, Napoleon was Herman Franks' Waterloo.

A GENIAL ROUND MAN, whom 'Frisco correspondents insist is independently wealthy, Herman apparently is in baseball only for the love of the game, not money.

"I felt kind of bad when the Giants offered me the managership just a short time after Al Dark was fired last season," commented Herman, "but I figured somebody had to take it. I liked Alvin very much and we got along fine together.

"As far as his relationships with the front office went, I know nothing. I'm only worried about my relationships with them now. I'll do the best job I can and if that's not enough, then I'll find out soon enough."

Franks has to be closer to the front office than his predecessor. Dark was as close-mouthed as a Mafia lieutenant. Not only did the front office corps of president Horace Stoneham and vice-president Chub Feeney insist that Dark inform them of every lineup change, but also of every bullpen movement.

For Dark this was tantamount to an after-dinner speech. For Franks it's routine business.

Herman will get along fine in his new position, if he continues to be inclined to file hourly reports.

DARK THREW a roundhouse curve at Franks during spring training when, as a Chicago Cub coach, Alvin picked the Giants to win the pennant.

"The Giants have everything, including a fine manager," said Dark.

Asked immediately why he didn't win the pennant with the same team, Alvin replied: "We only lost by three games. If our gang had been healthy, there'd have been no problem. A healthy Giant team is the best in the league."

Alvin hasn't been fired by the Cubs yet for that statement. Neither has his friendship with Franks been discarded.

"I'm supposed to be on the spot to win," said Herman Thursday night. "Alvin got me off the spot. He said a healthy Giant team is the best. We're not healthy . . . and look at Cepeda who's only been to bat three times. Al probably was misquoted, anyway. They do anything in Chicago to get stories."

He could have included New York, too.

AS OF THIS WRITING the Giants are in the first division, albeit on the low end of that totem pole. Give them those two games against the Mets and they're almost in first place.

It's a tribute to somebody that they're so close right now. Their second base combination couldn't hit Nitehawk pitching. Jose Pagan has an average around the .200 mark (and the poor soul still has a growth in his left eye). Hal Lanier is batting an unbelievable .135.

Aforementioned Cepeda went under the knife for removal of cartilage in his right knee . . . and he runs now like the loser in a fat man's race.

Pitcher Jack Sanford had a circulatory block in his money arm and hasn't completed one start this season.

The only hospital case to respond has been Willie McCovey, whose bat mark is about .380. That's no disgrace, but if Willie can hit like that with a sore left foot —and the Giants still are within shouting distance of first place, brother, man the life boats. If the Giants ever get completely healthy, concentrate strictly on second place bets.

A'S TRAVELLING MASCOT

Charlie O . . . A Mule No Fool

By ROSS NEWHAN
I, P-T Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY — John Steinbeck has nothing on Jim Schaaf except the Nobel Prize.

Jim Schaaf, who spent his days at Notre Dame clearing holes for Paul Hornung, is public relations director of the Kansas City Athletics, who can use a great deal of public-relations.

A la Steinbeck, Schaaf is currently conducting Travels With Charlie. Charlie O. is a mule (for want of a better name) and is the brainstorm and namesake of Charles O. Finley, an insurance man (for want of a better name).

The mule was a gift of Missouri Governor Warren Hearnes, a Democrat who obviously was not going to donate an elephant. Hearnes' motives are not clear unless he felt a mule would fit in with the A's, generally regarded as the American League's donkeys.

Nevertheless, Charlie O. is the hottest thing to hit the circuit since Mickey Mantle and, clearly, his legs are sounder. He has drawn crowds in Detroit, Cleveland and New York.

"He has a great personality and genuinely likes people," said Schaaf with a straight-face. Of course, Charlie O. pays Schaaf well — and that's not hay.

Charlie O. was not available for comment when the I, P-T conducted its inquiry since he was returning from New York.

Charlie, a handsome sorrel who stands 15 hands, two inches and weighs 1,492 pounds, travels in an air-conditioned van which was presented by the Ford dealers of Kansas City. It is equipped with a stereo unit, but Charles has a one-track mind when it comes to music. His selection is always the same: "Mule Train."

The van is easy to spot since it is painted in the A's colors of green and gold and bears Charlie's picture on the side.

The first stop was the University of Missouri where Charlie staged a sit-in at the student union. Threatened with dissection in the zoology department, Charlie moved on to Detroit where the A's opened their first road trip.

'He Has a Great Personality'

Accompanied by a police escort, Charlie arrived at the Sheraton-Cadillac to the cheers of thousands. Mr. Finley distributed ballpoint pens, Little League Oats and Charlie O. decals and then squired his pride into the hotel to register.

Charlie O. chose the escalator, but halfway to the lobby it was shoved into reverse. Now, both the escalator and Charlie were stalled. After much prodding, Charlie backed off and announced all further travels would be by elevator.

The next stop was Cleveland where two stages were constructed in front of the Sheraton-Cleveland. One was for Charlie and the other for the A's. A throng two-blocks in length awaited a glimpse of Charlie. Not one player was asked for his autograph.

Charlie, however, was just starting to move. The past week was spent in New York and the only thing missing was for Jimmy Walker to greet Charlie on the steps of City Hall.

Charlie took up quarters in the garage of the Americana Hotel where his room consisted of green and gold drapes, a desk featuring Finley's picture, a TV set (he prefers Mr. Ed), and white-gloved attendants serving oats on silver trays.

Schaff, Finley and Charlie O. will appear in Los Angeles on Sept. 5. The mule will be stabled at the Statler-Hilton and Finley promises he will ride Charlie O. around the bases at Dodger Stadium.

At that moment, a vendor will probably yell: "You can't tell the owner without a program."

Angels Gain .500 Plateau

By ROSS NEWHAN
I, P-T Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY — It was May Day after all.

Bob Lee, who receives more stretch calls than a Kentucky Derby favorite, preserved Rudy May's first major league victory Saturday as the Angels nudged Kansas City, 3-1, before 3,761 paying patrons.

The Angels returned to the .500 plateau by lifting a winning streak to two for the first time this season. It was their eighth successive victory in Finley's Fantasyland and while May and Lee deserved the plaudits, the game still might be in session had not plate umpire Bill Haller hollered out during an eighth inning A's rally.

ANGEL OF DAY

BOB LEE

Fired three shutout innings in relief, picking up his third save, as Angels clipped Athletics, 3-1.

Manager Mel McGaha was outraged and Lee was out of the jam. There was one out and the Angels were leading, 2-1, when the A's loaded the bases on singles by Campy Campaneris and Wayne Causey and a walk to Nelson Mathews.

Diamond Jim Gentile then bled a slow roller up the first base line which Vic Power, inserted for defensive purposes at the start of the inning, fielded and fired to catcher Bob Rodgers.

It was the closest finish north of Churchill Downs with Haller ruling that Campaneris was nipped for the second out.

After McGaha's futile debate, Albie Pearson, while running full steam towards the A's bullpen dugout, made a backhanded catch of Ed Charles' foul drive for the third out. Had Haller judged Campaneris' safe, Charles' shot would have scored Causey with the third run.

Conjecture ended with McGaha's vain lecture and Lee, making his eighth appearance, completed his third save by retiring the A's in order in the ninth.

Both clubs collected seven hits with Paul Schaal driving in the only two runs the Angels needed.

* * * *

ANGEL ANGLES: Ken McBride makes one of the critical starts of his career today, replacing Dean Chance in the second game . . . Fred Newman (2-1) hurls the opener with the A's employing Moe Drabowsky (0-2) and Fred Talbot (1-1) . . . It's the trip finale and McBride gets credit for one of the best lines of the voyage . . . Asked by his roomie, Ron Piche, if he'd like to relax at a movie, McBride replied: "I don't go to movies anymore. I'm afraid they'll show newsreels of last season." Close observers of Friday's TV contest might have noticed Jose Cardenal hold the ball high over his head as he cleanly fielded Campy Campaneris' fifth inning triple off the fence . . . "When I play in the Dominican League the lights are real bad and it dark in center field," explained Cardenal. "I do that twice and fool the umpire" . . . Fellow Cuban, Marcelino Lopez, sports two gold rings, a gold bracelet and a gold watch. Vic Power commented: "No wonder Castro want you back. When you leave, his treasury depleted."

Orbiting Astros Hit 10 in Row

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Astros rolled to their 10th consecutive victory Saturday night, whipping the Chicago Cubs, 6-1, in the second game of a day-night doubleheader behind the six-hit pitching of unbeaten rookie Dave Giusti.

Jim Wynn drove in three Houston runs in the Astros' 6-4 afternoon triumph.

Ford Goes Route, Yanks Riddle O's

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tom Tresh, Bobby Richardson and Joe Pepitone, the top third of the New York Yankees' batting order, collected eight hits and six runs between them Saturday in a 9-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Tresh had two singles and a double, Pepitone contributed a pair of two-baggers and a single, and Richardson added two singles in the Yankees' 12-hit attack on former teammate Don Larsen and three Baltimore relief pitchers.

Whitey Ford, although nicked for 10 hits, went the route for the Yankees.

White Sox Jump Back Into Lead

CHICAGO (UPI) — Right-hander Joel Horlen pitched the Chicago White Sox back into the American League lead Saturday by stopping powerful Minnesota on six hits, 2-1.

It was Horlen's first win of the season and the first time in 23 innings his teammates had been able to score for him.

Don Buford was the White Sox hero with a home run and a single to give him nine hits in his last dozen times at the plate.

four-game sweep over the Giants since July 1962 when he pitches against Jack Sanford (1-1) today.

* * * *

DICK TRACEWSKI, whose third error in two nights had given the Giants an unearned run, Willie Davis and John Purdin were the Dodger men of the hour Saturday.

Tracewski made up for his misplay with a leadoff single in the eighth, scored the tying run and the first of three in the inning.

DODGER OF DAY

WILLIE DAVIS

Cracked two-run single and scored run as Dodgers rallied for three runs in eighth to beat Giants, 4-2.

Purdin, who hadn't pitched since an exhibition game on April 3, was the winner and Willie D. drove in the tying and lead runs.

Nate Oliver, batting for the first time this year, sacrificed for Purdin in the eighth and Maury Wills followed with a freak hit to third baseman Jim Davenport, who lost the high bouncer in the lights.

Perry, who had held the Dodgers to four hits, was excused after walking Wes Parker to fill the bases.

* * * *

BOB SHAW was the reliever and W. Davis tagged his first pitch for a two-run single to center, sending the Dodgers in front, 3-2. The final run came when Shaw wild-pitched and Willie made it home from second base.

The paid attendance was 49,758, largest in the majors this season.

Cards Back Stallard, 3-2

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Curt Flood and Tito Francona hit home runs for the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday but Phil Gagliano's single scored Bill White with the winning run for a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Ex-New York Met pitcher Tracy Stallard won his first game in a Cardinal uniform.

Phils Staggered by Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Felipe Alou drove in two runs with a pair of singles and Lee Maye cracked his second homer within 24 hours in helping Milwaukee to a 6-1 victory over Philadelphia Saturday.

Wade Blasingame, a 21-year-old southpaw, settled down after a shaky start and posted his first victory in three decisions as the Braves won their third straight and handed the staggering Phils a fourth consecutive defeat before a crowd of 2,486.

Entries must be received by 6 p.m., Saturday, May 8.

Inside Straight

Small Businessman

By RICH ROBERTS

RAUL ROJAS

Raul Rojas is just an ordinary guy, in business for himself, you might say.

He lives on an ordinary San Pedro street in a small, neat stucco apartment and drives a rather ordinary car. Nothing pretentious, no clues to grandeur.

But Raul stops being ordinary when he goes to work. He's a small businessman—127 pounds or less, and his particular line of work involves more than an ordinary amount of occupational hazard. However, his ledger shows no setbacks in 24 transactions, and 17 of those deals were real knockouts.

Friday night he'll bid for a big capital gain at the Coliseum trying to remove the world featherweight boxing crown from the brow of Mexico's Vicente Saldivar.

"It's a business," Raul says with the 23-year-old wisdom of a guy who got his diploma from the school of hard knocks. "There was a little glory in the beginning when, you know, it felt good—I'm a professional and so forth. But now it's strictly business to me.

"One day I'm going to sit back and see what I've got because you can't feed your family on write-ups. This fight will give me a few dollars to invest. I'm just driving a '56 Pontiac now and I plan to keep on driving it."

* * * *

ROJAS WILL receive a $15,000 guarantee, far below Saldivar's champion's share of $40,000 but far above that of most other title challengers. Jose Torres was paid only $10,000 for winning the light heavyweight title from Willie Pastrano recently, and just last week Italy's Salvador Burruni was enriched by $1,800 for taking the flyweight title from Pone Kingpetch.

Raul's incentives become clear when his pretty wife Maria enters cradling daughter Lupe and wearing a well-pressed smock indicating that better things are yet to come.

"She was just 10 months yesterday," Rojas beamed. "I wanted a boy at first, you know, but then I think about the hard work I have to go through and I figure if I have a boy he may want to do that, too. It's too tough. So I have a little girl and maybe another one. We'll have all girls."

Rojas' working day starts at 5 a.m. when he jogs away from 25th and Western in San Pedro on a six-mile route to Marineland.

"I used to be self-conscious doing road work," he says. "But it's monotonous just going around a track. Boxing is my real day's work. Most days are all right, but other days I sit here and relax and wish I didn't have to go to the gym. Then the best part is getting in that shower and coming home to that dinner."

Rojas' big chance was almost ruined a couple of months ago when boxing commission doctors detected a cataract on one eye and refused him a license. But he "went to see other doctors on my own" and, fortified by expert opinions, persuaded the commission to pass him.

* * * *

THE INTERNATIONAL overtones of Friday's match do not escape Rojas, who looks a man right in the eye and meets a difficult situation the same way. The Mexican Nationals from below the border will be rooting in blood for Saldivar to defeat a Mexican-American who is not considered one of their own.

"I can feel this," Raul says. "It seems to happen even out of boxing The Mexican Nationals tell us, 'You're not Mexican—you're an outcast. You speak English, you don't speak Spanish.'"

Nor is Rojas immune to the spirit of the crowd, or the emotions of every gladiator since the Roman Circus.

"The last hour before a fight I go into a shell. I just want to be left alone. I'm thinking of my condition, the miles I ran, thinking maybe I should have run a little longer.

"Then they call you out there. The butterflies go away and I feel relaxed. No more waiting. No more hard work. Then the announcements and the introductions and it starts getting to me again, sitting in the corner, but then you get in the middle and the bell rings and this is it.

"I've been hit hard but I've always taken care of myself. This is where condition has a lot to do with it. When you catch a good blow it's only momentary with the roar of the crowd and it's gone, but I'm thinking, ooh, man, I'm going to tear this guy's head off.

"Then when the other guy's hurt you sense it and the crowd senses it and that's when everybody stands up . . ."

And if the count reaches 10, Raul Rojas is featherweight king of the world.

Battle Ascot Jinx

Two hard-luck drivers, Frank Thompson and Nick Thomas, will try to break a long standing jinx and win tonight's figure-8 stock car race at Ascot Park.

Both drivers have won several trophy dashes, heat races and semi-mains, but thus far have not been able to do any better than second in the main go.

* * * *

MORE THAN 125 cars and drivers will participate in "Car Day" at Ascot today. The program, which opens with time trials at noon followed by the first event at 2, featured super modifieds, stock cars and jalopies.

AGAJANIAN PLANS TRIP FOR INDY 500

The Agajanian Fan Club again is sponsoring a flying trip to see the Indianapolis 500-miler on Monday, May 31.

A JC-8 fan jet will leave International Airport in Los Angeles at 12:30 a.m. the morning of the race. The best $30 penthouse tickets are a part of the package. The party returns home Monday evening.

The entire tab is $219, plane ticket, penthouse seat, bus transportation, meal, etc. Further information may be obtained by calling FA, 1-5323, or writing Box 98, Gardena.

Quick Start Gives McEwen Match Race

Quick reactions from the starting gate saved Saturday's night feature match race for Tom McEwen of Long Beach at Lions Drag Strip as he turned a 7.83 elapsed time. Opponent Don Prudhomme of Van Nuys racked up a strip record 7.56 seconds, only to lose.

Top Fuel Eliminator: Danny Ongais, 203.16 mph in 7.83 et.
Top Gas Eliminator: Goob Tuller, 178.21 mph in 8.30 et.
Low ET: Don Prudhomme, 7.56, a strip record.
Attendance: 6,733.

Bakersfield Keeps Metro Track Crown

Vikings Finish 2nd as Thurman, Hale Upset in Weights

By GARY RAUSCH

Bakersfield College proved quite conclusively that winning an event is not as important as overall team depth Saturday night in running away with the 1965 Metropolitan Conference track and field championship.

The Renegades scored 119 points in retaining their title. Second was Long Beach City College (89) and then East L.A. (80), host Valley and El Camino (72), Cerritos (70) and Santa Monica (4).

Bob Covey's crew relied on its second-through-sixth place finishes to pile up the points.

The Vikings were also quite content to let someone else get the victory — they didn't win anything. But a few of Joe Lanning's gladiators didn't seem to care much about being a runnerup or third-place finisher either and LBCC's potential was never realized.

* * * *

BAKERSFIELD didn't have the lead throughout the meet. In fact, it took eight events before the Gades' pulled ahead and then they did it in rapid-fire fashion.

With 22 points in the pole vault, 14 in the 100 and 10 in the high hurdles, BC pulled ahead of the Vikes by 30 points.

Outstanding for the Vikes were long jumpers Gary Murchison (22-¼) and Charles Young (21-10¾), miler Roger Fassett (4:24.5), quartermiler Sam Pinterpe (49.6) halfmilers Jim Hamlin (1:55.4) and Mike Post (1:55.7) and two-miler Gary Clement (9:45.5).

Trojans Manhandle UCLA

By JOHN DIXON

USC's track team is not the best in the country, but it may be by June 17.

The Trojans manhandled a good UCLA team, 83-62, Saturday in the Coliseum, and the University Ave. gang showed a glimmer of Cromwell-era class in doing it.

The Troys won 11 of the 17 events, established four meet records and equalled another and produced a national collegiate record. And the team is just out of sickbay.

A bit more improvement and they'll be right there with New Mexico, Stanford and San Jose in the NCAA championships at Berkeley June 17-19. Coach Vern Wolfe, smiling like a guy who bet his mortgage on Lucky Debonair, says that improvement is happening.

Mahoney Samuels, a 24-year-old junior from Jamaica, was the big guy in the big win.

He won the triple jump at 52-5, which bettered the meet record by six feet, school record by seven inches and the collegiate record by one inch.

A 51-1¼ jumper last year, with a peak of 50-11½ this semester, Samuels blazed down the runway with a series of 48-10, 49-9, 51-3¾, 52-4 and 52-5 Saturday. His last leap was a foul.

"Mahoney is just now getting his touch," Wolfe pointed out. "He's had operations for hernia and calcium deposits, and now he's stronger. He'll go farther—much farther—this year."

Gary Carlsen, a 6-3, 230-pound sophomore, ranks close to Samuels on Wolfe's improvement list.

The over-developed 19-year-old stepped into the discus ring, twisted himself into a Bluejackets Manual knot, groaned like a wrestler and let the pie plate fly—190 feet, 8½ inches.

Other record setters were Trojans Bill Fosdick in the pole vault, 15-6½; 440 relay, 41.9, and Dennis Carr, tie in the 880, 1:50.2. UCLA got its weekly mile record from Bob Day, 4:02.2.

The 880, a six-man scramble with 200 yards to the tape, a three-man thriller with inches left, was as exciting as a Waikiki sunset.

They ran together through the first lap, just an elbow apart. At the halfway point Dennis Breckow of UCLA was the pacesetter in 55.0, a heartbeat in front of Trojan Bruce Bess and Bruin Arnd Kruger.

* * * *

THEY rounded the far curve, entered the straightaway, and only Trojan Carr could make those exhausted legs move faster. Inch by inch he closed, but there was no room on the inside, no room between the battling Bruins.

With 20 yards to victory, Carr accelerated to the outside, caught the leaders, pulled inches, a foot, two feet in front, and there was the tape at last.

Carr's time was 1:50.2, Breckow was second and Kruger third in 1:50.3, Bess fourth in 1:50.5 and Trojan Tom Oakley next in 1:51.0.

While the Trojans ran their varsity record over UCLA to 33-0, UCLA won the frosh meet for the fifth time in succession, 82-61. Bruin Norm Jackson equaled two records by winning the sprints in 9.7 and 20.8.

Soviet Hoop Squad Stops Yank Stars

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Soviet Union national basketball team worked its fast break to perfection and held UCLA all-America Gail Goodrich to five points Saturday and the result was a stunning 82-69 victory over a U.S. national squad.

Yak Lipso led the Russians to their second victory in five World League contests with 25 points. It was his offensive handiwork that brought the Soviets from a 25-15 deficit midway through the first half and carried them to the win.

The U.S. team, which trailed 44-33 at the half, was led by the nation's scoring leader, Rick Barry of Miami (Fla.) who tallied 16 points, Michigan's Bill Buntin with 13 and Dave Stallworth with 12. Modest Paulauscas chipped in 17 for the Russians and Nokolay Sushak added 15.

Gonzales Rips Ken Rosewall

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pancho Gonzales stunned a near-capacity gathering of 3,500 Saturday night by blasting top-seeded Ken Rosewall of Australia off the court, 6-4, 6-2, to gain the finals of the national indoor professional tennis championships.

Southpaw Rod Laver, also of Australia, earned the right to meet Gonzales in the title round tonight when he put aside Andres Gimeno of Spain in a tough match that lasted almost two hours, 10-8, 11-9.

Richardson, Richey in Tennis Finals

DALLAS (UPI) — Ham Richardson repeated his upset of top-ranked U.S. tennis player Dennis Ralston of last week with another one Saturday and joined teen-aged Cliff Richey in the finals of the Dallas Country Club tennis tournament.

Richardson beat Ralston, 7-5, 6-3, and Richey avenged last week's loss to Ramanathan Krishnan, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Russell Runs 9.5

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Former Long Beach City College sprinter Tim Russell ran a 9.5 100 for third and a 21.1 220 for fourth Saturday night as Brigham Young University finished second to New Mexico in a triangular meet.

Good Marks in 49er TC Meet; Dobroth Leaps 7

Jay Silvester, John Dobroth and Ron Larrieu recorded outstanding marks Saturday in a 49er Track Club invitational meet at Long Beach State College.

In a meet featuring the Los Angeles Striders, AAU club champions, Silvester hurled the discus 202-11; Dobroth cleared 7 feet in the high jump and Larrieu jogged 8:43.4 in the two-mile. Each was a seasonal best.

Jim Richardson (47.9) in the 440, Dave Malady (4:12.4) in the mile and Darryl Taylor (1:52.6) in the 880 established 49er TC records. Richardson won the quarter, while Malady and Taylor finished second in their specialties.

RACE OF THE DAY, FINISH OF YEAR

When USC and UCLA met in Colliseum Saturday 880-yard run was called race of the day, and finish was so close it may be called race of the year. Dennis Carr (left) of USC nipped UCLA'S Arnd Kruger and Dennis Breckow by inches in finish so close it was almost triple deadheat.

49ers, Fresno Share CCAA Track Crown

FRESNO (Special) — Teamwork and the final leap in the triple jump, the final event, earned Long Beach State College a tie with Fresno State in the CCAA track and field championships Saturday.

The 49ers and Bulldogs finished with 55 points. Premeet favorite San Diego deadlocked with Los Angeles State at 50 points, while Cal Poly (SLO) had 28 and Valley State, 16.

"It was truly a team effort," smiled 49er coach Jack Rose. "Our runners established a new high of six individual winners, and to the 22 men competing, 14 touk home 23 awards."

But it was Ranier Stenius, a Finnish exchange student at L.A. State, who enabled the 49ers to share the accolade, Stenius leaped 47-9¼ in the triple jump on his effort to edge NCAA champ Charlie Craig of Fresno (47-7¾) for first place.

Long Beach countered Freseno depth and field event strength with six all-time bests by 49ers athletes and a swept of blue ribbons in every flat race from 440 yards to two miles.

The 49ers corralled two of the seven CCAA records. Ralph Lee won the 880 in 1:52.0 and the mile in 4:09.5, a conference record by two seconds.

The other LBSC conference standard went to Mit Hunt in the two-mile with a 9:05.4 clocking. Hunt won by one-half lap.

Darel Newman and Sam Workman shattered the sprint records. Newman blazed 9.3 in the 100 and Workman ran 20.9 in the 220.

Other meet marks toppled were the long jump by Stenius (25.6), the 330 hurdles by Larry Godfrey of San Diego (36.7) and the javelin, a 25-year-old mark, by Ben Laville of Cal Poly (231-2½).

Ray Christensen's winning heave of 55-6¼ in the shotput was the most surprising 49er effort. The performance was a school record.

SEBRING CHAMPS FAVORED AT RIVERSIDE TODAY

Texans Shatter Road Race Records

By BRUCE YOUNG

RIVERSIDE — The eyes of Texas are shining brightly at International Raceway here as today two Texas cowboys will try to capture top honors in the U.S. Road Racing Championships.

The two cowpokes, Hal Sharp and Jimmy Hall, ran roughshod over this 2.6 mile course Saturday in the qualifying runs. Both set track records to grab the No. 1 and No. 2 pole positions for today's race.

The first race will be at noon for grand touring cars (manufacturers). This 125-mile (48 laps) race will be followed by the 182-mile (70 laps) race for sports cars at 2:15 p.m. The two events carry a combined purse of $14,500.

Sharp and Hall are odds-on favorites in the sports car run as both are considered the hottest drivers in racing at the present time. This same pair from Midland, Tex., recently won the 12-hour race at Sebring, Fla.

They split up for today's race and the results should be staggering. Hall started the record march early in Saturday's qualifying by driving his Chevy-powered Chaparral, boasting a unique automatic transmission, to a record 106.122 miles per hour in 1:28.2. This shattered the previous mark of 106.81 mph and 1:29.3 held by Dan Gurney in 1964.

The mark stood about five minutes and then Sharp took the track and quickly sped to a record 106.36 mph and 1:28.0 to steal the pole position from Hall.

It looks like it will be up to this pair and veteran Walt Hansgen who turned in a 1:29.0 to fight it out.

Last year's winner Skip Hudson spun out and hit a wall early in the day when his throttle stuck. The defending champ does not know if he will be ready for today's go.

In the GT class there was also a mark set. Ed Leslie toured the circuit at 96.99 mph in 1:36.5 to gain the pole spot in the first event.

Surprising Scooter Patrick turned in a fine 1:38.0 to gain the second spot while defending champ Ken Miles, who held the old record of 95.12 mph, will be in the third position.

The qualifying resulted in three other non-injury accidents.

The drivers were Ron Bennet, Lynwood, Ronnie Gravel, Pacific Grove, and Doug Hooper, Studio City.

Officials said Bennet and Gravel will be able to drive their cars today and Hooper will go in a backup Stingray.

Inside Straight

Small Businessman

By RICH ROBERTS

RAUL ROJAS

Raul Rojas is just an ordinary guy, in business for himself, you might say.

He lives on an ordinary San Pedro street in a small, neat stucco apartment and drives a rather ordinary car. Nothing pretentious, no clues to grandeur.

But Raul stops being ordinary when he goes to work. He's a small businessman—127 pounds or less, and his particular line of work invnlves more than an ordinary amount of occupational hazard. However, his ledger shows no setbacks in 24 transactions, and 17 of those deals were real knockouts.

Friday night he'll bid for a big capital gain at the Coliseum trying to remove the world featherweight boxing crown from the brow of Mexico's Vicente Saldivar.

"It's a business," Raul says with the 23-year-old wisdom of a guy who got his diploma from the school of hard knocks. "There was a little glory in the beginning when, you know, it felt good—I'm a professional and so forth. But now it's strictly business to me.

"One day I'm going to sit back and see what I've got because you can't feed your family on write-ups. This fight will give me a few dollars to invest. I'm just driving a '56 Pontiac now and I plan to keep on driving it."

* * * *

ROJAS WILL receive a $15,000 guarantee, far below Saldivar's champion's share of $40,000 but far above that of most other title challengers. Jose Torres was paid only $10,000 for winning the light heavyweight title from Willie Pastrano recently, and just last week Italy's Salvador Burruni was enriched by $1,800 for taking the flyweight title from Pone Kingpetch.

Raul's incentives become clear when his pretty wife Maria enters cradling daughter Lupe and wearing a well-pressed smock indicating that better things are yet to come.

"She was just 10 months yesterday," Rojas beamed. "I wanted a boy at first, you know, but then I think about the hard work I have to go through and I figure if I have a boy he may want to do that, too. It's too tough. So I have a little girl and maybe another one. We'll have all girls."

Rojas' working day starts at 5 a.m. when he jogs away from 25th and Western in San Pedro on a six-mile route to Marineland.

"I used to be self-conscious doing road work," he says. "But it's monotonous just going around a track. Boxing is my real day's work. Most days are all right, but other days I sit here and relax and wish I didn't have to go to the gym. Then the best part is getting in that shower and coming home to that dinner."

Rojas' big chance was almost ruined a couple of months ago when boxing commission doctors detected a cataract on one eye and refused him a license. But he "went to see other doctors on my own" and, fortified by expert opinions, persuaded the commission to pass him.

* * * *

THE INTERNATIONAL overtones of Friday's match do not escape Rojas, who looks a man right in the eye and meets a difficult situation the same way. The Mexican Nationals from below the border will be rooting in blood for Saldivar to defeat a Mexican-American who is not considered one of their own.

"I can feel this," Raul says. "It seems to happen even out of boxing. The Mexican Nationals tell us, 'You're not Mexican—you're an outcast. You speak English, you don't speak Spanish.'

Nor is Rojas immune to the spirit of the crowd, or the emotions of every gladiator since the Roman Circus.

"The last hour before a fight I go into a shell. I just want to be left alone. I'm thinking of my condition, the miles I ran, thinking maybe I should have run a little longer.

"Then they call you out there. The butterflies go away and I feel relaxed. No more waiting. No more hard work. Then the announcements and the introductions and it starts getting to me again, sitting in the corner, but then you get in the middle and the bell rings and this is it.

"I've been hit hard but I've always taken care of myself. This is where condition has a lot to do with it. When you catch a good blow it's only momentary with the roar of the crowd and it's gone, but I'm thinking, ooh, man, I'm going to tear this guy's head off.

"Then when the other guy's hurt you sense it and the crowd senses it and that's when everybody stands up . . ."

And if the count reaches 10, Raul Rojas is featherweight king of the world.

Bakersfield Keeps Metro Track Crown

Vikings Finish 2nd as Thurman, Hale Upset in Weights

By GARY RAUSCH

Bakersfield College proved quite conclusively that winning an event is not as important as overall team depth Saturday night in running away with the 1965 Metropolitan Conference track and field championship.

The Renegades scored 119 points in retaining their title. Second was Long Beach City College (89) and then East L.A. (80), host Valley and El Camino (72), Cerritos (70) and Santa Monica (4).

Bob Covey's crew relied on its second-through-sixth place finishes to pile up the points.

The Vikings were also quite content to let someone else get the victory — they didn't win anything. But a few of Joe Lanning's gladiators didn't seem to care much about being a runnerup or third-place finisher either and LBCC's potential was never realized.

* * * *

BAKERSFIELD didn't have the lead throughout the meet. In fact, it took eight events before the Gades' pulled ahead and then they did it in rapid-fire fashion.

With 22 points in the pole vault, 14 in the 100 and 10 in the high hurdles, BC pulled ahead of the Vikes by 30 points,

Outstanding for the Vikes were long jumpers Gary Murchison (22-¼) and Charles Young (21-10¾), miler Roger Fassett (4:24.5), quartermiler Sam Pinterpe (49.6) halfmilers Jim Hamlin (1:55.4) and Mike Post (1:55.7) and two-miler Gary Clement (9:45.5).

100—Olison (B), 9.8, Johnson (EC) 9.9, Ray (Valley) 10.0, Mackey (B) 10.0, Woods (ELA) 10.0, Nordschow (C) 10.0.

Final scores: Bakersfield 119, Long Beach 89, East L.A. 80, Valley 72, El Camino 72, Cerritos 60, Santa Monica 4.

Trojans Manhandle UCLA

By JOHN DIXON

USC's track team is not the best in the country, but it may be by June 17.

The Trojans manhandled a good UCLA team, 83-62, Saturday in the Coliseum, and the University Ave. gang showed a glimmer of Cromwell-era class in doing it.

The Troys won 11 of the 17 events, established four meet records and equalled another and produced a national collegiate record. And the team is just out of sickbay.

A bit more improvement and they'll be right there with New Mexico, Stanford and San Jose in the NCAA championships at Berkeley June 17-19. Coach Vern Wolfe, smiling like a guy who bet his mortgage on Lucky Debonair, says that improvement is happening.

Mahoney Samuels, a 24-year-old junior from Jamaica, was the big guy in the big win.

He won the triple jump at 52-5, which bettered the meet record by six feet, school record by seven inches and the collegiate record by one inch.

A 51-11¼ jumper last year, with a peak of 50-11½ this semester, Samuels blazed down the runway with a series of 48-10, 49-9, 51-3¾, 52-4 and 52-5 Saturday. His last leap was a foul.

"Mahoney is just now getting his touch," Wolfe pointed out. "He's had operations for hernia and calcium deposits, and now he's stronger. He'll go farther—much farther—this year."

Gary Carlsen, a 6-3, 230-pound sophomore, ranks close to Samuels on Wolfe's improvement list.

The over-developed 19-year-old stepped into the discus ring, twisted himself into a Bluejackets Manual knot, groaned like a wrestler and let the pie plate fly—190 feet, 8½ inches.

Other record setters were Trojans Bill Fosdick in the pole vault, 15-6½; 440 relay, 41.9, and Dennis Carr, tie in the 880, 1:50.2. UCLA got its weekly mile record from Bob Day, 4:02.2.

The 880, a six-man scramble with 200 yards to the tape, a three-man thriller with inches left, was as exciting as a Waikiki sunset.

They ran together through the first lap, just an elbow apart. At the halfway point Dennis Breckow of UCLA was the pacesetter in 55.0, a heartbeat in front of Trojan Bruce Bess and Bruin Arnd Kruger.

* * * *

THEY rounded the far curve, entered the straightaway, and only Trojan Carr could make those exhausted legs move faster. Inch by inch he closed, but there was no room on the inside, no room between the battling Bruins.

With 20 yards to victory, Carr accelerated to the outside, caught the leaders, pulled inches, a foot, two feet in front, and there was the tape at last.

Carr's time was 1:50.2, Breckow was second and Kruger third in 1:50.3, Bess fourth in 1:50.5 and Trojan Tom Oakley next in 1:51.0.

While the Trojans ran their varsity record over UCLA to 83-0, UCLA won the frosh meet for the fifth time in succession, 82-61. Bruin Norm Jackson equaled two records by winning the sprints in 9.7 and 20.8.

100—Dotson (UCLA) 9.8, Clayton (SC) 10.3, Barkley (UCLA) 10.3.

RACE OF THE DAY, FINISH OF YEAR

When USC and UCLA met in Collisum Saturday 880-yard run was called race of the day, and finish was so close it may be called race of the year. Dennis Carr (left) of USC nipped UCLA'S Arnd Kruger and Dennis Breckow by inches in finish so close it was almost triple deadheat.

Soviet Hoop Squad Stops Yank Stars

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Soviet Union national basketball team worked its fast break to perfection and held UCLA all-America Gail Goodrich to five points Saturday and the result was a stunning 82-69 victory over a U.S. national squad.

Yak Lipso led the Russians to their second victory in five World League contests with 25 points. It was his offensive handiwork that brought the Soviets from a 25-15 deficit midway through the first half and carried them to the win.

The U.S. team, which trailed 44-33 at the half, was led by the nation's scoring leader, Rick Barry of Miami (Fla.) who tallied 16 points. Michigan's Bill Buntin with 13 and Dave Stallworth with 12. Modest Paulauscas chipped in 17 for the Russians and Nokolay Sushak added 15.

Gonzales Rips Ken Rosewall

NEW YORK (UPI)– Pancho Gonzales stunned a near-capacity gathering of 3,500 Saturday night by blasting top-seeded Ken Rosewall of Australia off the court, 6-4, 6-2, to gain the finals of the national indoor professional tennis championships.

Southpaw Rod Laver, also of Australia, earned the right to meet Gonzales in the title round tonight when he put aside Andres Gimeno of Spain in a tough match that lasted almost two hours, 10-8, 11-9.

49ers, Fresno Share CCAA Track Crown

FRESNO (Special) — Teamwork and the final leap in the triple jump, the final event, earned Long Beach State College a tie with Fresno State in the CCAA track and field championships Saturday.

The 49ers and Bulldogs finished with 55 points. Premeet favorite San Diego deadlocked with Los Angeles State at 50 points, while Cal Poly (SLO) had 28 and Valley State, 16.

"It was truly a team effort," smiled 49er coach Jack Rose. "Our runners established a new high of six individual winners, and to the 22 men competing, 14 took home 23 awards."

But it was Ranier Stenius, a Finnish exchange student at L.A. State, who enabled the 49ers to share the accolade. Stenius leaped 47-9¼ in the triple jump on his effort to edge NCAA champ Charlie Craig of Fresno (47-7¾) for first place.

Long Beach countered Freseno depth and field event strength with six all-time bests by 49ers athletes and a swept of blue ribbons in every flat race from 440 yards to two miles.

The 49ers corralled two of the seven CCAA records. Ralph Lee won the 880 in 1:52.0 and the mile in 4:09.5, a conference record by two seconds.

The other LBSC conference standard went to Mil Hunt in the two-mile with a 9:05.4 clocking. Hunt won by one-half lap.

Darel Newman and Sam Workman shattered the sprint records. Newman blazed 9.3 in the 100 and Workman ran 20.9 in the 220.

Other meet marks toppled were the long jump by Stenius (25.6), the 330 hurdles by Larry Godfrey of San Diego (36.7) and the javelin, a 25-year-old mark, by Reg Laville of Cal Poly (231-2½).

Ray Christensen's winning heave of 55-6¼ in the shotput was the most surprising 49er effort. The performance was a school record.

Good Marks in 49er TC Meet; Dobroth Leaps 7

Jay Silvester, John Dobroth and Ron Larrieu recorded outstanding marks Saturday in a 49er Track Club invitational meet at Long Beach State College.

In a meet featuring the Los Angeles Striders, AAU club champions, Silvester hurled the discus 202-11; Dobroth cleared 7 feet in the high jump and Larrieu jogged 8:43.4 in the two-mile. Each was a seasonal best.

Jim Richardson (47.9) in the 440, Dave Malady (4:12.4) in the mile and Darryl Taylor (1:52.6) in the 880 established 49er TC records. Richardson won the quarter, while Malady and Taylor finished second in their specialties.

Battle Ascot Jinx

Two hard-luck drivers, Frank Thompson and Nick Thomas, will try to break a long standing jinx and win tonight's figure-8 stock car race at Ascot Park.

Both drivers have won several trophy dashes, heat races and semi-mains, but thus far have not been able to do any better than second in the main go.

* * * *

MORE THAN 125 cars and drivers will participate in "Car Day" at Ascot today. The program, which opens with time trials at noon followed by the first event at 2, featured super modifieds, stock cars and jalopies.

SEBRING CHAMPS FAVORED AT RIVERSIDE TODAY

Texans Shatter Road Race Records

By BRUCE YOUNG

RIVERSIDE — The eyes of Texas are shining brightly at International Raceway here as today two Texas cowboys will try to capture top honors in the U.S. Road Racing Championships.

The two cowpokes, Hal Sharp and Jimmy Hall, ran roughshod over this 2.6 mile course Saturday in the qualifying runs. Both set track records to grab the No. 1 and No. 2 pole positions for today's race.

The first race will be at noon for grand tourng cars (manufacturers). This 125-mile (48 laps) race will be followed by the 182-mile (70 laps) race for sports cars at 2:15 p.m. The two events carry a combined purse of $17,500.

Sharp and Hall are odds-on favorites in the sports car run as both are considered the fastest drivers in racing at the present time. This same pair from Midland, Tex., recently won the 12-hour race at Sebring, Fla.

They split up for today's race and the results should be staggering. Hall started the record march early in Saturday's qualifying by driving his Chevy-powered Chaparral, boasting a unique automatic transmission, to a record 106.122 miles per hour in 1:29.2. This shattered the previous mark of 106.81 mph and 1:29.3 held by Dan Gurney in 1964.

The mark stood about five minutes and then Sharp took the track and quickly sped to a record 106.36 mph and 1:28.0 to steal the pole position from Hall.

It looks like it will be up to this pair and veteran Walt Hansgen who turned in a 1:29.0 to fight it out.

Last year's winner Skip Hudson spun out and hit a wall early in the day when his throttle stuck. The defending champ does not know if he will be ready for today's go.

In the GT class there was also a mark set. Ed Leslie toured the circuit at 96.99 mph in 1:36.5 to gain the pole spot in the first event.

Surprising Scooter Patrick turned in a fine 1:38.0 to gain the second spot while defending champ Ken Miles, who held the old record of 95.12 mph, will be in the third position.

The qualifying resulted in three other non-injury accidents.

The drivers were Ron Bennet, Lynwood, Ronnie Gravel, Pacific Grove, and Doug Hooper, Studio City.

Officials said Bennet and Gravel will be able to drive their cars today and Hooper will go in a backup Stingray.

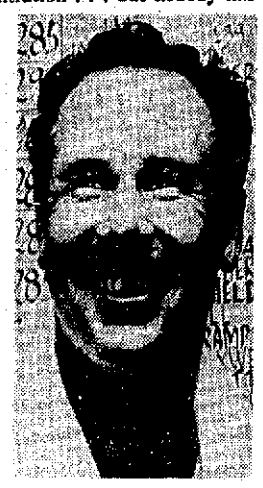

Once Over Lightly

Pro Golf Motto: 'Silence, Please!'

LAS VEGAS—Among the veterans on the pro golf tour, Jack Nicklaus is known as the "big Ben Hogan" because of his intense concentration and his imperturbable manner.

All of the truly great golfers have been blessed with exceptional powers of concentration . . . but nobody has ever been able to equal Hogan's ability to concentrate on his game.

TONY LEMA
'It Hurts in Pocketbook'

Breaking through their concentration is upsetting to the golfers. That's why they often snap at fans in the gallery who make sudden noises or quick movements.

Noise itself, of course, does not break their concentration . . . as long as it is consistent.

As Tony Lema tries to explain it: "The problem is sudden noises or different noises . . . not the noise itself. On the ball field, the players hear a constant buzz in the background where one man's voice seldom penetrates. There are crescendos in sound, but the over-all noise is never removed.

"It's noteworthy, too, that other sports place the player in a fixed position. The fans and athletes are in the same area. But in golf, you and the gallery could be any place . . . and one strange noise at the top of your backswing can cause you to flinch. When that happens, it hurts—right in the pocketbook."

A tour spokesman says, "Sure, golfers could accustom themselves to noise—if it was steady. A lot of the boys get bad raps for growling at fans in the gallery, but 95% of our guys are pretty fine people if you know them. But when they're suddenly bothered by a strange noise, they naturally react like any normal person."

PGA CHAMPION Bobby Nichols says the average fan who claims the professionals are temperamental for demanding quiet should put themselves to the "noise" test. They would be surprised at the results.

"In the Crosby tournament last January," Nichols points out, "Johnny Lujack, the former football star, told me that he had gained a new appreciation for the pro golfer's problems.

"He was in the pro-am and while he was excited about playing, he didn't think he'd be nervous because he had played before crowds of 100,000 fans in football and had been on stage for broadcasts before thousands of fans.

"But he said he never felt so utterly limp as when a big gallery followed his foursome. And when a sudden noise caught him just as he was putting, he said his stomach made a full turn and his game went to pieces. He kept waiting and anticipating similar noises the rest of the round and was completely unnerved at the end."

Complete concentration in golf is necessary because of the constant judgement involved in making the various shots. Outside fears, worries or thoughts must be blotted from their minds during a match . . . or else they're in trouble.

In most other sports, a contestant can let his mind wander from time to time with no serious consequences, but not in golf.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of this is the rather famous story concerning a promising young rookie who appeared on the scene a few years ago.

Fred Corcoran, who handled many top golfers and athletes, took him under his wing. But it quickly was obvious that the fellow had one fault: He would play great golf as long as he was playing in virtual privacy. But whenever he played before a big gallery, his game went to pieces, especially on the grens.

Corcoran finally discovered his problem. It seems he had been unfaithful to his wife, who had caught him at it. And the wife warned him that someday she was going to kill him.

She said he had the makings of a great golfer and the better he got, the bigger the crowds would be that followed him. And, she said, she would know exactly where he was all the time . . . but that he would never be able to spot her in the big crowds.

"One day when you're standing out there all alone concentrating on a putt with thousands of people around the green . . . well, you'll never know where the shot came from," she reportedly told him.

The fellow soon faded from the golfing scene.

In fact, not too long after the brother of one of golf's most famous names, a pro golfer of sorts himself, was shot in the shoulder by a jealous wife after an argument.

The young golfer just couldn't keep his mind on his game as he kept waiting for a bullet to come ripping out of the crowd!

S.D. Sweeps 49ers in Pair

San Diego State handed Long Beach State its second successive doubleheader loss Saturday and knocked the 49ers into fourth place in CCAA standings.

Late inning, two-out bursts gave the Aztecs 5-4 and 2-1 triumphs over LBSC at Blair Field. Last Saturday the 49ers dropped a twin bill to league-leading Valley. The two losses left LBSC with a 5-4 record.

In the first contest Saturday, tht 49ers, with Spence Noteboom at the controls, were breezing with a 4-2 lead with two out in the eighth.

Then, Tom Everett singled, Craig Nettles followed with another base hit and then Tom Whelan smacked a two-strike pitch over the left field wall. The three runs insured San Diego's 5-4 triumph.

Both of San Diego's early runs in the third and seventh were on solo home runs by Rogers Clark and Steve Simon.

Barry Wallace led the 49er offensive with three first-game hits, two doubles, but the 49ers couldn't get to the plate in the early frames and then couldn't get on base against reliefer Don Shaw.

Shaw retired the last 10 LBSC batsmen to face him and picked up the win. Noteboom dropped his second game in 10 decisions despite fanning 10.

* * * *

IN THE day's second tilt, a seven-inning affair, the 49ers were nursing a 1-0 lead in the sixth when the two-out jinx struck again. L.B. pitcher Wayne Harper surrendered a single to Everett, walked Lee Woodard and then went to two strikes on Nettles before the shortstop parked a triple deep in left center field for the deciding tallies.

Long Beach scored its run in the second when John Bessa singled home Roger Cannon with two out. Cannon opened the frame with a single and went to second on a passed ball.

OCC Wins JC Swim; Vikes 6th

Terry Craig's national-record clocking of 55.2 in the 100-backstroke paced Orange Coast College to victory in the all-Southern California Junior College swimming championships at Santa Ana College Saturday.

Mike McEveny, runnerup to Craig, shattered the Long Beach City College record with a 56.6 prelim time and did 56.9 in the finals.

The LBCC 400-freestyle relay team also broke the school mark as the Vikings were sixth in team standings with 28 points. Orange Coast had 108.

St. John Bosco Draws CIF Ban

St. John Bosco of Bellflower has been suspended for one year by the Council of the CIF for athletic recruiting irregularities, it was revealed Saturday.

In the CIF's first suspension since 1931, only the football program is effected by this action.

A panel discussion on recruiting for athletic purposes by parochial schools was held at Excelsior Saturday afternoon. The panel discussed possible districting of Catholic schools for athletic eligibility purposes.

Crowley Opener Windy...50 MPH

BISHOP, Calif.—All boats were ordered off Lake Crowley at 1 p.m. Saturday when winds reached 50 mph.

A spokesman for the L. A. City-operated High Sierra facility said some winds had been forecast for the opening but that the volume of the gusts was much higher than had been anticipated.

Today's forecast is for a calm morning with some wind expected again in the afternoon.

SIKES' SIGHTS A-OK

Dick Sikes ran into trouble on frontside, as shown here blasting out of sand on sixth hole, but he came back to fire record-equalling 30 on back nine to finish with 68 during third-round play of Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas. Sikes is tied for third entering today's final round.

Snead's Need: A Few Less Weeds

By AL LARSON
I. P-T Staff Writer

LAS VEGAS—Rough notes and quotes:

"The rough is so tall I found a dead calf out there," Sam Snead kidded some friends. "I'd like to see Bo (Wininger) cut it down about 6 inches. You'll find that everyone is going to have trouble.

"It's so tall, in fact, that if you had a 30-06 you wouldn't fire it down the middle every time because once in a while you'd flinch."

SNEAD

Attire for the Tournament of Champions Saturday ranged from a gal with a fur hat and mink cape to a scantily dressed blonde in a bikini, that had a following of her own.

One gal found the best way to keep cool was by dangling her feet in the lake surrounding part of the seventh green.

Of course, Doug Sanders had his own gallery, the Thunderbird Twins Joan and Jane Ryba.

A lovely, tall, part-Hawaiian girl with a jet black pony tail was in evidence following Chi Chi Rodriguez. This was none other than Mrs. Rodriguez—Chi Chi's bride of nine weeks.

The cigar-puffing 123-pound clown from Dorado Beach, Puerto Rico, must find it a tasty life. He's ballooned three pounds since his March marriage.

Chi Chi made it known that he likes the hot desert climate and doesn't intend to play the winter tour. "It's too cold and I can't play in cold weather."

"You have a lot of fans here," one writer pointed out.

"That's because I play well here. I don't have any fans in cold places because I don't play well."

* * * *

RODRIGUEZ, one of five shotmakers on hand from foreign lands, lowered his prediction of the winning score from 278 to 276.

When asked why he takes so little time in lining up his putts, Chi Chi replied: "If I'm going to miss, I want to miss 'em fast."

When introduced to Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, Tony Lema said: "I just felt like I went 15 rounds," referring to the grass-like forest of rough and gusty winds.

Golden Bear Jack Nicklaus, who came out of hibernation one day late (he shot 74 on Thursday), was reassured that he'd be up with the leaders at the finish. The defending champ volunteered, "I don't know how close but I'll be better now than on that opening round."

* * * *

SHORT SHOTS:

Sanders—"I'd rather play a course where there's a premium on a shot rather than having to lump off my feet to get great distance on a shot."

Arnold Palmer—"The Desert Inn course keeps getting better with age. I don't mind being out in front, the further, the better."

Snead—"I thought I was going to dig to China when I went into one bunker. It was a regular excavation job, not the usual fried egg variety."

When Pete Brown and Paul Harney withdrew it marked the first time two golfers have ever pulled out in the same year. Each received the guaranteed $1,000. Only four others in the history of the T-C have had to withdraw.

Former light heavyweight champion Billy Conn, who came close to dethroning Joe Louis, is a greeter at the Stardust Hotel.

Appearing in the Ziegfeld show on the Strip is Mamie Van Doren, a certain Phillies' filly in the Follies.

Lawson Captures Virginia CC Stakes

Dick Lawson Jr. shot a 75-9—66 Saturday to capture the class A division of the weekly Virginia Country Club Sweepstakes. Results:

Class A: Low Net — Dick Lawson Jr. 75-9—66, Roy Brown 77-10—67, Larry Voucher 78-11—67, Dr. Vern Brisker 77-10—67, Harold Hoffman 81-14—67, Blind Bogey (70) — Hugh Gibbs, Fred Yeager, Art Pegg, Bill Montgomery, Buford Smith.
Class B: Low Net — John Rogeveen 83-17—66, Jack McGowen 82-15—67, Blind Bogey (72) — Roma Davison, Cliff Menlo, William Newhouser.

TENNIS BRIEFS

Six nations advanced to the second round of European Zone competition in the world-wide Davis Cup tennis tournament Saturday with doubles victories . . . Italy, Spain, Germany, Denmark, Chile and South Africa capured first-round best-of-five series by 3-0 scores . . . Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., defeated Martin Mulligan of Australia 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, in a men's singles semi-final of an international tennis tournament in Reggio Calabria, Italy . . . Elizabeth Starkie, the 26-year-old Wightman Cup player from Yorkshire, won the women's crown in the London hard court championships when she beat Australia's Judy Tegart, 6-3, 6-1 . . . Doug Keia of Australia won the men's title by default when his opponent, Allan Mills, scratched . . . Jill Blackman's of Australia and Janine Lieffrig of France won the women's doubles final at the Paris internionale championships by beating Australian sisters, Carol and Gail Sherrill, 6-4, 6-3.

NICKLAUS--

birdie and 17 pars "most uninteresting," Palmer nevertheless admitted that it could have been quite spectacular had he picked up another birdie or two early in the round.

"If I had done that, I would have played it entirely different — played it much more bolder," he said.

His driving was excellent again as he missed only two fairways. His pitching was sharp, too.

Sikes declared that his iron play was never better on the final nine. He pitched to within three feet of the cup for birdies on the 10th, 12th, 15th and 17th holes; canned a 20-foot putt on No. 13 for another, and a seven-footer on 18.

The big question, of course, as the field heads into today's final round is whether or not the "Big Bear," Nicklaus, can continue his charge.

Nicklaus, who was counted out of the running for his third straight win here after an opening-round 74 that dropped him eight strokes off the pace and who was 10 back at the 36-hole mark, was a picture of confidence following his 67 Saturday, even though still trailing by six.

"I improved by three on the second round and four on the third and if I can cut two more strokes off in the last round, well, I just might make Arnie hustle a bit. But I guess it will take at least a 65 to get back in the running," he said.

* * * *

NICKLAUS' timing was off during the first two rounds after being off the tour for three weeks after his Masters victory. But he began controlling his powerful drives Saturday, and not only was in the middle of the fairway most of the day, but also was putting his irons stiff to the pins.

A crowd of 11,430 galleried the third round, boosting the three-day total to a record high of 26,830.

Canadiens Rip Hawks, 4-0, for Cup

Record 11th Win of Hockey Prize for Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens slammed the Chicago Black Hawks with a four-goal assault in the first period Saturday night and went on the a victory and an unprecedented 11th Stanley Cup, the symbol of world hockey supremacy.

The victory closed out the championship round in which neither of the two teams was able to win away from home, forcing the series to go the seven-game limit.

Montreal wasted no time in its attack with Jean Beliveau, undoubtedly the outstanding player in the series, connecting with the game only 14 seconds old.

At 5:03 of the first period Dick Duff, who along with Bobby Rousseau assisted Beliveau in the first goal, made it 2-0. Beliveau and Rousseau picked up assists on the score and the Canadiens were on their way to the cup championship, breaking a 10-10 tie with Toronto for most Stanley Cups won.

* * * *

CHICAGO picked up only two penalties in the first period but both led to the Hawks' ultimate downfall as Montreal put its deadly power play into action and scored both times.

Pierre Pilote picked up Chicago's first penalty at 16:08 and 19 seconds later rookie Yvon Cournoyer turned in a picture goal when he flashed across the blue line all alone, faked once and slid the puck past goalie Glenn Hall.

Montreal boosted its lead to 4-0 at 18:45 of the period, 45 seconds after Phil Esposito drew a penalty. Ted Harris sent a pass to Henri Richard who back-handed the goal into the nets from about 20 feet.

Rawls, Smith in Peach Blossom Tie at 2-Under

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (UPI) — Betsy Rawls and Marilynn Smith, both former winners here, tied for the lead Saturday with 2-under-par 142s in the second round of the Peach Blossom Invitational golf tournament.

Miss Rawls, the hometown favorite, said, "I just wanted to shoot even par today, but that won't be good enough tomorrow."

The second-round leaders:

COACH'S FUTURE SHAKY

Pike Restless, But Blades Not Talking

By RICH ROBERTS

ALF PIKE

Whatever the Blades intend to do about their last-place finish in the Western Hockey League, they haven't done it yet.

A check this week at least proved that the telephone hadn't been disconnected, so apparently the club is still in business.

However, it's anybody's guess whether the silence can be interpreted as a cloak of secrecy or just plain lack of interest.

As far as Alf Pike knows, he's still coach—his contract runs until September, or right up to the brink of next fall's training camp at Saskatoon. But he has no intention of hanging in limbo that long.

"Everybody's on the quiet," he muses. "Nobody seems to want to talk. I've just been staying more or less at home. Been doing a little bit of golfing and not too much of that."

One can sense Pike's uneasiness as he goes through the motions of dealing in players—"We need at least two defensemen, maybe three, and maybe we'll have to buy a goalkeeper" — and he draws little relief from the Blades' curious arrangement of co-owners.

The non-policy owner, Dan Reeves, rarely leaves town but directs all his energies toward his first love, the Rams. The ruling partner, James Piggott, is usually a couple of thousand miles away in Saskatoon.

And general manager Jack Geyer, left to answer the phone, can only shrug, "I haven't heard a thing from anybody."

Geyer did reveal, though, that Piggott was in town this month but hardly produced a wealth of information.

"He and Reeves had a meeting," Geyer said, "the outcome of which I know nothing about. I imagine they discussed the future of the Blades."

The fact of Geyer, the club's No. 2 man (or is it No. 3 when there are two co-owners?), being excluded from top-level talks leaves his own ground a bit insecure.

Pike said Piggott gave him a brief "hello" and added, "I haven't got anything to say at the moment until I go over the books a little bit further and do some more thinking about it."

Before cutting Pike adrift, Piggott and Reeves first would like to be sure they could get somebody else who could do the job better.

Climax to this slow-moving drama is expected at the league meeting in Seattle a week from Monday.

"By that time we'd have to have something to give out," Pike said. "Actually, we don't have to agree one way or another before June (before the National League meeting). Then I either have to tell him I don't want to coach or he has to tell me.

"I figure he'll tell me on May 9. If he doesn't tell me, then we'll know that I won't be here. I'm going to decide then. If he doesn't let me know by that time I'm going to do something else. What I can't tell you . . . 'cause I don't know."

* * * *

BLUE LINES: Geyer only assumes that the NHL's proposed expansion will be discussed at the WHL meeting May 10-11, but added, "The first thing they always ask is who's going to operate next year?" . . . Defenseman Harley Hodgson had his brick shoulder fixed by surgery last week so it would stop dislocating . . . Left wing Brian Smith stayed on in L.A. and is working as a plasterer . . . Pike's plans for next season, if he is in position to make any, don't necessarily include Jack McCartan as goalie. He hopes to get Jack Norris back from Boston, at least on a lend-lease basis . . . Pike is going through with his hockey school at Squaw Valley in July despite (1) the withdrawal of San Francisco coach Bud Poile by request of Seal owner Mel Swig and (2) his precarious position with the Blades . . . By the way, Pike's comment on separate rumors printed by a Hockey News writer that he and Howie Young would be going to the Seals: "Where the hell does that guy get those things?" . . . It would be some surprise if Pike ever allows himself to be on the same club with "Mr. Young" again.

BOSTON HOPES REST WILL CURE LOSSES

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Recalling six losses in six months is a difficult pill for Ralph Boston, America's 1960 Olympic gold medal long jumper, to swallow. He has another medicine in mind.

"I need a long rest, and my knees need to heal."

In the last 18 months, Boston estimates he has suspended his rigorous training schedule less than six weeks. Now, he plans to rest most of 1966.

* * * *

BOSTON'S LEAP of 27-4¼ is pending as a world record. The current mark is 27-3¼ by Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan.

But starting with the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, things have been discouraging for the 25-year-old Tennessee A&I University star. He lost in Tokyo to Britain's Lynn Davis and lost again to Davis early this month. He also has lost recently to Gayle Hopkins of Arizona and to Ter-Ovanesyan.

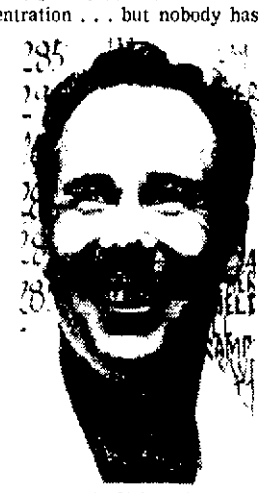

Once Over Lightly

Pro Golf Motto: 'Silence, Please!'

LAS VEGAS—Among the veterans on the pro golf tour, Jack Nicklaus is known as the "big Ben Hogan" because of his intense concentration and his imperturbable manner.

All of the truly great golfers have been blessed with exceptional powers of concentration . . . but nobody has ever been able to equal Hogan's ability to concentrate on his game.

TONY LEMA
'It Hurts in Pocketbook'

Breaking through their concentration is upsetting to the golfers. That's why they often snap at fans in the gallery who make sudden noises or quick movements.

Noise itself, of course, does not break their concentration . . . as long as it is consistent.

As Tony Lema tries to explain it: "The problem is sudden noises or different noises . . . not the noise itself. On the ball field, the players hear a constant buzz in the background where one man's voice seldom penetrates. There are crescendos in sound, but the over-all noise is never removed.

"It's noteworthy, too, that other sports place the player in a fixed position. The fans and athletes are in the same area. But in golf, you and the gallery could be any place . . . and one strange noise at the top of your backswing can cause you to flinch. When that happens, it hurts—right in the pocketbook."

A tour spokesman says, "Sure, golfers could accustom themselves to noise—if it was steady. A lot of the boys get bad raps for growling at fans in the gallery, but 95% of our guys are pretty fine people if you knew them. But when they're suddenly bothered by a strange noise, they naturally react like any normal person."

PGA CHAMPION Bobby Nichols says the average fan who claims the professionals are temperamental for demanding quiet should put themselves to the "noise" test. They would be surprised at the results.

"In the Crosby tournament last January," Nichols points out, "Johnny Lujack, the former football star, told me that he had gained a new appreciation for the pro golfer's problems.

"He was in the pro-am and while he was excited about playing, he didn't think he'd be nervous because he had played before crowds of 100,000 fans in football and had been on stage for broadcasts before thousands of fans.

"But he said he never felt so utterly limp as when a big gallery followed his foursome. And when a sudden noise caught him just as he was putting, he said his stomach made a full turn and his game went to pieces. He kept waiting and anticipating similar noises the rest of the round and was completely unnerved at the end."

Complete concentration in golf is necessary because of the constant judgement involved in making the various shots. Outside fears, worries or thoughts must be blotted from their minds during a match . . . or else they're in trouble.

In most other sports, a contestant can let his mind wander from time to time with no serious consequences, but not in golf.

A GOOD EXAMPLE of this is the rather famous story concerning a promising young rookie who appeared on the scene a few years ago.

Fred Corcoran, who handled many top golfers and athletes, took him under his wing. But it quickly was obvious that the fellow had one fault: He would play great golf as long as he was playing in virtual privacy. But whenever he played before a big gallery, his game went to pieces, especially on the grens.

Corcoran finally discovered his problem. It seems he had been unfaithful to his wife, who had caught him at it. And the wife warned him that someday she was going to kill him.

She said he had the makings of a great golfer and the better he got, the bigger the crowds would be that followed him. And, she said, she would know exactly where he was all the time . . . but that he would never be able to spot her in the big crowds.

"One day when you're standing out there all alone concentrating on a putt with thousands of people around the green . . . well, you'll never know where the shot came from," she reportedly told him.

The fellow soon faded from the golfing scene.

In fact, not too long after the brother of one of golf's most famous names, a pro golfer of sorts himself, was shot in the shoulder by a jealous wife after an argument.

The young golfer just couldn't keep his mind on his game as he kept waiting for a bullet to come ripping out of the crowd!

S.D. Sweeps 49ers in Pair

San Diego State handed Long Beach State its second successive doubleheader loss Saturday and knocked the 49ers into fourth place in CCAA standings.

Late inning, two-out bursts gave the Aztecs 5-4 and 2-1 triumphs over LBSC at Blair Field. Last Saturday the 49ers dropped a twin bill to league-leading Valley. The two losses left LBSC with a 5-4 record.

In the first contest Saturday, tht 49ers, with Spence Noteboom at the controls, were breezing with a 4-2 lead with two out in the eighth.

Then, Tom Everett singled, Craig Nettles followed with another base hit and then Tom Whelan smacked a two-strike pitch over the left field wall. The three runs insured San Diego's 5-4 triumph.

Both of San Diego's early runs in the third and seventh were on solo home runs by Rogers Clark and Steve Simon.

Barry Wallace led the 49er offensive with three first-game hits, two doubles, but the 49ers couldn't get to the plate in the early frames and then couldn't get on base against reliefer Don Shaw.

Shaw retired the last 10 LBSC batsmen to face him and picked up the win. Noteboom dropped his second game in 10 decisions despite fanning 10.

* * * *

IN THE day's second tilt, a seven-inning affair, the 49ers were nursing a 1-0 lead in the sixth when the two-out jinx struck again. L.B. pitcher Wayne Harper surrendered a single to Everett, walked Lee Woodard and then went to two strikes on Nettles before the shortstop parked a triple deep in left center field for the deciding tallies.

Long Beach scored its run in the second when John Bessa singled home Roger Cannon with two out. Cannon opened the frame with a single and went to second on a passed ball.

OCC Wins JC Swim; Vikes 6th

Terry Craig's national-record clocking of 55.2 in the 100-backstroke paced Orange Coast College to victory in the all-Southern California Junior College swimming championships at Santa Ana College Saturday.

Mike McEveny, runnerup to Craig, shattered the Long Beach City College record with a 56.6 prelim time and did 56.9 in the finals.

The LBCC 400-freestyle relay team also broke the school mark as the Vikings were sixth in team standings with 28 points. Orange Coast had 108.

St. John Bosco Draws CIF Ban

St. John Bosco of Bellflower has been suspended for one year by the Council of the CIF for athletic recruiting irregularities, it was revealed Saturday.

In the CIF's first suspension since 1931, only the football program is effected by this action.

A panel discussion on recruiting for athletic purposes by parochial schools was held at Excelsior Saturday afternoon. The panel discussed possible districting of Catholic schools for athletic eligibility purposes.

Crowley Opener Windy...50 MPH

BISHOP, Calif.—All boats were ordered off Lake Crowley at 1 p.m. Saturday when winds reached 50 mph.

A spokesman for the L.A. City-operated High Sierra facility said some winds had been forecast for the opening but that the volume of the gusts was much higher than had been anticipated.

Today's forecast is for a calm morning with some wind expected again in the afternoon.

SIKES' SIGHTS A-OK

Dick Sikes ran into trouble on frontside, as shown here blasting out of sand on sixth hole, but he came back to fire record-equalling 30 on back nine to finish with 68 during third-round play of Tournament of Champions in Las Vegas. Sikes is tied for third entering today's final round.

Snead's Need: A Few Less Weeds

By AL LARSON
I. P-T Staff Writer

LAS VEGAS—Rough notes and quotes:

"The rough is so tall I found a dead calf out there," Sam Snead kidded some friends. "I'd like to see Bo (Wininger) cut it down about 6 inches. You'll find that everyone is going to have trouble.

"It's so tall, in fact, that if you had a 30-06 you wouldn't fire it down the middle every time because once in a while you'd flinch."

SNEAD

Attire for the Tournament of Champions Saturday ranged from a gal with a fur hat and mink cape to a scantily dressed blonde in a bikini, that had a following of her own.

One gal found the best way to keep cool was by dangling her feet in the lake surrounding part of the seventh green.

Of course, Doug Sanders had his own gallery, the Thunderbird Twins Joan and Jane Ryba.

A lovely, tall, part-Hawaiian girl with a jet black pony tail was in evidence following Chi Chi Rodriguez. This was none other than Mrs. Rodriguez—Chi Chi's bride of nine weeks.

The cigar-puffing 123-pound clown from Dorado Beach, Puerto Rico, must find it a tasty life. He's ballooned three pounds since his March marriage.

Chi Chi made it known that he likes the hot desert climate and doesn't intend to play the winter tour. "It's too cold and I can't play in cold weather."

"You have a lot of fans here," one writer pointed out.

"That's because I play well here. I don't have any fans in cold places because I don't play well."

* * * *

RODRIGUEZ, one of five shotmakers on hand from foreign lands, lowered his prediction of the winning score from 278 to 276.

When asked why he takes so little time in lining up his putts, Chi Chi replied: "If I'm going to miss, I want to miss 'em fast."

When introduced to Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, Tony Lema said: "I just felt like I went 15 rounds," referring to the grass-like forest of rough and gusty winds.

Golden Bear Jack Nicklaus, who came out of hibernation one day late (he shot 74 on Thursday), was reassured that he'd be up with the leaders at the finish. The defending champ volunteered, "I don't know how close but I'll be better now than on that opening round."

* * * *

SHORT SHOTS:

Sanders—"I'd rather play a course where there's a premium on a shot rather than having to lump off my feet to get great distance on a shot."

Arnold Palmer—"The Desert Inn course keeps getting better with age. I don't mind being out in front, the further, the better."

Snead—"I thought I was going to die in China when I went into one bunker. It was a regular excavation job, not the usual fried egg variety."

When Pete Brown and Paul Harney withdrew it marked the first time two golfers have ever pulled out in the same year. Each received the guaranteed $1,000. Only four others in the history of the LC have had to withdraw.

Former light heavyweight champion Billy Conn, who came close to dethroning Joe Louis, is a greeter at the Stardust Hotel.

Appearing in the Ziegfeld show on the Strip is Mamie Van Doren, a certain Phillies' filly in the Follies.

Canadiens Rip Hawks, 4-0, for Cup

Record 11th Win of Hockey Prize for Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens slammed the Chicago Black Hawks with a four-goal assault in the first period Saturday night and went on the a victory and an unprecedented 11th Stanley Cup, the symbol of world hockey supremacy.

The victory closed out the championship round in which neither of the two teams was able to win away from home, forcing the series to go the seven-game limit.

Montreal wasted no time in its attack with Jean Beliveau, undoubtedly the outstanding player in the series, connecting with the game only 14 seconds old.

At 5:03 of the first period Dick Duff, who along with Bobby Rousseau assisted Beliveau in the first goal, made it 2-0. Beliveau and Rousseau picked up assists on the score and the Canadiens were on their way to the cup championship, breaking a 10-10 tie with Toronto for most Stanley Cups won.

* * * *

CHICAGO picked up only two penalties in the first period but both led to the Hawks' ultimate downfall as Montreal put its deadly power play into action and scored both times.

Pierre Pilote picked up Chicago's first penalty at 16:08 and 19 seconds later rookie Yvon Cournoyer turned in a picture goal when he flashed across the blue line all alone, faked once and slid the puck past goalie Glenn Hall.

Montreal boosted its lead to 4-0 at 18:45 of the period, 45 seconds after Phil Esposito drew a penalty. Ted Harris sent a pass to Henri Richard who back-handed the goal into the nets from about 20 feet.

birdie and 17 pars "most uninteresting," Palmer nevertheless admitted that it could have been quite spectacular had he picked up another birdie or two early in the round.

"If I had done that, I would have played it entirely different — played it much more bolder," he said.

His driving was excellent again as he missed only two fairways. His pitching was sharp, too.

Sikes declared that his iron play was never better on the final nine. He pitched to within three feet of the cup for birdies on the 10th, 12th, 15th and 17th holes; canned a 20-foot putt on No. 13 for another, and a seven-footer on 18.

The big question, of course, as the field heads into today's final round is whether or not the "Big Bear," Nicklaus, can continue his charge.

Nicklaus, who was counted out of the running for his third straight win here after an opening-round 74 that dropped him eight strokes off the pace and who was 10 back at the 36-hole mark, was a picture of confidence following his 67 Saturday, even though still trailing by six.

"I improved by three on the second round and four on the third and if I can cut two more strokes off in the last round, well, I just might make Arnie hustle a bit. But I guess it will take at least a 65 to get back in the running," he said.

* * * *

NICKLAUS' timing was off during the first two rounds after being off the tour for three weeks after his Masters victory. But he began controlling his powerful drives Saturday, and not only was in the middle of the fairway most of the day, but also was putting his irons stiff to the pins.

A crowd of 11,430 gallered the third round, boosting the three-day total to a record high of 26,830.

Rawls, Smith in Peach Blossom Tie at 2-Under

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (UPI) — Betsy Rawls and Marilynn Smith, both former winners here, tied for the lead Saturday with 2-under-par 142s in the second round of the Peach Blossom Invitational golf tournament.

Miss Rawls, the hometown favorite, said, "I just wanted to shoot even par today, but that won't be good enough tomorrow."

COACH'S FUTURE SHAKY

Pike Restless, But Blades Not Talking

By RICH ROBERTS

ALF PIKE

Whatever the Blades intend to do about their last-place finish in the Western Hockey League, they haven't done it yet.

A check this week at least proved that the telephone hadn't been disconnected, so apparently the club is still in business.

However, it's anybody's guess whether the silence can be interpreted as a cloak of secrecy or just plain lack of interest.

As far as Alf Pike knows, he's still coach—his contract runs until September, or right up to the brink of next fall's training camp at Saskatoon. But he has no intention of hanging in limbo that long.

"Everybody's on the quiet," he muses. "Nobody seems to want to talk. I've just been staying more or less at home. Been doing a little bit of golfing and not too much of that."

One can sense Pike's uneasiness as he goes through the motions of dealing in players—"We need at least two defensemen, maybe three, and maybe we'll have to buy a goalkeeper"—and he draws little relief from the Blades' curious arrangement of co-owners.

The non-policy owner, Dan Reeves, rarely leaves town but directs all his energies toward his first love, the Rams. The ruling partner, James Piggott, is usually a couple of thousand miles away in Saskatoon.

And general manager Jack Geyer, left to answer the phone, can only shrug. "I haven't heard a thing from anybody."

Geyer did reveal, though, that Piggott was in town this month but hardly produced a wealth of information.

"He and Reeves had a meeting," Geyer said, "the outcome of which I know nothing about. I imagine they discussed the future of the Blades."

The fact of Geyer, the club's No. 2 man (or is it No. 3 when there are two co-owners?), being excluded from top-level talks leaves his own ground a bit insecure.

Pike said Piggott gave him a brief "hello" and added, "I haven't got anything to say at the moment until I go over the books a little bit further and do some more thinking about it."

Before cutting Pike adrift, Piggott and Reeves first would like to be sure they could get somebody else who could do the job better.

Climax to this slow-moving drama is expected at the league meeting in Seattle a week from Monday.

"By that time we'd have to have something to give out," Pike said. "Actually, we don't have to agree one way or another before June (before the National League meeting). Then I either have to tell him I don't want to coach or he has to tell me.

"I figure he'll tell me on May 9. If he doesn't tell me, then we'll know that I won't be here. I'm going to decide then. If he doesn't let me know by that time I'm going to do something else. What I can't tell you . . . 'cause I don't know."

* * * *

BLUE LINES: Reports . . . that the NHL's promoted expansion will be discussed at the WHL meeting May 10-11, but added, "The first thing they always ask is who's going to operate next year?" . . . Defenseman Harley Hodgson had his back operated on for surgery last week to it would stop distracting . . . left-wing Brian Smith stayed on in L.A. and is working as a plasterer . . . Pike's plans for next season, if he is in position to make any, don't necessarily include Jack McCartan as goalie. He hopes to get Jack Norris back from Boston, at least on a lend-lease basis . . . Pike is going through with his hockey school at Squaw Valley in July despite (1) the withdrawal of San Francisco coach Bud Poile by owner of Seal owner Mel Swig and (2) his poor careers post-ex with the Blades . . . By the way, Pike's contract, in separate frames, printed by a Hockey News writer that he and Howie Young would be going to the Seals. "Where the hell does that guy get those things?" . . . It would be some surprise if one ever again found to be on the same club with "Mr. Young" again.

BOSTON HOPES REST WILL CURE LOSSES

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Recalling six losses in six months is a difficult pill for Ralph Boston, America's 1960 Olympic gold medal long jumper, to swallow. He has another medicine in mind.

"I need a long rest, and my knees need to heal."

In the last 18 months, Boston estimates he has suspended his rigorous training schedule less than six weeks. Now, he plans to rest most of 1966.

* * * *

BOSTON'S LEAP of 27-4¼ is pending as a world record. The current mark is 27-3¼ by Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan.

But starting with the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, things have been discouraging for the 25-year-old Tennessee A&I University star. He lost in Tokyo to Britain's Lynn Davis and lost again to Davis early this month. He also has lost recently to Gayle Hopkins of Arizona and to Ter-Ovanesyan.

Week's Bonus on Deer May Not Work

The Fish and Game Commission's plan to give Central and Southern California an extra week in which to shoot deer in the inland (or late) season is drawing opposition from the Inyo-Mono area, which it would vitally affect.

The commission at its Redding meeting announced that it intended to adopt a seven-week season of Sept. 18-Nov. 7 in the inland area running south of a line stretching from Lake Tahoe down the Sierra crest and across Highway 108 to Modesto. Everything north of the line except the extreme northeast would have a six-week season, Sept. 18-Oct. 31.

The commissioners felt that storms in that area were not sufficient to warrant the earlier closing date. Immediately a group of Inyo-Mono residents took exception. They say they know the habits of the deer and that the extra week should not be added because the pressure would be too much.

The Inyo-Mono people will have a chance to air their views when the commission meets at Sacramento May 28 to make final decisions on all hunting regulations.

One thing more about deer: The commission decided to set the coastal (or early) season Aug. 14-Sept. 26, a week later than the DFG had suggested. Sportsmen applied the pressure for the change.

KING HARBOR MARINA and Development Company announced Saturday that 279 new slips are being built for the King Harbor Marina leased area. That will make a total of 800 slips in that section of the Redondo Beach Harbor.

The company is headed by Paul Twautwein and his associates are Martin Pollard, Los Angeles; the Guimarra Vineyard Company, Bakersfield, and the Maple Investment Company, Beverly Hills. When the King Harbor marina is completed, it will represent an investment of $6 million.

Construction already is under way on the 14,000-square-foot Lobster House Restaurant, the fifth in a chain which is owned by the Castagnola family of Santa Barbara. Oddly enough, the Castagnolas started their first restaurant because of an incident that occurred on a Santa Barbara street.

They were fishermen and had an overcatch—far more than the markets to which they sold could absorb. They set up a table on the waterfront and offered fresh, hot lobsters, cooked on the spot to passersby. They had discovered a new business. It grew and grew.

In the planning stages of King Harbor Marina are 200 apartments, to be built on three separate locations on the property and 20,000 feet of retail structures.

King Harbor Marina is privately owned and has a ship repair yard on the property.

BILL BUCKNAM, OUR SCOUT at Bigfoot Ranch Lodge, Klamath River, Calif., writes that there is a good run of steelhead in the stream now, with some fish going three pounds and better. He says that good catches have been made on lures, bait and even flies.

Bill says that the Klamath level is normal for this time of year, the weather on the damp side, but with no heavy rains. All tributary streams should be fishable now.

He, like many others, doesn't understand how the salmon, trout and steelhead withstood the angry flood waters earlier this year, but they did and now they are back waiting for a chance to take a bait.

The Upper Klamath will be a real challenge to even those fishermen who knew the river well. Brush and berry vines which blocked access to many nice fishing spots were washed out and new riffles are now available to the anglers.

The Willow Beach National Fish Hatchery is planting 10,000 pounds of catchable-size rainbow trout in the Colorado River around Needles and upstream to Davis Dam.

This planting program on the Colorado is going to give the river a lot of new life and attract many fishermen, mostly from Southern California cities.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—Two large bullhead catfish were caught Wednesday at Irvine Lake. Robert Harmon, 9862 Linden St., Bellflower, got a 6½-pounder and thought that he had the second largest bullhead on record. However, later on the same day, C. L. Ray Jr., Cypress, weighed in a 6¾-pounder.

Fishing for bullheads and channels has picked up tremendously, as has bass fishing. Russ Cleary, concessionaire, is sticking to his plan of closing the lake each Thursday when he stocks it with trout. It gives the rainbows a chance to get a few feet from the ramp.

In that connection, a man who doesn't wish to be identified says that he and his wife returned to Irvine after reading a recent FISHIN' AROUND column which told of Clearys' plan. He said that he and his wife caught limits of trout and didnt' have to contend with unsportsmanlike conduct, which drove him away from the lake four years ago.

It might be added that some boaters even tried to net the trout as they came out of the planting chute. Others almost fought each other to be the "first" with a lure or bait in the water.

It is such conduct that causes me to use the word "sportsman" just on occasions. Every fisherman is not a sportsman. Can you call dozens of people who park outside a hatchery gate, then follow the fish-planting truck to a stream sportsmen? Well, it happens!

Los Alamitos Main to Montecarlo Bar

By DON HARDIN

Los Alamitos had its $40,000 Derby a week ago Saturday and next Saturday the quarter horse course stages its $35,000 Spring Championship.

So, the Saturday in between it had to fight the Kentucky Derby, baseball, track and the beaches with no "big money" race offered. Yet a good crowd of 10,620 turned out for the fine nine-race program featured by the running of the $2,200 Allan Sloane Purse which was won by Montecarlo Bar.

Despite interest revolving around the televised Kentucky Derby, with TV sets located throughout the stands and a delay in the running of that race as well as the fourth at Los Alamitos, the betting was fair with a total handle of $745,321.

In the Allan Sloane, a 350-yard sprint for six grade AAA-minus horses, Montecarlo Bar, winner of last Saturday's feature, broke on top of the small field of six after the first few jumps and was never headed, running the distance in the fast time of 18.1 to defeat favored Night Latch by a neck with Bar Pink third.

* * * *

MONTECARLO BAR, ridden by Harley Crosby, returned $8, 3.40 and 2.80. Night Latch paid 2.60 and 2.20 and Bar Pink 3.60.

The companion Southern California Postal Supervisors Purse, also at 350 yards for AA-plus category horses, was won by Mr. Cute Bar, with Nolton Pattio up, in a driving photo finish with longshot First Bid and Fairbars.

Mr. Cute Bar was timed in 18.3 in his nose victory and paid $13.80, $7, and $5. First Bid returned 12.20 and 7.60 and Fairbars 5.20. The first five horses in this race finished a nose apart with the ninth horse a length and one-quarter back.

Excitement began early in the afternoon as Half Ton Too won the first race with John Kanis aboard for a $52.20 win mutuel to assure a large daily double payoff. Speedy Booger, a $10 winner in the second, completed the 194.60 double.

It was not until the fifth race that a favorite, Ricky Fly ($4) won, and that was the only favorite of the day.

Charlie Smith, the track's leading rider with 33 wins, had six mounts but was blanked for the second day in a row.

The final full week of racing gets under way Monday.

Viking Spirit Wins by 7 in Carter 'Cap

NEW YORK (UPI) — Viking Spirit, an invader from California, romped to a seven-length victory Saturday in the $54,800 Carter Handicap at Aqueduct.

Jockey Ken Church broke first with Viking Spirit and the chestnut horse kept the lead throughout the seven-furlong race to easily beat Cupid.

Chieftain was another half length farther back in third place and six lengths in front of fourth place Pia Star.

Viking Spirit, a son of To Market, won his last two starts at California's Golden Gate Fields—the Sacramento Handicap and the San Francisco Mile.

* * * *

AFFECTIONATELY had been the choice in the 65th running of this event, but was scratched early in the day when trainer Hirsch Jacobs figured "she just wasn't right" after a morning workout.

Church reined Viking Spirit over the distance in 1:21-2/5 and the winner paid $5.70, $3.70 and $2.30 across the board as he won his fourth race in eight starts this year. Cupid returned $5.10 and $2.50 and Chieftain $2.20.

LUCKY DAY FOR DEBONAIR

Here's how the pack looked chasing Lucky Debonair across finish line in 91st running of Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs Saturday. Debonair held on for neck victory over Dapper Dan (extreme outside). Tom Rolfe finished third, two lengths back. Native Charger was fourth.

BOLD LAD A MYSTERY

'Luckiest Race,' Says Shoe

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Jockey Bill Shoemaker, who isn't known for being too lucky in the Kentucky Derby, said he had all of it Saturday as he rode Lucky Debonair to victory.

He also said that heavily favored Bold Lad was the least of his worries among the other 3-year-old colts.

"Bold Lad hadn't proved himself and I just didn't think he would get there."

Bill Hartack, who was going for his fifth Kentucky Derby victory, added mystery to the moment.

"Bold Lad had a reason not to run. I think I know what it is, but that's not for publication right now.

"I was a little bothered about him warming up. He wasn't the same as the other day.

"He wasn't running right and he wasn't reacting very good. He tried real hard to run but he just wasn't going any place."

Shoemaker said this was just about the luckiest he's ever been in a big race.

"We got our first break when Flag Raiser didn't get out of the gate very good. This meant we didn't have to catch him like we thought we would.

"We got into perfect position just out of the first turn and didn't have any trouble at all from there to the finish line."

Ismael Valenzuela, who rode second place Dapper Dan, was quite upset about the trouble he encountered on the first turn, when he was bumped by someone—no one seemed to know who—and fell back to last place. He was running fourth at the time.

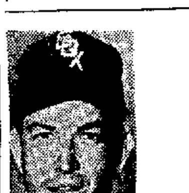

"I don't know, but this may have cost me the race. We lost an awful lot of ground there and I used up a lot of horse getting it back."

Valenzuela said he also lost the popper off his whip at the eighth pole and couldn't sting Dapper Dan, who was beaten by a neck, as he normally would have.

Manuel Ycaza said Hail to All, who was the second choice in the betting, had absolutely no excuse and was a very tired horse with one-sixteenth of a mile to go.

"I asked him to go and he wouldn't make a move. I was within a half-length of Native Charger, but he just refused to go after him as we got near the finish."

Week's Bonus on Deer May Not Work

The Fish and Game Commission's plan to give Central and Southern California an extra week in which to shoot deer in the inland (or late) season is drawing opposition from the Inyo-Mono area, which it would vitally affect.

The commission at its Redding meeting announced that it intended to adopt a seven-week season of Sept. 18-Nov. 7 in the inland area running south of a line stretching from Lake Tahoe down the Sierra crest and across Highway 108 to Modesto. Everything north of the line except the extreme northeast would have a six-week season, Sept. 18-Oct. 31.

The commissioners felt that storms in that area were not sufficient to warrant the earlier closing date. Immediately a group of Inyo-Mono residents took exception. They say they know the habits of the deer and that the extra week should not be added because the pressure would be too much.

The Inyo-Mono people will have a chance to air their views when the commission meets at Sacramento May 28 to make final decisions on all hunting regulations.

One thing more about deer: The commission decided to set the coastal (or early) season Aug. 14-Sept. 26, a week later than the DFG had suggested. Sportsmen applied the pressure for the change.

KING HARBOR MARINA and Development Company announced Saturday that 279 new slips are being built for the King Harbor Marina leased area. That will make a total of 800 slips in that section of the Redondo Beach Harbor.

The company is headed by Paul Twautwein and his associates are Martin Pollard, Los Angeles; the Guimarra Vineyard Company, Bakersfield, and the Maple Investment Company, Beverly Hills. When the King Harbor marina is completed, it will represent an investment of $6 million.

Construction already is under way on the 14,000-square-foot Lobster House Restaurant, the fifth in a chain which is owned by the Castagnola family of Santa Barbara. Oddly enough, the Castagnolas started their first restaurant because of an incident that occurred on a Santa Barbara street.

They were fishermen and had an overcatch—far more than the markets to which they sold could absorb. They set up a table on the waterfront and offered fresh, hot lobsters, cooked on the spot to passersby. They had discovered a new business. It grew and grew.

In the planning stages of King Harbor Marina are 200 apartments, to be built on three separate locations on the property and 20,000 feet of retail structures.

King Harbor Marina is privately owned and has a ship repair yard on the property.

BILL BUCKNAM, OUR SCOUT at Bigfoot Ranch Lodge, Klamath River, Calif., writes that there is a good run of steelhead in the stream now, with some fish going three pounds and better. He says that good catches have been made on lures, bait and even flies.

Bill says that the Klamath level is normal for this time of year, the weather on the damp side, but with no heavy rains. All tributary streams should be fishable now.

He, like many others, doesn't understand how the salmon, trout and steelhead withstood the angry flood waters earlier this year, but they did and now they are back waiting for a chance to take a bait.

The Upper Klamath will be a real challenge to even those fishermen who knew the river well. Brush and berry vines which blocked access to many nice fishing spots were washed out and new riffles are now available to the anglers.

The Willow Beach National Fish Hatchery is planting 10,000 pounds of catchable-size rainbow trout in the Colorado River around Needles and upstream to Davis Dam.

This planting program on the Colorado is going to give the river a lot of new life and attract many fishermen, mostly from Southern California cities.

OUTDOOR PERSONALS—Two large bullhead catfish were caught Wednesday at Irvine Lake. Robert Harmon, 9862 Linden St., Bellflower, got a 6½-pounder and thought that he had the second largest bullhead on record. However, later on the same day, C. L. Ray Jr., Cypress, weighed in a 6¾-pounder.

Fishing for bullheads and channels has picked up tremendously, as has bass fishing. Russ Cleary, concessionaire, is sticking to his plan of closing the lake each Thursday when he stocks it with trout. It gives the rainbows a chance to get a few feet from the ramp.

In that connection, a man who doesn't wish to be identified says that he and his wife returned to Irvine after reading a recent FISHIN' AROUND column which told of Clearys' plan. He said that he and his wife caught limits of trout and didnt' have to contend with unsportsmanlike conduct, which drove him away from the lake four years ago.

It might be added that some boaters even tried to net the trout as they came out of the planting chute. Others almost fought each other to be the "first" with a lure or bait in the water.

It is such conduct that causes me to use the word "sportsman" just on occasions. Every fisherman is not a sportsman. Can you call dozens of people who park outside a hatchery gate, then follow the fish-planting truck to a stream sportsmen? Well, it happens!

Los Alamitos Main to Montecarlo Bar

By DON HARDIN

Los Alamitos had its $40,000 Derby a week ago Saturday and next Saturday the quarter horse course stages its $35,000 Spring Championship.

So, the Saturday in between it had to fight the Kentucky Derby, baseball, track and the beaches with no "big money" race offered. Yet a good crowd of 10,620 turned out for the fine nine-race program featured by the running of the $2,200 Allan Sloane Purse which was won by Montecarlo Bar.

Despite interest revolving around the televised Kentucky Derby, with TV sets located throughout the stands and a delay in the running of that race as well as the fourth at Los Alamitos, the betting was fair with a total handle of $745,321.

In the Allan Sloane, a 350-yard sprint for six grade AAA-minus horses, Montecarlo Bar, winner of last Saturday's feature, broke on top of the small field of six after the first few jumps and was never headed, running the distance in the fast time of 18.1 to defeat favored Night Latch by a neck with Bar Pink third.

* * * *

MONTECARLO BAR, ridden by Harley Crosby, returned $8, 3.40 and 2.80. Night Latch paid 2.60 and 2.20 and Bar Pink 3.60.

The companion Southern California Postal Supervisors Purse, also at 350 yards for AA-plus category horses, was won by Mr. Cute Bar, with Nolton Pattio up, in a driving photo finish with longshot First Bid and Fairbars.

Mr. Cute Bar was timed in 18.3 in his nose victory and paid $13.80, $7, and $5. First Bid returned 12.20 and 7.60 and Fairbars 5.20. The first five horses in this race finished a nose apart with the ninth horse a length and one-quarter back.

Excitement began early in the afternoon as Half Ton Too won the first race with John Kanis aboard for a $52.20 win mutuel to assure a large daily double payoff. Speedy Booger, a $10 winner in the second, completed the 194.60 double.

It was not until the fifth race that a favorite, Ricky Fly ($4) won, and that was the only favorite of the day.

Charlie Smith, the track's leading rider with 33 wins, had six mounts but was blanked for the second day in a row.

The final full week of racing gets under way Monday.

Viking Spirit Wins by 7 in Carter 'Cap

NEW YORK (UPI) — Viking Spirit, an invader from California, romped to a seven-length victory Saturday in the $54,800 Carter Handicap at Aqueduct.

Jockey Ken Church broke first with Viking Spirit and the chestnut horse kept the lead throughout the seven-furlong race to easily beat Cupid.

Chieftain was another half length farther back in third place and six lengths in front of fourth place Pia Star.

Viking Spirit, a son of To Market, won his last two starts at California's Golden Gate Fields—the Sacramento Handicap and the San Francisco Mile.

AFFECTIONATELY had been the choice in the 65th running of this event, but was scratched early in the day when trainer Hirsch Jacobs figured "she just wasn't right" after a morning workout.

Church reined Viking Spirit over the distance in 1:21-2/5 and the winner paid $5.70, $3.70 and $2.30 across the board as he won his fourth race in eight starts this year. Cupid returned $5.10 and $2.50 and Chieftain $2.20.

LUCKY DAY FOR DEBONAIR

Here's how the pack looked chasing Lucky Debonair across finish line in 91st running of Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs Saturday. Debonair held on for neck victory over Dapper Dan (extreme outside). Tom Rolfe finished third, two lengths back. Native Charger was fourth.

BOLD LAD A MYSTERY

'Luckiest Race,' Says Shoe

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Jockey Bill Shoemaker, who isn't known for being too lucky in the Kentucky Derby, said he had all of it Saturday as he rode Lucky Debonair to victory.

He also said that heavily favored Bold Lad was the least of his worries among the other 3-year-old colts.

"Bold Lad hadn't proved himself and I just didn't think he would get there."

Bill Hartack, who was going for his fifth Kentucky Derby victory, added mystery to the moment.

"Bold Lad had a reason not to run. I think I know what it is, but that's not for publication right now.

"I was a little bothered about him warming up. He wasn't the same as the other day.

"He wasn't running right and he wasn't reacting very good. He tried real hard to run but he just wasn't going any place."

Shoemaker said this was just about the luckiest he's ever been in a big race.

"We got our first break when Flag Raiser didn't get out of the gate very good. This meant we didn't have to catch him like we thought we would.

"We got into perfect position just out of the first turn and didn't have any trouble at all from there to the finish line."

Ismael Valenzuela, who rode second place Dapper Dan, was quite upset about the trouble he encountered on the first turn, when he was bumped by someone—no one seemed to know who—and fell back to last place. He was running fourth at the time.

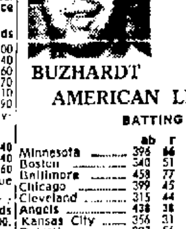

"I don't know, but this may have cost me the race. We lost an awful lot of ground there and I used up a lot of horse getting it back."

Valenzuela said he also lost the popper off his whip at the eighth pole and couldn't sting Dapper Dan, who was beaten by a neck, as he normally would have.

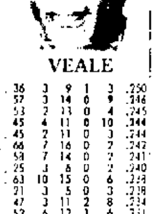

Manuel Yeaza said Hail to All, who was the second choice in the betting, had absolutely no excuse and was a very tired horse with one-sixteenth of a mile to go.

"I asked him to go and he wouldn't make a move. I was within a half-length of Native Charger, but he just refused to go after him as we got near the finish."

Dodger Fan in S.F.?

Arthur Blakey is a "Dodger fan."

LISTON

No, you probably don't know him but the San Francisco police do . . . now.

When an inspector entered a rooming house in San Francisco a plastic 10-inch doll wearing the uniform of the Dodgers caught his eye.

"Where did you get it?" asked the inspector of Blakey, who was listening to the Dodger-Giant game.

"I bought it; I'm a Dodger fan," Blakey answered.

"There are no Dodger fans in San Francisco," retorted the inspector, who promptly arrested Blakey on suspicion of burglary when four more of the plastic dolls were found. They had been stolen from a car.

ERNESTINA GIL, mother of nine and wife of a Mexican carpenter, scraped together $2 and collected $21,106.40 for picking six winners in the Caliente 5-10 pool.

A FOOTBALL player at LSU said four members of the team have been questioned about shaving points in two games last season.

A Baton Rouge newspaper said one player had made a statement to LSU athletic director Jim Corbett who said the reports were untrue. Corbett declined to deny or confirm reports that the district attorney's office was investigating.

* * * *

SONNY LISTON arrived in Boston Saturday to prepare for his fight with Cassius Clay May 25.

Liston said he had heard that Clay "is claiming to retire after the fight. I've got a retirement plan all set up for him, and I'm going to help him retire."

* * * *

FORMER world heavyweight champion Joe Louis announced he is staging a combined boxing and variety show in Tel Aviv, Israel, Sept. 5 as a youth benefit program on which he hopes to have Emile Griffith defend his welterweight title.

Louis said he would referee the bout which would be held in a 75,000 stadium.

EIGHT additional golfers have become eligible for exemption from qualifying in the National Open next month as a result of being among the 15 leading money winners on the PGA list. They are Gary Player, Doug Sanders, Mason Rudolph, Bruce Devlin, Frank Beard, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Jack McGowan and Mike Souchak.

Feather Title on Line in Coliseum Go

San Pedro Hope Rojas Challenges Saldivar Friday

Mexico's Vicente Saldivar, who surprised the boxing world when he knocked out Sugar Ramos and won the world featherweight title last September, makes the first defense of his crown at the Coliseum Friday night.

The 21-year-old converted southpaw meets Raul Rojas of San Pedro, who is undefeated in 24 fights and a knockout winner in 17.

Tale of the Tape

SALDIVAR		ROJAS
20	Age	23
126	*-Weight	126
5-5½	Height	5-5
68½	Reach	66
37	Chest normal	36
39½	Chest expanded	38½
12	Fist	11½
28	Waist	23
20	Thigh	19
9	Ankle	8
15½	Neck	15½
13	Biceps	12½

*—Official weights to be announced the day of the fight.

* * * *

ROJAS has one draw in his record. He has boxed as a professional for about two years. He can take a hard punch and likes to box a man who moves in. Rojas gets $15,000 and hopes Vicente moves in.

Saldivar favors a strong left but he can also hit with authority with his right. Rojas' real defense is his offense.

In a companion 12-rounder Japan's Hiroyuki Ebihara meets Mexico's Alacran Torres in a featherweight elimination match. This was the pair who fought at the downtown Olympic Auditorium last year and when the decision went against Torres, the Mexican fans wrecked the place.

Red Smith's Views of Sports—

It's Time to 'Break Up the Mets'

We may as well face the facts. The time has come to break up the Mets.

There is no way the National League can preserve the illusion of competition when one team out of ten can monopolize all the talents, all the Danny Napoleons and Bobby Klauses and Jesse Gonders and Ron Swobodas.

The burning question is, will success spoil Ed Kranepool? For that matter, can the depositors live with Casey now that he is grown so great?

One pictures him in that Glendale bank sitting astride the swivel chair like a Colossus, crankily demanding more collateral.

Let's stay with Kranepool for the moment, this strapping kid from the Bronx who won't be 21 until the season is ended. Nobody knows how good he can be. When he was 17 he had hit 21 home runs at James Monroe High, Hank Greenberg's school, breaking Greenberg's record. The Mets gave him a wad.

They brought him up for a glance in 1962, kept him around for a longer look in 1963, then in mid-May last year shipped down to Buffalo. He burned. At 19, he thought he was ready for the big leagues, or for the Mets, at least.

When he walked into Candlestick Park in San Francisco he was leading the major leagues with an average of .450 or .4500 or something.

Swinging against Jack Sanford, a professional, he caught one clean and rode it downwind for a home run. Later he came up with the Giants trying to protect a one-run lead. He put another into the jetstream and squared the game at 4-4.

On Friday night the Mets had made up six runs in the eighth and ninth innings, overhauled the Giants, and licked them in overtime.

So now, with the second game tied, one of those things happened. Kranepool, Klaus and Johnny Lewis went for a pop fly by Willie Mays, scared one another off, and let the ball drop for a double. From that start, the Giants scored twice for a lead of 6-4.

The way it is with the Mets, that usually wraps it up. Casey Stengel had just about cleared his bench. He had even gone to Warren Spahn as a pinch-batter.

So with the bases filled in the ninth, two out and righthanded Bob Shaw firing for San Francisco, he sent up Danny Napoleon, aged 23, bats right, throws right, hard-bitten veteran of one season with Auburn in the New York-Penn League.

Shaw got two strikes on Napoleon. He needed one more for the ballgame. He threw it. Danny hit it. He hit it on a long parabola to right center where it caromed off the fence for three bases and three runs. The Mets were in front, 7 to 6.

The rest was easy. As the Mets streamed off the field in triumph, Casey hiked along with them. His arms hung out wide and he was shaking his hands vigorously as if to restore circulation.

They simply must break the Mets. Maybe. Casey can take it, but the game can't.

L.B. State Crew Routed by UCLA

UCLA's varsity crew defeated Long Beach State for the first time ever Saturday, winning by 4 lengths at Balona Creek in Marina del Rey.

The Bruins stroked the 2,000-meter course in 6:10.1 while the 49ers were timed in 6:28.0. UCLA's freshmen eight whipped LBSC's frosh by 2 lengths, clocking 6:30.5. L.B. was timed in 6:38.0.

UCLA's junior varsity completed the day's sweep, winning by a half length in 6:14.5. The 49ers' time was 6:17.1.

Lakewood, Wilson Tie for Gym Crown

Lakewood and Wilson finished in a first-place tie for the Moore League gymnastic title as a result of the league finals Friday in which the Bruins outpointed the Lancers, 43-42½.

Since Lakewood won the dual meet crown, both teams finished with eight points. Millikan, Poly and Jordan followed in that order.

L.B. State Crew Routed by UCLA

UCLA's varsity crew defeated Long Beach State for the first time ever Saturday, winning by 4 lengths at Ballona Creek in Marina del Rey.

The Bruins stroked the 2,000-meter course in 6:10.1 while the 49ers were timed in 6:28.0. UCLA's freshmen eight whipped LBSC's frosh by 2 lengths, clocking 6:30.5. L.B. was timed in 6:38.0.

UCLA's junior varsity completed the day's sweep, winning by a half length in 6:14.5. The 49ers' time was 6:17.1.

Lakewood, Wilson Tie for Gym Crown

Lakewood and Wilson finished in a first-place tie for the Moore League gymnastic title as a result of the league finals Friday in which the Bruins outpointed the Lancers, 43-42½.

Since Lakewood won the dual meet crown, both teams finished with eight points. Millikan, Poly and Jordan followed in that order.

Realtors to Vote on Initiation Fee Hike

The Long Beach District Board of Realtors has called a general membership meeting June 10 for all members, to vote on a proposed increase in initiation fees for Realtor members of the board, James C. Hoffman, president, said last week.

The realty board is making this proposal as a result of a careful survey on the services available to their members through the board, he explained.

The Long Beach board is one of the top largest 30 boards in the United States and is well known throughout the nation as one of the most outstanding boards.

* * * *

FOR THE last six years, it has received honors for community activities during Realtor Week; and in 1964 the board received a first place award in the nation during this observance.

With some 500 realtors belonging to the board and a most-active 900 associates, realty board has enjoyed a prominent place in the community.

Last year the Multiple Listing Department processed 6,415 listings and sold 2,408 listings. Dollar volume was $59,193,609 and 48% of the sales were co-op sales.

The average sale for 1964 was $24,582.

This year the multiple listing department has processed even more listings and 1965 is expected to be a banner year.

Each week, members of the board are mailed the Realtor News, which is a publication that keeps the members up to date on legislative matters, announces weekly speakers and community affairs, contains new deed-recordings, and reports on state conventions and national conventions attended by board members.

* * * *

MEMBERS of the 1965 board of directors are James C. Hoffman, president; Mildred Stanley, 1st vice president; John Reed, second vice president; Donald Schwenn, secretary-treasurer; Dorothy E. Annis, executive secretary; Arthur D. Guy and John Richard Lewis, board attorneys. Directors are Hilbert Adema, Ralph Cary, Glenn Crabtree, J. C. Foster, Howard Krisher, Roy Mealey, Jack Merrick, Jack Saxon, Harold Steele, George Sylvester, Lawrence Toner, John Webster and Robert Westmyer.

State directors are Jim Hoffman, James A. Edmonds Jr., Robert Westmyer, J. C. Foster, Melvin L. Mould, Gene Hoffman, Ed Grant, Mildred Stanley, Harold Steele, William Dyer, Bernie Jones, Billie Phillips, Clarence Swalve, John Webster, Fae Matthews and Howard Krisher.

Their duties are to attend all California Real Estate Association directors meetings and conventions and report back to the membership on meetings attended. This keeps the members up-to-date on all legislation, new forms available, etc.

* * * *

AS PART OF the multiple listings service the board furnishes subscribers to the multiple with a weekly active list (active listings) and compiles a completed escrow report three times a year — (this is property sold through multiple listing for the year).

Ownership department is one of the most important services offered members of the board. The legal discription, size of lots, ownership information, and value of all property in Long Beach is available to members, merely by calling the Ownership Department.

Supplies and forms are for sale at the board office — such as deposit recipts, for sale signs, decals, etc.

All CREA forms are available for purchase at the board office.

Belmont Sold in Deal at Airport

Belmont Aviation Corp., Long Beach Airport, has been sold to Pacific Airmotive Corp. of Burbank, it was disclosed Saturday.

Belmont, which relinquished its Beechcraft dealership several months ago, now becomes the property of the same concern which last August purchased the Air Oasis Co. of Long Beach, largest distributorship of light aircraft in the world.

* * * *

PAC OFFICIALS announced that the Belmont facility will be turned over to Airflight Incorporated, the Air Oasis-connected Cessna distributorship for this region.

Amount involved in the sale by John Hancock, Belmont president, was not disclosed.

Vanishing with Belmont presumably will be one of the largest flight instruction schools in the area along with a major Long Beach sales outlet for new and used light planes.

PAC, largest turbine-engine overhaul facility in the world, also has offices in Oakland, Seattle, Houston, Denver, Kansas City and Teterboro, N.J.

* * * *

THE ORGANIZATION moved into Long Beach Airport with the purchase of the Air Oasis Co. from its principal owner, L. W. Hunt, who became a vice president and director of PAC along with retaining his leadership of Air Oasis-connected Cessna sales and distributorship.

Belmont is located at 2700 E. Wardlow Road.

SEAL BEACH EYES FUTURE

Designer Offers 'New Look' for Main Street

BY VERN ANTHONY
Progress Section Editor

Some recent frank looks bid fair to result in a "new look" for Main Street, Seal Beach, U.S.A.

Discussions between the city officials and downtown business leaders have activated plans to "rev up" business and stem any potential deterioration in the area, according to City Manager John T. Williams.

JOHN WILLIAMS

Stimulating factor in this has been announcement of plans for a new shopping center near the northerly end of Main Street and just across Pacific Coast Highway.

The City Council invited business people to confer on "what could be done." Out of this came a committee of volunteers to shape up some ideas.

* * * *

AMONG THOSE present was a woman planning to operate a Peddlers' Pack shop on Main Street. She "volunteered" that her husband would be glad to serve on the committee.

Her husband is designer Vernon Leckman, whose projects include Ports of Call Village and the nearby Yankee Whaler and Bay of Naples restaurants, in San Pedro. He has designed for numerous prominent architects in the Long Beach area.

Leckman presently has under construction a new building at 222 Main St., where he will have offices and where Mrs. Leckman will have her store.

* * * *

THUS VOLUNTEERED by his wife for committee duty, Leckman proceeded to draw up an elaborate series of sketches illustrating his ideas for giving a face-lifting to the entire Main Street.

Leckman, who lives at 704 Sea Breeze, had photographs taken of present buildings on Main Street. Then he sketched his ideas for redesigning the fronts of all the buildings, permitting comparison of present and possible future looks.

Some of the photos and sketches recently were presented at a City Council meeting, and received considerable mixed comment, Williams said.

* * * *

LECKMAN WILL have his sketches completed shortly, and they will be placed on public display at City Hall.

The sketches are mere suggestions; eventual changes still are to be decided.

No mail is under consideration, Williams said, adding that Leckman's proposal could make into Seal Beach sort of a "Disneyland Main Street without admission charge."

It is three-block street extending between Pacific Coast Highway and the ocean front.

There are many ideas to sift, problems to iron out, agreements to be reached.

KEY TO PROJECTS ON MAP

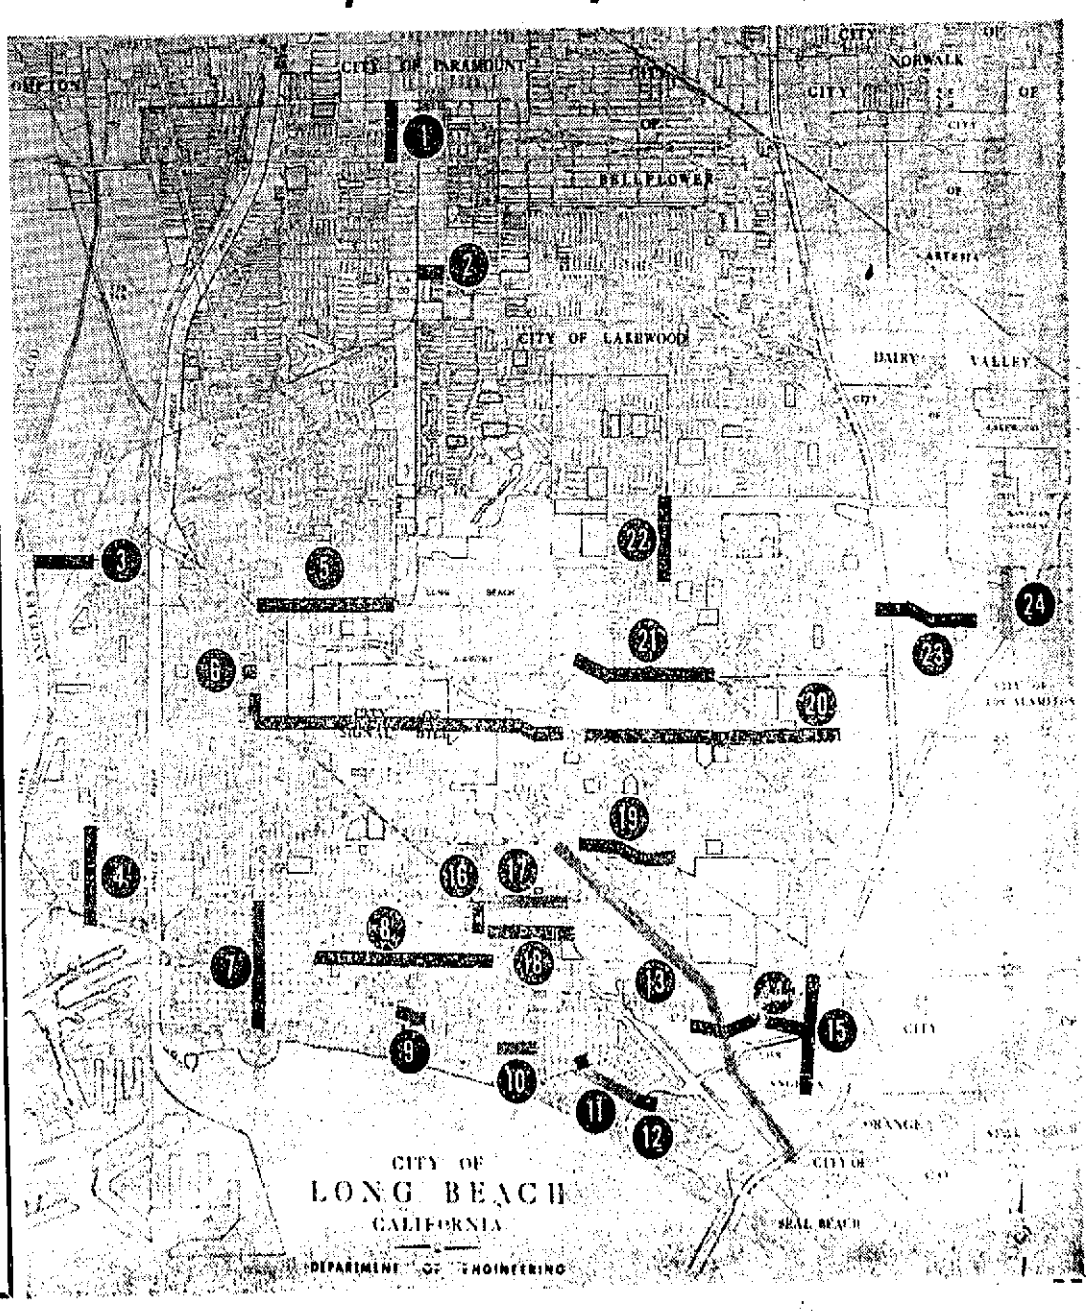

Long Beach has embarked on a $5.5 million street and highway improvement program for the 1965-66 fiscal year.

Recently approved by the City Council as presented by City Manager John R. Mansell, the projects, to be financed by gasoline tax funds, constitute the largest such program in one 'package' in the city's history.

Scope of the program is impressive, as shown on accompanying map. Projects are identified briefly herewith, according to numbers as keyed to map:

1. Cherry Avenue, widening to six lanes from Artesia Boulevard to north city boundary.
2. South Street, widening between Paramount Boulevard and Union Pacific right of way.
3. Wardlow Road, four-lane highway between Santa Fe and Hesperian avenues.
4. Santa Fe Avenue, six-lane route between Pacific Coast Highway and 9th Street.
5. Wardlow Road, resurfacing between Long Beach Boulevard and Cherry Avenue after flood control drain is installed.
6. Long Beach Boulevard, right of way acquisition between Willow and Patterson streets and realignment just north of Willow Street.
7. Long Beach Boulevard, removing rails and beautification of street from Ocean Boulevard to 7th Street, and eventually farther north.
8. Seventh Street, widening and improvements between Alamitos and Park avenues.
9. Relieving jog in 3rd Street at Junipero Avenue.
10. Broadway, widening between Newport and Termino avenues.
11. Second Street, widening between Livingston Drive and Bay Shore Avenue, and eventually to Roycroft Avenue.
12. Second Street bridge, new six-lane span to be built over Upper Alamitos Bay to replace existing bridge.
13. Pacific Coast Highway, widening from Traffic Circle to Orange County line.
14. Loynes Drive, roadway between Manila Avenue and Studebaker Road.
15. Studebaker Road, link between Westminster Avenue and 7th Street.
16. Obispo Avenue, widening between 10th and Anaheim streets, and eventually to Coast Highway.
17. Anaheim Street, widening between Freeman and Prospect avenues.
18. Tenth Street, widening between Roswell and Park avenues.
19. Atherton Street, improving between Ximeno Avenue and Bellflower Boulevard.
20. Willow Street, between Long Beach Freeway and Studebaker Road. Long-range, $4 million project of widening.
21. Spring Street, widening between Lakewood Boulevard and Los Coyotes Diagonal.
22. Bellflower Boulevard, improving between Monlaco and Carson streets.
23. Wardlow Road, between Stevely and Claremore avenues.
24. Norwalk Boulevard, joint project with neighboring areas to widen between Orange County line and 226th Street.

ALTOGETHER . . . 190 YEARS
These six men, with Bank of America service totaling 190 years, were honored at a recent recognition dinner sponsored by the bank's Long Beach Main Office. From left: R. Southard, employed 35 years; D. Morrison, 20 years; J. W. Hansen, 25 years; J. W. Robbins, 35 years; R. E. Robbins, 35 years; and H. S. Matthews, 40 years.

Profit-Sharing Fund for Sears Employes Grows

Sears, Roebuck & Co. employes in the Long Beach area have been informed that they have $7,577,355 in their profit-sharing pension fund.

This was disclosed by Charles W. Teed, manager of the Long Beach Sears store, and E. J. Curtis, manager of the Sears Long Beach Service Center, at meetings of employe-members of the fund. Fund members received statements showing how they shared in Sears profits last year and the value of their individual accounts.

* * * *

TEED SAID the 465 local fund members had 51,195 shares of Sears stock and other securities amounting to $7,577,355 credited to their accounts as of Dec. 31, 1964.

The local employe-members are among 158,500 men and women across the nation who are members of the Savings and Profit Sharing Pension Fund of Sears, Roebuck & Co. Employes. These members include more than 15,000 employes of Allstate Insurance Co., a wholly owned subsidiary which each year contributes to Sears profits.

* * * *

TEED POINTED OUT that the value of the accounts of individual employes showed a marked increase in 1964. He also noted that the total assets of the fund at market value rose more than $500 million to a total of $2,654,800,000 as of Dec. 31, the end of the fund's fiscal year.

Employe-members of the fund deposit 5% of their wages and salaries, up to a maximum of $500 each year. The company contributes a portion of its consolidated income before provision for federal income taxes.

The company contribution is credited to mmebers' accounts annually on a formula based on their age, length of service and deposits.

Fete Six Bank Men

One hundred ninety years of service, with a cast of six men, was honored by Bank of America's Long Beach Main Office, 350 Pine Ave., at a recent dinner in the Petroleum Club.

Sparked by emcee J. Murray Williams, retired vice president, special tributes were paid to long-time employes.

Williams gave a thumbnail sketch of each as he introduced: H. S. Matthews, vice president, 40 years of service; R. E. Robbins, vice president and manager, 35 years; J. W. Robbins, assistant cashier, 35 years; R. Southard, assistant vice president, 35 years; J. W. Hansen, assistant vice president, 25 years, and D. Morrison, pro-assistant cashier (retired 1965).

IN ADDITION to the official and non-official staff of the local Main Office banking and trust departments, others in attendance at the event included:

Story of Stewardess Now Jet Age Librarian Has Happy End

Jetliner stewardess to Jet Age librarian is the story of Karen Wilson, 23, attendant in the Douglas Aircraft Group's Technical Library at the Long Beach plant.

She accomplished the change with jet speed, too. Less than a year ago Karen was a hostess on United Air Lines transcontinental DC8s. Last May she came to the home of the DC8 in her current job.

"I was looking for excitement," she explained last week, which happened by curious coincidence to be National Library Week.

EXCITEMENT she found in the Technical Library, at that time pushing full throttle to keep up with the demand for specialized information needed in the new DC8, DC9, C5A and TA4E Skyhawk trainer programs under way.

Research for the C5A heavy logistics transport study program put an especially heavy load on the library, which met the demand with a jet age technique. In addition to the regular daily effort in providing information through conventional channels, Karen and the rest of the library staff conducted literature searches for the computer retrieval program.

Through the computer system, requests on any particular subject are supplied immediately, with continuing automatic service as new material enters the files.

"WE CALL THIS 'bulldogging'," library supervisor Marlys Cybulski pointed out. "It's the only way we could have kept the C5 engineers supplied in time to meet their deadlines."

For Karen, there was an added inducement to change jobs.

"Regular hours," she said. "Now I bring my lunch instead of serving it, and have time for a social life."

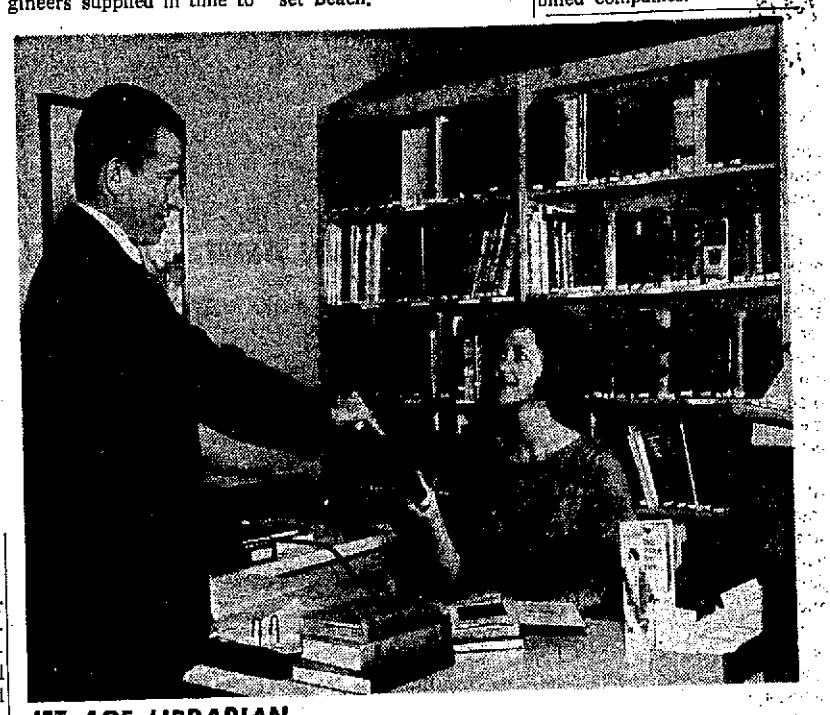

Footnote and happy ending: The social life paid off. Last September Karen acquired a husband, John, a former El Toro Marine aviator, and a permanent home at 16801 Pacific, Sunset Beach.

Directors Name Board Chairman

TORRANCE — Albert G. Handschumacher, former president of Lear Siegler, Inc., of Santa Monica, was elected chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Aeronca Manufacturing Corp. at the recent annual meeting of the firm's directors held in the company's corporate offices, 24751 Crenshaw Blvd.

S. J. Kuderer was reelected president and all other officers were renamed to their present positions.

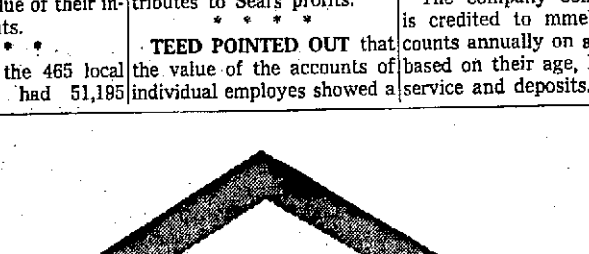

Handschumacher, 46, was president of Lear, Inc., from 1959 until its merger with the Siegler Corporation in 1962, at which time he became president of the combined companies.

Profit-Sharing Fund for Sears Employes Grows

Sears, Roebuck & Co. employes in the Long Beach area have been informed that they have $7,577,355 in their profit-sharing pension fund.

This was disclosed by Charles W. Teed, manager of the Long Beach Sears store, and E. J. Curtis, manager of the Sears Long Beach Service Center, at meetings of employe-members of the fund. Fund members received statements showing how they shared in Sears profits last year and the value of their individual accounts.

* * * *

TEED SAID the 465 local fund members had 51,195 shares of Sears stock and other securities amounting to $7,577,355 credited to their accounts as of Dec. 31, 1964.

The local employe-members are among 158,500 men and women across the nation who are members of the Savings and Profit Sharing Pension Fund of Sears, Roebuck & Co. Employes. These members include more than 15,000 employes of Allstate Insurance Co., a wholly owned subsidiary which each year contributes to Sears profits.

* * * *

TEED POINTED OUT that the value of the accounts of individual employes showed a marked increase in 1964. He also noted that the total assets of the fund at market value rose more than $500 million to a total of $2,654,800,000 as of Dec. 31, the end of the fund's fiscal year.

Employe-members of the fund deposit 5% of their wages and salaries, up to a maximum of $500 each year. The company contributes a portion of its consolidated income before provision for federal income taxes.

The company contribution is credited to mmebers' accounts annually on a formula based on their age, length of service and deposits.

Fete Six Bank Men

One hundred ninety years of service, with a cast of six men, was honored by Bank of America's Long Beach Main Office, 350 Pine Ave., at a recent dinner in the Petroleum Club.

Sparked by emcee J. Murray Williams, retired vice president, special tributes were paid to long-time employes.

Williams gave a thumbnail sketch of each as he introduced: H. S. Matthews, vice president, 40 years of service; R. E. Robbins, vice president and manager, 35 years; J. W. Robbins, assistant cashier, 35 years; R. Southard, assistant vice president, 35 years; J. W. Hansen, assistant vice president, 25 years, and D. Morrison, pro-assistant cashier (retired 1965).

JUDGING ESSAY CONTEST

Talking over essays submitted by students entered in Bellflower District Board of Realtors Essay Contest are (from left) judges Oscar Littleton, Cerritos College Humanities Division chairman; Mayor Alex Moore of Dairy Valley; Jerry McConnell, contest chairman; Vice Mayor Gene List of Bellflower; Mayor Gladys Iliff of Paramount, and E. Thorton Ibbetson, chairman of the judges.

Winners in Contest Selected

BELLFLOWER — Winners in the high school essay contest sponsored by the Bellflower District Board of Realtors were announced late last week by Jerry McConnell, contest chairman.

Four schools were represented by students submitting the essays and one winner was selected from each high school.

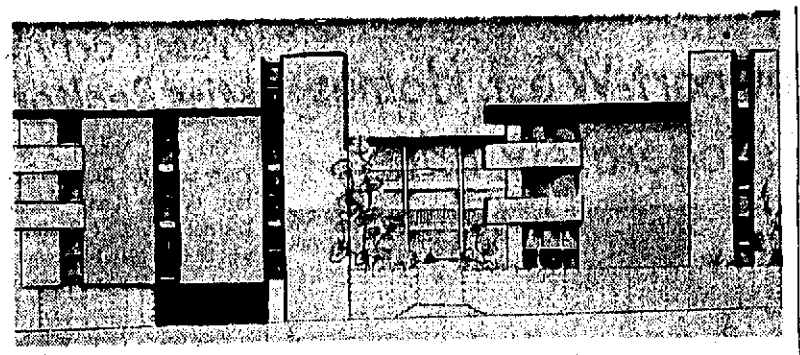

Michael Lies, 9th grade student at Artesia High, was judged winner from that school while Nita De Velder, 12th grade student from Valley Christian High, was chosen to represent that school. This is a repeat for Nita, since she represented her school last year in the contest.

Paramount High award went to Stanley D. Hillyard, 12th grade. Diane Moore, 11th grade, Mayfair High, submitted the best essay from Mayfair.

* * * *

THESE STUDENTS will read their essays at the breakfast meeting of the Bellflower board May 13 and receive awards of $25 U. S. Savings bond and at that time the name of the overall winner will be announced and an additional award of $100 in bonds presented to the student.

In addition to the four students with winning essays these students also entered essays: Artesia High—Robert Hargroves, Gail Merry; Valley Christian High — Jane Noteboom, Jan Van Kampen; Mayfair High—Linda Blevins and Tom Willman; Paramount High—Janice Spencer; Linda Rue and Ronald Elliott.

OCEAN-FRONT APARTMENTS

Grand opening of the new Surf Terrace, 11 S. Termino Ave., will be held today with refreshments being served from noon to 4 p. m. With the emphasis on nearby recreational facilities, the apartment house was 40% rented before construction was completed.

L.B. Architects to Hear Mansell

City Manager John Mansell will discuss future planning for Long Beach as guest speaker at the Tuesday dinner meeting of the Long Beach organization of the American Institute of Architects, to be held at the Lafayette Hotel at 6 p.m.

Richard Prior, president, will be in charge of the program. He said Mansell would indicate to the architects how they might assist in shaping a better Long Beach.

GETTING BACK to the present, Williams reported satisfaction with the city's experiment with parking meters. Under the plan, a merchant can "buy" the meter out front for $50 per year . . . then the city removes the meter top and motorists can park an hour free.

"Thus far, since we started this in February, we've sold 22 out of 68 downtown street parking meters," Williams said. "Just the other day, a merchant came to me and said he'd take two more."

The city manager also mentioned another change downtown, in that some tidier newspaper racks have been mounted on poles to "improve the appearance of things at intersections."

Sales Gain

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sales of latex foam rubber mattresses gained 6.7 per cent in the last quarter of 1964, according to the Latex Foam Rubber Council. For the entire year, retail sales topped $28 million, marking the third straight yearly gain for foam mubber mattresses.

U. S. Exports

COLOGNE, Germany (UPI) —The Institute of German Industry says the United States, with 23.1%, was the main exporting country in the world in the first quarter of 1964. The figure doesn't include the Soviet bloc nations.

Hall Named to Douglas Post

Appointment of Robert A. Hall of Los Angeles as vice president—pricing and information systems for the Douglas Aircraft Company has been announced by President Donald W. Douglas, Jr.

Hall is responsible for the company's computer requirements and applications; company management programs, such as the Critical Path Method (CPM) and Program Evaluation and Review Technique (PERT); creating company pricing policy and monitoring cost reduction programs.

R. C. HALL

A specialist in estimating, pricing and major subcontracting, Hall joined Douglas in 1936.

Sales Staff Will Hear Lumbleau

Some 125 sales personnel of the Ellis-Schrader, Inc., real estate firm will attend a sales meeting at the Los Alamitos Country Club Friday, at 8 a.m.

J. LUMBLEAU

Principal speaker will be John Lumbleau, real estate school head, whose subject will be "Your Time: A Wise Investment Produces a Vast Reward."

Ellis-Schrader operates four offices in Los Angeles County and six in Orange County, with Jack R. Miller as manager.

L.B. Building Designers Will Get Certificates

Members of the Long Beach Chapter of the American Institute of Building Design will receive Certificates of Registration as building designers by the State of California, according to Paul N. Davey, chapter president.

The meeting will be held Monday, 7 p.m., at the Lafayette Hotel.

The State Legislature enacted legislation in 1963 that requires all persons preparing plans and specifications for others must be registered by the State Board of Architectural Examiners.

The American Institute of Building Design, a professional association of building designers, was created in 1950 to upgrade the professional practice of building design.

Advertising Exec Will Address Club

"Advertising to the Biggest Cynics in the World" will be discussed at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Long Beach Advertising Club at the Lafayette Hotel.

JACK JONES

Jack Jones, advertising manager of Mattel, Inc., Hawthorne toy firm, will be the speaker. J. Earl Manning will be chairman of the program.

Guests will be welcome and reservations may be made by calling Helen Perkins at the Independent, Press-Telegram Engravers.

$373,986 Loaned on L.B. Real Estate

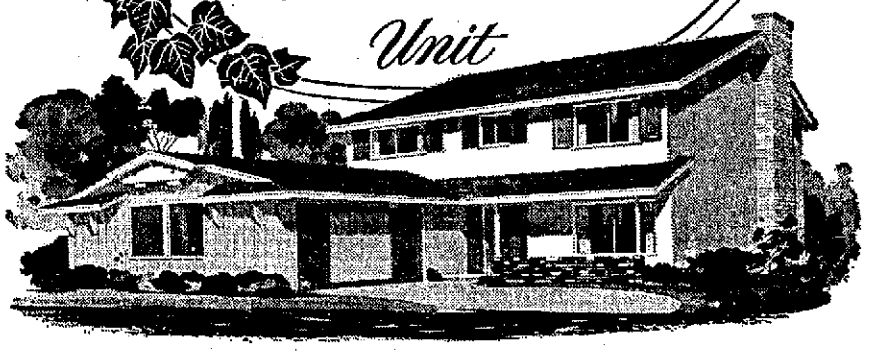

Long Beach real estate loans totaling $373,986 were disbursed by the western home office of the Prudential Insurance Co., during the first quarter of 1965.

Edward J. Ahearn, newly-appointed Southern California regional investments manager for the company's mortgage loan department, said that this represented $38,986 for residential projects, and $335,000 for commercial and industrial uses.

Spacious Newport-West Homes Near Beach Moderately Priced

ATTRACTIVE ENTRY
Luxury is plentiful in the large Newport-West Homes offered by Dutch Haven. Shown is the appealing entry to one of the model homes.

An ever-increasing number of homebuyers are being attracted by the winning combination of spaciousness, seaside location, luxury and surprisingly moderate prices at Newport-West, the beach community near the intersection of Pacific Coast Hgwy and Brookhurst in Orange County.

Often cited as one of the best values along the Pacific, Tom Rochelle, Dutch Haven sales manager, points out that Newport-West is also located within a popular resort area with a host of recreational features such as swimming, boating, surfing and golfing.

* * * *

IN DIRECT CONTRAST to the majority of surrounding beach communities where leased land is used for home construction, Newport-West homebuyers own their land with title guaranteed.

Dutch Haven, builders of thousands of Southland homes is constructing and developing Newport-West.

Priced from $21,950, Newport-West homes have three and four bedrooms, family rooms, up to three baths and an unusually large master bedroom suite with adjoining dressing area.

No down payment to veterans with FHA and Conventional financing, including 10% down payment and 30-year loans, are offered.

To visit the model homes, drive south on the Santa Ana Freeway to the Brookhurst Turnoff, south on Brookhurst to the homes.

Press Party, Set May 14 Miss Realtor Contest,

The 8th Annual Press Party and Miss Realtor contest of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors will be held May 14, according to Jim Hoffman, president.

This year's event will be held in the Embassy Room of the Lafayette Hotel and will begin promptly at 9 p.m. with the judging of the Miss Realtor contest.

First contestant to enter the Miss Realtor contest was Tracy Johnston, sponsored by Realtor Donald L. Schwenn, whose office is located at 915 Redondo Ave., He is secretary-treasurer of the board.

A limited number of tickets are available to members of the board. Members of the local press have been invited as guests and a gala evening is planned. Dress for the occasion is casual.

Judging of the contestants will be in bathing suits and formal dress. All entrants must be 18 years of age and not more than 22.

Artesia Firm Handles Building Problems in Unified Operation

A sophisticated approach toward solution of construction problems often encountered by Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public when building a house or adding a room has been announced by the LeRoy C. Ramsey Construction Co., Inc., of 11602 Stangate St., Artesia.

Basic ingredient to the formula is unification of the various facets of a project into one management, with thorough analysis and feasibility studies preceding—and determiningstart of construction.

* * * *

IN ADDITION to Ramsey, licensed general building contractor and construction finance supervisor, the firm includes Marinus J. Mulder, general building contractor and building superintendent; and J. G. Webb, general sales manager.

The three have combined their varied experiences into a single organization. They aim to iron out building problems and provide "complete service"—especially to persons owning land they'd like to develop.

"We project our analysis of a proposed project to determine whether it has merit and will pay out for the client," Webb said. The planning then is tailored to the particular piece of property involved, he continued.

* * * *

FACT-FINDING and proper planning can cut costs and also reduce vacancy factors, the Artesia company has discovered since unifying its operations. The firm will build to suit its clients, not just confine itself to a set of predetermined designs.

Mulder exemplifies a typical Horatio Alger role, for only eight years ago he came to this country from Holland, where he was a carpenter. He could not speak English and he was low on funds.

But, since then, he has mastered English and has become a licensed contractor.

Perfect Record in Attendance

GLENDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Owen W. Allen, retiring after 42 years as a teacher in Arizona schools, sets a good example for his students during his career.

In all that time he has never missed a day because of illness. Allen, an agriculture teacher at Glendale High School since 1935, attributes his attendance record to being born with good health, taking care of it and exercising regularly.

Foothill Village Townhouses Have Big Appeal to Families

For years homebuilders and sales agents have held conferences trying to predict the caprices of the homebuyer.

Recently a get-together of sales personnel for Foothill Village Townhouses was held to try and pinpoint the sudden interest in the two-story models.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the features of Foothill Village Townhouses were briefly re-examined. Interest in the two-story models is probably due to summertime appeals plus a desire for more space among family buyers, it was decided.

EACH RESIDENCE has its own automatic refrigerated air conditioning. Other features include a recreation building with well-equipped kitchen, swimming pools, a cabana, shuffleboard courts.

With nine different floor plans and a selection in arrangement of rooms that go from two to four bedrooms and two and three baths, the homebuyer can find spaciousness to just under 1,800 square feet of living area.

Foothill Village Townhouses are priced from $18,900 to $25,900 with monthly payments as low as $91. Furnished models are open at 3001 Madison Ave., corner of Placentia Ave. in Fullerton.

Fernhill Emphasizes Space for Adult Type of Living

All-adult, Fernhill in Huntington Beach emphasizes spaciousness, reports sales agent Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattocks Inc. "Fernhill is the perfect compromise between the no-maintenance advantages of planned development living and the basic desire for a spacious home," he said.

McFarland pointed out that active adults whose children have grown up and left home, childless couples, and couples with children over 15 find living very appealing. A separate monthly maintenance payment provides professional care for all Fernhill exteriors, including the extensive recreational facilities.

* * * *

FERNHILL'S two and three-bedroom, two-bath homes offer from 1400 to 1600 square feet of living area. McFarland said that this was larger than many new single family dwellings being offered in Orange County today.

Fernhill is located next to Meadowlark Golf Club.

Fernhill prices start at $22,400. 6¼% financing and 30-year loans are available.

Visitors take Bolsa Chica Road south from the San Diego Freeway to Warner Avenue and turn left on Warner to Fernhill.

Mesa Palos Verdes Draws Executives

Rising young executives and professional people from all over the Southland are being attracted to Mesa Palos Verdes, where luxury homes in an exclusive location can be acquired for as little as 10% down.

Built by Ray Watt, the homes of distinction are offered in the popular split-level plan with three, four or five bedrooms. All have three ornately appointed baths. They feature a separate family/dining room and large rumpus rooms. Carpeting is wall-to-wall.

* * * *

MESA PALOS VERDES homes are located in one of the few remaining Southern California exclusive new home areas. Perched atop the smog-free Palos Verdes hills, the Watt-built homes provide a thrilling view of the expansive Los Angeles, Hollywood and Santa Monica skylines. From the picture windows of the hilltop homes can be seen the sail-studded Catalina Channel and the busy Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors.

The popularly-styling tri-level homes may be bought for as little as $4,475 down —just 10% of the $44,750 low purchase price. Flexible terms are available.

To see the furnished models, take any one of several scenic roads traversing the Palos Verdes hills to Crenshaw Blvd. and Crest Road on the picturesque peninsula.

L.B. Group Going to New Orleans

Carl Allen, William E. Armstrong, Weston F. Godfrey, Victor E. Morris and William F. Neal, Allstate agents in Long Beach, are to attend a sales conference of the Allstate Insurance Companies in New Orleans this week.

The agents and their wives will take part in the 14th annual "Conference of Champions," which will include meetings and round table discussions with top executives of the companies.

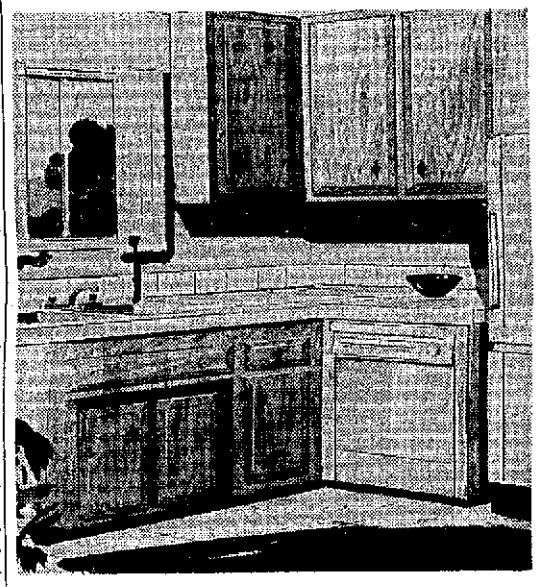

Efficient Kitchens Are Big Attraction

Efficient kitchens designed for the greatest ease of operation are featured at College Park home in the Long Beach-Rossmore area, a division of Garden Park homes according to a spokesman for S. & S. Construction Co., the builders.

The Balanced-Power kitchens have gas built-in range top with hood and exhaust fan, are color-coordinated with the automatic dishwasher which is installed under the worktops near the sink.

The new development site on east Seventh St., will offer three, four and five bedrooms, with two baths in eight floor plans and 34 exterior designs. Single-story and two-story models will have outside patios adjacent to the living room or family room.

The homes are priced from $24,400 to $31,900 and veterans can purchase for only costs and impounds, the spokesman said. FHA low down payments and 30 and 35-year financing are available. Visitors are invited to see the furnished models by driving San Diego Freeway to Studebaker offramp, then east on Seventh St. to Studebaker Road, left (north) to College Park Drive and right to the models.

Efficient kitchen with dishwasher convenient to work tops and sink is featured at new College Park homes in Long Beach-Rossmoor area.

Bernard Solomon, chairman of the board, and William Ballon, president of Jaymarc Corp., check preview plans for the new poolside section opening today at Rossmoor Townhouses.

Townhouse Preview Is Continued Today

Because of popular interest in the new poolside section at Rossmoor Townhouses, the special preview showing has been extended through this weekend, according to William Ballon, president of Jaymarc Corp., developers.

Designed for carefree Southern California country club living, Rossmoor Townhouses add another poolside section increasing swimming fun to four pools. Other fun-facilities include shuffleboard courts, putting greens, barbecue pits and modern, private club house.

choosing your home at the beach is simple arithmetic

1. Newport-West offers the lowest-priced homes at the beach!

2. Lowest priced because you are protected from paying inflated land costs. Land for this coast community was purchased 6 years ago, before property values began to skyrocket!

3. The land is not leased. When you buy the home, YOU OWN THE LAND, title guaranteed!

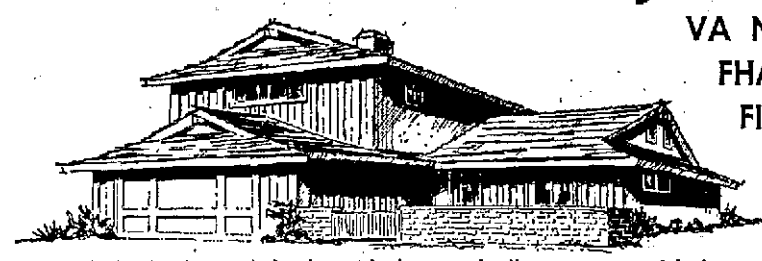

4. Also guaranteed is construction quality that not only meets but surpasses all the rigid requirements of both the VA and the FHA — along with the best financing available!

Mesa Palos Verdes Draws Executives

Rising young executives and professional people from all over the Southland are being attracted to Mesa Palos Verdes, where luxury homes in an exclusive location can be acquired for as little as 10% down.

Built by Ray Watt, the homes of distinction are offered in the popular split-level plan with three, four or five bedrooms. All have three ornately appointed baths. They feature a separate family/dining room and large rumpus rooms. Carpeting is wall-to-wall.

* * * *

MESA PALOS VERDES homes are located in one of the few remaining Southern California exclusive new home areas. Perched atop the smog-free Palos Verdes hills, the Watt-built homes provide a thrilling view of the expansive Los Angeles, Hollywood and Santa Monica skylines. From the picture windows of the hilltop homes can be seen the sail-studded Catalina Channel and the busy Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors.

The popularly-styling tri-level homes may be bought for as little as $4,475 down—just 10% of the $44,750 low purchase price. Flexible terms are available.

To see the furnished models, take any one of several scenic roads traversing the Palos Verdes hills to Crenshaw Blvd. and Crest Road on the picturesque peninsula.

L.B. Group Going to New Orleans

Carl Allen, William E. Armstrong, Weston F. Godfrey, Victor E. Morris and William F. Neal, Allstate agents in Long Beach, are to attend a sales conference of the Allstate Insurance Companies in New Orleans this week.

The agents and their wives will take part in the 14th annual "Conference of Champions," which will include meetings and round table discussions with top executives of the companies.

Bernard Solomon, chairman of the board, and William Ballon, president of Jaymarc Corp., check preview plans for the new poolside section opening today at Rossmoor Townhouses.

Townhouse Preview Is Continued Today

Because of popular interest in the new poolside section at Rossmoor Townhouses, the special preview showing has been extended through this weekend, according to William Ballon, president of Jaymarc Corp., developers.

Designed for carefree Southern California country club living, Rossmoor Townhouses add another poolside section increasing swimming fun to four pools. Other fun-facilities include shuffleboard courts, putting greens, barbecue pits and modern, private club house.

Efficient Kitchens Are Big Attraction

Efficient kitchens designed for the greatest ease of operation are featured at College Park home in the Long Beach-Rossmore area, a division of Garden Park homes according to a spokesman for S. & S. Construction Co., the builders.

The Balanced-Power kitchens have gas built-in range top with hood and exhaust fan, are color-coordinated with the automatic dishwasher which is installed under the worktops near the sink.

The new development site on east Seventh St., will offer three, four and five bedrooms, with two baths in eight floor plans and 34 exterior designs. Single-story and two-story models will have outside patios adjacent to the living room or family room.

The homes are priced from $24,400 to $31,900 and veterans can purchase for only costs and impounds, the spokesman said. FHA low down payments and 30 and 35-year financing are available. Visitors are invited to see the furnished models by driving San Diego Freeway to Studebaker offramp, then east on Seventh St. to Studebaker Road, left (north) to College Park Drive and right to the models.

Efficient kitchen with dishwasher convenient to work tops and sink is featured at new College Park homes in Long Beach-Rossmoor area.

Belmont S&L Building Lakewood Plaza Branch

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Belmont Savings & Loan Association has started construction on Lakewood Plaza branch which will look like this when completed.

Work has begun on the new Belmont Savings & Loan Association Lakewood Plaza Branch at 6300 E. Spring St., near Palo Verde Ave., it was announced last week by William J. Crawford, president.

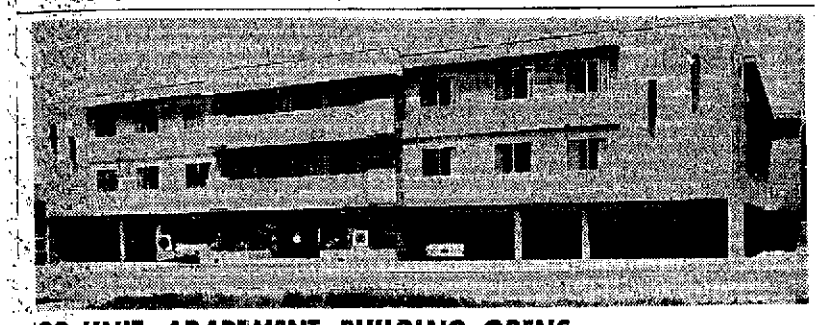

Second of four major office buildings planned by Belmont Savings, it was designed by the architectural firm of Ladd & Kelsey.

The project will feature construction of poured-in-place concrete and glass with a modern open design.

The firm's temporary office building has been moved approximately 100 yards east and to the rear of the construction site where ample parking has been provided and operations will continue during the building period.

According to William Davis, manager of the local office, the new facility will provide such conveniences as remote controlled TV drive-up windows, safety deposit boxes for Belmont customers and ample close-in parking.

In addition, a community room for use by civic groups will be included. These added services, plus the "on-line" data processing system now being used by Belmont will give the ultimate in customer service, Davis said.

30-UNIT APARTMENT BUILDING OPENS

Thirty-unit Wilton Terrace apartment building has been opened by Allmark Enterprises at 3317 Wilton St., Long Beach. Half million dollar layout includes one and two-bedroom units, furnished or unfurnished; heated pool; inter-com hi-fi; soundproofing; many built-ins; recreation facilities; wall to wall carpeting and custom draperies. Grand opening is now under way.

IN HUNTINGTON BEACH

The one and two-story, three, four and five-bedroom, two and three-bath Prestige Homes in Huntington Beach have been purchased by over 200 families since Jan. 1. The home above contains 2,300 square feet of floor area with four bedrooms, three bathrooms, a formal dining area, sunken living room and separate family room with fireplace.

Wide Selection of Styling Available in Prestige Homes

Homebuyers enjoy a wide latitude of choice in exterior elevations and center hall plans at Prestige Homes in Huntington Beach, according to Frank M. Doyle of the Doyle & Shields Development Co., Inc., builders of the popular home community within a ten minute drive of state park beaches.

"Our one and two story; three, four and five bedroom; two and three bath homes encompass seven different floor plans and thirty elevations from which homebuyers can select the plan the exterior that meets their physical and esthetic needs," the building executive continued.

* * * *

"OVER 200 PRESTIGE Homes have been purchased since the beginning of the year using the variety of financing methods tailored to meet each buyer's pocketbook."

Prestige Homes features include nylon carpeting; quarry tile, del piso or slate entryways; Tappan all-electric built-in range, oven and dishwasher; large family rooms, some with fireplaces; pantrys in many models; separate formal dining rooms in some plans; wardrobes to 14' long; and up to 2,300 sq. ft. of floor area.

Six decorated model homes are opened daily. From the Long Beach area drive south on the San Diego Freeway to Bolsa Chica Road. Turn south on Bolsa Chica to Edinger Avenue, left on Edinger to Springdale St., right on Springdale a short distance to Prestige Homes in Huntington Beach.

Honor Memory of Bank Founder

OFFERED IN ORANGE

Meredith Acres, $6,500,000 development of 150 residences in Orange at Santiago and Taft, built by Eddy Meredith, features six fully and differently furnished models on display. Now better than three-fourths sold out, the development features 24 dramatic split-level and two-story designs.

Meredith Acres Offers Big Variety of Styling

With the first unit sold out and the second well over half sold out Meredith Acres, the 150 split-level and two-story residences built by Orange County builder Eddy Meredith for $6,500,000 is now well into another success story for the builder.

Located in Orange at the foot of hills at Taft and Santiago, is the third $6,000,000 fine home development built and sold by Eddy Meredith in addition to his deluxe Fullerton apartments known as Meredith Manor. Construction is well under way for another major Meredith development in the Huntington Beach area.

MEREDITH ACRES homes in Orange are noted for their wide variety of exterior designs and for living area up to 3,200 square feet. The many different models all feature formal dining rooms plus informal dining areas in three, four and five bedrooms with three baths and two and three car garages.

One of the outstanding models, the Ashland, features a sweeping 21-foot galleria overlooking an impressive foyer and living room with an expansive 10-foot-wide stairway designed for the grand entrance.

The front of the Ashland is a tri-level design with four bedrooms and a master bedroom extending 30 feet.

OTHER OUTSTANDING models include the two-story Beaumont with either four or five bedrooms.

A recent contemporary model is the new Normandie now being featured in the second unit. Another striking split level design with three bedrooms is the Carlyle.

One entire cul de sac street at Meredith Acres is completely landscaped with the furnished models all on one street so the prospective homebuyer may envision how his home might look on completion.

Meredith Acres homes are priced from $36,500 with 90% financing with 30-year loans available.

Flowers Out in Mountains at W-Bar-B

The rugged mountain beauty of W-Bar-B Ranch in Walker Basin of Kern County has been embellished by the sprouting of miles of wildflowers this week, according to Don Smith, sales agent.

W-Bar-B Ranch is being offered in 2½ acre sites for those who want to escape the noise and smell of the asphalt jungles with a summer ranch or vacation cottage in the high country.

Located at an altitude of 3,500 feet, it reaches up to 7,000 feet in places. The beauty hasn't been changed since Joe Walker, pioneer scout, led General Fremont's party out of the Mojave Desert, over the now Walker Pass through this basin surrounded by the Piute Mountains to the San Joaquin Valley.

* * * *

TODAY'S owner, Vern Schell, a rancher from way back, tied-in with businessmen Harold Peate and John D. Roche to offer this 5,000-acre ranch to interested owners who wanted to unlax and unwind, Smith said.

The ranch is blessed with clean pure mountain air and four full seasons. More snow than usual this winter has benefited the great wildflower growth now, Smith said.

Preservation of this historical area as a recreational locale has been assured by reasonable building restrictions, although the keeping of horses is permitted.

The site is located 15 miles equidistant from Lake Isabella's water sports in one direction, and Shirley Meadows' snow sports in another.

Kaiser Gypsum Promotes L.B. Area Executive

Tom C. Donovan has been promoted to manager for one of two western sales regions for Kaiser Gypsum, J. J. Hague, vice president of sales, announced recently.

Donovan formerly was southern divisional sales manager in Kaiser Gypsum's Long Beach office. In his new position, he will be responsible for the company's sales activities from Southern California to the eastern parts of Kansas and Texas. Donovan will continue to be headquartered in Long Beach.

TOM DONOVAN

Donovan joined Kaiser Gypsum at Long Beach in 1947 and has held various sales and merchandising positions.

Born in Long Beach, he is an alumnus of the University of Arizona and Idaho State College, and obtained his master's degree at Harvard School of Business.

He resides with his wife and two children at 905 S. Western Ave., Anaheim.

Officers Re-Elected By Kaufman and Broad

Shareholders of Kaufman and Broad Building Company, Los Angeles, re-elected all members of the board of directors and approved an employe qualified stock option plan.

Eli Broad, president and chairman of the board, reported to the meeting on April 22 that the company's objectives for the year are to improve margins, increase production to reduce its record high backlog, and to expand its penetration in Los Angeles and Orange Counties, Calif., and Chicago.

* * * *

HE SAID THE past year, in which the sales and earnings were the second highest in the company's history, "was one of adjustment, but Kaufman and Broad is the same growth company as in 1961,, 1962, and 1963."

Backlog now stands at approximately $35 million, up from the $13 million at the end of its fiscal year, Nov. 30, 1964. Broad stated this was due primarily to excellent sales in the Midwest, and because deliveries were slower due to severe winter conditions there.

Greater volume is anticipated for the current full year, with the largest gains expected to take place during the company's third and fourth quarters. This is based on improved results from its production of private housing in the Detroit, Chicago, and Phoenix areas, and expanded developments in Southern California. Broad stated models are presently under production for a 159-unit community in Orange County, model homes will begin in May on a San Fernando complex of 121 units, and another program in Orange County for single family residences, and townhouses will also start in May. The latter two are expected to be open for sales in July and August.

OFFERED IN ORANGE

Meredith Acres, $6,500,000 development of 150 residences in Orange at Santiago and Taft, built by Eddy Meredith, features six fully and differently furnished models on display. Now better than three-fourths sold out, the development features 24 dramatic split-level and two-story designs.

Meredith Acres Offers Big Variety of Styling

With the first unit sold out and the second well over halfway sold out Meredith Acres, the 150 split-level and two-story residences built by Orange County builder Eddy Meredith for $6,500,000 is now well into another success story for the builder.

Located in Orange at the foot of hills at Taft and Santiago, is the third $6,000,000 fine home development built and sold by Eddy Meredith in addition to his deluxe Fullerton apartments known as Meredith Manor. Construction is well under way for another major Meredith development in the Huntington Beach area.

MEREDITH ACRES homes in Orange are noted for their wide variety of exterior designs and for living area up to 3,200 square feet. The many different models all feature formal dining rooms plus informal dining areas in three, four and five bedrooms with three baths and two and three car garages.

One of the outstanding models, the Ashland, features a sweeping 21-foot galleria overlooking an impressive foyer and living room with an expansive 10-foot-wide staircase designed for the grand entrance.

The front of the Ashland is a tri-level design with four bedrooms and a master bedroom extending 30 feet.

OTHER OUTSTANDING models include the two-story Beaumont with either four or five bedrooms.

A recent contemporary model is the new Normandie now being featured in the second unit. Another striking split level design with three bedrooms is the Carlyle.

One entire cul de sac street at Meredith Acres is completely landscaped with the furnished models all on one street so the prospective homebuyer may envision how his home might look on completion.

Meredith Acres homes are priced from $36,500 with 90% financing with 30-year loans available.

To reach the development from Santa Ana, drive out 17th St. to Tustin Ave. and continue north to Taft and then turn right to Santiago and the models.

Huntington Bay Homes Are for Active Adult

HUNTINGTON BAY OPENS
One-story garden patio homes such as these are among seven models featured at Huntington Bay in Huntington Beach, a 120-home development for active people. Opening-day festivities today will include a prime rib barbecue dinner and square dance demonstrations.

Towne Houses and one-story garden patio homes tailored to the total needs of a once-forgotten breed of buyer—the "active adult"—will be unveiled today at Huntington Bay in Huntington Beach.

Festivities at the 120-home development, located three minutes from the ocean at Adams Ave. and Brookhurst St., will include a complimentary prime rib barbecue feed for visitors, as well as professional square dancing demonstrations from 1 to 4 p.m.

Price range is $12,990 to $17,490 on these one to four-bedroom homes by Kaufman and Broad Homes, Inc., one of the nation's largest producers of custom-created housing.

* * * *

"VISITORS will find that Huntington Bay is designed for active adults, working people who desire a mode of recreational living free from the bothers of organization and maintenance," according to Jack Scougall, Kaufman and Broad vice president-sales manager.

"We have a continuing series of activities here," he added, "under the supervision of an experienced, full-time social director. Facilities include a clubhouse and swimming pool."

Homes also contribute to the theme. Features include built-in ovens, ranges and disposers; washers and dryers; spacious private rear patios; forced air heating.

* * * *

"WE HAVE combined the experience gained at comparable Kaufman and Broad developments in Chicago, Detroit and Phoenix and added the special flavor that is Southern California to produce these models," Scougall noted.

To reach Huntington Bay at Adams Avenue and Brookhurst Street in Huntington Beach, travel on the Santa Ana Freeway, take the Brookhurst cutoff south to Adams, then turn left. There are directional signs along the route.

Decorator Aids Home Buyer

"With a little guidance, the homeowner can decorate successfully and have a home keyed to his family's needs and activities," says Carl Sandahl, design consultant at the California Home Fair.

An unusual decorating studio, over 1,000 sq. ft., adjacent to the model home plaza, offers design and color advice to home buyers at no additional cost. The Pacific Interiors, under the guidance of Carl Sandahl, stocks 500 carpet and drapery samples plus furniture, landscaping and product displays.

The three, four and five-bedroom homes reflect concepts and ideas plus understanding of the needs and desires of Californians' casual way of life. The model home sales pavilion and five new architectural designs house new product displays and colorful furnishings in California style.

* * * *

PRICES RANGE from $29,550 to $35,975 including an exceptional list of premium features: full attic-insulation, weather stripping, hand-split shake, shingle or colored rock roofs, concrete driveways, walks, porches and patios. In every home, California products have been used extensively.

Carl Sandahl has gained experience in the last 14 years merchandising model home interiors. He believes this unique service offered at the California Home Fair will help homeowners select compatible color schemes, and will assist them in furnishing a perfect home for California living.

Sol Vista's California Home Fair is now on display at 16661 Beach Blvd., Huntington Beach, with their newest model home plaza, decorating studio, exhibits and sales pavilion.

ADVISES ON FURNISHINGS
Carl Sandahl, design consultant for California Home Fair, is available to help home buyers make their selection from the latest products and designs in furnishings and appurtenances.

Memory Expert to Address Realtors

Memory expert Arthur Bornstein will be featured speaker at the Tuesday breakfast meeting of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors, according to Ed Shaheen, May program chairman.

A. BORNSTEIN

"Your Memory Can Be Trained" will be Bornstein's topic at the 7:15 a.m. meeting in the Crown Cafeteria.

Shaheen said the speaker directs a memory training school he founded at Los Angeles in 1952 and is a widely known speaker on the subject.

"With a little guidance, the homeowner can decorate successfully and have a home keyed to his family's needs and activities," says Carl Sandahl, design consultant at the California Home Fair.

An unusual decorating studio, over 1,000 sq. ft., adjacent to the model home plaza, offers design and color advice to home buyers at no additional cost. The Pacific Interiors, under the guidance of Carl Sandahl, stocks 500 carpet and drapery samples plus furniture, landscaping and product displays.

The three, four and five-bedroom homes reflect concepts and ideas plus understanding of the needs and desires of Californians' casual way of life. The model home sales pavilion and five new architectural designs house new product displays and colorful furnishings in California style.

PRICES RANGE from $29,550 to $35,975 including an exceptional list of premium features: full attic-insulation, weather stripping, hand-split shake, shingle or colored rock roofs, concrete driveways, walks, porches and patios. In every home, California products have been used extensively.

Carl Sandahl has gained experience in the last 14 years merchandising model home interiors. He believes this unique service offered at the California Home Fair will help homeowners select compatible color schemes, and will assist them in furnishing a perfect home for California living.

Sol Vista's California Home Fair is now on display at 16661 Beach Blvd., Huntington Beach, with their newest model home plaza, decorating studio, exhibits and sales pavilion.

ADVISES ON FURNISHINGS

Carl Sandahl, design consultant for California Home Fair, is available to help home buyers make their selection from the latest products and designs in furnishings and appurtenances.

Memory Expert to Address Realtors

Memory expert Arthur Bornstein will be featured speaker at the Tuesday breakfast meeting of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors, according to Ed Shaheen, May program chairman.

A. BORNSTEIN

"Your Memory Can Be Trained" will be Bornstein's topic at the 7:15 a.m. meeting in the Crown Cafeteria.

Shaheen said the speaker directs a memory training school he founded at Los Angeles in 1952 and is a widely known speaker on the subject.

In New Offices

John E. Wells, AIA, architect, has announced opening of new offices in Newport Beach at University Plaza, 4500 Campus Drive, directly across from Orange County Airport. Wells opened his original offices in the harbor area three years ago, moving from Pasadena.

JAPANESE FANTASY BALL

...to celebrate The Year of the Pearl

By ELISE EMERY

Long Beach Symphony Ball Friday, May 14, in the International Ballroom of Lafayette Hotel will mark the 30th anniversary of the orchestra and will honor our sister city, Yokkaichi, Japan.

Combining these two factors, Mrs. Herman H. Ridder, ball chairman, suggested a Japanese Fantasy Ball with the theme, "The Year of the Pearl."

Like the pearl's own luster, it will reflect the elegance, grace and brilliant beauty of the Orient.

With her co-chairman, Mrs. Robert C. Westmyer, who is president of the Symphony Guild, and Mottell D. Peek, president of the Symphony Association, Mrs. Ridder and the ball committees have detailed plans for an unforgettable evening.

The ballroom will be handsomely decorated to invoke the atmosphere of Japan. Cherry blossom pink will be richly accented with bright colors, and Japanese girls, with porcelain complexions and clad in kimonos, will join the hostess committee in greeting guests.

THE HON. TOSHIRO Shimanouchi, consul general of Japan at Los Angeles, Japanese American leaders of the area and members of the Japanese American Citizens League have been invited.

Festivities will begin with no host cocktails from 7 to 8:30 p.m. before dinner. Table decorations of unusual beauty are being sent from Yokkaichi under supervision of the mayor, Sukenori Hirata. It is a tradition of the ball that decorations are kept secret until the night of the event.

As an act of sister city friendship, the table decorations will be sold and proceeds sent to aid the Yokkaichi orphanage.

Nor will other decorations have a one-night-only use. Millikan High School students will help prepare and place them and, in return, the ball committee will leave them for the school's prom the following night.

Art Noda of the Japanese American Citizens League, Harbor District Chapter, has arranged entertainment.

FOUR JAPANESE musicians will play kotos—the koto is an instrument consisting of a long oblong box with 13 silken strings, plucked with the fingers. Lovely Japanese girls will perform dances—Yachiyo Jishi (Happiness Forever) and the Parasol Dance. Odo Nakamura will play the bamboo flute.

The evening will conclude with dancing to the music of Joe Moshay's orchestra.

Committee members responsible for the gala evening include Mmes. Lloyd Whaley, William Nott, Wilma Hastings, William Maschal, Richard Westervelt and Miller Crane.

Others are Mayor Edwin Wade and Mrs. William Dovey, representing the City of Long Beach; Robert Metzger, representing the Port of Long Beach; Miss Kazuko Matsumoto and Dr. Tadao Hara of the Sister City Committee; Vaile Young, Al Drew and Wallace Arntzen; and Mmes. Alex Kadvany, John Dale, Julius Coronado, David Tallichet, Edward Killingsworth and Ron Hughes.

The ball is being staged to raise funds for the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra which so enriches the cultural life of the city. Its activities include a series of Sunday evening concerts with famous artists, a family concert series, young people's concerts, the starlight summer pops, student musician competition, auditions for young artists and concert previews open to the public without charge.

More than 1,000 scroll invitations have been sent to social and civic leaders of the city and state.

The public is invited to join in The Year of the Pearl celebration. Reservations may be made with any member of the committee, particularly with Mrs. Maschal, 4251 Chestnut Ave., or Mrs. Westervelt, 3550 Claremore.

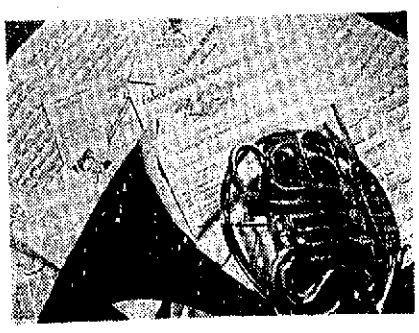

PRESENT to greet guests at ball will be (from left) Mrs. Robert Westmyer; Jean Komai, who is Miss Long Beach Harbor, and Darlene Hiroto. Ball is sponsored by Long Beach Symphony Association and the Symphony Guild for support of Long Beach Symphony Orchestra.

WILD WAVES SAY

One way or another—educational!

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Society Editor

ALL IN ALL, the week has produced some most educational notes, as you shall see. They range from extra special to absolute kookie fun—but, nonetheless, educational.

To start with, the extra special. Suzy Broz, a junior at USC, was one of 18 students (9 boys, 9 girls) selected to study in England this summer on a scholarship to Cambridge. What makes it doubly meaningful, her sister, Brenda, was one of the very few chosen for a Cambridge scholarship last year!

This is Suzi Broz . . . and sister, Brenda

Pictured above are Suzy (left) and Brenda. The two gals keep piling up additional honors. Brenda, for instance, has just been named USC's Marketing "Man" of the Year by its school of business—first girl ever to win this honor. Quite a switch . . . from serving as Helen of Troy, homecoming princess, to filling a "man's shoes."

She also has been elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, highest honor the business school can bestow . . . is senior justice of the Women's Judicial Court and senior class secretary. Not to steal thunder from Suzy, Suzy was chosen chairman of Troleos, in charge of homecoming at SC next fall. What fireballs!

HERE WE go again—another REUNION! This one, its planners insist, will be the most. It's to be a get-together of the Poly High class of 1930, with grads from classes two years either side of '30 urged to attend, also. It will take place May 23 (that's a Sunday), 2 to 5 p.m., at the Elks Club. In a way, this can be considered very educational. Meaning, like catching up studies on what 35 years have done to ye, olde buddies!

George Marmion, 244 E. Third St., is accepting checks ($1.25 each) now, so send in your ducats. W. Odie Wright is co-chairman with George. Spouses (even of the Wilson grad variety) are welcome. A few of the classmates expected are Chief of Police Bill Mooney, Drs. Frank Stanton Jr., Russ Cullen, Jack Hallett, Coaches "Sax" Elliot, John Morrow, Bob Parke, Jack Walton and then such other wheelers and dealers as Bob Sprague, Dick Browning, Sam Chase, et al.

Guess better not forget some of the gals. These would include such as Mrs. Stan (June Harrison) Hill, Mrs. Loyd (Lois Outhier) Landes, Mrs. Merrill (Virginia Weems) Lilley, Mrs. Ralph (Sally Sherman) Garrison, Betty Shaw.

ONE OF the best productions of any surprise party "show" in town was written, directed and financed by Christine, 16, and Loretta, 13, Lungren. It was a surprise dinner party for dad Dr. Jack Lungren's birthday. To add to the impact, they managed to keep plans a total secret from their mother, Lorain, as well.

They had assistance from adult friends, including Daphne and Rudy Munzer, who wheedled Jack and Lorain out of the house with sneaky invitations for cocktails and dinner out. Then Christine, as preplanned, called her folks to come home on the ruse she had a new boy friend she wanted them to meet. When they arrived back, they discovered a houseful of people, table set with best linen and crystal and a full-course steak dinner ready to be served.

Among the guests were the Munzers, Betty and Bob Buffum, Betty and Bob Godwin, Nina and Nick Trutanic, Sue Buell (Art had a meeting to attend) and Dorothy and Lee Wiltse.

WHAT A business trip THIS will be. Bob Decker, branch manager for a national distributing company of bottled goods (and I don't mean perfume, although aroma is important) and wife, Cleo, are going to Europe. They'll fly to New York May 12 and thence to Madrid. For five weeks they'll travel all over Europe, visiting exporters of liquids they import. In Italy and Portugal they'll study the wine industry and in France the champagne. In Spain it will be learning of their ways with brandy and in Germany of beer.

A main portion of trip will be attending a Scotch seminar in Glasgow to find out the Scots' views on their native brew. As a spirited ambassador of good will, have a hunch Bob will find the opportunity to tout some U.S.A. stuff enroute.

USUALLY IT'S the mother of the bride who is in a happy dither as fateful date grows near. Not this time. It's the daughters of the bride, Dolores Burt and Bette Healy, who are plans-making for their mother, Eleanor Geisser. Eleanor and Oscar Allerton of Rochester, Minn., have a wedding date May 22.

Oscar and Eleanor have been friends since she was 17 and he was a good friend of her late husband, as well. But their paths hadn't crossed in a long time—until last February when Oscar stopped in Long Beach enroute to Hawaii. It didn't take long for an old friendship to burst into romance.

They'll live part of the year in Rochester, where he is an architect and builder, and part of the year in Long Beach.

WHAT LOOKED like it was going to turn into a comedy of errors, turned into one of the merriest parties of spring, instead. Reva and Dr. Seymour Albans decided to have an open house in their new home on Bryant Road in Park Estates BEFORE they moved in, with co-hosts Selma and Dr. Bernard Cooperman and Shirley and Dr. Earl Feiwell.

To late to cancel the affair, they found out the furniture would not be there for party date. What's more, only a small portion of the landscaping had been completed. Worst of all, it was discovered that a number of invitations had disappeared into thin air. They contacted as many of the invited "uninvited" by phone as they could and, all told, about 300 guests were present for a great cocktail buffet.

NOW FOR the kookie fun educational phase of the news, mentioned at start of column one. Below are pictured Mary Mullarky (L.), daughter of Joe and Dorothy Mullarky, and Jeanne Graham, Bill and Baba's coed miss. For the summer semester they're going to the University of Hawaii to major in hula lessons and minor in Hawaiian language. Both Gamma Phis, Mary is from USC and Jeanne from UCLA. Whatta summer THIS is gonna be!

They'll major in hula at University of Hawaii!

Honeymooners plan homes in Long Beach

McGrath-Roberts

A home in Long Beach awaits Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGrath (Sherie Roberts) following a honeymoon trip to San Francisco. The newlyweds were married Saturday afternoon in All Saints Episcopal Church.

The bride, daughter of Luis J. Roberts, 61 Belmont Ave., wore a white satin gown with bodice of pearl-trimmed lace. The full-length skirt fell into a chapel train.

* * * *

ROXINE ROBERTS, sister of the bride, was maid of honor; Pamela Ogden, Lorinda Elms and Nancy John served as bridesmaids. Julie and John Ellis were flower girl and ringbearer.

The groom, son of Mrs. Betty McGrath, Reseda, chose Richard Burdick as best man; Ronald Brualdi and his two brothers, Roger and Robin, seated guests.

The new Mrs. McGrath was graduated from Wilson High School. She attended Long Beach State College, from which her husband graduated. He was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

McClure-Gray

Carole Ann Gray and Kenneth Lee McClure recited nuptial vows Friday evening in Community Presbyterian Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray Jr., of 1856 E. 63rd St., wore a gown of peau de soie with scoop neckline and front lace panel. The back of her gown cascaded into a sweep train appliqued in lace.

Mrs. Donna Green, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; Mrs. Peggy Yacono and Mrs. Paula Reinhardt completed the entourage. Rodger Green was best man for the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McClure, 2118 E. 63rd St., with Joseph Yacono and Luren Wells seating guests.

* * * *

OTHER members of the bridal party were Lynn Louise Reinhardt, flower girl, and David Byrnes, ringbearer.

The new Mrs. McClure was graduated from St. Anthony's High School and Long Beach City College. Her husband, an alumnus of Jordan High School, currently is attending LBCC.

The couple will make their home in Long Beach following a honeymoon trip to La Jolla and San Diego.

WEDDING BELLS WILL RING

College students to recite vows

Uhlenhop-Brand

The betrothal of Jacquelyn Uhlenhop annd William J. Brand Jr. has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gerald Uhlenhop of Solvang.

The groom-elect is son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brand, of Long Beach. The couple attended Long Beach City College, where he was president of Tilsmen and she was a member of Entre Nous and Kassai. They now are attending Long Beach State College, where he is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A June 19 wedding is being planned.

Watt-Day

Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Watt, Long Beach, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Elizabeth, to Laurence Dean Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Day of Vallejo.

The bride-elect was graduated from Wilson High School and now is attending Long Beach State College, where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta. Her fiance, a Vallejo Junior College graduate, also was graduated from LBSC and now is working on his master's degree. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A Dec. 19 wedding is being planned.

Chittick-Rico

A Sept. 11 wedding is planned by Carolyn Ruth Chittick and John Edward Rico. The engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Chittick of Long Beach. The groom-elect is son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Rico, also of Long Beach.

The couple was graduated from Millikan High School. Miss Chittick also was graduated from Southland College of Medical Assistants. Her fiance currently is studying at LBCC.

Wandrey-Harrison

A traditional candle ceremony at Delta Delta Delta sorority house announced the engagement of member Suzanne Diane Wandrey to Frank Thomas Harrison, both of Long Beach.

Suzanne is the daughter of Mrs. Paul H. Wieby, Long Beach, and the late Paul Wandrey. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison, also of Long Beach. Both are graduates of Millikan High; she currently is studying at LBSC. He attended LBCC.

The couple plans to wed on Sept. 11.

Gill-Barrington

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gill, Long Beach, announce engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Jo, to Norman L. Barrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Barrington, Lynwood.

A graduate of Poly High, the bride-elect now attends LBCC. Her fiance, a graduate of Lynwood High and Compton Junior College, now is serving with the U.S. Navy, stationed in Long Beach.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Installation Wednesday for matrons

MRS. CLEO SIMMONS

Installation of Mrs. Cleo R. Simmons as chairman will highlight final luncheon meeting of Matrons Department of Ebell Wednesday noon at Ebell Clubhouse. She succeeds Mrs. Frank E. Hynes.

Also to be installed by Mrs. J. Roscoe Howell, past Ebell president, are Mmes. Wilbur Lee Candy, vice-chairman; John Gordon, recording secretary; O. J. Reeves, treasurer; and Charles Ritz, door hostess.

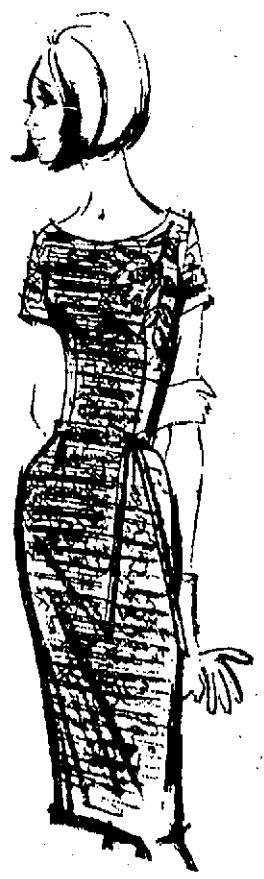

Card playing will follow the luncheon.

Time for cards!

St. Anthony's Altar Society will sponsor its May card party Monday, 8 p.m., in Catholic Center, Sixth St. and Alamitos Ave. Bridge, pinochle, 500 and canasta will be played.

It will take place May 23 (that's a Sunday), 2 to 5 p.m., at the Elks Club. In a way, this can be considered very educational. Meaning, like catching up studies on what 35 years have done to ye, olde buddies!

George Marmion, 244 E. Third St., is accepting checks ($1.25 each) now, so send in your ducats. W. Odie Wright is co-chairman with George. Spouses (even of the Wilson grad variety) are welcome. A few of the classmates expected are Chief of Police Bill Mooney, Drs. Frank Stanton Jr., Russ Cullen, Jack Hallett, Coaches "Sax" Elliot, John Morrow, Bob Parke, Jack Walton and then such other wheelers and dealers as Bob Sprague, Dick Browning, Sam Chase, et al.

Guess better not forget some of the gals. These would include such as Mrs. Stan (June Harrison) Hill, Mrs. Loyd (Lois Outhier) Landes, Mrs. Merrill (Virginia Weems) Lilley, Mrs. Ralph (Sally Sherman) Garrison, Betty Shaw.

ONE OF the best productions of any surprise party "show" in town was written, directed and financed by Christine, 16, and Loretta, 13, Lungren. It was a surprise dinner party for dad Dr. Jack Lungren's birthday. To add to the impact, they managed to keep plans a total secret from their mother, Lorain, as well.

They had assistance from adult friends, including Daphne and Rudy Munzer, who wheedled Jack and Lorain out of the house with sneaky invitations for cocktails and dinner out. Then Christine, as preplanned, called her folks to come home on the ruse she had a new boy friend she wanted them to meet. When they arrived back, they discovered a houseful of people, table set with best linen and crystal and a full-course steak dinner ready to be served.

Among the guests were the Munzers, Betty and Bob Buffum, Betty and Bob Godwin, Nina and Nick Trutanic, Sue Buell (Art had a meeting to attend) and Dorothy and Lee Wiltse.

WHAT A business trip THIS will be. Bob Decker, branch manager for a national distributing company of bottled goods (and I don't mean perfume, although aroma is important) and wife, Cleo, are going to Europe. They'll fly to New York May 12 and thence to Madrid. For five weeks they'll travel all over Europe, visiting exporters of liquids they import. In Italy and Portugal they'll study the wine industry and in France the champagne. In Spain it will be learning of their ways with brandy and in Germany of beer.

A main portion of trip will be attending a Scotch seminar in Glasgow to find out the Scots' views on their native brew. As a spirited ambassador of good will, have a hunch Bob will find the opportunity to tout some U.S.A. stuff enroute.

USUALLY IT'S the mother of the bride who is in a happy dither as fateful date grows near. Not this time. It's the daughters of the bride, Dolores Burt and Bette Healy, who are plans-making for their mother, Eleanor Geisser. Eleanor and Oscar Allerton of Rochester, Minn., have a wedding date May 22.

Oscar and Eleanor have been friends since she was 17 and he was a good friend of her late husband, as well. But their paths hadn't crossed in a long time—until last February when Oscar stopped in Long Beach enroute to Hawaii. It didn't take long for an old friendship to burst into romance.

They'll live part of the year in Rochester, where he is an architect and builder, and part of the year in Long Beach.

WHAT LOOKED like it was going to turn into a comedy of errors, turned into one of the merriest parties of spring, instead. Reva and Dr. Seymour Albans decided to have an open house in their new home on Bryant Road in Park Estates BEFORE they moved in, with co-hosts Selma and Dr. Bernard Cooperman and Shirley and Dr. Earl Feiwell.

To late to cancel the affair, they found out the furniture would not be there for party date. What's more, only a small portion of the landscaping had been completed. Worst of all, it was discovered that a number of invitations had disappeared into thin air. They contacted as many of the invited "uninvited" by phone as they could and, all told, about 300 guests were present for a great cocktail buffet.

NOW FOR the kookie fun educational phase of the news, mentioned at start of column one. Below are pictured Mary Mullarky (L.), daughter of Joe and Dorothy Mullarky, and Jeanne Graham, Bill and Baba's coed miss. For the summer semester they're going to the University of Hawaii to major in hula lessons and minor in Hawaiian language. Both Gamma Phis, Mary is from USC and Jeanne from UCLA. Whatta summer THIS is gonna be!

They'll major in hula at University of Hawaii!

Honeymooners plan homes in Long Beach

McGrath-Roberts

A home in Long Beach awaits Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGrath (Sherie Roberts) following a honeymoon trip to San Francisco. The newlyweds were married Saturday afternoon in All Saints Episcopal Church.

The bride, daughter of Luis J. Roberts, 61 Belmont Ave., wore a white satin gown with bodice of pearl-trimmed lace. The full-length skirt fell into a chapel train.

* * * *

ROXINE ROBERTS, sister of the bride, was maid of honor; Pamela Ogden, Lorinda Elms and Nancy John served as bridesmaids. Julie and John Ellis were flower girl and ringbearer.

The groom, son of Mrs. Betty McGrath, Reseda, chuse Richard Burdick as best man; Ronald Brualdi and his two brothers, Roger and Rohin, seated guests.

The new Mrs. McGrath was graduated from Wilson High School. She attended Long Beach State College, from which her husband graduated. He was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

McClure-Gray

Carole Ann Gray and Kenneth Lee McClure recited nuptial vows Friday evening in Community Presbyterian Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray Jr., of 1856 E. 63rd St., wore a gown of peau de soie with scoop neckline and front lace panel. The back of her gown cascaded into a sweep train appliqued in lace.

Mrs. Donna Green, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; Mrs. Peggy Yacono and Mrs. Paula Reinhardt completed the entourage. Rodger Green was best man for the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McClure, 2118 E. 63rd St., with Joseph Yacono and Loren Wells seating guests.

* * * *

OTHER members of the bridal party were Lynn Louise Reinhardt, flower girl, and David Byrnes, ringbearer.

The new Mrs. McClure was graduated from St. Anthony's High School and Long Beach City College. Her husband, an alumnus of Jordan High School, currently is attending LBCC.

The couple will make their home in Long Beach following a honeymoon trip to La Jolla and San Diego.

For a smart coed at State College:

Derby Day's a winner

A lucky college girl will move a furlong further toward the finish of school at Los Alamitos Race Track Saturday.

To do so, she won't have to win, place or show.

Members of Executive Secretaries', Inc., Long Beach Chapter, are assuring the payoff.

They're donating proceeds from their Derby Day ticket sales to a scholarship for a girl at California State, Long Beach.

The college coed won't be the only lucky one at the track that day. Anyone who buys a ticket will be a winner.

Guests at the racy social event, ways and means project of the group, will be hosted at an elegant after-the-races cocktail buffet in a private room overlooking the track.

Tickets for the race are being handled by Bette Wertz, 127 St. Joseph Ave., and Barbara A. Loesch, 34 Granada Ave.

RAKISHLY READY for big race, Bernadine Jameson, president, Executive Secretaries, Inc., Los Angeles, and Bette Wertz, L.B. chapter president, don derbies for Derby Day, 1 p.m. Saturday—the day when Los Alamitos race horses enter the race for education.

ON THE BRIDAL PATH

Take honeymoons in California

Doty-Harding

St. Matthew's Catholic Church was scene of the marriage of Judith Lynn Harding of Long Beach and George Hilbert Doty, Newport Beach, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester T. Harding, Martinsville, Ind., are parents of the bride. The groom is son of Mrs. C. E. Oliver, Newport Beach, and the late Mr. H. V. Doty.

The bride, wearing a white lace overblouse, was preceeded to the altar by Mrs. Robert W. Kitzman, matron of honor, and Patricia L. Lennert, bridesmaid.

* * * *

THE GROOM chose John Ballantyne as best man; Robert W. Kitzman and Alan Ourant seated guests.

The new Mrs. Doty was graduated from the University of Michigan. Her husband is an alumnus of Poly High School and attended Chaffey College.

Following a honeymoon in Crestline and Lake Arrowhead, the newlyweds will reside in Newport Beach.

Beasley-Wright

The East Side Christian Church was setting for the marriage of Mary Jane Wright and James V. Beasley Saturday evening.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wright, 5325 Ebell St., wore an empire style gown of silk organza and peau d'ange lace with sheath skirt. A lace panel, which trimmed the overskirt, flowed into a chapel length train.

Mrs. Dennis Hasty was matron of honor with Mrs. Richard Lundin, Mrs. Richard Wright, Florine Babajian and Patricia Wright, junior bridesmaid, completing the entourage. Debbie Shuff was flower girl.

THE GROOM, son of Mrs. Margaret Beasley, 3722 Alfred St., Lakewood, chose Tony Cioffi as best man. John Steele, Lynn Shuff, Richard Wright and Michael Vignovich seated guests; David Wright was ringbearer.

The new Mrs. Beasley was graduated from Millikan High School; her husband is an alumnus of Wilson High School. Both attended Long Beach City College.

Following a honeymoon trip to Lake Tahoe, the newlyweds will reside in Long Beach.

Ingraham-Bergman

A formal gown of lace over peau de soie was worn by Cheryl Bergman Friday evening as she exchanged marriage vows with Peter Ingraham of Fullerton in Parkcrest Church of Christ.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bergman, 3449 Marber Ave., the bride was attended by her sister, Bonnie Bergman, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Laurie Walk and Rosalie Ingraham, sister of the bridegroom.

* * * *

MICHAEL INGRAHAM served his brother as best man; Ronald Cronk, Ronald Robb and Paul Weil seated the 300 wedding guests.

The newlyweds will reside in Fullerton on return from a honeymoon trip to Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Ingraham was graduated from Millikan High School and attended Pacific Christian College. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ingraham, Fullerton, attended Pacific Christian and San Jose Bible Colleges.

MRS. C. R. HASTINGS

To attend convention

Leading Long Beach delegation to California State Chiropractic Auxiliary Convention May 12-16 in Sacramento will be the newly installed president Mrs. C. Robert Hastings.

Also planning to attend are other new board members, Mmes. L. W. Berry and B. E. Duncan, vice presidents; Norval Ward, secretary; E. J. Brisson, treasurer; R. H. Barker, historian.

Leininger-Helms engagement told

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace C. Leininger announce engagement of their daughter, Joan Lorraine, to Robert Gage Helms, son of Mrs. Gage Helms of Palos Verdes Estates and the late Dr. Helms.

Miss Leininger, a graduate of Wilson High, attends Long Beach State College. She is affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. Her fiance graduated from Chadwick School, attended Menlo College and is now attending Long Beach City College. An August 6th wedding is planned.

WILD WAVES SAY

One way or another—educational!

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Society Editor

ALL IN ALL, the week has produced some most educational notes, as you shall see. They range from extra special to absolute kookie fun—but, nonetheless, educational.

To start with, the extra special. Suzy Broz, a junior at USC, was one of 18 students (9 boys, 9 girls) selected to study in England this summer on a scholarship to Cambridge. What makes it doubly meaningful, her sister, Brenda, was one of the very few chosen for a Cambridge scholarship last year!

This is Suzi Broz . . . and sister, Brenda

Pictured above are Suzy (left) and Brenda. The two gals keep piling up additional honors. Brenda, for instance, has just been named USC's Marketing "Man" of the Year by its school of business—first girl ever to win this honor. Quite a switch . . . from serving as Helen of Troy, homecoming princess, to filling a "man's shoes."

She also has been elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, highest honor the business school can bestow . . . is senior justice of the Women's Judicial Court and senior class secretary. Not to steal thunder from Suzy, Suzy was chosen chairman of Troleos, in charge of homecoming at SC next fall. What fireballs!

HERE WE go again—another REUNION! This one, its planners insist, will be the most. It's to be a get-together of the Poly High class of 1930, with grads from classes two years either side of '30 urged to attend, also. It will take place May 23 (that's a Sunday), 2 to 5 p.m., at the Elks Club. In a way, this can be considered very educational. Meaning, like catching up studies on what 35 years have done to ye, olde buddies!

George Marmion, 244 E. Third St., is accepting checks ($1.25 each) now, so send in your ducats. W. Odie Wright is co-chairman with George. Spouses (even of the Wilson grad variety) are welcome. A few of the classmates expected are Chief of Police Bill Mooney, Drs. Frank Stanton Jr., Russ Cullen, Jack Hallett, Coaches "Sax" Elliot, John Morrow, Bob Parke, Jack Walton and then such other wheelers and dealers as Bob Sprague, Dick Browning, Sam Chase, et al.

Guess better not forget some of the gals. These would include such as Mrs. Stan (June Harrison) Hill, Mrs. Loyd (Lois Outhier) Landes, Mrs. Merrill (Virginia Weems) Lilley, Mrs. Ralph (Sally Sherman) Garrison, Betty Shaw.

ONE OF the best productions of any surprise party "show" in town was written, directed and financed by Christine, 16, and Loretta, 13, Lungren. It was a surprise dinner party for dad Dr. Jack Lungren's birthday. To add to the impact, they managed to keep plans a total secret from their mother, Lorain, as well.

They had assistance from adult friends, including Daphne and Rudy Munzer, who wheedled Jack and Lorain out of the house with sneaky invitations for cocktails and dinner out. Then Christine, as preplanned, called her folks to come home on the ruse she had a new boy friend she wanted them to meet. When they arrived back, they discovered a houseful of people, table set with best linen and crystal and a full-course steak dinner ready to be served.

Among the guests were the Munzers, Betty and Bob Buffum, Betty and Bob Godwin, Nina and Nick Trutanic, Sue Buell (Art had a meeting to attend) and Dorothy and Lee Wiltse.

WHAT A business trip THIS will be. Bob Decker, branch manager for a national distributing company of bottled goods (and I don't mean perfume, although aroma is important) and wife, Cleo, are going to Europe. They'll fly to New York May 12 and thence to Madrid. For five weeks they'll travel all over Europe, visiting exporters of liquids they import. In Italy and Portugal they'll study the wine industry and in France the champagne. In Spain it will be learning of their ways with brandy and in Germany of beer.

A main portion of trip will be attending a Scotch seminar in Glasgow to find out the Scots' views on their native brew. As a spirited ambassador of good will, have a hunch Bob will find the opportunity to tout some U.S.A. stuff enroute.

USUALLY IT'S the mother of the bride who is in a happy dither as fateful date grows near. Not this time. It's the daughters of the bride, Dolores Burt and Bette Healy, who are plans-making for their mother, Eleanor Geisser. Eleanor and Oscar Allerton of Rochester, Minn., have a wedding date May 22.

Oscar and Eleanor have been friends since she was 17 and he was a good friend of her late husband, as well. But their paths hadn't crossed in a long time—until last February when Oscar stopped in Long Beach enroute to Hawaii. It didn't take long for an old friendship to burst into romance.

They'll live part of the year in Rochester, where he is an architect and builder, and part of the year in Long Beach.

WHAT LOOKED like it was going to turn into a comedy of errors, turned into one of the merriest parties of spring, instead. Reva and Dr. Seymour Albans decided to have an open house in their new home on Bryant Road in Park Estates BEFORE they moved in, with co-hosts Selma and Dr. Bernard Cooperman and Shirley and Dr. Earl Feiwell.

To late to cancel the affair, they found out the furniture would not be there for party date. What's more, only a small portion of the landscaping had been completed. Worst of all, it was discovered that a number of invitations had disappeared into thin air. They contacted as many of the invited "uninvited" by phone as they could and, all told, about 300 guests were present for a great cocktail buffet.

NOW FOR the kookie fun educational phase of the news, mentioned at start of column one. Below are pictured Mary Mullarky (L.), daughter of Joe and Dorothy Mullarky, and Jeanne Graham, Bill and Baba's coed miss. For the summer semester they're going to the University of Hawaii to major in hula lessons and minor in Hawaiian language. Both Gamma Phis, Mary is from USC and Jeanne from UCLA. Whatta summer THIS is gonna be!

They'll major in hula at University of Hawaii!

Honeymooners plan homes in Long Beach

McGrath-Roberts

A home in Long Beach awaits Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGrath (Sherie Roberts) following a honeymoon trip to San Francisco. The newlyweds were married Saturday afternoon in All Saints Episcopal Church.

The bride, daughter of Luis J. Roberts, 61 Belmont Ave., wore a white satin gown with bodice of pearl-trimmed lace. The full-length skirt fell into a chapel train.

* * * *

ROXINE ROBERTS, sister of the bride, was maid of honor; Pamela Ogden, Lorinda Elms and Nancy John served as bridesmaids. Julie and John Ellis were flower girl and ringbearer.

The groom, son of Mrs. Betty McGrath, Reseda, chose Richard Burdick as best man; Ronald Brualdi and his two brothers, Roger and Robin, seated guests.

The new Mrs. McGrath was graduated from Wilson High School. She attended Long Beach State College, from which her husband graduated. He was a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

McClure-Gray

Carole Ann Gray and Kenneth Lee McClure recited nuptial vows Friday evening in Community Presbyterian Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray Jr., of 1856 E. 63rd St., wore a gown of peau de soie with scoop neckline and front lace panel. The back of her gown cascaded into a sweep train appliqued in lace.

Mrs. Donna Green, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; Mrs. Peggy Yacono and Mrs. Paula Reinhardt completed the entourage. Rodger Green was best man for the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McClure, 2118 E. 63rd St., with Joseph Yacono and Loren Wells seating guests.

* * * *

OTHER members of the bridal party were Lynn Louise Reinhardt, flower girl, and David Byrnes, ringbearer.

The new Mrs. McClure was graduated from St. Anthony's High School and Long Beach City College. Her husband, an alumnus of Jordan High School, currently is attending LBCC.

The couple will make their home in Long Beach following a honeymoon trip to La Jolla and San Diego.

WEDDING BELLS WILL RING

College students to recite vows

Uhlenhop-Brand

The betrothal of Jacquelyn Uhlenhop annd William J. Brand Jr. has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gerald Uhlenhop of Solvang.

The groom-elect is son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brand, of Long Beach. The couple attended Long Beach City College, where he was president of Tilsmen and she was a member of Entre Nous and Kassai. They now are attending Long Beach State College, where he is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A June 19 wedding is being planned.

Watt-Day

Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Watt, Long Beach, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Elizabeth, to Laurence Dean Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Day of Vallejo.

The bride-elect was graduated from Wilson High School and now is attending Long Beach State College, where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta. Her fiance, a Vallejo Junior College graduate, also was graduated from LBSC and now is working on his master's degree. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A Dec. 19 wedding is being planned.

Chittick-Rico

A Sept. 11 wedding is planned by Carolyn Ruth Chittick and John Edward Rico. The engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Chittick of Long Beach. The groom-elect is son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Rico, also of Long Beach.

The couple was graduated from Millikan High School. Miss Chittick also was graduated from Southland College of Medical Assistants. Her fiance currently is studying at LBCC.

Wandrey-Harrison

A traditional candle ceremony at Delta Delta Delta sorority house announced the engagement of member Suzanne Diane Wandrey to Frank Thomas Harrison, both of Long Beach.

Suzanne is the daughter of Mrs. Paul H. Wieby, Long Beach, and the late Paul Wandrey. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison, also of Long Beach. Both are graduates of Millikan High; she currently is studying at LBSC. He attended LBCC.

The couple plans to wed on Sept. 11.

Gill-Barrington

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gill, Long Beach, announce engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Jo, to Norman L. Barrington, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Barrington, Lynwood.

A graduate of Poly High, the bride-elect now attends LBCC. Her fiance, a graduate of Lynwood High and Compton Junior College, now is serving with the U.S. Navy, stationed in Long Beach.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Installation Wednesday for matrons

MRS. CLEO SIMMONS

Installation of Mrs. Cleo R. Simmons as chairman will highlight final luncheon meeting of Matrons Department of Ebell Wednesday noon at Ebell Clubhouse. She succeeds Mrs. Frank E. Hynes.

Also to be installed by Mrs. J. Roscoe Howell, past Ebell president, are Mmes. Wilbur Lee Candy, vice-chairman; John Gordon, recording secretary; O. J. Reeves, treasurer; and Charles Ritz, door hostess.

Card playing will follow the luncheon.

Time for cards!

St. Anthony's Altar Society will sponsor its May card party Monday, 8 p.m., in Catholic Center, Sixth St. and Alamitos Ave. Bridge, pinochle, 500 and canasta will be played.

For a smart coed at State College:

Derby Day's a winner

A lucky college girl will move a furlong further toward the finish of school at Los Alamitos Race Track Saturday.

To do so, she won't have to win, place or show.

Members of Executive Secretaries', Inc., Long Beach Chapter, are assuring the payoff.

They're donating proceeds from their Derby Day ticket sales to a scholarship for a girl at California State, Long Beach.

The college coed won't be the only lucky one at the track that day. Anyone who buys a ticket will be a winner.

Guests at the racy social event, ways and means project of the group, will be hosted at an elegant after-the-races cocktail buffet in a private room overlooking the track.

Tickets for the race are being handled by Bette Wertz, 127 St. Joseph Ave., and Barbara A. Loesch, 34 Granada Ave.

RAKISHLY READY for big race, Bernadine Jameson, president, Executive Secretaries, Inc., Los Angeles, and Bette Wertz, L.B. chapter president, don derbies for Derby Day, 1 p.m. Saturday—the day when Los Alamitos race horses enter the race for education.

ON THE BRIDAL PATH

Take honeymoons in California

Doty-Harding

St. Matthew's Catholic Church was scene of the marriage of Judith Lynn Harding of Long Beach and George Hilbert Doty, Newport Beach, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester T. Harding, Martinsville, Ind., are parents of the bride. The groom is son of Mrs. C. E. Oliver, Newport Beach, and the late Mr. H. V. Doty.

The bride, wearing a white lace overblouse, was preceeded to the altar by Mrs. Robert W. Kitzman, matron of honor, and Patricia L. Lennert, bridesmaid.

* * * *

THE GROOM chose John Ballantyne as best man; Robert W. Kitzman and Alan Ourant seated guests.

The new Mrs. Doty was graduated from the University of Michigan. Her husband is an alumnus of Poly High School and attended Chaffey College.

Following a honeymoon in Crestline and Lake Arrowhead, the newlyweds will reside in Newport Beach.

Beasley-Wright

The East Side Christian Church was setting for the marriage of Mary Jane Wright and James V. Beasley Saturday evening.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wright, 5325 Ebell St., wore an empire style gown of silk organza and peau d'ange lace with sheath skirt. A lace panel, which trimmed the overskirt, flowed into a chapel length train.

Mrs. Dennis Hasty was matron of honor with Mrs. Richard Lundin, Mrs. Richard Wright, Florine Babajian and Patricia Wright, junior bridesmaid, completing the entourage. Debbie Shuff was flower girl.

THE GROOM, son of Mrs. Margaret Beasley, 3722 Allred St., Lakewood, chose Tony Cioffi as best man. John Steele, Lynn Shuff, Richard Wright and Michael Vignovich seated guests; David Wright was ringbearer.

The new Mrs. Beasley was graduated from Millikan High School; her husband is an alumnus of Wilson High School. Both attended Long Beach City College.

Following a honeymoon trip to Lake Tahoe, the newlyweds will reside in Long Beach.

Ingraham-Bergman

A formal gown of lace over peau de soie was worn by Cheryl Bergman Friday evening as she exchanged marriage vows with Peter Ingraham of Fullerton in Parkcrest Church of Christ.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bergman, 3449 Marber Ave., the bride was attended by her sister, Bonnie Bergman, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Laurie Walk and Rosalie Ingraham, sister of the bridegroom.

* * * *

MICHAEL INGRAHAM served his brother as best man; Ronald Cronk, Ronald Robb and Paul Weil seated the 300-wedding guests.

The newlyweds will reside in Fullerton on return from a honeymoon trip to Santa Barbara.

Mrs. Ingraham was graduated from Millikan High School and attended Pacific Christian College. Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ingraham, Fullerton, attended Pacific Christian and San Jose Bible Colleges.

MRS. C. R. HASTINGS

To attend convention

Leading Long Beach delegation to California State Chiropractic Auxiliary Convention May 12-16 in Sacramento will be the newly installed president Mrs. C. Robert Hastings.

Also planning to attend are other new board members, Mmes. L. W. Berry and B. E. Duncan, vice presidents; Norval Ward, secretary; E. J. Brisson, treasurer; R. H. Barker, historian.

Leininger-Helms engagement told

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace C. Leininger announce engagement of their daughter, Joan Lorraine, to Robert Gage Helms, son of Mrs. Gage Helms of Palos Verdes Estates and the late Dr. Helms.

Miss Leininger, a graduate of Wilson High, attends Long Beach State College. She is affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta Sorority. Her fiance graduated from Chadwick School, attended Menlo College and is now attending Long Beach City College. An August 6th wedding is planned.

Benefit, luncheon planned

By JOYCE KENT
I. P-T Club Editor

Efforts to establish an educational branch of the John Tracy Clinic for pre-school deaf children will be focal point for Mrs. Eaton O. Bemis during the year as president of Children's Benefit League.

She was installed Friday to succeed Mrs. Walter H. Troxell, during whose term initial plans for establishment of the clinic were formulated. A teacher has been hired, and the training center — whereabouts yet unknown — is scheduled to open in September.

Joining Mrs. Bemis on the executive board are Mrs. Robert Dick, vice president; Mmes. H. K. Davidson, Ralph Kelly, and Merle Hurley, secretaries; Jack Connolly, treasurer; also Ray Hosier, Earl Harriman and Van I. Gross.

Mrs. Bemis, a member of the League for 18 years, also is a member of the Dental Foundation board, Long Beach Youth Project for Dropouts, and Psychiatric Clinic for Children board.

The league, during its just-concluded year, awarded $2,700 to Long Beach Children's Clinic, also the Psychiatric and Community Epilepsy Clinics for children. An additional $3,000 was allocated for individual cases.

Ebell Club

Election of officers is planned by Ebell of Long Beach during Monday meeting at the clubhouse which begins with noon luncheon. Feature of the 1:30 p.m. program will be Felix DeCola, pianist-humorist, with a presentation, "Comedy in Concert," designed purly for entertainment on the light side.

Morning meetings: Parliamentary Law, 10:30 a.m., "Amending By-Laws," Mrs. Floyd Potter. Current Events, 11 a.m., "Washington Report," Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell.

Grandmothers Club

North Long Beach Grandmothers Club 37 will meet for luncheon on Monday in American Legion Hall, 1215 E. 59th St. Plans will be completed for a luncheon and card party May 20 in the home of Velma Miller, president.

It's open to public

The public is invited to join members and guests of Woman's Guild, Church of Religious Science, for benefit potluck luncheon, community sing and afternoon of cards Thursday noon at the church, 505 E. 36th St. Mrs. Ray Burkland is in charge.

HOW TO GET MARRIED (5)

Grooming the bridegroom for his trip to the altar

By JUDY HAZLETT
I. P-T Staff Writer

Even though the bride, in her flowing white gown, is the star of her wedding, the groom and other attendants also are important fashionwise.

For the bride, there are legions of magazines, books and counselors. Her every step is directed so that she will be at the right place, at the right time, in the proper attire. But what signposts exist for the bridegroom?

He and the other attendants must be guided by the degree of formality established by the bride and her family, especially in wedding attire.

For the groom and his attendants, possibilities of dress are vast — but they usually are determined by what his bride is wearing, season and time of ceremony —also the budget.

The groom, best man, ushers and both fathers should dress in the same general mode, but not necessarily in the same detail. The cut of a man's jacket, the size of pinstripe in his trousers should be of his own choosing. Sometimes variations in neckwear, gloves, spats or vests are decided upon for ushers, best man and groom.

* * * *

MEN'S wedding fashions can become complicated without proper guidance.

The formal wedding (the kind girls dream of and fathers have nightmares over)

"But . . . I said informal!"

IN QUESTION

Dear Mrs. Hazlett:

I have been asked by my best friend to be her maid of honor. She wants me to have a special gown, but my budget won't allow for such an expenditure. My friend has offered to pay for it . . . should I accept or decline the invitation. Miss N.C.

If the bride can afford to pay for your attire, accept the invitation. If you feel, however, it would put a hardship on her budget, decline.

Benefit, luncheon planned

By JOYCE KENT
I. P-T Club Editor

Efforts to establish an educational branch of the John Tracy Clinic for pre-school deaf children will be focal point for Mrs. Eaton O. Bemis during the year as president of Children's Benefit League.

She was installed Friday to succeed Mrs. Walter H. Troxell, during whose term initial plans for establishment of the clinic were formulated. A teacher has been hired, and the training center — whereabouts yet unknown — is scheduled to open in September.

Joining Mrs. Bemis on the executive board are Mrs. Robert Dick, vice president; Mmes. H. K. Davidson, Ralph Kelly, and Merle Hurley, secretaries; Jack Connolly, treasurer; also Ray Hosier, Earl Harriman and Van I. Gross.

Mrs. Bemis, a member of the League for 18 years, also is a member of the Dental Foundation board, Long Beach Youth Project for Dropouts, and Psychiatric Clinic for Children board.

The league, during its just-concluded year, awarded $2,700 to Long Beach Children's Clinic, also the Psychiatric and Community Epilepsy Clinics for children. An additional $3,000 was allocated for individual cases.

Ebell Club

Election of officers is planned by Ebell of Long Beach during Monday meeting at the clubhouse which begins with noon luncheon. Feature of the 1:30 p.m. program will be Felix DeCola, pianist-humorist, with a presentation, "Comedy in Concert," designed purly for entertainment on the light side.

Morning meetings: Parliamentary law, 10:30 a.m., "Amending By-Laws," Mrs. Floyd Potter. Current Events, 11 a.m., "Washington Report," Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell.

Grandmothers Club

North Long Beach Grandmothers Club 57 will meet for luncheon on Monday in American Legion Hall, 1215 E. 59th St. Plans will be completed for a lunchcon and card party May 20 in the home of Velma Miller, president.

It's open to public

The public is invited to join members and guests of Woman's Guild, Church of Religious Science, for benefit potluck luncheon, community sing and afternoon of cards Thursday noon at the church, 505 E. 36th St. Mrs. Ray Burkland is in charge.

HEADING the slate of new officers is Ginger Friedman, president. Others are Jo DeLeon and Julia Rappaport, vice-president; Betty Berns, treasurer; Ruby Marbut and Evelyn Page, secretaries, Doris Specht, humanities librarian at CSLB, is the group's new faculty advisor.

Attending the meeting as guests and prospective members will be women graduate students with 3.5 or higher grade point averages and a minimum of 12 units completed in the CSLB graduate division.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD

Surprise party, then some

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My wife gave me a surprise party the other night in celebration of my 40th you-know-what.

(I detest surprise parties, and on the few occasions I'm invited to one I have always made it a point to tell the honoree so he or she won't be taken by surprise which some imbeciles seem to think fun.)

Anyway, my wife surprised me in more ways than one. First of all, instead of inviting my close friends she invited people whom she knew I detested. Secondly she invited two of my ex-girl friends who "20 years later" look like absolute hags now (Nothing more depressing!)

Knowing how I absolutely loathe children of the gooey ages she invited all those she could muster from around the neighborhood.

When the cake was brought out it turned out to be Devils Food piled high with chocolate roses, and she knows only too well that chocolate makes me break out into a rash just to look at it.

The climax came right after the cutting of the cake and the passing around of some cheap American champagne. My wife announced her intention to divorce me and "marry another."

Whereupon the accordionist whom she had hired for the evening, knowing how I abominate accordion music, loudly squeezed out Happy Birthday, followed by the Wedding March.

Oh so very gay wasn't it! The guests left soon after, and so did my wife with three suitcases and the family silver, and a note left on my pillow saying not to bother checking our joint savings account as she had closed it out but had left $100 in our joint checking account.

Ha, ha, ha! Happy Birthday to me on my 40th!—HAL

P.S.: Wrote this just to have it on the record. No answer necessary.

DEAR HAL:

If you ask me, no answer is possible!—M.M.

Town and Gown ends season with travel film

A travel film, "Tuscany, Italy's Golden Providence," will be shown during final program of the season for Town and Gown, USC, during a Tuesday luncheon in the campus clubrooms.

Stan Walsh, USC graduate who photographed the camera adventure in land of the Renaissance, will narrate the film.

35 YEARS LATER

Clipped Wings note stewardess service

Airline stewardess service, which was begun 35 years ago by Boeing Air Transport, will be commemorated by Clipped Wings, United Air Lines Stewardess Alumnae Inc., during its anniversary celebration.

A Punch Brunch IX will be held Saturday in the Embassy Room of the Ambassador Hotel. The theme: "35 Years of Flight and Fashion."

* * * *

THE LOOK of today's fashions will be presented at the event, scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m., featuring swimwear, sportswear, daytime aand evening fashions by many noted designers.

As an added attraction, a showing of 35 years of style changes in stewardess uniforms will be presented.

Among the more than 500 Clipped Wings members and guests expected to attend will be Mr. and Mrs. Steve Stimpson and Mrs. Evelyn Rorabaugh of the Harbor Area Exceptional Children's Foundation in San Pedro.

Members from the Long Beach area planning to attend include Mmes. Robert Sellards, Jerry Parker, Robert Myers and Leon Pugh.

Beauty tip

If you are a devotee of oil in your bath but your favorite fragrance doesn't come in that form, try this:

To your bath water add two captuls of baby oil and a few drops of your perfume or a captul of cologne. You'll get the soft, smooth feel and skin protection from the baby oil and have your own special fragrance as well.

Don't be in dark

Lamps will give better light if they are included in the housecleaning routine. A soft cloth should be used to wipe the bulb and reflector bowl. A film of dust can cut light output by 50%.

HOW TO GET MARRIED (5)

Grooming the bridegroom for his trip to the altar

By JUDY HAZLETT
I. P-T Staff Writer

Even though the bride, in her flowing white gown, is the star of her wedding, the groom and other attendants also are important fashion-wise.

For the bride, there are legions of magazines, books and counselors. Her every step is directed so that she will be at the right place, at the right time, in the proper attire. But what signposts exist for the bridegroom?

He and the other attendants must be guided by the degree of formality established by the bride and her family, especially in wedding attire.

For the groom and his attendants, possibilities of dress are vast — but they usually are determined by what his bride is wearing, season and time of ceremony —also the budget.

The groom, best man, ushers and both fathers should dress in the same general mode, but not necessarily in the same detail. The cut of a man's jacket, the size of pinstripe in his trousers should be of his own choosing. Sometimes variations in neckwear, gloves, spats or vests are decided upon for ushers, best man and groom.

* * * *

MEN'S wedding fashions can become complicated without proper guidance.

The formal wedding (the kind girls dream of and fathers have nightmares over)

"But . . . I said informal!"

demands suitable elegance. It is achieved with cutaway coat, striped trousers, pleated white shirt and wing collar, waistcoat and gloves (the high silk hat is optional).

During the summer months (Memorial Day to Labor Day), it is correct to wear white dinner jacket with dark blue trousers. Dark tie, white dress shirt with suitable accessories complete the formal ensemble.

The ceremony is not far away and parties are in full swing. There are thank-you notes to write, gifts to open and future plans to make. There is a license to buy, blood tests to arrange, a reception to plan and, of course, there's always the honeymoon.

If you have any questions concerning wedding etiquette, for bride, parent or guest, write to "How to Get Married," Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach. All questions will be answered by mail or in this column.

It's Greek for them

...A marvel in gold 'n marble

Dr. Nicholas I. Skandalakis of Greece and wife, Melia, whose parents came from Sparta, dreamed of a home in classic Grecian style. This year they built it in beautiful Park Estates.

Staff Photos by Bob Shumway

IN DINING room mirrored walls reflect Skandalakis' taste for transitional. Couple says Greek homes of today go more for modern—that atriums now are found most often in Italy.

By MARY NETH
I. P-T Home Furnishings Editor

One enters the Skandalakis home through an inner courtyard patterned after the classic Greek atrium.

There the dazzle of tall white marble columns, now heightened by the reflecting pool, soon will be softened by lush green landscaping.

The living room lies directly ahead. It's an elegant room, a grand room: 28 feet long, 23 feet wide, with 13-foot ceilings. The deep pile carpet is bordered by a marble traffic area. On the two end walls, floor-to-ceiling draperies pull back to show off exterior marble columns. Focal point of the room: a huge fireplace of warm looking Mexican marble.

Here, as in the rest of the large three bedroom plus den homes, the colors are gold, white and avocado green.

"They're my colors," explains chic Mrs. Skandalakis. "The decorator, a wonder, suggested a touch of blue, too. But, I said no. I know what I like—those colors, simple lines."

MRS. SKANDALAKIS, born in the United States, met her husband while on vacation in Greece. The romance flourished and Skandalakis packed his suitcases, picked up his medical bag and headed for California.

The couple have lived in Long Beach for the past 10 years.

"And every year our dream house scrap book has grown," says Mrs. Skandalakis. "We finally decided we wanted a Parthenon-styled home."

In 1961 the couple bought the lot in Park Estates. They began to build last July. Now, but for final landscaping, the home is complete. "Every bit of the furnishings are new," says Mrs. Skandalakis. "Even linens and towels."

The Greek luxury house boasts dust-eliminating air-conditioning, a music system, sunken tub in the master bedroom's garden bath and, bowing to European tradition, a bidet.

The only major snag the Skandalakises ran into was the tilt of the roof. They'd planned on a flat one, the type usually seen with Greek-type architecture, but the Park Estates building code wouldn't allow that.

"Our architect, Richard Shelley, solved the problem. He designed a slightly sloped roof that goes well with the exterior," said Skandalakis.

"All told, the Greek-American two-some are terribly pleased with their new estate.

"Certainly, living here is a far cry from the days I spent in the hills of Greece—a prisoner of Communist guerrillas," sighs the pleased doctor.

Clark-Rowe engagement told; July date set

Engagement of Jovita Carol Clark and M. John Rowe III is being announced by parents of the bride-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dudley Clark of Long Beach. The wedding will take place July 10.

Both young persons were graduated from Wilson High School. Miss Clark was graduated in 1963 from Occidental College where she affiliated with Gamma Kappa Theta Sorority, and took post-graduate study at California State, Long Beach. She teaches eighth grade English in Garden Grove.

Saturday nuptials

Glogauer-Woodburn

A honeymoon in Carmel will precede establishment of their first home in Long Beach for Mr. and Mrs. Lennard Dale Glougauer (Linda Marya Woodburn, Long Beach) who were married Saturday night at Chapel of Wedding Bells, Bellflower.

The bride, daughter of Cmdr. Fred K. Woodburn (USN, ret.) and Mrs. Wood-

MRS. ROBERT G. HILL

CAROL ANN Rogers was maid of honor, Mrs. Ronald Bannister and Barbara Jones were bridesmaids. Attending the bridegroom, son of Dr. Otto L. Glogauer, 5369 La Pasada, was served by Leroy Hackett, best man, and William Olsen and Kenneth Sams, ushers.

Mrs. Glogauer was graduated from Millikan High School and attended Long Beach City and State Colleges. Her husband was graduated from Wilson and attended LBCC.

Hill-Rossebo

Following a honeymoon trip to Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert George Hill (Anne Marie Rossebo) will establish a home in Oahu, Hawaii. They were married Satuday afternoon in St. Matthew's Catholic Church with a reception following at the Petroleum Club.

Wearing a gown of taffeta appliqued in peau d'ange lace, the bride was preceeded by her twin sister, Anita. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thorvald Rossebo, 390 Obispo Ave.

Mrs. Conrad Guzman, Barbara Hill and Mary Sullivan completed the entourage. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Hill, 3021 Vista St., chose Steve Rinella as best man. John Hill, cousin of the groom; Tom Rossebo, the bride's brother, and Steve Holl seated guests.

The new Mrs. Hill was graduated from St. Anthony's High School; her husband from Wilson High. Both attended LBCC.

Apples have a high natural water content. They should be cooked with only enough water to prevent sticking or scorching. Otherwise, they will lose their form and become too soft.

DEAR ABBY

It's an age-old question

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a Sunday School teacher. One of my pupils' mothers told me that a few years ago you had something in your column in reply to a child who had lost his baby brother. She said your answer explained death beautifully on a child's level. If you recall such a letter, I would appreciate your printing it again. Thanking you in advance, I am, LOVES CHILDREN.

DEAR LOVES CHILDREN: I do recall such a letter because of the many requests I had from clergymen requesting permission to reprint it in their church bulletins. And here it is: ABBY

"DEAR ABBY: My Sunday School teacher says God is everywhere. Please put this letter in the paper and maybe he will see it:

'Dear God: Why did you let my brother die? When he was hit by a car my mother prayed to you to let him live but you wouldn't. My little brother was only 2 years old and he couldn't have sinned so bad that you had to punish him that way. Everyone says you are good and can do anything you want to. You could have saved my little brother but you let him die. You broke my mother's heart. How can I love you? PETER.

DEAR PETER: Your question is one that has troubled religious men for thousands of years. One great thinker wrote a book about it. It is called "JOB" and is part of the Bible. It says that the suffering of innocent people is something we cannot understand. But this much is sure: Death is not a punishment. It is one of life's mysteries. Speak to your minister, Peter. Communicate with God by praying, and He will help you in your search for wisdom and goodness and help make your Mommy happy again."

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would be writing a letter to you, but my wife always reads your column so I hope you will print my letter.

I have a lovely wife and three small daughters, BUT my wife wears PANTS seven days a week, from the time she gets up until she takes her bath and puts on her P.J.'s. I work in a plant with all men so I see pants all day and I would love to see my wife in a dress when I get home in the evening, and I hate those pants on Sunday. I know pants are nice for cleaning or doing the laundry, but she has so many cute dresses I wish she would wear them once in a while. Also, I don't believe it is a very good example for those small daughters. Please print my letter. I hope my wife will take the HINT. —MVI.

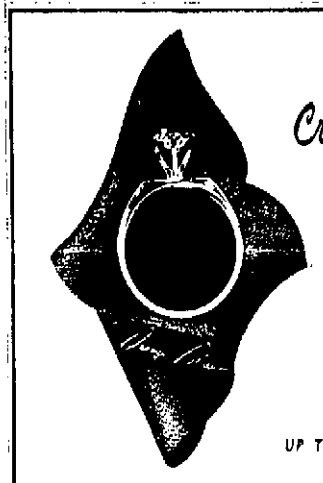

DEAR MVI: Why "hint"? Just tell her that you don't mind her doing the laundry or housework in pants if she's more comfortable, but when you get home in the evening you would like to see her in a dress because YOU wear the plants at your house (You do, don't you?)

TWO 'GOOD SCOUTS'

Both Using Spare Time to Prepare for Success in Life!

• THIS WEEK, 1,000,000 newspaperboys in North America extend hearty greetings and good wishes to the more than 5,500,000 boys who are enrolled in Scouting — as Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts or Explorers — and to their leaders!

BOY SCOUTS and newspaperboys have much in common. Both seek constructive spare-time activity! Both aim to prepare today for success tomorrow! Both learn by doing — to develop basic skills, sound habits, healthy bodies and alert minds! Both are real assets to the community and country — enterprising Youth at its BEST!

THAT'S WHY we are happy to honor BOTH these groups of popular and promising young citizens. And we gladly give a special salute to our many newspaperboys who also are active in Scouting. This combination is giving them a splendid start toward successful and useful lives.

Sorority set for arty session

Installation of officers, an open house for prospective members and a do-it-yourself art program are planned for the meeting Friday of Phi Chapter, Phi Delta Gamma national fraternity for graduate women, at Soroptimist House, Cal State at Long Beach campus.

Four artists, including Edith Henry of the college art department and three members who are artists, will instruct members and guests on creation of decorative items for the home.

* * * *

OBJECTS WILL vary from experimental art (created from straw, string, etc.) to block printing, roller printing and printing by use of stamps and gadgets.

Transparencies created by laminated paper to serve as lamp shade, place mats, gift wrappings and mobiles will be made. Assisting Miss Henry will be Maxine Milton, art teacher at Lowell High School, Whittier; Betty Ingram, Fullerton Junior College instructor; and Judith Barnes, formerly a teacher at Long Beach City College.

* * * *

Attending the meeting as guests and prospective members will be women graduate students with 3.5 or higher grade point averages and a minimum of 12 units completed in the CSLB graduate division.

35 YEARS LATER

Clipped Wings note stewardess service

Airline stewardess service, which was begun 35 years ago by Boeing Air Transport, will be commemorated by Clipped Wings, United Air Lines Stewardess Alumnae Inc., during its anniversary celebration.

A Punch Brunch IX will be held Saturday in the Embassy Room of the Ambassador Hotel. The theme: "35 Years of Flight and Fashion."

* * * *

THE LOOK of today's fashions will be presented at the event, scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m., featuring swimwear, sportswear, daytime aand evening fashions by many noted designers.

As an added attraction, a showing of 35 years of style changes in stewardess uniforms will be presented.

Among the more than 500 Clipped Wings members and guests expected to attend will be Mr. and Mrs. Steve Stimpson and Mrs. Evelyn Rorabaugh of the Harbor Area Exceptional Children's Foundation in San Pedro.

Members from the Long Beach area planning to attend include Mmes. Robert Sellards, Jerry Parker, Robert Myers and Leon Pugh.

Beauty tip

If you are a devotee of oil in your bath but your favorite fragrance doesn't come in that form, try this:

To your bath water add two capfuls of baby oil and a few drops of your perfume or a capful of cologne. You'll get the soft, smooth feel and skin protection from the baby oil and have your own special fragrance as well.

Don't be in dark

Lamps will give better light if they are included in the housecleaning routine. A soft cloth should be used to wipe the bulb and reflector bowl. A film of dust can cut light output by 50%.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD

Surprise party, then some

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My wife gave me a surprise party the other night in celebration of my 40th you-know-what.

(I detest surprise parties, and on the few occasions I'm invited to one I have always made it a point to tell the honoree so he or she won't be taken by surprise which some imbeciles seem to think fun.)

Anyway, my wife surprised me in more ways than one. First of all, instead of inviting my close friends she invited people whom she knew I detested. Secondly she invited two of my ex-girl friends who "20 years later" look like absolute hags now (Nothing more depressing!)

Knowing how I absolutely loathe children of the gooey ages she invited all those she could muster from around the neighborhood.

When the cake was brought out it turned out to be Devils Food piled high with chocolate roses, and she knows only too well that chocolate makes me break out into a rash just to look at it.

The climax came right after the cutting of the cake and the passing around of some cheap American champagne. My wife announced her intention to divorce me and "marry another."

Whereupon the accordionist whom she had hired for the evening, knowing how I abominate accordion music, loudly squeezed out Happy Birthday, followed by the Wedding March.

Oh so very gay wasn't it! The guests left soon after, and so did my wife with three suitcases and the family silver, and a note left on my pillow saying not to bother checking our joint savings account as she had closed it out but had left $100 in our joint checking account.

Ha, ha, ha! Happy Birthday to me on my 40th! — HAL

P.S.: Wrote this just to have it on the record. No answer necessary.

DEAR HAL:

If you ask me, no answer is possible!—M.M.

Glorious Tan

It's that glorious golden tan that stamps the Florida girl a natural outdoor beauty—but do be wise and leave the tan to the legs, arms and body. Spare the face and neck if you are to be a true beauty. Do not let the sun's rays coarsen and dry out the delicate skin about your face and neck. Wear a shady hat and pretty sun glasses and be generous with your oil of Olay on hot sunny days to protect the dewy loveliness of your complexion.

TENNIS BUFFS, ATTENTION!

Top pros play in peninsula benefit

DR. KEITH PACKARD, MMES. NEWSOM, SPEAR
. . . tennis to serve purpose

MMES. THORNBURGH, HONEY, BEINDORF
. . . they meet to plan benefit

It'll be a banner day May 16 for tennis buffs.

That's the day ten of the world's top pros will meet in three matches on the courts of the Jack Kramer Club, 11 Montecillo Dr., Rolling Hills Estates.

To everyone who's ever swung a racket, the names Kramer, Ken Rosewall, Rod Laver, Pancho Segura and Earl Buckholz mean the top. Pit them against Alex Olmedo, Malcolm Anderson, Andres Gimeno, Louis Ayala and Mike Davis and you've got the courts peopled with idols . . . and grandstands filled with fans.

* * * *

THE MEN, all members of the International Professional Tennis Players Association, signed to do two local benefits—this one for the Peninsula Committee of the Spastic Children's League of Los Angeles and the United Cerebral Palsy Pre-School Nursery in Long Beach.

The other benefit was for the Pasadena Junior League —and raised $50,000 in two evening exhibitions. "We can seat only 2,000 people but hope to raise $8,000 in one afternoon to divide between the Long Beach pre-school and the Los Angeles League for Spastic Children," said Mrs. Ray Beindorf, general chairman of the first such event in coastal California.

Matches will begin at 1:30, finish at about 4:30, after which spectators will see a diving exhibition by Olympic contenders and enjoy a poolside cocktail dansant during the early evening hours.

* * * *

EMCEE FOR the afternoon will be personable Jack Kramer, who built his first club in Rolling Hills Estates.

With pride he'll introduce Rosewall, No. 1 ranking player in internatinnal professional tennis and winner of American, Australian, English and French championships.

Laver ranks second, was second man in tennis history (after Don Budge) to win the Grand Slam of tennis, four championships in the same year.

Bucholz was No. 1 man on America's Davis Cup team before he turned pro at a mere 20 years of age.

Olmedo, a Peruvian noted for his serve, ranks sixth in world pro ranks and was a member of the U.S. victorious Davis Cup team in 1958.

Segura, most colorful player with his two-handed forehand, has won almost every major pro tourney and is a three-time winner of the U.S. Intercollegiate championships.

Anderson almost beat Pancho Gonzales in his first pro play in 1959. Before then he won U.S. Amateur Nationals.

Gimeno comes from Barcelona, climbed to fourth in pro standings with a ball to match Rod Laver's for swiftness.

Ayala had the longest record of Davis Cup wins, from 1952 through 1960.

Davis, whose name in England was synonomous with the world's top match, is the pride of Wales with cup-winning experience from 1952 to 1960.

* * * *

PLANNING for a record turn-out at the club are Mmes. William Polkinghorn and Dwight F. Kinney, co-chairmen. President of the Peninsula Committee is Mrs. Charles J. J. Cox.

She chose as key committee people Mmes. Thomas A. Spear, Robert Newsom, Harry J. Blee, James Farrell, Robert K. Garland, Gerald S. Honey, William M. Belding, John P. Weiss Jr., Charles H. Holmes, Glenn Pfeil, Philip Eugene Gordon and E. E. Clark Jr.

Tickets may be purchased at the service desk in Buffums', Long Beach; the General Store in Palos Verdes Estates Malaga Cove Plaza; or at the club.

One of the newest fashions for the bridesmaid is the gown of Goya length—a modern fair lady look that flows to the floor from an Empire high waistline.

List school menus

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of May 3-7:

MONDAY: Neapolitan macaroni, creamy coleslaw, sliced peaches, raised cinnamon biscuit-butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Barbecued beef on bun, garden peas, ½ banana, ice milk bar and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Roast beef, mashed potatoes with gravy, tossed green salad, date bread square and milk.

THURSDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, buttered green beans, chocolate pudding with marshmallows, whole wheat bread-butter and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked fish or Mexicali pie, carrot and raisin salad, spicy applesauce, whole wheat bread-butter and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch 30 cents. Soup and salad from the junior-senior High school a la carte menu are sold in the elementary schools, but they may be purchased by the children only after they have purchased the tray lunch.

Junior, Senior Menu

MONDAY: Barbecued beef on bun, buttered corn, strawberry sauce with whipped topping, coconut bar and milk.

TUESDAY: Italian spaghetti, garden salad with olive garnish, apricot halves, hot buttered French bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Pizza, buttered green beans, fruit cup supreme with bananas, whole wheat bread-butter and milk.

THURSDAY: Turkey in gravy on mashed potatoes, creamy coleslaw, apple torte with whipped topping, hot buttered cornbread and milk.

FRIDAY: Macaroni and cheese or Mexicali pie, buttered peas, cherry sauce with whipped topping, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

Alliance dates French lecture on literature

"French Literature Nowadays" will be subject of a discussion in French by Mrs. M. Sedeyn-Hauff during a meeting Saturday under auspices of the Alliance Franchise de Los Angeles Inc.

The meeting, planned for 2 p.m. in the clubrooms of the alliance, 5410 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, is one of a series of weekly Saturday afternoon lectures. It gives club members and those interested in French conversation an opportunity to hear and practice the language.

Snapped towels

One way to stop children from dropping damp towels on the bathroom floor: sew snaps to the edge of a towel, then fasten it around the towel bar.

IN DINING room mirrored walls reflect Skandalakis' taste for transitional. Couple says Greek homes of today go more for modern—that atriums now are found most often in Italy.

By MARY NETH
L, P-T Home Furnishings Editor

One enters the Skandalakis home through an inner courtyard patterned after the classic Greek atrium.

There the dazzle of tall white marble columns, now heightened by the reflecting pool, soon will be softened by lush green landscaping.

The living room lies directly ahead. It's an elegant room, a grand room: 28 feet long, 23 feet wide, with 13-foot ceilings. The deep pile carpet is bordered by a marble traffic area. On the two end walls, floor-to-ceiling draperies pull back to show off exterior marble columns. Focal point of the room: a huge fireplace of warm looking Mexican marble.

Here, as in the rest of the large three bedroom plus den homes, the colors are gold, white and avocado green.

"They're my colors," explains chic Mrs. Skandalakis. "The decorator, a wonder, suggested a touch of blue, too. But, I said no. I know what I like—those colors, simple lines."

MRS. SKANDALAKIS, born in the United States, met her husband while on vacation in Greece. The romance flourished and Skandalakis packed his suitcases, picked up his medical bag and headed for California.

The couple have lived in Long Beach for the past 10 years.

"And every year our dream house scrap book has grown," says Mrs. Skandalakis. "We finally decided we wanted a Parthenon-styled home."

In 1961 the couple bought the lot in Park Estates. They began to build last July. Now, but for final landscaping, the home is complete. "Every bit of the furnishings are new," says Mrs. Skandalakis. "Even linens and towels."

The Greek luxury house boasts dust-eliminating air-conditioning, a music system, sunken tub in the master bedroom's garden bath and, bowing to European tradition, a bidet.

The only major snag the Skandalakises ran into was the tilt of the roof. They'd planned on a flat one, the type usually seen with Greek-type architecture, but the Park Estates building code wouldn't allow that.

"Our architect, Richard Shelley, solved the problem. He designed a slightly sloped roof that goes well with the exterior," said Skandalakis.

"All told, the Greek-American two-some are terribly pleased with their new estate.

"Certainly, living here is a far cry from the days I spent in the hills of Greece—a prisoner of Communist guerrillas," sighs the pleased doctor.

Clark-Rowe engagement told; July date set

Engagement of Jovita Carol Clark and M. John Rowe III is being announced by parents of the bride-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dudley Clark of Long Beach. The wedding will take place July 10.

Both young persons were graduated from Wilson High School. Miss Clark was graduated in 1963 from Occidental College where she affiliated with Gamma Kappa Theta Sorority, and took post-graduate study at California State, Long Beach. She teaches eighth grade English in Garden Grove.

Saturday nuptials

Glogauer-Woodburn

A honeymoon in Carmel will precede establishment of their first home in Long Beach for Mr. and Mrs. Lennard Dale Glougauer (Linda Marya Woodburn, Long Beach) who were married Saturday night at Chapel of Wedding Bells, Bellflower.

The bride, daughter of Cmdr. Fred K. Woodburn (USN, ret.) and Mrs. Woodburn of Quito, Ecuador, wore a floor-length gown of satin with lace and pearl applique at waistline and hemline.

MRS. L. D. GLOGAUER

* * * *

CAROL ANN Rogers was maid of honor, Mrs. Ronald Bannister and Barbara Jones were bridesmaids. Attending the bridegroom, son of Dr. Otto L. Glogauer, 5369 La Pasada, was served by Leroy Hackett, best man, and William Olsen and Kenneth Sams, ushers.

Mrs. Glogauer was graduated from Millikan High School and attended Long Beach City and State Colleges. Her husband was graduated from Wilson and attended LBCC.

MRS. ROBERT G. HILL

Hill-Rossebo

Following a honeymoon trip to Carmel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert George Hill (Anne Marie Rossebo) will establish a home in Oahu, Hawaii. They were married Satuday afternoon in St. Matthew's Catholic Church with a reception following at the Petroleum Club.

Wearing a gown of taffeta appliqued in peau d'ange lace, the back cascading into a chapel train, the bride was preceeded by her twin sister, Anita. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thorvald Rossebo, 390 Obispo Ave.

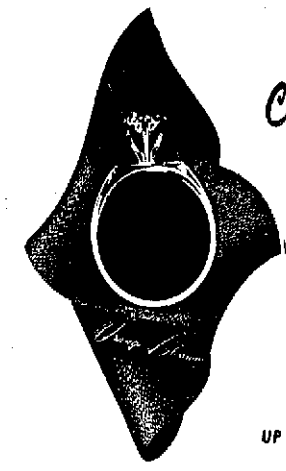

Mrs. Conrad Guzman, Barbara Hill and Mary Sullivan completed the entourage. The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel C. Hill, 3021 Vista St., chose Steve Rinella as best man. John Hill, cousin of the groom; Tom Rossebo, the bride's brother, and Steve Holl seated guests.

The new Mrs. Hill was graduated from St. Anthony's High School; her husband from Wilson High. Both attended LBCC.

Apples have a high natural water content. They should be cooked with only enough water to prevent sticking or scorching. Otherwise, they will lose their form and become too soft.

DEAR ABBY

It's an age-old question

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a Sunday School teacher. One of my pupils' mothers told me that a few years ago you had something in your column in reply to a child who had lost his baby brother. She said your answer explained death beautifully on a child's level. If you recall such a letter, I would appreciate your printing it again. Thanking you in advance, I am, LOVES CHILDREN.

DEAR LOVES CHILDREN: I do recall such a letter because of the many requests I had from clergymen requesting permission to reprint it in their church bulletins. And here it is:

ABBY

"DEAR ABBY: My Sunday School teacher says God is everywhere. Please put this letter in the paper and maybe he will see it:

'Dear God: Why did you let my brother die? When he was hit by a car my mother prayed to you to let him live but you wouldn't. My little brother was only 2 years old and he couldn't have sinned so bad that you had to punish him that way. Everyone says you are good and can do anything you want to. You could have saved my little brother but you let him die. You broke my mother's heart. How can I love you? PETER.

DEAR PETER: Your question is one that has troubled religious men for thousands of years. One great thinker wrote a book about it. It is called "JOB" and is part of the Bible. It says that the suffering of innocent people is something we cannot understand. But this much is sure: Death is not a punishment. It is one of life's mysteries. Speak to your minister, Peter. Communicate with God by praying, and He will help you in your search for wisdom and goodness and help make your Mommy happy again."

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would be writing a letter to you, but my wife always reads your column so I hope you will print my letter.

I have a lovely wife and three small daughters, BUT my wife wears PANTS seven days a week, from the time she gets up until she takes her bath and puts on her P.J.'s. I work in a plant with all men so I see pants all day and I would love to see my wife in a dress when I get home in the evening, and I hate those pants on Sunday. I know pants are nice for cleaning or doing the laundry, but she has so many cute dresses I wish she would wear them once in a while. Also, I don't believe it is a very good example for those small daughters. Please print my letter. I hope my wife will take the HINT. —MVI.

DEAR MVI: Why "hint"? Just tell her that you don't mind her doing the laundry or housework in pants if she's more comfortable, but when you get home in the evening you would like to see her in a dress because YOU wear the plants at your house (You do, don't you?)

* * * *

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Boy Scout Week is Feb. 7-13

TWO 'GOOD SCOUTS'

Both Using Spare Time to Prepare for Success in Life!

• THIS WEEK, 1,000,000 newspaperboys in North America extend hearty greetings and good wishes to the more than 5,500,000 boys who are enrolled in Scouting — as Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts or Explorers — and to their leaders!

BOY SCOUTS and newspaperboys have much in common. Both seek constructive spare-time activity! Both aim to prepare today for success tomorrow! Both learn by doing — to develop basic skills, sound habits, healthy bodies and alert minds! Both are real assets to the community and country — enterprising Youth at its BEST!

THAT'S WHY we are happy to honor BOTH these groups of popular and promising young citizens. And we gladly give a special salute to our many newspaperboys who also are active in Scouting. This combination is giving them a splendid start toward successful and useful lives.

Change of pace

The melodrama "Night Must Fall," by Emlyn Williams, current production at Community Playhouse, marks a change of pace for the theater. In this scene are (from left) Lee Rhoads, who plays the psychopathic murderer, Dan; Katheryn as the invalid, Merrell Ann Haddan, her niece, and Gilberta Causey, the cook. Production will continue Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays through May 29.

Two new shows open at museum

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Fred Campbell is first place winner in Long Beach Art Association's 41st annual exhibition which opens today at Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Campbell is a wheel chair patient at Veterans Administration Hospital.

Other winners are Dr. Eugene Wallin, second; Helen Feyler, third; Marcella Timer, fourth; and Dr. Wallin, fifth.

Forty works of art were selected to hang in the museum by Henry Hopkins, chief of the educational services division of Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

The remainder of entries in this membership show are on display at the art association's gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

* * * *

ALSO OPENING at the museum today is "Arts of Southern California XV; Marine Paintings." Styles range from variations on the traditional seascapes to highly personal abstract interpretations.

The nine artists represented are Rex Brandt, Keith Crown, Paul Darrow, Herbert Griswold, Richard Haines, Joan Irving, Douglas Parshall, Larry Rink and Milford Zornes.

The "Arts of Southern California" exhibitions are organized twice each year by Long Beach Museum of Art and tour major galleries, museums and educational institutions throughout the United States under guidance of the Western Association of Art Museums.

A reception honoring the opening of the new exhibits will be hosted by Friends of the Museum today from 2 to 4 p.m. The public is invited.

* * * *

ROSSMOOR Center Businessmen's Association and Rossmoor Woman's Club are sponsoring the third annual art exhibition to be held in Rossmoor Center May 13 through 16.

Entries in the first show in 1963 numbered 175. Entries in the current competition already have exceeded that number and artists have two more weeks to submit their works for the juried exhibit.

The businessmen's association is offering a $500 non-purchase award, the woman's club will present a $200 purchase award. Other prizes are a $250 purchase award by the Boston Store, a $200 purchase award by Union Federal Savings & Loan Association (traditional style), and a $50 non-purchase award by C&S Enterprises.

James Elliott, chief curator of Los Angeles County Museum of Art will judge the show. Artists who wish to enter may obtain further information by contacting the Rossmoor Center office, P.O. Box 246, Los Alamitos.

* * * *

THE ANNUAL Los Angeles Presbytery art exhibit will take place Saturday from noon to 5 p.m. at North Long Beach Presbyterian Church, 6380 Orange Ave.

The public is invited to view the showing which is expected to consist of several hundred paintings, drawings and pieces of sculpture. Although entry is open to all persons affiliated with a Presbyterian church, each local church may send only three adult and two children's entries. Churches were encouraged to have their own art shows and to send the winning works to the Presbytery exhibit.

Judges will be three art faculty members from Long Beach State College: Dr. Howard Hitchcock, Dr. Calvin Gross and Miss Jane Purcell. They will choose 20 entries to be sent to the Synod Art Exhibit at Occidental College in June.

* * * *

LAIRD PLUMLEIGH and Bruce Marsh are showing their masters exhibits at Long Beach State College art gallery through May 15.

Evelyn Carpenter of Lakewood had a painting selected for the Phelan Awards art exhibition on view through May 16 at Barnsdall Park, Los Angeles.

Pat Jones of Seal Beach Art Center will exhibit paintings by 25 of her beginning and advanced students at Magnolia Theater beginning Thursday.

The Art Seller, 121 S. Pacific Ave., Redondo Beach, is displaying drawings and paintings by Mary Jacobs and Jim Johnstone through Friday.

Voulkos's sculptures are landmarks in art

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Ten sculptures by Peter Voulkos will be on display in the plaza of the new County Art Museum, 5905 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, thru June 20.

Voulkos is a landmark in the contemporary evolution of sculpture. The works in this exhibit comprise three different approaches this one artist has originated since 1958.

First are monumental fired ceramic pieces which are comparable to abstract expressionism in painting. This technique was a unique development, "native to California and not indebted to the art of other regions." "Gallus Rock" is a mounding-up of forms which may have started as thrown pots, but have been bent, twisted, and punched about. The viewer is drawn into the dynamic involvement of the sculptor.

* * * *

ALSO FROM this period are "Rondenda," "Sitting Bull," and "Little Big Horn." These forms are closed, massive and assertive, brushed with cobalt blue, brown, or black.

The second group, also non-objective, are roughly-finished bronze castings presented on bronze or wooden platforms on squat wheels. "Remmington" seems to refer to the paintings of the West in which ponies rear and strong men are engaged in bold deeds. "Vargas II" and "Honk" are in the same mode as is "Bad Day at Shattuck" which does resemble a crumpled, fallen steed.

* * * *

THE WORKS of 1964-5, "Hiro" and "Big A," are smoothly finished bronze forms on "tables" of aluminum . . . stark and lonely and on a grand scale.

Voulkos's work is mysterious, with titles having really little to do with the concepts he executes in three dimensions. Each will mean something different for each viewer. To visit this exhibit is to follow a gravely serious artist on an exciting journey.

Music, drama bills set

Musical and dramatic presentations highlight Long Beach State College offerings this week.

Today at 4 p.m. the wind ensemble and symphonic band will play a concert in Long Beach City College Auditorium, Clark Avenue and Harvey Way. Martha Lowe will be featured flute soloist. Robert Reynolds will direct. There is no admission charge.

* * * *

TUESDAY at 8:30 p.m. in LBSC's Little Theater on campus, the college's brass ensemble, clarinet choir and the newly formed percussion ensemble will perform a free concert. Charles Yates directs the percussion ensemble and the clarinet choir; Reynolds directs the brass ensemble.

* * * *

THURSDAY through next Sunday, students at the college will direct and act in a series of one-act plays. Two are originals written by LBSC students. They are "Feeding Time for the Jabberwocky" by Ronald Thronson and "Thief of Fire" by Dave Carver. Others to be enacted are "Portrait of a Madonna" by Tennessee Williams and "How He Lied to Her Husband" by George Bernard Shaw.

Performances will be given in the Studio Theater on the lower campus. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door. For further information call the college drama department.

To perform

The voice of Miriam Makeba will be heard in "The Voice and Sound of Africa" in the Huntington Hartford Theater May 10-15.

'Barretts' to play in Horseshoe

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street" will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Horseshoe Theater on the Business and Technology campus of Long Beach City College, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Highway. Admission is free.

Playing the romantic leads in Rudolph Besier's drama of the romance between poets Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett are Dr. Stephen Buck and Elizabeth Anderson. Director of the production is Herbert Caesar.

Portraying other members of the Barrett family are Gaylor Suddeth as the tyrannical father, Sandra Kolak as Henrietta, Mike Goldstock as Octavius and Buena Moran as Arabella.

MEMBERS of the supporting cast include John Darby, Chris Boyle, Joan Cochems, John McNaughton, Charles Seabrook, Joseph Beckler, Ernest Taunton, Tom Osens, Georgia Foreman, Herbert Barfield and Denis Fish.

Among the members of the cast with extensive dramatic experience are Dr. Buck, member of the speech department of California State College at Long Beach, and Darby, who has appeared on television in the "Bachelor Father" series.

Guild opera adds performances

Three extra performances have been added to the schedule of the Guild Opera's "Hansel and Gretel" because of the large response for tickets.

More than 75,000 children from Los Angeles City, County, Private and Parochial schools have purchased tickets for the performances May 5-26, in the Shrine Auditorium.

On stage--

CHAPEL PLAYHOUSE, 4144 Pacific Coast Hwy., Torrance, "Becket," 8:30 p.m. Friday through Sunday, through May 15.

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE, 5021 E. Anaheim St., "Night Must Fall," 7:45 p.m. Thursday, 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, through May 22.

PEPPERMINT PLAYHOUSE, 126 Main St., Seal Beach, "He Ain't Done Right by Little Nell," 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, through May 22. Children's Theater, "Sleeping Beauty," 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

PETER HURFORD

S.F. Ballet to shorten engagement

Due to a conflict of bookings, the two week engagement of the San Francisco Ballet at Melodyland Theatre has been shortened to one week, beginning May 18.

Presented by the Orange County Performing Arts Foundation, which is also bringing two weeks of grand opera to the Anaheim Showhouse beginning June 1, the San Francisco Ballet will dance the second act of Nutcracker and two ballets which have never before been seen in Southern California, "The Set" and "Ballet-Imo."

* * * *

THIS WILL mark the first time that the San Francisco dance troupe, generally regarded as one of the two most prestigious companies in the United States, has ever been seen here in concert. Their only previous appearances here have been with the San Francisco Opera.

The San Francisco Ballet, which recently completed a highly successful engagement at New York's Lincoln Center, has made three worldwide tours under the auspices of the U.S. State Department and elicited critical acclaim from foreign critics as well as numerous official commendations from foreign governments and heads of state.

Organ recital scheduled for May 9

Peter Hurford, who has been widely acclaimed as an organist, will play a recital at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, May 9, in First Congregational Church, Third Street and Cedar Avenue.

The program is sponsored by the music committee of the church. Admission is free, but an offering will be received.

Hurford is organist and master of the choristers at the Cathedral and Abbey Church of St. Alban, England. Educated at the Royal College of Music and at Jesus College, Cambridge, he holds numerous degrees and won diplomas at the Concours International d'Execution Musicale in Geneva in 1950 and 1957.

* * * *

HIS PROGRAM next Sunday will include Buxtehude's "Chorale Fantasia," Bach's "Sonata No. 3" and "Concerto No. 1," Hindemith's "Sonata No. 2" and Samuel Barber's variations on "Wonderous Love."

AGO to end series with members' concert

The fourth and final program on the Artist Series of the Long Beach Chapter, American Guild of Organists, will feature three members of the chapter. The public is invited to the concert Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Seventh Street and Atlantic Avenue.

Representing the classical school, Marcia Hannah will perform "Trumpet Tune" by Corelli, "Toccata per L'Elevazione" by Frescobaldi and "Prelude and Fugue in F, Flat Major" by Bach.

WILLIAM PAUL STROUD will illustrate the romantic school with "Third Sonata in A Major" by Mendelssohn and "Second Organ Symphony" by Vierne.

Drawing from the modern school, S. Raymond Parmelee will play "Prelude" by Langlais, "Ah, Leave Us With Thy Grace" by Karg-Elert, "In Memoriam" by Berlinski and "Four Little Preludes and Intermezzi" and chorale prelude on "Beautiful Savior" by Schroeder.

TENNIS BUFFS, ATTENTION!

Top pros play in peninsula benefit

DR. KEITH PACKARD, MMES. NEWSOM, SPEAR
. . . tennis to serve purpose

MMES. THORNBURGH, HONEY, BEINDORF
. . . they meet to plan benefit

It'll be a banner day May 16 for tennis buffs.

That's the day ten of the world's top pros will meet in three matches on the courts of the Jack Kramer Club, 11 Montecillo Dr., Rolling Hills Estates.

To everyone who's ever swung a racket, the names Kramer, Ken Rosewall, Rod Laver, Pancho Segura and Earl Buckholz mean the top. Pit them against Alex Olmedo, Malcolm Anderson, Andres Gimeno, Louis Ayala and Mike Davis and you've got the courts peopled with idols . . . and grandstands filled with fans.

* * * *

THE MEN, all members of the International Professional Tennis Players' Association, signed to do two local benefits—this one for the Peninsula Committee of the Spastic Children's League of Los Angeles and the United Cerebral Palsy Pre-School Nursery in Long Beach.

The other benefit was for the Pasadena Junior League —and raised $50,000 in two evening exhibitions. "We can seat only 2,000 people but hope to raise $8,000 in one afternoon to divide between the Long Beach pre-school and the Los Angeles League for Spastic Children," said Mrs. Ray Beindorf, general chairman of the first such event in coastal California.

Matches will begin at 1:30, finish at about 4:30, after which spectators will see a diving exhibition by Olympic contenders and enjoy a poolside cocktail dansant during the early evening hours.

* * * *

EMCEE FOR the afternoon will be personable Jack Kramer, who built his first club in Rolling Hills Estates.

With pride he'll introduce Rosewall, No. 1 ranking player in international professional tennis and winner of American, Australian, English and French championships.

Laver ranks second, was second man in tennis history (after Don Budge) to win the Grand Slam of tennis, four championships in the same year.

Bucholz was No. 1 man on America's Davis Cup team before he turned pro at a mere 20 years of age.

Olmedo, a Peruvian noted for his serve, ranks sixth in world pro ranks and was a member of the U.S. victorious Davis Cup team in 1958.

Segura, most colorful player with his two-handed forehand, has won almost every major pro tourney and is a three-time winner of the U.S. Intercollegiate championships.

Anderson almost beat Pancho Gonzales in his first pro play in 1959. Before then he won U.S. Amateur Nationals.

Gimeno comes from Barcelona, climbed to fourth in pro standings with a ball to match Rod Laver's for swiftness.

Ayala had the longest record of Davis Cup wins, from 1952 through 1960.

Davis, whose name in England was synonomous with the world's top match, is the pride of Wales with cup-winning experience from 1952 to 1960.

* * * *

PLANNING for a record turn-out at the club are Mmes. William Polkinghorn and Dwight F. Kinney, co-chairmen. President of the Peninsula Committee is Mrs. Charles J. J. Cox.

She chose as key committee people Mmes. Thomas A. Spear, Robert Newsom, Harry J. Blee, James Farrell, Robert K. Garland, Gerald S. Honey, William M. Belding, John P. Weiss Jr., Charles H. Holmes, Glenn Pfeil, Philip Eugene Gordon and E. E. Clark Jr.

Tickets may be purchased at the service desk in Buffums', Long Beach; the General Store in Palos Verdes Estates Malaga Cove Plaza; or at the club.

One of the newest fashions for the bridesmaid is the gown of Goya length—a modern fair lady look that flows to the floor from an Empire high waistline.

List school menus

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of May 3-7:

MONDAY: Neapolitan macaroni, creamy coleslaw, sliced peaches, raised cinnamon biscuit-butter and milk.

TUESDAY: Barbecued beef on bun, garden peas, ½ banana, ice milk bar and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Roast beef, mashed potatoes with gravy, tossed green salad, date bread square and milk.

THURSDAY: Chopped steak on mashed potatoes, buttered green beans, chocolate pudding with marshmallows, whole wheat bread-butter and milk.

FRIDAY: Baked fish or Mexicali pie, carrot and raisin salad, spicy applesauce, whole wheat bread-butter and milk.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch 30 cents. Soup and salad from the junior-senior High school a la carte menu are sold in the elementary schools, but they may be purchased by the children only after they have purchased the tray lunch.

Junior, Senior Menu

MONDAY: Barbecued beef on bun, buttered corn, strawberry sauce with whipped topping, coconut bar and milk.

TUESDAY: Italian spaghetti, garden salad with olive garnish, apricot halves, hot buttered French bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Pizza, buttered green beans, fruit cup supreme with bananas, whole wheat bread-butter and milk.

THURSDAY: Turkey in gravy on mashed potatoes, creamy coleslaw, apple torte with whipped topping, hot buttered cornbread and milk.

FRIDAY: Macaroni and cheese or Mexicali pie, buttered peas, cherry sauce with whipped topping, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

Alliance dates French lecture on literature

"French Literature Nowadays" will be subject of a discussion in French by Mrs. M. Sedeyn-Hauff during a meeting Saturday under auspices of the Alliance Franchise de Los Angeles Inc.

The meeting, planned for 2 p.m. in the clubrooms of the alliance, 5410 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, is one of a series of weekly Saturday afternoon lectures. It gives club members and those interested in French conversation an opportunity to hear and practice the language.

Snapped towels

One way to stop children from dropping damp towels on the bathroom floor: sew snaps to the edge of a towel, then fasten it around the towel bar.

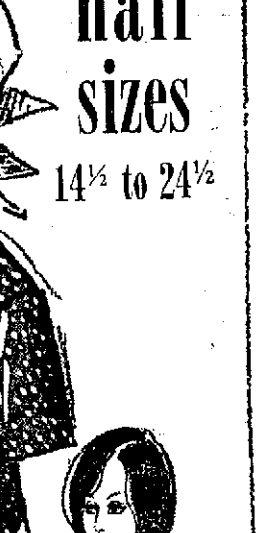

NUTRITION NEWS

What are NATURAL VITAMINS? These are the vitamins that are extracted from a natural source. They contain all the important "helper factors" plus many elements that haven't been isolated yet. Some people who can't tolerate "chemical vitamins" can handle "NATURAL VITAMINS" and obtain outstanding results. If you haven't responded to synthetic vitamins why not give Natural Vitamins a chance to prove their superiority? Schulman's trained counselors are at your service to aid you in selecting the recommended vitamins for your individual needs. Visit us soon.

Students to hear L.A. Philharmonic

When Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra plays for students of Long Beach Unified School District Thursday, Wilson High School pupils will have the rare experience of hearing one of their classmates perform as soloist.

At the 11 a.m. concert in Wilson High Auditorium, Craig Nies, an 11th grade student, will play Rachmaninoff's "Piano Concerto No. 3." Craig appeared with the orchestra at Los Angeles Music Center and at several other places in the South-land recently.

HENRY LEWIS will conduct both the 11 o'clock program for junior and senior high music students and one at 10 a.m. for fifth and sixth graders. Both concerts will be played in Wilson Auditorium.

The elementary school youngsters will hear the overture to Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," "The White Peacock" by Griffes, "The Sleeping Beauty Waltz" by Tchaikovsky, "Polka" by Weinberger, and "Chester" by Schuman.

CRAIG NIES

UNDER THE direction of Alice Gallup and Fred Ohlendorf from the office of music education, teachers have been preparing students for the concert through special lessons. Those who cannot attend will have an opportunity to hear a live broadcast over KLON, the school radio station.

Long Beach Auxiliary of Southern California Symphony Association assists the school district in making the programs possible.

Melodyland signs artists

Melodyland Theatre has signed Pat Boone to star in "West Side Story," final attraction in their Summer Musical Series. Tickets go on sale by mail order only today.

Two musical comedy actresses also have been set. Eileen Christy will be seen with John Raitt in "Oklahoma," and Elaine Dunn will play opposite Pat Boone.

Lineup of five plays is now as follows: John Raitt and Eileen Christy in "Oklahoma," July 6-18; Jose Ferrer in "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum," July 20-August 1; Howard Keel in "Camelot," Aug. 3-15; Edie Adams in "Can-Can," Aug. 17-29; and Pat Boone and Elaine Dunn in "West Side Story," Aug. 31-Sept. 12.

Churchill subject of film show

Three films centering around the life and country of Sir Winston Churchill will be shown Saturday at Alamitos Branch Library, 1836 E Third St., beginning at 2:30 p.m.

"Churchill: Man of the Century" is a biographical sketch which recalls high lights in Churchills's life from the time of his entry into the army in 1895 up to the celebration of his 80th birthday.

"An Impression of London" shows a typical London day through the eyes of a young American girl who sets her impressions down in a diary. One of the loveliest districts in England and one immortalized in English literature is shown in the third film, "Lake District."

Alamitos Library films shewings are for adults only. Admission is free.

Two new shows open at museum

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Fred Campbell is first place winner in Long Beach Art Association's 41st annual exhibition which opens today at Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Campbell is a wheel chair patient at Veterans Administration Hospital.

Other winners are Dr. Eugene Wallin, second; Helen Feyler, third; Marcella Timer, fourth; and Dr. Wallin, fifth.

Forty works of art were selected to hang in the museum by Henry Hopkins, chief of the educational services division of Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

The remainder of entries in this membership show are on display at the art association's gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

* * * *

ALSO OPENING at the museum today is "Arts of Southern California XV; Marine Paintings." Styles range from variations on the traditional seascapes to highly personal abstract interpretations.

The nine artists represented are Rex Brandt, Keith Crown, Paul Darrow, Herbert Griswold, Richard Haines, Joan Irving, Douglas Parshall, Larry Rink and Milford Zornes.

The "Arts of Southern California" exhibitions are organized twice each year by Long Beach Museum of Art and tour major galleries, museums and educational institutions throughout the United States under guidance of the Western Association of Art Museums.

A reception honoring the opening of the new exhibits will be hosted by Friends of the Museum today from 2 to 4 p.m. The public is invited.

* * * *

ROSSMOOR Center Businessmen's Association and Rossmoor Woman's Club are sponsoring the third annual art exhibition to be held in Rossmoor Center May 13 through 16.

Entries in the first show in 1963 numbered 175. Entries in the current competition already have exceeded that number and artists have two more weeks to submit their works for the juried exhibit.

The businessmen's association is offering a $500 non-purchase award, the woman's club will present a $200 purchase award. Other prizes are a $250 purchase award by the Boston Store, a $200 purchase award by Union Federal Savings & Loan Association (traditional style), and a $50 non-purchase award by C&S Enterprises.

James Elliott, chief curator of Los Angeles County Museum of Art will judge the show. Artists who wish to enter may obtain further information by contacting the Rossmoor Center office, P.O. Box 246, Los Alamitos.

* * * *

THE ANNUAL Los Angeles Presbytery art exhibit will take place Saturday from noon to 5 p.m. at North Long Beach Presbyterian Church, 6380 Orange Ave.

The public is invited to view the showing which is expected to consist of several hundred paintings, drawings and pieces of sculpture. Although entry is open to all persons affiliated with a Presbyterian church, each local church may send only three adult and two children's entries. Churches were encouraged to have their own art shows and to send the winning works to the Presbytery exhibit.

Judges will be three art faculty members from Long Beach State College: Dr. Howard Hitchcock, Dr. Calvin Gross and Miss Jane Purcell. They will choose 20 entries to be sent to the Synod Art Exhibit at Occidental College in June.

* * * *

LAIRD PLUMLEIGH and Bruce Marsh are showing their masters exhibits at Long Beach State College art gallery through May 15.

Evelyn Carpenter of Lakewood had a painting selected for the Phelan Awards art exhibition on view through May 16 at Barnsdall Park, Los Angeles.

Pat Jones of Seal Beach Art Center will exhibit paintings by 25 of her beginning and advanced students at Magnolia Theater beginning Thursday.

The Art Seller, 121 S. Pacific Ave., Redondo Beach, is displaying drawings and paintings by Mary Jacobs and Jim Johnstone through Friday.

Change of pace

The melodrama "Night Must Fall," by Emlyn Williams, current production at Community Playhouse, marks a change of pace for the theater. In this scene are (from left) Lee Rhoads, who plays the psychopathic murderer, Dan; Katheryn as the invalid, Merrell Ann Haddan, her niece, and Gilberta Causey, the cook. Production will continue Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays through May 29.

'Barretts' to play in Horseshoe

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street" will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Horseshoe Theater on the Business and Technology campus of Long Beach City College, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Highway. Admission is free.

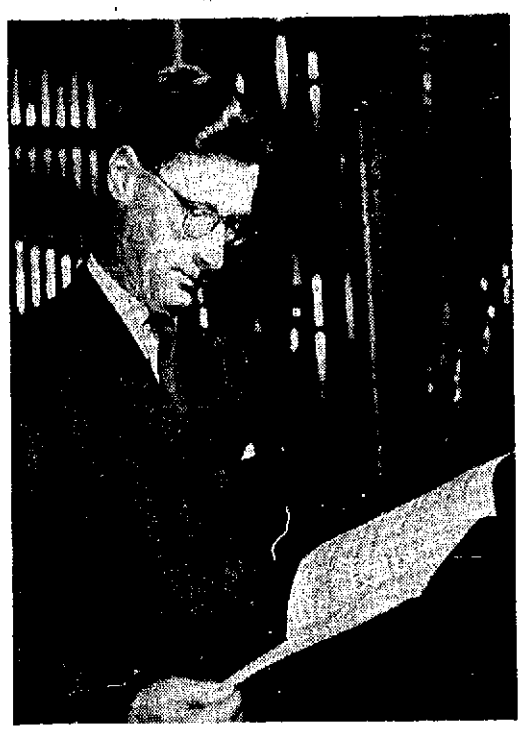

Playing the romantic leads in Rudolph Besier's drama of the romance between poets Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett are Dr. Stephen Buck and Elizabeth Anderson. Director of the production is Herbert Caesar.

Portraying other members of the Barrett family are Gaylor Suddeth as the tyrannical father, Sandra Kolak as Henrietta, Mike Goldstock as Octavius and Buena Moran as Arabella.

* * * *

MEMBERS of the supporting cast include John Darby, Chris Boyle, Joan Cochems, John McNaughton, Charles Seabrook, Joseph Beckler, Ernest Taintor, Tom Osens, Georgia Foreman, Herbert Barfield and Denis Fish.

Among the members of the cast with extensive dramatic experience are Dr. Buck, member of the speech department of California State College at Long Beach, and Darby, who has appeared on television in the "Bachelor Father" series.

PETER HURFORD

Voulkos's sculptures are landmarks in art

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Ten sculptures by Peter Voulkos will be on display in the plaza of the new County Art Museum, 5905 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, thru June 20.

Voulkos is a landmark in the contemporary evolution of sculpture. The works in this exhibit comprise three different approaches this one artist has originated since 1958.

First are monumental fired ceramic pieces which are comparable to abstract expressionism in painting. This technique was a unique development, "native to California and not indebted to the art of other regions." "Gallas Rock" is a mounding-up of forms which may have started as thrown pots, but have been bent, twisted, and punched about. The viewer is drawn into the dynamic involvement of the sculptor.

* * * *

ALSO FROM this period are "Rondenda," "Sitting Bull," and "Little Big Horn." These forms are closed, massive and assertive, brushed with cobalt blue, brown, or black.

The second group, also non-objective, are roughly-finished bronze castings presented on bronze or wooden platforms on squat wheels. "Remmington" seems to refer to the paintings of the West in which ponies rear and strong men are engaged in bold deeds. "Vargas II" and "Honk" are in the same mode as is "Bad Day at Shattuck" which does resemble a crumpled, fallen steed.

* * * *

THE WORKS of 1964-5, "Hiro" and "Big A," are smoothly finished bronze forms on "tables" of aluminum . . . stark and lonely and on a grand scale.

Voulkos's work is mysterious, with titles having really little to do with the concepts he executes in three dimensions. Each will mean something different for each viewer. To visit this exhibit is to follow a gravely serious artist on an exciting journey.

Music, drama bills set

Musical and dramatic presentations highlight Long Beach State College offerings this week.

Today at 4 p.m. the wind ensemble and symphonic band will play a concert in Long Beach City College Auditorium, Clark Avenue and Harvey Way. Martha Lowe will be featured flute soloist. Robert Reynolds will direct. There is no admission charge.

* * * *

TUESDAY at 8:30 p.m. in LBSC's Little Theater on campus, the college's brass ensemble, clarinet choir and the newly formed percussion ensemble will perform a free concert. Charles Yates directs the percussion ensemble and the clarinet choir; Reynolds directs the brass ensemble.

* * * *

THURSDAY through next Sunday, students at the college will direct and act in a series of one-act plays. Two are originals written by LBSC students. They are "Feeding Time for the Jabberwocky" by Ronald Thronson and "Thief of Fire" by Dave Carver. Others to be enacted are "Portrait of a Madonna" by Tennessee Williams and "How He Lied to Her Husband" by George Bernard Shaw.

Performances will be given in the Studio Theater on the lower campus. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door. For further information call the college drama department.

To perform

The voice of Miriam Makeba will be heard in "The Voice and Sound of Africa" in the Huntington Hartford Theater May 10-15.

Guild opera adds performances

Three extra performances have been added to the schedule of the Guild Opera's "Hansel and Gretel" because of the large response for tickets.

More than 75,000 children from Los Angeles City, County, Private and Parochial schools have purchased tickets for the performances May 3-26, in the Shrine Auditorium.

On stage--

CHAPEL PLAYHOUSE, 4164 Pacific Coast Hwy., Torrance, "Becket," 8:30 p.m. Friday through Sunday, through May 15.
COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE, 5021 E. Anaheim St., "Night Must Fall," 7:45 p.m. Thursday, 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, through May 29.

PEPPERMINT PLAYHOUSE, 124 Main St., Seal Beach, "He Ain't Done Right by Little Nell," 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday, through May 22. Children's Theater, "Sleeping Beauty," 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

S.F. Ballet to shorten engagement

Due to a conflict of bookings, the two week engagement of the San Francisco Ballet at Melodyland Theatre has been shortened to one week, beginning May 18.

Presented by the Orange County Performing Arts Foundation, which is also bringing two weeks of grand opera to the Anaheim showhouse beginning June 1, the San Francisco Ballet will dance the second act of Nutcracker and two ballets which have never before been seen in Southern California, "The Set" and "Balletino."

* * * *

THIS WILL mark the first time that the San Francisco dance troupe, generally regarded as one of the two most prestigious companies in the United States, has ever been seen here in concert. Their only previous appearances here have been with the San Francisco Opera.

The San Francisco Ballet, which recently completed a highly successful engagement at New York's Lincoln Center, has made three worldwide tours under the auspices of the U.S. State Department and elicited critical acclaim from foreign critics as well as numerous official commendations from foreign governments and heads of state.

Organ recital scheduled for May 9

Peter Hurford, who has been widely acclaimed as an organist, will play a recital at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, May 9, in First Congregational Church, Third Street and Cedar Avenue.

The program is sponsored by the music committee of the church. Admission is free, but an offering will be received.

Hurford is organist and master of the choristers at the Cathedral and Abbey Church of St. Alban, England. Educated at the Royal College of Music and at Jesus College, Cambridge, he holds numerous degrees and won diplomas at the Concours International d'Execution Musicale in Geneva in 1950 and 1955.

* * * *

HIS PROGRAM next Sunday will include Buxtehude's "Chorale Fantasia," Bach's "Sonata No. 3" and "Concerto No. 1," Hindemith's "Sonata No. 2" and Samuel Barber's variations on "Wonderous Love."

AGO to end series with members' concert

The fourth and final program on the Artist Series of the Long Beach Chapter, American Guild of Organists, will feature three members of the chapter. The public is invited to the concert Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Seventh Street and Atlantic Avenue.

Representing the classical school, Marcia Hannah will perform "Trumpet Tune" by Corelli, "Toccata per L'Elevazione" by Frescobaldi and "Prelude and Fugue in E. Flat Major" by Bach.

WILLIAM PAUL STROUD will illustrate the romantic school with "Third Sonata in A Major" by Mendelssohn and "Second Organ Symphony" by Vierne.

Drawing from the modern school, S. Raymond Parmelee will play "Prelude" by Langlais, "Ah, Leave Us With Thy Grace" by Karg-Elert, "In Memoriam" by Berlinski and "Four Little Preludes and Intermezzi" and chorale prelude on "Beautiful Savior" by Schroeder.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

...A chop, chop promoter

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I. P-T Food Editor

For the record, (Quote) He's fair, clever, wonderfully intelligent and affable, even on Monday morning. (Unquote).

Apparently, today's Chef of the Week, Vern Baker, is not a candidate for Mac Epley's "Monday Morning Club." We're told, also, that he appreciates good taste in food, decor and things in general.

Interested in sailing, Baker lured our photog out-of-the-kitchen and on-to-the-boat—(not even into the galley). The chef's cap is only evidence that he can cook. His recipe for Stuffed Double Pork Chops IS a "dilly"! Try 'em, and see.

* * * *

BORN IN SAN JOSE, Calif., Baker graduated from San Jose State with a major in journalism. He put it to use immediately as sports editor for the Tulare Advance Register. That was during the Bob Mathias "administration," which added even more interest to Baker's venture.

A trip to Korea with the U. S. Army consumed the next two years. Then Baker joined the staff of United Press, San Francisco Bureau, where he served as correspondent for six years.

Onward to new fields he went, becoming an account executive for an advertising agency in Reno, Nev. The Winter Olympics, which were to be held in Squaw Valley, prompted his establishing the Reno News Bureau. He remained there through the Olympics.

* * * *

IN 1962 Baker came to Long Beach, and established Long Beach Promotion Inc., of which he is manager. It is a nonprofit organization, handling publicity and advertising for the City of Long Beach.

A ghost writer, sans allure, Baker is co-author of the book "Must Be Good Writer—Orphans Preferred," published by Funk and Wagnalls three years ago.

And word has just come from New York that "Le Petit Marinier," a movie of Long Beach, which he co-authored and co-produced, has been given the regional award. It now goes to Washington, D. C., for a national award—then on to Cannes, France.

* * * *

BAKER'S FAMILY, his wife, Kathleen, daughters, Cindy, 13, Sherryl, 11, Maurine, 7, and sons, Tom, 9, and Matthew, 5, share his fun in racing their 24-foot sloop, Columbia Challenger. Oh, yes, "Chancellor," the 8-months-old German Shepherd, most always goes along for the ride.

Hunting, photography, and says Kathleen, "dabbling in paints, which he does quite well," consume the rest of his spare time.

VERN BAKER

And, now for his Three Decker Pork Chops.

Stuffed Double Pork Chops
(Serves 4)

4 double pork chops at least 3 inches thick. Have butcher cut a pocket on meat side.
½ lb. spinach (fresh) or half-cup canned, chopped spinach
1 clove garlic
1 tblsp. olive oil
½ cup chopped parsley
½ tsp. Thyme
Pinch Sweet Basil
½ cup dry bread crumbs
Salt and pepper
½ cup hot water
2 tblsp. dry white wine

If fresh spinach is used, wash, salt and cook without water for 10 minutes. (I prefer the canned variety). Chop spinach fine. Mince garlic and fry in oil for 5 min. Add parsley and herbs chopped fine, then add bread crumbs and spinach. Mix it well, salt and pepper to taste and cook 5 min. Let it cool, then stuff into pockets in the chops. Bake chops at 325 degrees for 1¼ hours. Baste every 15 minutes with a mixture of water, dry white wine (I use double the amount of wine but 2 tablespoons are sufficient), and salt to taste.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Around the world with Delaplane

"We are two college girls who get our fare paid to Europe, but we simply must work there. . . ."

THE RULES on this have been too complicated for me to learn. I do have a letter on jobs abroad from International Student Travel Center, 39 Cortlandt St., New York City. They say they place people in jobs. And their membership fee is small. But I don't know their operation personally.

* * * *

"In driving the Pan American highway, how can we find out if the pass is closed between Mexico and Guatemala?"

EVERYBODY tells me that the way to go now is through a new road that crosses at low level Tapachula — toward the West Coast. Few people go through that bottleneck El Tapon pass anymore.

* * * *

"Is there a new place in Mexico like Puerto Vallarta which I understand is becoming touristy?"

I'VE HEARD from people of hotel development at Barra de Navidad. That's a few miles north of Manzanillo on the West Coast — drive down from Guadalajara. Then there are a few places at Manzanillo, too.

Another is Zihuatanejo. North of Acapulco. Reachable by air from Mexico City. I haven't been there, but supposed to be a very good hotel and beach.

* * * *

"Should we change our money in the U.S. for foreign money? Or change it when we arrive?"

CARRY traveler's checks and change over there as you need cash. Except — I change about $10 here into money of the country of arrival. Get it well broken down. What you want it for is porter tipping and taxicab money.

I usually change at the New York airport bank — there's a branch in each terminal. When I move to a new country, I change a little more for that country.

But maybe you're more organized. Like to get it all done in advance. So, you can buy as much as you want for every country, each in an attractive wallet with a currency conversion chart, from Bank of America.

Something to remember on money overseas: Don't turn in all your local money until you've paid your airport tax, taxi and tipped the porter. Or you'll find suddenly you have to cash another traveler's check.

And coins don't exchange from one country to another. That is, you can take your remaining English pounds on to Paris and cash them in for francs. (Airport banks are always best for this.) But your coin shillings usually don't exchange.

And don't tip your hotel maid or porter in left-over American coins from your pocket. They can't cash them in for local money.

"We plan to buy a car and drive in Europe and would like to know the best countries."

ALL OF IRELAND seems to be gray, ruined castles and white sheep. Has a rainy, fairy tale feeling that appeals to me. The back roads of England. Every turn between the hedgerows brings you to villages with lead-windowed pubs. The Black Forest in Germany. All of Switzerland. The north mountains of Spain. The Cantabrican coast. The Rhone valley of France — if you stay off the major highways.

There is NO big highway in Europe that I've found rewarding.

Will marry this summer

The engagement of Sharon Gene Jacobson to Frank Robert Cope has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Eugene Jacobson, Long Beach. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Cope, formerly of Long Beach and now of Oakland.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Jordan High, attended Long Beach City College, where she was Associated Student Body secretary and member of Kassai, and is a graduate of Loma Linda University where she received a BS degree in dental hygiene. At Loma Linda she was president of her senior class.

The bridegroom-elect, a graduate of Jordan High, is now a senior at UC, Berkeley, majoring in business administration.

Two library films stress water safety

The Long Beach public library is offering two circuit films stressing water safety for use during May, when thousands of local residents will take to the beach.

The first is "Anyone for Diving," a 35-minute color film prepared by the Los Angeles County Parks and Recreation Department. It describes the hazards involved in scuba diving if the participant does not have proper training and outlines the divers' training program offered by Los Angeles County.

* * * *

THE OTHER, "Small Craft Safety," demonstrates basic safety methods in the prevention of accidents with outboards, small sailboats, rowboats and canoes.

Other films which may be borrowed during May: "Big Moments in Sports," "Camel Who Took a Walk," "Dances of India," "A Date With British Columbia," "Denmark, Fairytale Land," "Everybody's Prejudiced," "Hawaiian Islands: Origin and Nature," "Literature in America: The Short Story," "Outboard Fisherman USA," "Project Muskie," "Riding High," Shakespeare: Soul of an Age," "Siam" and "Universe."

There is a service charge for the use of most films.

African violets to highlight society show

An outstanding showing of African violets will be displayed next weekend during the 11th annual show sponsored by the Los Angeles African Violet Society.

The show, scheduled in the Community and Youth Center, 3820 Santa Rosalia Drive, Los Angeles, will be open to the public Friday, 1 to 10 p.m., and Saturday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Alumnae to install

Annual banquet and installation of the Long Beach Alumnae Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, professional music sorority, will take place Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Hacienda Hotel in San Pedro.

Outgoing president, Mrs. Ralph Johnstone, Lakewood, will turn the gavel over to newly elected president, Mrs. Cecil Sams of Long Beach. Mrs. Sams has previously held office as vice president and corresponding secretary. A flutist, Mrs. Sams also directs the choir of Cross Roads Community Church, Lakewood. A graduate of UCLA who has done post graduate work at Long Beach State College, she was an elementary teacher in the Long Beach school system for several years.

* * * *

OTHERS TO be installed are Mmes. Jerome Bartkus, Norman Higley, Johnstone, Fred Ohlendorf, Leone Rickman, Lawrence Berry, Ruth Hayfield, and Miss Harriet Payne.

After the banquet, members will go to the home of Mrs. Richard Lambert for a program and business meeting. Featured on the program will be students and faculty from the newest chapter of the sorority at California State College, Fullerton.

Any members of Mu Phi Epsilon who would like to attend the banquet are invited to call Mrs. Johnstone or Mrs. Kenneth Harkey for reservations.

Good Sports plan luncheon

The Good Sports Club will sponsor a luncheon and card party at noon Monday to benefit indoor sports. Open to the public, the event will be held at Third Street and Alamitos Avenue.

No-point hand helps to set

Take a good look at the delightful West hand. Assume it's yours. You don't hold any points at all but you do have four tens and four nines. It is slightly disturbing to find that your partner can do nothing but pass while your opponents start by bidding all four suits in order and then go on to three no-trump.

You are pleased that they have not gone to a slam and you assume that your partner has quite a few high cards in his own hand. If you are an optimist by nature you even assume that the right opening lead will give South some trouble with his three no-trump contract and if you are a good bridge player you will put just as much study into your choice of opening lead as you would if you held a good hand.

You have a five card diamond suit. Should you lead it? No! North surely has four of them and if by some miracle you could get your diamonds established you would never get in to make them. The same reasoning should cause you to abondon the idea of a spade lead.

* * * *

NOW YOU are down to a choice between your two doubletons. This is pretty reasonable. You have a bad hand. You want to attack for your partner. Which doubleton should you try? a club opening is likely to be right into a five-card club suit but a heart opening will only be into a four-card heart suit. Furthermore you can be sure that North won't hold more than three hearts so that your partner is sure to have at least four.

Will you be pickling some high cards of his? Probably yes, but they are right where declarer can pickle them if you don't open the suit.

After all this you lead your ten of hearts. From this point on South can try lots of ways to play the hand but they will all lead to the same result which will be down one.

Students to hear L.A. Philharmonic

When Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra plays for students of Long Beach Unified School District Thursday, Wilson High School pupils will have the rare experience of hearing one of their classmates perform as soloist.

At the 11 a.m. concert in Wilson High Auditorium, Craig Nies, an 11th grade student, will play Rachmaninoff's "Piano Concerto No. 3." Craig appeared with the orchestra at Los Angeles Music Center and at several other places in the Southland recently.

* * * *

HENRY LEWIS will conduct both the 11 o'clock program for junior and senior high music students and one at 10 a.m. for fifth and sixth graders. Both concerts will be played in Wilson Auditorium.

The elementary school youngsters will hear the overture to Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro," "The White Peacock" by Griffes, "The Sleeping Beauty Waltz" by Tchaikovsky, "Polka" by Weinberger, and "Chester" by Schuman.

CRAIG NIES

UNDER THE direction of Alice Gallup and Fred Ohlendorf from the office of music education, teachers have been preparing students for the concert through special lessons. Those who cannot attend will have an opportunity to hear a live broadcast over KLON, the school radio station.

Long Beach Auxiliary of Southern California Symphony Association assists the school district in making the programs possible.

Churchill subject of film show

Three films centering around the life and country of Sir Winston Churchill will be shown Saturday at Alamitos Branch Library, 1836 E. Third St., beginning at 2:30 p.m.

"Churchill: Man of the Century" is a biographical sketch which recalls high lights in Churchills's life from the time of his entry into the army in 1895 up to the celebration of his 80th birthday.

"An Impression of London" shows a typical London day through the eyes of a young American girl who sets her impressions down in a diary. One of the loveliest districts in England and one immortalized in English literature is shown in the third film, "Lake District."

Alamitos Library films showings are for adults only. Admission is free.

Melodyland signs artists

Melodyland Theatre has signed Pat Boone to star in "West Side Story," final attraction in their Summer Musical Series. Tickets go on sale by mail order only today.

Two musical comedy actresses also have been set. Eileen Christy will be seen with John Raitt in "Oklahoma," and Elaine Dunn will play opposite Pat Boone.

Lineup of five plays is now as follows: John Raitt and Eileen Christy in "Oklahoma," July 6-18; Jose Ferrer in "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum," July 20-August 1; Howard Keel in "Camelot," Aug. 3-15; Edie Adams in "Can-Can," Aug. 17-29; and Pat Boone and Elaine Dunn in "West Side Story," Aug. 31-Sept. 12.

DESERT HOT SPRINGS SPA, opened last Oct. 16 at a cost of $1 million, has five therapeutic hot pools, two hydrotherapy swirlpools, an Olympic-size swimming pool, and children's pool. All pools are fed by hot mineral water.

SOUTHLAND TRAVELER

Desert Hot Springs suddenly comes alive

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

Long overlooked by sun seekers because of its proximity to internationally known Palm Springs, the community of Desert Hot Springs suddenly has come alive and in the next decade should become one of the important resort cities of booming Coachella Valley.

Desert Hot Springs, located just 10 miles north of Palm Springs, already is on the move. Since incorporation in 1963, the main streets have been widened and resurfaced. There are new schools, a park, library, and churches of several denominations. Service clubs and senior citizens groups have been organized. A general beautification program started soon after incorporation is getting results, and Mayor Howard Carr says the program will continue to be pushed.

The two-mile-square incorporated area boasts 4,000 year-around residents. But in the winter season, the population explodes to between 8,000 and 10,000 and rooms are at a premium in the city's 165 hotels, motels, apartment houses and lodges.

* * * *

CLIMATE and health-giving hot mineral springs account for the community's growing popularity. Temperatures vary from a warm 75 degrees during the winter to a very dry 97 degree summer average. Year-around average is pegged at 82 degrees. Altitude of this middle desert community is between 1,000 and 1,400 feet.

There are 40 hot mineral wells at Desert Hot Springs pumping 6,433,840 gallons of water a week into dozens of pools, public and private. The original discovery well, located near the new $1 million Desert Hot Springs Spa, was only 40 feet in depth until 1933 when it was deepened to 333 feet. Its capacity now is 1,000 gallons per minute at 140 degrees.

The Spa brings people to Desert Hot Springs from all over the world. Besides its Olympic size pool, it has five therapeutic hot pools (temperatures 100 to 108 degrees), including two hydrotherapy swirlpools, and specially designed children's pools.

Other advantages are cabanas, Finnish sauna rooms, an extensive sundeck, and air-conditioned restaurant. A staff of masseurs is maintained at all times.

* * * *

SO POPULAR has the Spa become that two hotel chains are reportedly interested in building a 100-room hostelry on property adjoining on the north. One has reached stage where it has been working with an architect and builder.

In addition, Horton Center, a shopping area, will rise at Pierson and Palm Drive. The project includes enlarging and modernizing a supermarket and installation of facilities for a liquor store, drug store, variety store and other businesses. Ground for the project will be broken in June, with completion due early in 1966.

Another of the city's assets is Angel View Crippled Children's Hospital, a non-profit organization that has become nationally known for its fine work.

THERE IS MUCH to see in and around Desert Hot Springs, including Cabot's Museum, a bizarre pueblo-type structure built almost entirely by the late Cabot Zerxa, who came to the area in 1913 to become its first white inhabitant.

Besides swimming, sun bathing, and soaking in hot mineral pools, the parks and recreational facilities offer shuffleboard, dancing, barbecues under the stars, horseback riding and tennis. Add to all this the 13 golf courses in the valley and it's not hard to understand why this community is going places.

Conference hall to seat 2,000

A $9 million international conference hall, with a main auditorium capable of seating 2,000 people, will be completed in Kyoto in October. Patterned after the United Nations building in New York and the UNESCO headquarters in Paris, it will be called the State International Hall.

In addition to its main auditorium, reports the Japan National Tourist Organization, there will be a medium-size hall and two small halls as well as committee rooms, a press center and a restaurant. The structure was designed by Yukio Otani, a pupil of Kenzo Tange, noted Japanese architect who designed the widely praised National Gymnasium constructed for the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo.

Trinidad building

New guest facilities are being opened in the outlying districts of Trinidad. A colony of three cottages is now operating near Toco, on the scenic northeast coast. The cottages are dubbed the "Breakfastriver House," (four bedrooms), Le Repo-"Breakfastriver House" three bedroomes each. The colony is ithin two hours of Port of Spain by car.

Wildflower fete opens at Julian

Beginning next Sunday, the mountain town of Julian, on Hwy. 78 east of Escondido, will hold its 39th Wildflower Show with thousands of blossoms from mountains and desert on display in the Town Hall.

Wildflowers are limited to a 10-mile radius. Unusual flowers such as white ocotillo, pink manzanita, tinted penstemon and creeping mountain lilac are promised for those who come to look.

The Julian show continues through May 22.

Meanwhile, on May 15, there will be a tour from Bishop, on the eastern slope of the High Sierra, of the ancient bristlecone pines forest. The weirdly gnarled bristlecones, growing on the slopes of the White Mountains of the area, are declared by some experts to be the oldest living things on earth.

The field trip to the forest, past ancient fossils and gorgeous views, starts from Bishop under auspices of the Eastern Sierra California Museum. Write Bishop Chamber of Commerce for further details.

A week for wine

The German Wine Week of 1965 (May 14-28) will be opened in Berlin under the patronage of West German President Dr. Luebke. The program will include various events ranging from wine testing to folk festivals.

NEW GUIDE TO MEXICO

T. Philip Terry published his first guide to Mexico in 1909, and it immediately became sought-after reading. After Terry's death in 1945, James Norman has kept the work up-to-date.

A complete revised edition of "Terry's Guide to Mexico" (Doubleday & Co., 277 Park Ave., New York 17, N.Y., $5.95), just off the presses, is not only up-to-the-minute in its contents, but probably the most comprehensive and informative guide published on the Land of Manana.

The book contains all general information important to travel in Mexico, followed by a section on the country's physiography, history and culture. A third section outlines all highway, air and rail routes, and the last and most important part thoroughly explores the regions of Mexico, one by one, with a brief description, physiography, history, roads, places of interest, plus a current report on hotels, restaurants and shops.

Kabuki theater to play Berlin

The Berlin Tourist Office reports that the 1965 Berlin Festival (Sept. 26-Oct. 12) will feature Japanese art, drama and dance. The Kabuki theatre will be performing for the first time in Europe (Oct. 2-8) with two separate programs totaling 10 performances in the new Freie Volksbuehne Theater. There will also be an exhibition of color photographs entitled, "Japan Today," as well as a display of Japanese art treasures, ink sketches, ceramics and ancient armour, on view for the first time outside of Japan.

First performances of modern Japanese composers will be offered. Ex-Prime Minister Kishi will officially represent his country.

Star of 'Bonanza' in Canadian Fete

Gala Night Under the Stars, on June 11 and 12, will highlight Saskatchewan's Jubilee celebrations this summer.

This mid-western province of Canada started celebrating her 60th birthday in January. Festivities will reach their peak with these two mid-June programs in Saskatoon and Regina. Lorne Greene, Canadian-born actor and television star of the "Bonanza" series, will be the featured entertainer at the two variety shows.

Greene will portray his television role of Ben Cartwright, teller of stories of the wild west and singer of hit songs. He will also do a concert reading of the "Louis Riel Trail" speeches from a script written especially for the occasion.

* * * *

LOUIS RIEL, born in Manitoba, was half-Indian, half French, and won his place in Canadian history as a man who led a rebellion and ultimately died, defending the rights of half-breeds, or Metis, as they were called. Some thought him mad. After several months of deliberation on his sanity, he was executed in Regina, in 1885, on charges of treason. To this day, his sanity is a matter of controversy, but to the Metis of Western Canada, he still is a hero and their greatest historical figure.

The two Gala Night programs will feature Saskatchewan's most outstanding home-grown talent.

* * * *

RIGHT NOW, throughout the length and breadth of Saskatchewan, top talent is being auditioned in the biggest talent hunt this province has ever known. The leading 12 contestants will participate in the Gala Night Under the Stars variety shows. Winner of these two productions will go to Hollywood to appear with Lorne Greene in one of the Bonanza series.

Throughout the year, hotels and restaurants are featuring the Jubilee with special menus, tourist information, maps and other information designed to assist visitors who holiday in Saskatchewan during 1965.

Santa Fe cited for cleanliness

A special award for sanitation and cleanliness in dining cars has been awarded to Santa Fe Railway by the United States Public Health Service. This is the fourth consecutive year Santa Fe has been so honored.

Wesley Gilbertson, chief, division of environmental engineering and food protection of Washington, D.C., cited the railroad for earning a Grade A Certificate of Cleanliness in each of its 111 dining and lounge cars during 1964.

Western Motels will honor credit cards

Beginning June 1, Standard Oil credit cards will be honored by all members of Western Motels, Inc., operator of more than 900 Best Western/Best Eastern Motels.

In making the announcement, M. K. Guertin, Long Beach, vice president and executive secretary of the chain, said that under terms of the agreement Standard Oil and American Oil credit card holders may use their cards for rooms, food and related charges in all association motels.

"INSIDE PASSAGE" CRUISE
"Once in a lifetime" is the best way to describe the magnificent scenery and total relaxation you'll enjoy on this 2000-mile cruise to Alaska!
The cruise will be conducted in late spring and early autumn aboard the newly-renovated Princess Patricia—the largest and most luxurious ship in service on the picturesque "Inside Passage." These are the ideal seasons to visit our 49th state! Clear, sunny days enhance Alaska's spring and autumnal beauty.
You will board the ship in Vancouver, British Columbia. Ports of call include Prince Rupert, Ketchikan, Wrangell, Juneau, and Skagway. You also will visit Carcross in the Yukon and old-world Victoria in British Columbia, where you'll stay at the historic Empress Hotel.
The tours depart from Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Seattle during the fourth week in May and the fourth week in August.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

...A chop, chop promoter

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I. P-T Food Editor

For the record, (Quote) He's fair, clever, wonderfully intelligent and affable, even on Monday morning. (Unquote).

Apparently, today's Chef of the Week, Vern Baker, is not a candidate for Mac Epley's "Monday Morning Club." We're told, also, that he appreciates good taste in food, decor and things in general.

Interested in sailing, Baker lured our photog out-of-the-kitchen and on-to-the-boat—(not even into the galley). The chef's cap is only evidence that he can cook. His recipe for Stuffed Double Pork Chops IS a "dilly"! Try 'em, and see.

* * * *

BORN IN SAN JOSE, Calif., Baker graduated from San Jose State with a major in journalism. He put it to use immediately as sports editor for the Tulare Advance Register. That was during the Bob Mathias "administration," which added even more interest to Baker's venture.

A trip to Korea with the U. S. Army consumed the next two years. Then Baker joined the staff of United Press, San Francisco Bureau, where he served as correspondent for six years.

Onward to new fields he went, becoming an account executive for an advertising agency in Reno, Nev. The Winter Olympics, which were to be held in Squaw Valley, prompted his establishing the Reno News Bureau. He remained there through the Olympics.

* * * *

IN 1962 Baker came to Long Beach, and established Long Beach Promotion Inc., of which he is manager. It is a nonprofit organization, handling publicity and advertising for the City of Long Beach.

A ghost writer, sans attire, Baker is co-author of the book "Must Be Good Writer—Orphans Preferred," published by Funk and Wagnalls three years ago.

And word has just come from New York that "Le Petit Marinier," a movie of Long Beach, which he co-authored and co-produced, has been given the regional award. It now goes to Washington, D. C., for a national award—then on to Cannes, France.

* * * *

BAKER'S FAMILY, his wife, Kathleen, daughters, Cindy, 13, Sherryl, 11, Maurine, 7, and sons, Tom, 9, and Matthew, 5, share his fun in racing their 24-foot sloop, Columbia Challenger. Oh, yes, "Chancellor," the 8-months-old German Shepherd, most always goes along for the ride.

Hunting, photography, and says Kathleen, "dabbling in paints, which he does quite well," consume the rest of his spare time.

VERN BAKER

And, now for his Three Decker Pork Chops.

Stuffed Double Pork Chops (Serves 4)

4 double pork chops at least 3 inches thick. Have butcher cut a pocket on meat side.
½ lb. spinach (fresh) or half-cup canned, chopped spinach
1 clove garlic
1 tblsp. olive oil
½ cup chopped parsley
½ tsp. Thyme
Pinch Sweet Basil
½ cup dry bread crumbs
Salt and pepper
½ cup hot water
2 tblsp. dry white wine

If fresh spinach is used, wash, salt and cook without water for 10 minutes. (I prefer the canned variety). Chop spinach fine. Mince garlic and fry in oil for 5 min. Add parsley and herbs chopped fine, then add bread crumbs and spinach. Mix it well, salt and pepper to taste and cook 5 min. Let it cool, then stuff into pockets in the chops. Bake chops at 325 degrees for 1¼ hours. Baste every 15 minutes with a mixture of water, dry white wine (I use double the amount of wine but 2 tablespoons are sufficient), and salt to taste.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Around the world with Delaplane

"We are two college girls who get our fare paid to Europe, but we simply must work there. . . ."

THE RULES on this have been too complicated for me to learn. I do have a letter on jobs abroad from International Student Travel Center, 39 Cortlandt St., New York City. They say they place people in jobs. And their membership fee is small. But I don't know their operation personally.

* * * *

"In driving the Pan American highway, how can we find out if the pass is closed between Mexico and Guatemala?"

EVERYBODY tells me that the way to go now is through a new road that crosses at low level Tapachula — toward the West Coast. Few people go through that bottleneck El Tapon pass anymore.

* * * *

"Is there a new place in Mexico like Puerto Vallarta which I understand is becoming touristy?"

I'VE HEARD from people of hotel development at Barra de Navidad. That's a few miles north of Manzanillo on the West Coast — drive down from Guadalajara. Then there are a few places at Manzanillo, too.

Another is Zihuatanejo. North of Acapulco. Reachable by air from Mexico City. I haven't been there, but supposed to be a very good hotel and beach.

* * * *

"Should we change our money in the U.S. for foreign money? Or change it when we arrive?"

CARRY traveler's checks and change over there as you need cash. Except — I change about $10 here into money of the country of arrival. Get it well broken down. What you want it for is porter tipping and taxicab money.

I usually change at the New York airport bank — there's a branch in each terminal. When I move to a new country, I change a little more for that country.

But maybe you're more organized. Like to get it all done in advance. So, you can buy as much as you want for every country, each in an attractive wallet with a currency conversion chart, from Bank of America.

Something to remember on money overseas: Don't turn in all your local money until you've paid your airport tax, taxi and tipped the porter. Or you'll find suddenly you have to cash another traveler's check.

And coins don't exchange from one country to another. That is, you can take your remaining English pounds on to Paris and cash them in for francs. (Airport banks are always best for this.) But your coin shillings usually don't exchange.

And don't tip your hotel maid or porter in left-over American coins from your pocket. They can't cash them in for local money.

* * * *

"We plan to buy a car and drive in Europe and would like to know the best countries."

ALL OF IRELAND seems to be gray, ruined castles and white sheep. Has a rainy, fairy tale feeling that appeals to me. The back roads of England. Every turn between the hedgerows brings you to villages with lead-windowed pubs. The Black Forest in Germany. All of Switzerland. The north mountains of Spain. The Cantabrican coast. The Rhone valley of France — if you stay off the major highways.

There is NO big highway in Europe that I've found rewarding.

Will marry this summer

The engagement of Sharon Gene Jacobson to Frank Robert Cope has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Eugene Jacobson, Long Beach. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Cope, formerly of Long Beach and now of Oakland.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Jordan High, attended Long Beach City College, where she was Associated Student Body secretary and member of Kassai, and is a graduate of Loma Linda University where she received a BS degree in dental hygiene. At Loma Linda she was president of her senior class.

The bridegroom-elect, a graduate of Jordan High, is now a senior at UC, Berkeley, majoring in business administration.

Two library films stress water safety

The Long Beach public library is offering two circuit films stressing water safety for use during May, when thousands of local residents will take to the beach.

The first is "Anyone for Diving," a 35-minute color film prepared by the Los Angeles County Parks and Recreation Department. It describes the hazards involved in scuba diving if the participant does not have proper training and outlines the divers' training program offered by Los Angeles County.

* * * *

THE OTHER, "Small Craft Safety," demonstrates basic safety methods in the prevention of accidents with outboards, small sailboats, rowboats and canoes.

Other films which may be borrowed during May: "Big Moments in Sports," "Camel Who Took a Walk," "Dances of India," "A Date With British Columbia," "Denmark, Fairytale Land," "Everybody's Prejudiced," "Hawaiian Islands: Origin and Nature," "Literature in America: The Short Story," "Outboard Fisherman USA," "Project Muskie," "Riding High," Shakespeare: Soul of an Age," "Siam" and "Universe."

There is a service charge for the use of most films.

Alumnae to install

Annual banquet and installation of the Long Beach Alumnae Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, professional music sorority, will take place Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Hacienda Hotel in San Pedro.

Outgoing president, Mrs. Ralph Johnstone, Lakewood, will turn the gavel over to newly elected president, Mrs. Cecil Sams of Long Beach. Mrs. Sams has previously held office as vice president and corresponding secretary. A flutist, Mrs. Sams also directs the choir of Cross Roads Community Church, Lakewood. A graduate of UCLA who has done post graduate work at Long Beach State College, she was an elementary teacher in the Long Beach school system for several years.

* * * *

OTHERS TO be installed are Mmes. Jerome Bartkus, Norman Higley, Johnstone, Fred Ohlendorf, Leone Rickman, Lawrence Berry, Ruth Hayfield, and Miss Harriet Payne.

After the banquet, members will go to the home of Mrs. Richard Lambert for a program and business meeting. Featured on the program will be students and faculty from the newest chapter of the sorority at California State College, Fullerton.

Any members of Mu Phi Epsilon who would like to attend the banquet are invited to call Mrs. Johnstone or Mrs. Kenneth Harkey for reservations.

Good Sports plan luncheon

The Good Sports Club will sponsor a luncheon and card party at noon Monday to benefit indoor sports. Open to the public, the event will be held at Third Street and Alamitos Avenue.

African violets to highlight society show

An outstanding showing of African violets will be displayed next weekend during the 11th annual show sponsored by the Los Angeles African Violet Society.

The show, scheduled in the Community and Youth Center, 3820 Santa Rosalia Drive, Los Angeles, will be open to the public Friday, 1 to 10 p.m., and Saturday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

No-point hand helps to set

Take a good look at the delightful West hand. Assume it's yours. You don't hold any points at all but you do have four tens and four nines. It is slightly disturbing to find that your partner can do nothing but pass while your opponents start by bidding all four suits in order and then go on to three no-trump.

You are pleased that they have not gone to a slam and you assume that your partner has quite a few high cards in his own hand. If you are an optimist by nature you even assume that the right opening lead will give South some trouble with his three no-trump contract and if you are a good bridge player you will put just as much study into your choice of opening lead as you would if you held a good hand.

You have a five card diamond suit. Should you lead it? No! North surely has four of them and if by some miracle you could get your diamonds established you would never get in to make them. The same reasoning should cause you to abondon the idea of a spade lead.

* * * *

NOW YOU are down to a choice between your two doubletons. This is pretty reasonable. You have a bad hand. You want to attack for your partner. Which doubleton should you try? a club opening is likely to be right into a five-card club suit but a heart opening will only be into a four-card heart suit. Furthermore you can be sure that North won't hold more than three hearts so that your partner is sure to have at least four.

Will you be pickling some high cards of his? Probably yes, but they are right where declarer can pickle them if you don't open the suit.

After all this you lead your ten of hearts. From this point on South can try lots of ways to play the hand but they will all lead to the same result which will be down one.

DESERT HOT SPRINGS SPA, opened last Oct. 16 at a cost of $1 million, has five therapeutic hot pools, two hydrotherapy swirlpools, an Olympic-size swimming pool, and children's pool. All pools are fed by hot mineral water.

Desert Hot Springs suddenly comes alive

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

Long overlooked by sun seekers because of its proximity to internationally known Palm Springs, the community of Desert Hot Springs suddenly has come alive and in the next decade should become one of the important resort cities of booming Coachella Valley.

Desert Hot Springs, located just 10 miles north of Palm Springs, already is on the move. Since incorporation in 1963, the main streets have been widened and resurfaced. There are new schools, a park, library, and churches of several denominations. Service clubs and senior citizens groups have been organized. A general beautification program started soon after incorporation is getting results, and Mayor Howard Carr says the program will continue to be pushed.

The two-mile-square incorporated area boasts 4,000 year-around residents. But in the winter season, the population explodes to between 8,000 and 10,000 and rooms are at a premium in the city's 165 hotels, motels, apartment houses and lodges.

* * * *

CLIMATE and health-giving hot mineral springs account for the community's growing popularity. Temperatures vary from a warm 75 degrees during the winter to a very dry 97 degree summer average. Year-around average is pegged at 82 degrees. Altitude of this middle desert community is between 1,000 and 1,400 feet.

There are 40 hot mineral wells at Desert Hot Springs pumping 6,433,840 gallons of water a week into dozens of pools, public and private. The original discovery well, located near the new $1 million Desert Hot Springs Spa, was only 40 feet in depth until 1933 when it was deepened to 333 feet. Its capacity now is 1,000 gallons per minute at 140 degrees.

The Spa brings people to Desert Hot Springs from all over the world. Besides its Olympic size pool, it has five therapeutic hot pools (temperatures 100 to 108 degrees), including two hydrotherapy swirlpools, and specially designed children's pools.

Other advantages are cabanas, Finnish sauna rooms, an extensive sundeck, and air-conditioned restaurant. A staff of masseurs is maintained at all times.

* * * *

SO POPULAR has the Spa become that two hotel chains are reportedly interested in building a 100-room hostelry on property adjoining on the north. One has reached stage where it has been working with an architect and builder.

In addition, Horton Center, a shopping area, will rise at Pierson and Palm Drive. The project includes enlarging and modernizing a supermarket and installation of facilities for a liquor store, drug store, variety store and other businesses. Ground for the project will be broken in June, with completion due early in 1966.

Another of the city's assets is Angel View Crippled Children's Hospital, a non-profit organization that has become nationally known for its fine work.

THERE IS MUCH to see in and around Desert Hot Springs, including Cabot's Museum, a bizarre pueblo-type structure built almost entirely by the late Cabot Zerxa, who came to the area in 1913 to become its first white inhabitant.

Besides swimming, sun bathing, and soaking in hot mineral pools, the parks and recreational facilities offer shuffleboard, dancing, barbecues under the stars, horseback riding and tennis. Add to all this the 13 golf courses in the valley and it's not hard to understand why this community is going places.

Conference hall to seat 2,000

A $9 million international conference hall, with a main auditorium capable of seating 2,000 people, will be completed in Kyoto in October. Patterned after the United Nations building in New York and the UNESCO headquarters in Paris, it will be called the State International Hall.

In addition to its main auditorium, reports the Japan National Tourist Organization, there will be a medium-size hall and two small halls as well as committee rooms, a press center and a restaurant. The structure was designed by Yukio Otani, a pupil of Kenzo Tange, noted Japanese architect who designed the widely praised National Gymnasium constructed for the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo.

Trinidad building

New guest facilities are being opened in the outlying districts of Trinidad. A colony of three cottages is now operating near Toco, on the scenic northeast coast. The cottages are dubbed the "Breakfastriver House," (four bedrooms), Le Repo-"Breakfastriver House" three bedroomes each. The colony is ithin two hours of Port of Spain by car.

Wildflower fete opens at Julian

Beginning next Sunday, the mountain town of Julian, on Hwy. 78 east of Escondido, will hold its 39th Wildflower Show with thousands of blossoms from mountains and desert on display in the Town Hall.

Wildflowers are limited to a 10-mile radius. Unusual flowers such as white ocotillo, pink manzanita, tinted penstemon and creeping mountain lilac are promised for those who come to look.

The Julian show continues through May 22.

Meanwhile, on May 15, there will be a tour from Bishop, on the eastern slope of the High Sierra, of the ancient bristlecone pines forest. The weirdly gnarled bristlecones, growing on the slopes of the White Mountains of the area, are declared by some experts to be the oldest living things on earth.

The field trip to the forest, past ancient fossils and gorgeous views, starts from Bishop under auspices of the Eastern Sierra California Museum. Write Bishop Chamber of Commerce for further details.

A week for wine

The German Wine Week of 1965 (May 14-28) will be opened in Berlin under the patronage of West German President Dr. Luebke. The program will include various events ranging from wine testing to folk festivals.

NEW GUIDE TO MEXICO

T. Philip Terry published his first guide to Mexico in 1909, and it immediately became sought-after reading. After Terry's death in 1945, James Norman has kept the work up-to-date.

A complete revised edition of "Terry's Guide to Mexico" (Doubleday & Co., 277 Park Ave., New York 17, N.Y., $5.95), just off the presses, is not only up-to-the-minute in its contents, but probably the most comprehensive and informative guide published on the Land of Manana.

The book contains all general information important to travel in Mexico, followed by a section on the country's physiography, history and culture. A third section outlines all highway, air and rail routes, and the last and most important part thoroughly explores the regions of Mexico, one by one, with a brief description, physiography, history, roads, places of interest, plus a current report on hotels, restaurants and shops.

Kabuki theater to play Berlin

The Berlin Tourist Office reports that the 1965 Berlin Festival (Sept. 26-Oct. 12) will feature Japanese art, drama and dance. The Kabuki theatre will be performing for the first time in Europe (Oct. 2-8) with two separate programs totaling 10 performances in the new Freie Volksbuehne Theater. There will also be an exhibition of color photographs entitled, "Japan Today," as well as a display of Japanese art treasures, ink sketches, ceramics and ancient armour, on view for the first time outside of Japan.

First performances of modern Japanese composers will be offered. Ex-Prime Minister Kishi will officially represent his country.

Star of 'Bonanza' in Canadian Fete

Gala Night Under the Stars, on June 11 and 12, will highlight Saskatchewan's Jubilee celebrations this summer.

This mid-western province of Canada started celebrating her 60th birthday in January. Festivities will reach their peak with these two mid-June programs in Saskatoon and Regina. Lorne Greene, Canadian-born actor and television star of the "Bonanza" series, will be the featured entertainer at the two variety shows.

Greene will portray his television role of Ben Cartwright, teller of stories of the wild west and singer of hit songs. He will also do a concert reading of the "Louis Riel Trail" speeches from a script written especially for the occasion.

* * * *

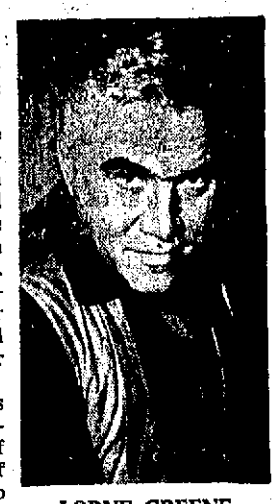

LOUIS RIEL, born in Manitoba, was half-Indian, half French, and won his place in Canadian history as a man who led a rebellion and utlimately died, defending the rights of half-breeds, or Metis, as they were called. Some thought him mad. After several months of deliberation on his sanity, he was executed in Regina, in 1885, on charges of treason. To this day, his sanity is a matter of controversy, but to the Metis of Western Canada, he still is a hero and their greatest historical figure.

The two Gala Night programs will feature Saskatchewan's most outstanding home-grown talent.

* * * *

RIGHT NOW, throughout the length and breadth of Saskatchewan, top talent is being auditioned in the biggest talent hunt this province has ever known. The leading 12 contestants will participate in the Gala Night Under the Stars variety shows. Winner of these two productions will go to Hollywood to appear with Lorne Greene in one of the Bonanza series.

Throughout the year, hotels and restaurants are featuring the Jubilee with special menus, tourist information, maps and other information designed to assist visitors who holiday in Saskatchewan during 1965.

Santa Fe cited for cleanliness

A special award for sanitation and cleanliness in dining cars has been awarded to Santa Fe Railway by the United States Public Health Service. This is the fourth consecutive year Santa Fe has been so honored.

Wesley Gilbertson, chief, division of environmental engineering and food protection of Washington, D.C., cited the railroad for earning a Grade A Certificate of Cleanliness in each of its 111 dining and lounge cars during 1964.

Western Motels will honor credit cards

Beginning June 1, Standard Oil credit cards will be honored by all members of Western Motels, Inc., operator of more than 900 Best Western/Best Eastern Motels.

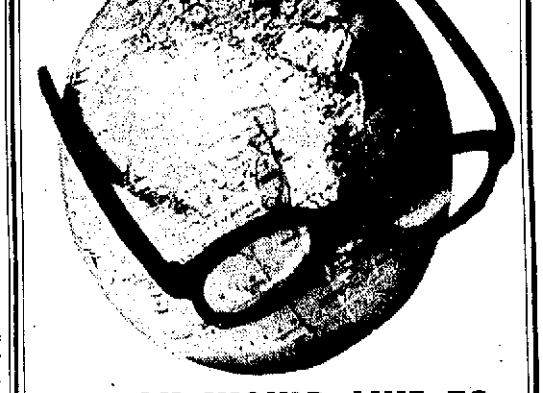

In making the announcement, M. K. Guertin, Long Beach, vice president and executive secretary of the chain, said that under terms of the agreement Standard Oil and American Oil credit card holders may use their cards for rooms, food and related charges in all association motels.

"INSIDE PASSAGE" CRUISE

"Once in a lifetime" is the best way to describe the magnificent scenery and total relaxation you'll enjoy on this 2000-mile cruise to Alaska!

The cruise will be conducted in late spring and early autumn aboard the newly-renovated Princess Patricia—the largest and most luxurious ship in service on the picturesque "Inside Passage." These are the ideal seasons to visit our 49th state! Clear, sunny days enhance Alaska's spring and autumnal beauty.

You will board the ship in Vancouver, British Columbia. Ports of call include Prince Rupert, Ketchikan, Wrangell, Juneau, and Skagway. You also will visit Carcross in the Yukon and old-world Victoria in British Columbia, where you'll stay at the historic Empress Hotel.

The tours depart from Los Angeles, San Francisco, and Seattle during the fourth week in May and the fourth week in August.

Bert's Eye View

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

BILL WINDOM started at the top in show business. Which meant the only place to go was down.

Until he met "The Farmer's Daughter."

The "top" for Bill was the title role of Shakespeare's "Richard III," his first acting assignment.

It came when Bill was attending university in Biarritz, France. He had elected to stay in Europe after being honorably discharged from the Army. He was a paratrooper during World War II.

Following that university Shakespearian role, "everything was downhill, 15 years of bits and pieces."

The "bits and pieces" included roles in 18 Broadway productions, a tour with the road company of "Bell, Book and Candle" and the role of prosecuting attorney in the movie "To Kill a Mockingbird."

* * * *

IT WAS A MOVIE ROLE, according to Bill, which consisted of the repitition of two lines: The lines:

"No questions."

"Your witness."

Then came his role as Congressman Glen Morley in ABC-TV's "The Farmer's Daughter."

At long last, recognition.

"Hah!" exclaimed Bill. "People barely know my name.

"When I meet people in the business, they say, 'Uh uh.'

"When I meet persons outside the business, they say, 'Gee, I know you from somewhere.'"

But he's not complaining.

"After all," he said, "I don't have to worry about over-exposure."

And "The Farmer's Daughter" has been good to him, financially always and sometimes artistically.

"About 10% of the work you do holds you fascinated," he said. "That's good. I don't think there are very many other fields where the people involved in them could say they were fascinated that much.

BILL WINDOM

"About 10% of our work holds the audience intently. The other 90% ranges from acceptable to dull."

* * * *

IT'S A FORMULA, he feels, that could be applied to most any family series on television.

As a family series, Bill thinks "The Farmer's Daughter" is a good one.

"Whether in my own home I'd spend a lot of time watching series in the family entertainment category is questionable," he added.

He's also convinced that more of the 90% of "The Farmer's Daughter" will be acceptable the next season, the third.

For Congressman Morley this Friday becomes engaged to his beauteous housekeeper, Katy, played by Inger Stevens. They will be wed in the fall season.

"And about time," said Bill. "We've gone long enough to ask people to hold still for the same kind of story."

'Every Stranger in Greece a Guest,' Maintains Actress Melina Mercouri

MELINA MERCOURI AND THE ACROPOLIS

"GREEK IS THE ONLY language with same word ends—for both stranger and guest," explains Melina Mercouri in the introduction to her ABC-TV special, "Melina Mercouri's Greece," Monday, 9 p.m. on channel 7 in color.

"As you can guess," said the international glamor star, "the Greeks are a warm, hospitable and extremely sociable people."

These are great qualities except when you are trying to make a film in their midst, as the TV troupe discovered. The entire country wants to participate and cannot understand why certain rules about silence and crowd control must be followed.

Everytime a scene was shot outdoors, precious filming time was lost because of crowd enthusiasm. Dozens of different versions of "Brave Melinski," "Little Melina," fill the air, as the crowds, ignoring the police, cry words of encouragement and advice to the actress. To them, this program is something very special. It is honoring them and their country and they want to take part. After all, didn't democracy, the rule of the people, have its birth in Greece?

"THIS SHOW" said co-producer Phil D'Antoni, "will be completely unlike our other projects 'Elizabeth Taylor in London' and 'Sophia Loren in Rome.' Here we will place our full emphasis on the wonderful people of this country, their humor, their music, their work and their play. To be sure, we'll concern ourselves with Greece itself, but in the main we will follow what Miss Mercouri has said, 'What is Greece is the people'."

Among the people who will be a part of the program will be Minos Argyrakis, Greece's celebrated artist, and Anthony Kitsikis, one of the nation's foremost architects.

AMONG THE HIGHLIGHTS of the program will be a wildly colorful wedding on Crete. The singing of Miss Mercouri, the exotic bouzouki music of the taverns, the Acropolis, Athens, the famed labyrinth of Enossos, a visit to the museum at Delphi, a tour of the islands and more.

As Melina says, "I am not going to take Americans on a simple sightseeing trip, that pleasure is reserved for them when they come to Greece. I want them to understand our people and our art—I want them to actually 'feel' our country. And we will do this through the people of Greece."

"To be sure" said co-producer Norman Baer, "Melina will lend a great deal to getting this feel across. As far as I'm concerned, for Melina this show will be a tour de force rather than a tour."

"BY THE TIME YOU PAY OFF YOUR COLOR TV WE'LL PROBABLY HAVE SOMETHING NEW TO HOOK YOU WITH!"

'One Man's Family'

Veteran radio fans will recall "One Man's Family," a dramatic series that was tops in its field for many years. The creator and owner, Carlton Morse, gave it a brief spin on television in the early days when all production was live. Then it went out of circulation altogether.

Now, Universal-TV has acquired the television rights from Morse and assigned a team of writers to whip the property into shape for another try on the picture tube.

SPECIAL

THIS IS EARLY BIRD—With a potential viewing audience of 300 million persons, an hour's exchange of news, sports and interesting Sunday events will be shared at 10 a.m. (channels 2, 4, 7) by the CBS, NBC and ABC networks, plus their counterparts in Canada, Mexico and Europe using the new synchronous satellite owned by the Communications Satellite Corporation which hovers over the Atlantic in a "fixed" position, making its use possible 24 hours a day. Highlights will include Astronaut Alan Shepard in training at Houston, a heart-valve operation by Dr. Michael Ellis de Bakey, a tour of the new Houston Astrodome.

LOYALTY DAY PARADE—Military units, bands and patriotic-themed floats highlight Gardena's 10th annual parade, taped Saturday with Johnny Grant for airing at 10 a. m., ch. 5.

CAPITOL HILL to California—KNXT newsman Grant Holcomb interviews Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-32) of Long Beach at 11 a. m., ch. 2, from Washington.

FACE THE NATION—Juan Bosch, interviewed previously on this series when he was unseated as president of the Dominican Republic, speaks again at 12:30 p. m., ch. 2, as his supporters fight to restore him to power. Show was taped Saturday at Bosch's exile retreat in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

LBJ REPORT NO. 4—An evaluation of President Johnson's progress and problems to date is anchored by John Chancellor at 5 p.m., ch. 4, with Ray Scherer reporting on his domestic plans for the Great Society, Elie Abel discussing his conduct in foreign affairs, and Herb Kaplow looking at the political significance of his programs.

HOME SHOW—Tom Malone goes to the Pan Pacific at 5 p. m., ch. 13, for a look at highlights of the show.

WHITE MANE — KTLA's reshuffling of programs moves "Special of the Week" to Sundays at 7:30 p.m., ch. 5, with today's hour offering the charming French-produced film of a wild stallion who deeply distrusts human beings, and of the small boy who befriends him.

EUREKA: I Have Found It!—Beginning at the Donner Pass, Mark Evans traces the history of early California in a color tour of the northern part of the state at 8 p.m., ch. 11. Then, following the scenic California coast line, we head north through Sacramento, San Francisco, redwood country.

American West Special Monday

LORNE GREENE JUDGES PIE CONTEST

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)--Lorne Greene, Papa Cartwright of the "Bonanza" series, becomes a father figure on the grand scale Monday in a television special titled "Lorne Greene's American West."

It's an odd casting for a Shakespearean actor of Canadian birth, but then the West was full of oddities.

There was a time when Bill Hart, Tom Mix, Gene Autry, Gary Cooper, John Wayne and others reflected the image of the westerner. But with movie horse operas locked in the barn, television stars have taken over the range.

Greene is the embodiment of the western hero. He's big, rugged in appearance, deep of voice and . . . well, heroic.

His show has been a virtual bonanza for him personally. In addition to his fat salary, Greene has branched out as a recording star (three fast-selling albums), night-club star and personal appearance entertainer at rodeos, fairs and on television specials.

IN THE NBC-TV SPECIAL at 9 p.m. in color on channel 4, Greene will sing and narrate an hour devoted to the settling of the West—all on various locations.

The show is long on entertainment, but there are some historic revelations, too. Among them are ancient coroners' reports of cowboys killed in gunfights.

One such: "George Adams died of heart disease. He had two bullets in it. It is recommended that Sam Peters be hanged by the neck to prevent the spread of the disease."

"Another: "Deceased experimented with a six gun against a rifle at 100 yards. Verdict—death by suicide."

All of it is recounted by Greene, now in his sixth season as Ben Cartwright. Of his own image as the ultimate westerner, Greene is frankly as puzzled as anyone else.

"IT'S a PHENOMENON," he grinned.

"I haven't changed one iota since 'Bonanza' first went on the air. And, of course, without television none of this could have happened to me. But if I'm thought of as a typical man of the Old West, maybe it's because the West was settled by individuals who came from other parts of the country, other parts of the world."

Greene has become so much Ben Cartwright (and vice versa) that he turns around when someone shouts the name Ben. Curiously, however, 95% of his fans call him Lorne. Most video stars are resigned to being accepted only as the characters they play.

"As for my own origins," Greene says, "they hardly apply.

"The West is bigger than history or geography; it's as old or as young as you want it to be. That's what we try to say on this show, and what we frequently get across on Bonanza.

"The American West never really ended when the pioneers pushed their way to the Pacific Ocean because it lives in the hearts and minds of men. It will always endure. And this, too, we try to make clear on the show."

SEVEN DAYS OF 'VIDEO HORROR'

Networks Planning Fall Premieres Same Week

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Unless there is a change in plans, televiewers and critics will go through one week of unparalleled video horror and idiocy in September.

As matters now stand, spokesmen confirm that at least two networks—and very possibly all three—will offer all the premieres of their 1965-66 entertainment lineups in the seven days starting Sept. 13.

Actually, this is considered a conservative appraisal, with most sources flatly expecting a head-on three-network collision.

VIEWERS WHO STICK with a single show therefore would miss the majority of the premieres—old series as well as new ones.

Critics who review opening episodes on a spot basis would be faced with an appalling number of shows to squeeze into a single column. On the other hand, the squeezing would probably result in a more appropriate amount of space per show in relation to its worth.

The reason for the current plan to butt heads is ratings. ABC-TV first premiered all its shows in one week several seasons ago and made no appreciable rating gain. But it did the same thing this season, got off to a flying start and is now a ratings power.

CBS-TV presented all or most of its lineup this season in the week following ABC-TV's premieres. NBC-TV spread its premieres out over a number of weeks.

Considering the quality of this fall's three-network entertainment lineup, never in television history has so much fuss been made by so many about so little.

SPECIAL

THIS IS EARLY BIRD—With a potential viewing audience of 300 million persons, an hour's exchange of news, sports and interesting Sunday events will be shared at 10 a.m. (channels 2, 4, 7) by the CBS, NBC and ABC networks, plus their counterparts in Canada, Mexico and Europe using the new synchronous satellite owned by the Communications Satellite Corporation which hovers over the Atlantic in a "fixed" position, making its use possible 24 hours a day. Highlights will include Astronaut Alan Shepard in training at Houston, a heart-valve operation by Dr. Michael Ellis de Bakey, a tour of the new Houston Astrodome.

LOYALTY DAY PARADE—Military units, bands and patriotic-themed floats highlight Gardena's 10th annual parade, taped Saturday with Johnny Grant for airing at 10 a. m., ch. 5.

CAPITOL HILL to California—KNXT newsman Grant Holcomb interviews Rep. Craig Hosmer (R-32) of Long Beach at 11 a. m., ch. 2, from Washington.

FACE THE NATION—Juan Bosch, interviewed previously on this series when he was unseated as president of the Dominican Republic, speaks again at 12:30 p. m., ch. 2, as his supporters fight to restore him to power. Show was taped Saturday at Bosch's exile retreat in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

LBJ REPORT NO. 4—An evaluation of President Johnson's progress and problems to date is anchored by John Chancellor at 5 p.m., ch. 4, with Ray Scherer reporting on his domestic plans for the Great Society, Elie Abel discussing his conduct in foreign affairs, and Herb Kaplow looking at the political significance of his programs.

HOME SHOW—Tom Malone goes to the Pan Pacific at 5 p. m., ch. 13, for a look at highlights of the show.

WHITE MANE — KTLA's reshuffling of programs moves "Special of the Week" to Sundays at 7:30 p.m., ch. 5, with today's hour offering the charming French-produced film of a wild stallion who deeply distrusts human beings, and of the small boy who befriends him.

EUREKA: I Have Found It!—Beginning at the Donner Pass, Mark Evans traces the history of early California in a color tour of the northern part of the state at 8 p.m., ch. 11. Then, following the scenic California coast line, we head north through Sacramento, San Francisco, redwood country.

TOWN MEETING of World—For its fourth transatlantic discussion, CBS uses the new Early Bird synchronous orbit satellite for a three-nation evaluation of the Viet Nam crisis. Charles Collingwood, in Paris, moderates the hour seen at 12 noon (by 2-hour delay) and repeated at 10 p.m., ch. 2, with participants including Sec. of State Dean Rusk (London), 1964 GOP Presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater (New York), former British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home and British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart (London) and French leader of foreign affairs Maurice Schumann (Paris). CBS also uses the satellite today for segments of Mike Wallace (9 a.m.) and Walter Cronkite (7 p.m.)

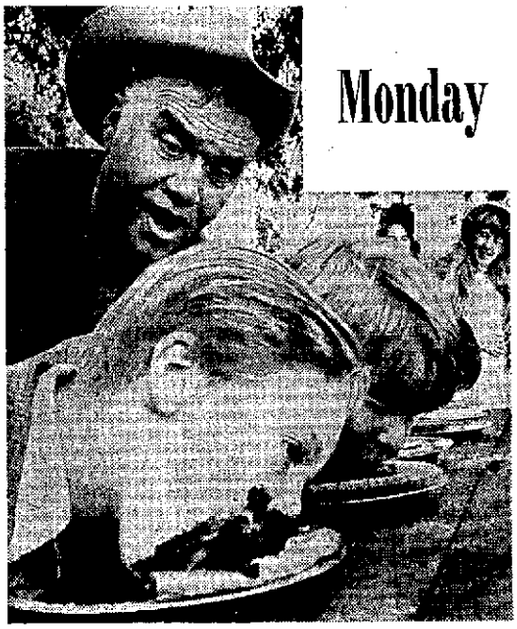

PANORAMA — NBC uses the Early Bird for a special half-hour at 7:30 p.m., ch. 4, featuring reports from Chet Huntley in London and famed British newsman Richard Dimbleby in New York as the two compare their own programs. In addition, Huntley will show a filmed tour of historic Runnymede and taped segments from Dimbleby's BBC program, "Panorama." NBC also uses Early Bird for a 2-hour "Today" special at 7 a.m., and for Huntley-Brinkley at 6:30 p.m.

LORNE GREENE'S American West — In a George Schlatter-produced musical documentary on the history and glory of America's frontier, Lorne Greene hosts the Ponderosa to trace America's westward movement from the days of buffalo hunters and Indian fighters to peaceful settlements with their church socials. Filmed entirely in California locations (including our recent rainstorms), 9 p.m., ch. 4 color hour features singer Beatrice Kay and the Burch Mann Dancers. "Ringo" and "The Man" will be among Greene's songs.

MELINA MERCOURI'S Greece — The international star offers viewers a warm, personal view of her native land, its people, beauties and culture in a color hour at 9 p.m., ch. 7. Filmed in Athens, Crete, Delphi and some of the islands, hour focuses on the people of Greece, (their humor, their music, their art, their work and their play—produced by the young team who created Liz Taylor's London and Sophia Loren's Rome, and who next season will offer six monthly specials on different regions of America, hosted by Robert Preston.

INSIGHT — The highly-acclaimed dramatic anthology by the Paulist Fathers, previously seen only in Sunday's "intellectual ghetto," gets a nightly prime time airing this week at 9:30 p.m., ch. 9. Opener stars Vera Miles and Mark Richman in the story of a couple whose lives are shattered by the birth of a retarded child.

American West Special Monday

LORNE GREENE JUDGES PIE CONTEST

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lorne Greene, Papa Cartwright of the "Bonanza" series, becomes a father figure on the grand scale Monday in a television special titled "Lorne Greene's American West."

It's an odd casting for a Shakespearean actor of Canadian birth, but then the West was full of oddities.

There was a time when Bill Hart, Tom Mix, Gene Autry, Gary Cooper, John Wayne and others reflected the image of the westerner. But with movie horse operas locked in the barn, television stars have taken over the range.

Greene is the embodiment of the western hero. He's big, rugged in appearance, deep of voice and . . . well, heroic.

His show has been a virtual bonanza for him personally. In addition to his fat salary, Greene has branched out as a recording star (three fast-selling albums), night-club star and personal appearance entertainer at rodeos, fairs and on television specials.

IN THE NBC-TV SPECIAL at 9 p.m. in color on channel 4, Greene will sing and narrate an hour devoted to the settling of the West—all on various locations.

The show is long on entertainment, but there are some historic revelations, too. Among them are ancient coroners' reports of cowboys killed in gunfights.

One such: "George Adams died of heart disease. He had two bullets in it. It is recommended that Sam Peters be hanged by the neck to prevent the spread of the disease."

"Another: "Deceased experimented with a six gun against a rifle at 100 yards. Verdict—death by suicide."

All of it is recounted by Greene, now in his sixth season as Ben Cartwright. Of his own image as the ultimate westerner, Greene is frankly as puzzled as anyone else.

"IT'S a PHENOMENON," he grinned.

"I haven't changed one iota since 'Bonanza' first went on the air. And, of course, without television none of this could have happened to me. But if I'm thought of as a typical man of the Old West, maybe it's because the West was settled by individuals who came from other parts of the country, other parts of the world."

Greene has become so much Ben Cartwright (and vice versa) that he turns around when someone shouts the name Ben. Curiously, however, 95% of his fans call him Lorne. Most video stars are resigned to being accepted only as the characters they play.

"As for my own origins," Greene says, "they hardly apply.

"The West is bigger than history or geography; it's as old or as young as you want it to be. That's what we try to say on this show, and what we frequently get across on Bonanza.

"The American West never really ended when the pioneers pushed their way to the Pacific Ocean because it lives in the hearts and minds of men. It will always endure. And this, too, we try to make clear on the show."

SEVEN DAYS OF 'VIDEO HORROR'

Networks Planning Fall Premieres Same Week

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Unless there is a change in plans, televiewers and critics will go through one week of unparalleled video horror and idiocy in September.

As matters now stand, spokesmen confirm that at least two networks—and very possibly all three—will offer all the premieres of their 1965-66 entertainment lineups in the seven days starting Sept. 13.

Actually, this is considered a conservative appraisal, with most sources flatly expecting a head-on three-network collision.

VIEWERS WHO STICK with a single show therefore would miss the majority of the premieres—old series as well as new ones.

Critics who review opening episodes on a spot basis would be faced with an appalling number of shows to squeeze into a single column. On the other hand, the squeezing would probably result in a more appropriate amount of space per show in relation to its worth.

The reason for the current plan to butt heads is ratings. ABC-TV first premiered all its shows in one week several seasons ago and made no appreciable rating gain. But it did the same thing this season, got off to a flying start and is now a ratings power.

CBS-TV presented all or most of its lineup this season in the week following ABC-TV's premieres. NBC-TV spread its premieres out over a number of weeks.

Considering the quality of this fall's three-network entertainment lineup, never in television history has so much fuss been made by so many about so little.

SPECIAL

ICE CAPADES Premiere—Bill Burrud goes to the Sports Arena at 8 p.m., ch. 13, to interview celebrities arriving for opening night of the 25th season. Seven full-cast production numbers will be featured, including the corps de ballet and Spanky the skating chimp. Taped repeat is screened at 10 p.m.

SWINGING WORLD of Sammy Davis Jr. — Broadway's "Golden Boy" sings, dances and entertains in his own hour-long special, produced by ABC-TV in New York, and airing at 8:30 p.m., ch. 7. Billy Daniels sings new and standard tunes including "Old Black Magic," Golden Boy" co-star Lola Falana sings and dances, and special guest Peter Lawford teams with Sammy for a dancing duet as show locally preempts "Shindig's" salute to Elvis Presley's 10th anniversary.

OUR PRIVATE WORLD—Lisa Howard leaves behind her problems of trying to win back her former husband in the daytime soap opera "As the World Turns" (which continues in its 12:30 p.m. daily slot), and leaves her past behind to search for a new life in Chicago, where she takes a job in a hospital admitting room. Eileen Fulton, "World Turns'" Lisa for five years, stars also in the twice-weekly nighttime version at 9:30 p.m., ch. 2, aided by Geraldine Fitzgerald, Dorothy Peterson and veterans of both "Guiding Light" and "Secret Storm." Series was created by Irna Phillips and directed by Emmy-Peabody award winning Tom Donovan ("Playhouse 90," "DuPont," "Adventure"). Friday segments of the new series are aired 30 min. earlier, so if you get hooked on the snapsuds (by P&G) you'll have to remember—Wednesdays at 9:30, Fridays at 9. I saw all four episodes of the "Kilroy" series on Walt Disney's show and loved every minute of it.

Could you tell me something about Warren Berlinger who starred in the title role?

Dorothy Korber, Long Beach

Stage roles include "Annie Get Your Gun," "The Happy Time," "Anniversary Waltz," the London production of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" and several others.

Movies include "Teen-Age Rebel," "Because They're Young," "Platinum High School," "All Hands on Deck" and "The Wackiest Ship in the Army."

Varied guest television shots, including a regular role in "The Joey Bishop Show," first season. I believe.

* * * *

Could you please settle an argument our family has been having for quite some time now?

At the beginning of the Rifleman, how many times does Chuck Connors shoot his rifle?

Ann Corty, Lakewood

A dozen—all blanks.

* * * *

I recently watched the "PATSY" awards and, heck, the "Beverly Hillbillies" have more animals that can do more things and a lot better than any that they showed.

I wonder what kind of "suiting" the "Beverly Hillbillies" wear. It must be made of iron to stand the barbs that are hurled at them by all the columnists and TV reporters.

And still they are among the first in the ratings.

A. J. Gunderson, Long Beach

In reply to your "suiting" query, I can only say that Salvation Army cast-off garments and potato sacks have hit an all-time high on the New York Stock Exchange. Armour is also doing pretty well.

* * * *

My husband and I are wondering why "The Baileys of Balboa" were taken off television. It was one of our favorite programs.

Is there anything we can do to have it put back on CBS?

Mrs. R. V. Caldwell Jr., Long Beach

You might try buying the network. The Balboa Baileys were scuttled because they sailed low in the ratings.

SPECIAL

TW3 — Oft-preempted by politicians, beaten out in the ratings by sex, iconoclasm makes its last stand at 9:30 p.m., ch. 4, in color. Often dull, sometimes brilliant, the Show That Was nevertheless offered TV its one bit of "something different," but as it reminded us last week, it'll not be alone in the limbo—not with Pierre, Barry, Nikita and John McCone. An anthology of mystery repeats takes over next week, but not before young David Frost gets in his final irreverent barbs.

SCIENCE OF SPYING — John Chancellor narrates an hour's probe of the practice of espionage as carried on by our government and by other world powers. Producer Ted Yates has filmed interviews with espionage agents active in Washington, Hong Kong, Formosa, Okinawa, Japan and Central America, and Chancellor digs into the escalating powers of the CIA in interviews with Allen Dulles and Richard Bissell. The 10 p.m. hour, ch. 4, brushes aside the more passive, traditional forms of espionage, looking instead at the more clandestine operations that nations feel are required today just to survive in a brutally competitive world, with its dynamic foreign policies.

DOES YOUR WALL-TO-WALL CARPETING
LOOK MORE SOILED SINCE YOU HAD IT CLEANED?

OUR METHODS ARE DIFFERENT!

Scientific rug cleaning is a highly technical process and technical knowledge is of prime importance. "Home remedies" merely promote rapid soiling. Our process makes your carpets SOIL-RESISTANT. It builds an invisible barrier against dirt. The result — carpets stay clean, up to 5 times longer. Our skilled personnel are trained to do the work efficiently, quickly, quietly and effectively. Carpets dry overnight.

THE DEFENDERS — Society's apathy toward the inhabitants of Skid Row is probed in one of the "message" dramas of the soon-to-fold thinking man's series at 10 p.m., ch. 2. Tom Bosley stars as a derelict awakened in a junkyard by a policeman and charged with the murder of another tramp lying dead beside him. Kenneth Preston, concerned with the plight of the man, talks his father into accepting the challenge of a seemingly hopeless situation, instead of leaving the defense to a court-appointed attorney.

THE HUNGRY GIANTS—John K. M. McCaffery is host for an hour's story of world hunger, the men who fought it, and the men who rose to power because of it. With hunger putting Lenin in power for the Tsar, and Chiang Kai-shek's inability to feed his landless millions dropping China into the lap of Mao Tse-tung, the program warns that other hungry nations may fall prey to Communist revolution. From the "Perspective on Greatness" series, hour is at 10 p.m., ch. 9.

CRITIC'S CORNER

Excerpted Reviews on Recent TV Shows

Program: "My Name Is Barbra," aired last Wednesday on channel 2.

Miss Barbra Streisand, 23, of Brooklyn, starred in her first television special, and the result was a pinnacle moment of American show business, in any form, in any period. She is so great, it is shocking, something like being in love.

Well, you do fall in love with her, and for a variety of perfectly legitimate reasons. If you have any affection for the kind of circumstances that produced Miss Streisand, then you must have affection for the result—she seems to have all of the best of American show business, past and present, wrapped up inside of her, and it just comes bursting out. Yet she is uniquely of this time and place.

In her one-hour, one-woman CBS-TV show, she provided ammunition for the argument that she may well be the most supremely talented and complete popular entertainer that this country has ever produced. She simply dwarfs such contemporary stars as Julie Andrews, Elizabeth Taylor, Judy Garland and Carol Burnett. Anything they can do, she can do light-years better.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Television audiences had an hour-long introduction to the current singing sensation, Barbra Streisand, at 23 the star of a Broadway hit, "Funny Girl."

"My Name Is Barbra" on CBS was a flashy and imaginative demonstration of her talents. It was literally a one-woman show in which she sang 25 songs, engaged in an outrageous spoof of the high-fashion business and even tried a comedy monologue.

We met many different Streisands in moods ranging from serious to silly.

She has an exciting voice, a highly individual style, interesting looks and a glossy sophistication of style.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

Miss Streisand's talent lies in her vocal chords, a fact which she aptly demonstrated in competition with an overly loud orchestra.

Apparently she also has some ability in creating hysteria among the Streisand cultists who comprise her TV audience.

But to this televiewer, a dancer she is not and even less is she a comedienne.

Critic Bert Resnik of "Televues"

Program: "Danny Thomas Special," aired April 23 on channel 4.

Is this any way to close out a season of specials? You doggone right it is! Danny Thomas has done it again, which means five specials that didn't cheapen the word.

Two of the hottest favorites of the past few seasons, Mary Tyler Moore and Andy Griffith, did what was unexpected of them. Miss Moore, in full display of her trim, shapely pins, swarmed over the boards like a coryphee; Griffith piped a few tunes ("I appreciate it") and spun around like he was counting his age backward.

Program: CBS eulogy for Edward R. Murrow, aired last Monday on channel 2.

Eric Sevareid, who worked with Murrow and knew him well, summarized the affection and admiration in which he was held by newspapermen as well as his broadcasting colleagues in this tribute: "I never knew any person among those who worked in his realm to feel jealousy for him," he said.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

Program: "Profiles in Courage," aired last Sunday on channel 4.

It may sound unbelievable nowadays, especially to teen-agers, but there was actually a time in this country when juveniles were second-class citizens. Perhaps this was why there was a faint, unintentional irony to NBC-TV's "Profiles in Courage" episode about Judge Ben B. Lindsey, who crusaded for enlightened juvenile laws early in the century.

Judge Lindsey did more for the youth of America than even Dick Clark. His vigorous fight in Denver for enlightened dealings with juvenile offenders was truly one of the great individual crusades of his time. His was also the time of Upton Sinclair and Lincoln Steffens and other reformers whose seemingly fiercely intentional innocence—informed innocence—and whose shrewdly purposeful naivete and professional amateurism achieved astounding results, an approach not lost in current reformers.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Program: "Stand Up and Be Counted," aired last Sunday on channel 7.

Steve Allen invited a few of his friends over to the house to ventilate their minds on the civil rights movement. For an hour they told of the abuses and indignities suffered by the Negro in his efforts to be accepted as a first class citizen. It was a strong case presented by Allen, Burt Lancaster, Edward G. Robinson, Nancy Wilson, Gene Kelly and Jayne Meadows (Mrs. Allen).

Critic Helm of "Variety"

Program: "Telephone Hour," aired last Tuesday on channel 4.

NBC's venerable Telephone Hour dug through its big files of taped musical hours for some of the program's high moments to celebrate its 25th anniversary.

There was Maurice Chevalier, a little younger and a little more jaunty, singing a string of his most famous songs. There was the American television debut of dancer Rudolf Nureyev, now an international sensation but then a last-minute substitute for a dancer who had injured his foot.

It was altogether a stimulating program and one hopes the Telephone Hour will be around for the next 25 years. It will be around next season, anyway, in an early evening Sunday spot.

SPECIAL

ICE CAPADES Premiere—Bill Burrud goes to the Sports Arena at 8 p.m., ch. 13, to interview celebrities arriving for opening night of the 25th season. Seven full-cast production numbers will be featured, including the corps de ballet and Spanky the skating chimp. Taped repeat is screened at 10 p.m.

SWINGING WORLD of Sammy Davis Jr. — Broadway's "Golden Boy" sings, dances and entertains in his own hour-long special, produced by ABC-TV in New York, and airing at 8:30 p.m., ch. 7. Billy Daniels sings new and standard tunes including "Old Black Magic," Golden Boy" co-star Lola Falana sings and dances, and special guest Peter Lawford teams with Sammy for a dancing duet as show locally preempts "Shindig's" salute to Elvis Presley's 10th anniversary.

OUR PRIVATE WORLD—Lisa Howard leaves behind her problems of trying to win back her former husband in the daytime soap opera "As the World Turns" (which continues in its 12:30 p.m. daily slot), and leaves her past behind to search for a new life in Chicago, where she takes a job in a hospital admitting room. Eileen Fulton, "World Turns'" Lisa for five years, stars also in the twice-weekly nighttime version at 9:30 p.m., ch. 2, aided by Geraldine Fitzgerald, Dorothy Peterson and veterans of both "Guiding Light" and "Secret Storm." Series was created by Irna Phillips and directed by Emmy-Peabody award winning Tom Donovan ("Playhouse 90," "DuPont," "Adventure"). Friday segments of the new series are aired 30 min. earlier, so if you get hooked on the soapsuds (by P&G) you'll have to remember—Wednesdays at 9:30, Fridays at 9. ("Cara Williams," former occupant of this time slot, shifts to Fridays at 8:30 p.m. for summer repeats.)

SAMMY Davis Jr. presents an hour variety special at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, channel 7.

SPECIAL

BOB HOPE—As a marriage broker trying to "win the old West" with mail-order brides, Hope heads a star-studded cast in a western spoof being repeated at 8:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. Thrown into the Golden Gulch jail when he can't pay his hotel bill, he craftily sells brothers Aldo Ray, Rod Cameron and Sonny Tufts three of his choice Eastern brides. But when the girls (Jill St. John, Rhonda Fleming and Marilyn Maxwell) arrive, they decide it would be more fun to become saloon entertainers. Hope's released from jail by sheriff Bruce Cabot on condition the brides marry the brothers—or else! Featured in brief cameo roles are Jack Benny, Lucille Ball and Richard Deacon. (This hour next week goes to an exclusive interview with the two Soviet cosmonauts who flew the historic Voskhod 2 space mission, with color film showing Aleksei Leonov's "walk" in space.)

Sports Today

HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW, 8 p.m., ch. 5, has Gil Stratton with interviews, training films, a color film with Jack Kramer titled "There They Go!"

BASEBALL, 8:10 p.m., ch. 11, finds Vin Scully and Jerry Doggett at Candlestick Park as the Dodgers open a 3-game televised series with the San Francisco Giants. (There will be 9 such Dodger telecasts this season.)

I saw all four episodes of the "Kilroy" series on Walt Disney's show and loved every minute of it.

Could you tell me something about Warren Berlinger who starred in the title role?

Dorothy Korber, Long Beach

Stage roles include "Annie Get Your Gun," "The Happy Time," "Anniversary Waltz," the London production of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" and several others.

Movies include "Teen-Age Rebel," "Because They're Young," "Platinum High School," "All Hands on Deck" and "The Wackiest Ship in the Army."

Varied guest television shots, including a regular role in "The Joey Bishop Show," first season, I believe.

* * * *

Could you please settle an argument our family has been having for quite some time now?

At the beginning of the Rifleman, how many times does Chuck Connors shoot his rifle?

Ann Corty, Lakewood

A dozen—all blanks.

* * * *

I recently watched the "PATSY" awards and, heck, the "Beverly Hillbillies" have more animals that can do more things and a lot better than any that they showed.

I wonder what kind of "suiting" the "Beverly Hillbillies" wear. It must be made of iron to stand the barbs that are hurled at them by all the columnists and TV reporters.

And still they are among the first in the ratings.

A. J. Gunderson, Long Beach

In reply to your 'suiting" query, I can only say that Salvation Army cast-off garments and potato sacks have hit an all-time high on the New York Stock Exchange. Armour is also doing pretty well.

My husband and I are wondering why "The Baileys of Balboa" were taken off television. It was one of our favorite programs.

Is there anything we can do to have it put back on CBS?

Mrs. R. V. Caldwell Jr., Long Beach

You might try buying the network. The Balboa Baileys were scuttled because they sailed low in the ratings.

Early Bird Catches Viewers Today

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Today's television debut of Early Bird, the 24-hour-a-day transatlantic satellite, is expected to include a heart-valve operation in Houston with questioning by doctors at a conference in Switzerland.

Another scheduled highlight is an exchange of "wanted persons" information by Scotland Yard, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

These and many other examples of men at work and play on two continents are planned as illustrations of the potential of the "stationary" communications satellite in the one hour inaugural telecast at 10 a.m. on channels 2, 4 and 7.

(The Early Bird will also be used by channel 2 for telecasts at noon and 10 p.m. Monday.)

* * * *

THE HEART operation would be performed by Dr. Michael De Bakey, a noted specialist, and would be seen by doctors at a Geneva conference who will be able to question him. Dr. De Bakey recently operated on the Duke of Windsor.

Also scheduled are a tour of Houston's new domed baseball stadium while the hometown team and Chicago Cubs are practicing, and a sports event from Eastern Europe.

In addition to an exchange of the day's news and a brief history of satellite communications, there will be a presentation entitled "Men at Work," which is set to include:

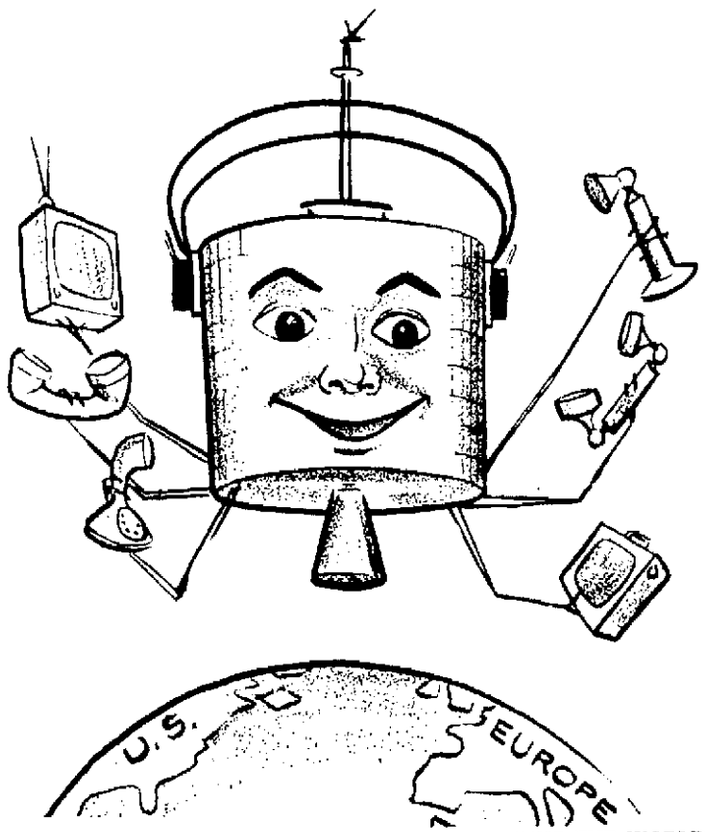

American astronauts training in Houston; a test of a supersonic jet engine in England; tunneling under Mt. Blanc in Italy, and a French project aiming to harness the tides for electric power.

In a different tack, viewers will also see festivals in Assisi, Italy, and Bavaria—and preparations for a festival in Mexico City.

* * * *

A MUSICAL section plans to show the Soviet navy chorus and dancers aboard Admiral Nelson's flagship, H.M.S. Victory, at Portsmouth, England. This would be supplemented by a Swedish carnival in which 12,000 students sing out the end of the college year; the jazz-classical Swingle Singers at a festival near Munich; the Mexico City Mariachi band, and a segment from Rome.

The final segment would have five bands in five countries playing the same piece: one at Chelsea Hospital, London; another on the Champs Elysee; a third in Quebec City; a fourth in Essen, Germany; and the fifth—the U.S. Army Band—in Washington.

HUGHES AIRCRAFT SATELLITE "EARLY BIRD" LINKS THE WORLD

'The Giant That Fell'

"Radio, the Giant that Fell," will be the lecture subject of a 20-year-old City College student at 11 a.m. Friday in Broadcasting Room 423 of the Liberal Arts Campus.

The student, Chris Lembesis Jr., 6108 Monlaco Rd., has been collecting research material on radio since he was 10 years old. Arrangements for the lecture were made by Kenneth Carter, City College radio-TV instructor.

Chris doesn't listen to today's rock-and-roll offerings on radio. He much preferred yesteryear's offerings of drama and humor because "it took imagination to listen to 'Gunsmoke' on the radio and see it in your head."

"Stop-Baldness-Week" Starts Monday

1. FREE EXAMINATION by Turoff trained specialist establishes your individual causes of hair loss.

2. EXCLUSIVE ELECTRO THERAPY developed by Turoff technicians after years of research. Results are FAST.

3. EXCLUSIVE MEDICATION. Turoff formulas laboratory produced. Another step on the road to a strong healthy hairline.

4. PROFESSIONAL MASSAGE. A skilled and trained assistant rejuvenates, tones and loosens scalp so hair can grow.

CALIFORNIA'S LEADING SCALP SPECIALIST WARNS—"12,000,000 BALDING AMERICANS NOW INCREASING RAPIDLY"

In a recent interview, S. I. Turoff, nationally known authority on baldness, and director of the Turoff Scalp Clinic, said: "Most people don't stop to realize that in 95% of the cases where a person is on the road to baldness, common sense on his or her part might prevent this tragedy." People simply do not get around to doing something about their balding condition until in many cases it is too late. Yet, in the years that they have the danger signals of approaching baldness, such as excessive hair fall, dandruff, itchiness, dry scalp, thinning or bald spots—in those years they probably spend substantial sums on their teeth and general body health. Yes, it is peculiar, but because oncoming baldness doesn't hurt like most parts of the body that are wasting away, many people simply let it go too long.

NEW SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Turoff treats the problem of premature baldness scientifically with their own exclusive chemical, physical and electro-therapy. Turoff Clinics alone provide this remarkably successful therapy. Exact formulas and therapy are known only to Turoff. No imitations can equal its power. So astounding have been the results, we have given over one million successful treatments. Prove this scientific thoroughness for yourself.

AN UNMATCHED RECORD! OVER ONE MILLION TREATMENTS TO CALIFORNIANS: THE TREATMENT OTHERS TRY TO DUPLICATE.

PROVEN RESULTS

Thousands of enthusiastic comments and testimonials are received yearly. Why don't you start these treatments today and see what an improvement they make in your hair and how much more invigorating your hair and scalp feel. Don't put off giving your hair the care it needs . . . the penalty of delay may be baldness.

WHAT TO EXPECT

"If you are accepted for Turoff treatment, the cause of your unhealthy scalp will be removed, we will save and thicken your hair. The free examination will reveal just how much thicker you can expect it to be. Your hair will improve wonderfully and you will see it do so quickly. Furthermore, we will teach you to maintain a head of hair permanently! The cost for treatment is very reasonable. Remember, we cater to working people — Mr. and Mrs. Average Person."

Turoff is California's leading scalp organization

SPECIAL

THE DEFENDERS — Society's apathy toward the inhabitants of Skid Row is probed in one of the "message" dramas of the soon-to-fold thinking man's series at 10 p.m., ch. 2. Tom Bosley stars as a derelict awakened in a junkyard by a policeman and charged with the murder of another tramp lying dead beside him. Kenneth Preston, concerned with the plight of the man, talks his father into accepting the challenge of a seemingly hopeless situation, instead of leaving the defense to a court-appointed attorney.

THE HUNGRY GIANTS—John K. M. McCaffery is host for an hour's story of world hunger, the men who fought it, and the men who rose to power because of it. With hunger putting Lenin in power for the Tsar, and Chiang Kai-shek's inability to feed his landless millions dropping China into the lap of Mao Tse-tung, the program warns that other hungry nations may fall prey to Communist revolution. From the "Perspective on Greatness" series, hour is at 10 p.m., ch. 9.

SPECIAL

EUROPE, 20 Years After—Two great wartime leaders, two networks and two continents are linked by Early Bird Communications satellite in a tribute to the Allied fighting men of World War II on the 20th anniversary of V-E Day. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower joins Walter Cronkite in New York, while Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein is with BBC correspondent Richard Dimbleby in London, in an hour-long special at 12 noon, ch. 2 (repeated at 9 p.m.), the two leaders reminisce on their wartime experiences as more than 30 live cameras in Europe revisit historic sites, including St. Lo at Normandy, Coventry in England, Berlin, Monte Cassino in Italy, the London War Room and Rheims in France, where the Germans surrendered on May 8, 1945.

BACKACHE & TENSION SECONDARY TO KIDNEY IRRITATION

After 21, common Kidney or Bladder irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and irritable from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondarily, you may lose sleep and suffer from Headaches, Backache and feel tired, depressed. In such irritations, CYSTEX usually brings fast, prompt comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYSTEX at druggists. Use strictly as directed.

49 Insurance question of the week?

YOUR Independent Insurance AGENT PROTECTS YOU BEST

"Are you aware that if Congress passes the Medicare Bill, you will pay for the rest of your working life? A tax on your wages will provide free hospitalization for people over 65 even though they are wealthy?"

Is your insurance agent authorized to display this Professional Emblem of the National Association?

Ask any member of this Professional Association affiliated with State and National Associations. Find them in the Yellow Pages.

SPECIAL

BOB HOPE—As a marriage broker trying to "win the old West" with mail-order brides, Hope heads a star-studded cast in a western spoof being repeated at 8:30 p.m., in color, ch. 4. Thrown into the Golden Gulch jail when he can't pay his hotel bill, he craftily sells brothers Aldo Ray, Rod Cameron and Sonny Tufts three of his choice Eastern brides. But when the girls (Jill St. John, Rhonda Fleming and Marilyn Maxwell) arrive, they decide it would be more fun to become saloon entertainers. Hope's released from jail by sheriff Bruce Cabot on condition the brides marry the brothers—or else! Featured in brief cameo roles are Jack Benny, Lucille Ball and Richard Deacon. (This hour next week goes to an exclusive interview with the two Soviet cosmonauts who flew the historic Voskhod 2 space misslon, with color film showing Aleksei Leonov's "walk" in space.)

Sports Today

HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW, 8 p.m., ch. 5, has Gil Stratton with interviews, training films, a color film with Jack Kramer titled "There They Go!"

BASEBALL, 8:10 p.m., ch. 11, finds Vin Scully and Jerry Doggett at Candlestick Park as the Dodgers open a 3-game televised series with the San Francisco Giants. (There will be 9 such Dodger telecasts this season.)

Early Bird Catches Viewers Today

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Today's television debut of Early Bird, the 24-hour-a-day transatlantic satellite, is expected to include a heart-valve operation in Houston with questioning by doctors at a conference in Switzerland.

Another scheduled highlight is an exchange of "wanted persons" information by Scotland Yard, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

These and many other examples of men at work and play on two continents are planned as illustrations of the potential of the "stationary" communications satellite in the one-hour inaugural telecast at 10 a.m. on channels 2, 4 and 7.

(The Early Bird will also be used by channel 2 for telecasts at noon and 10 p.m. Monday.)

* * * *

THE HEART operation would be performed by Dr. Michael De Bakey, a noted specialist, and would be seen by doctors at a Geneva conference who will be able to question him. Dr. De Bakey recently operated on the Duke of Windsor.

Also scheduled are a tour of Houston's new domed baseball stadium while the hometown team and Chicago Cubs are practicing, and a sports event from Eastern Europe.

In addition to an exchange of the day's news and a brief history of satellite communications, there will be a presentation entitled "Men at Work," which is set to include:

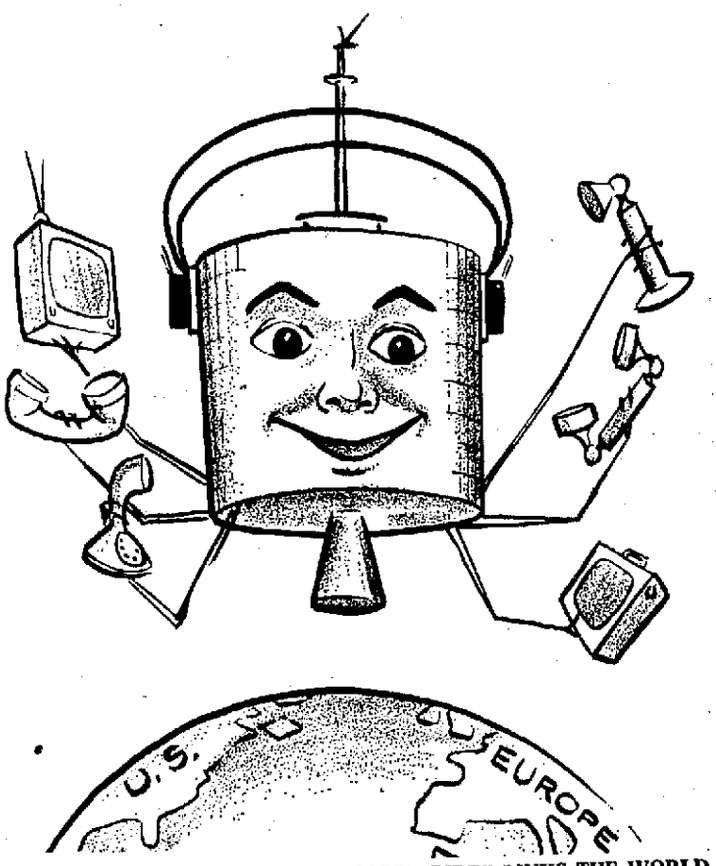

American astronauts training in Houston; a test of a supersonic jet engine in England; tunneling under Mt. Blanc in Italy, and a French project aiming to harness the tides for electric power.

In a different tack, viewers will also see festivals in Assisi, Italy, and Bavaria—and preparations for a festival in Mexico City.

* * * *

A MUSICAL section plans to show the Soviet navy chorus and dancers aboard Admiral Nelson's flagship, H.M.S. Victory, at Portsmouth, England. This would be supplemented by a Swedish carnival in which 12,000 students sing out the end of the college year; the jazz-classical Swingle Singers at a festival near Munich; the Mexico City Mariachi band, and a segment from Rome.

The final segment would have five bands in five countries playing the same piece: one at Chelsea Hospital, London; another on the Champs Elysee; a third in Quebec City; a fourth in Essen, Germany; and the fifth—the U.S. Army Band—in Washington.

HUGHES AIRCRAFT SATELLITE "EARLY BIRD" LINKS THE WORLD

'The Giant That Fell'

"Radio, the Giant that Fell," will be the lecture subject of a 20-year-old City College student at 11 a.m. Friday in Broadcasting Room 423 of the Liberal Arts Campus.

The student, Chris Lembesis Jr., 6108 Monlaco Rd., has been collecting research material on radio since he was 10 years old. Arrangements for the lecture were made by Kenneth Carter, City College radio-TV instructor.

Chris doesn't listen to today's rock-and-roll offerings on radio. He much preferred yesteryear's offerings of drama and humor because "It took imagination to listen to 'Gunsmoke' on the radio and see it in your head."

"Stop-Baldness-Week" Starts Monday

1. FREE EXAMINATION by Turoff trained specialist establishes your individual causes of hair loss.

2. EXCLUSIVE ELECTRO THERAPY developed by Turoff technicians after years of research. Results are FAST.

3. EXCLUSIVE MEDICATION. Turoff formulas laboratory produced. Another step on the road to a strong healthy hairline.

4. PROFESSIONAL MASSAGE. A skilled and trained assistant revitalizes, tones and loosens scalp so hair can grow.

CALIFORNIA'S LEADING SCALP SPECIALIST WARNS—"12,000,000 BALDING AMERICANS NOW INCREASING RAPIDLY"

In a recent interview, S. I. Turoff, nationally known authority on baldness, and director of the Turoff Scalp Clinic, said: "Most people don't stop to realize that in 95% of the cases where a person is on the road to baldness, common sense on his or her part might prevent this tragedy." People simply do not get around to doing something about their balding condition until in many cases it is too late. Yet, in the years that they have the danger signals of approaching baldness, such as excessive hair fall, dandruff, itchiness, dry scalp, thinning or bald spots—in those years they probably spend substantial sums on their teeth and general body health. Yes, it is peculiar, but because oncoming baldness doesn't hurt like most parts of the body that are wasting away, many people simply let it go too long.

NEW SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Turoff treats the problem of premature baldness scientifically with their own exclusive chemical, physical and electro-therapy. Turoff Clinics alone provide this remarkably successful therapy. Exact formulas and therapy are known only to Turoff. No imitations can equal its power. So astounding have been the results, we have given over one million successful treatments. Prove this scientific thoroughness for yourself.

AN UNMATCHED RECORD! OVER ONE MILLION TREATMENTS TO CALIFORNIANS: THE TREATMENT OTHERS TRY TO DUPLICATE.

PROVEN RESULTS

Thousands of enthusiastic comments and testimonials are received yearly. Why don't you start these treatments today and see what an improvement they make in your hair and how much more invigorating your hair and scalp feel. Don't put off giving your hair the care it needs . . . the penalty of delay may be baldness.

WHAT TO EXPECT

"If you are accepted for Turoff treatment, the cause of your unhealthy scalp will be removed, we will save and thicken your hair. The free examination will reveal just how much thicker you can expect it to be. Your hair will improve wonderfully and you will see it do so quickly. Furthermore, we will teach you to maintain a head of hair permanently! The cost for treatment is very reasonable. Remember, we cater to working people — Mr. and Mrs. Average Person."

Turoff is California's leading scalp organization

SPECIAL

EUROPE, 20 Years After—Two great wartime leaders, two networks and two continents are linked by Early Bird Communications satellite in a tribute to the Allied fighting men of World War II on the 20th anniversary of V-E Day. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower joins Walter Cronkite in New York, while Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein is with BBC correspondent Richard Dimbleby in London. In an hour-long special at 12 noon, ch. 2 (repeated at 9 p.m.), the two leaders reminisce on their wartime experiences as more than 30 live cameras in Europe revisit historic sites, including St. Lo at Normandy, Coventry in England, Berlin, Monte Cassino in Italy, the London War Room and Rheims in France, where the Germans surrendered on May 8, 1945.

Sports Today

BASEBALL, 11 a.m., ch. 7, finds the Washington Senators playing host to the New York Yankees.

BOWLING - TENNIS, 11 a.m., ch. 8, begins a series of best-ball bowling tournaments back-to-back with a singles elimination tennis tourney, to be aired on 7 Saturdays when CBS' Yankees are away from their home stadium. (Neither is seen in L. A.)

BASEBALL, 2:10 p.m., ch. 11, goes to Candlestick Park for the second game in the current Dodgers-Giants series.

HOLLYPARK PREVUE, 5 p.m., ch. 2, has Gil Stratton at Hollywood Park to watch racing events, exhibitions and trick riding, in the first of two preview days before the May 12 season opening.

WIDE WORLD of Sports, 5 p.m., ch. 7, offers tapes of the national dirt track stock car championship (Richmond, Va.) and the first national water-ski kite-flying championships (Austin, Tex.). Latter has skier-fliers towed behind boats until they become airborne by 12-foot kites to fly a slalom course around water-spouting buoys.

BACKACHE & TENSION SECONDARY TO KIDNEY IRRITATION

After 21, common Kidney or Bladder Irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondarily, you may lose sleep and suffer from Headaches, Backaches and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in strong, acid urine and by analgesic pain-relief. Get CYSTEX at druggists. Feel better fast.

OUR COVER

Spring and new are words long associated in meaning in the lexicons of the world, and so it is today that spring is bringing word of newer homes, better businesses and more beautiful communities. Home owners, commercial enterprise operators and public agencies are pointing toward more eye-appeal, more comfort and more living, working and playing conditions. Southland's cover points up various facets of this renewal and Southland offers a variety of helpful hints and suggestions on how householders may lend a hand in the general trend by improving their surroundings—to their own pleasure, too. Spring is the time for do-it-yourself or for have-it-done—and to get ready for the long relaxation and fun of summer.

NEWS WEEK

March Field, long a hub of military aviation in Southern California, began as a dusty clearing in the semi-desert out beyond Riverside. Today, at March Air Force Base, the field observes Armed Forces Week as a world powerhouse of aerial muscle. How the great center grew and something of what it means in the scheme of America's might will be related in "Jenny to Jet" by Ev Hosking, Independent, Press-Telegram Sunday editor, a WW II aviator and a major in the U. S. Air Force Reserve.

Outside House Painting Now Outdated!

Another space age boon has been accomplished for home owners . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable product is TEX-COTE, combining the long lasting properties of fiberglass, asbestos, mica and perlite to make a wall surface that resists all climatic extremes.

Guided missile manufacturers for the United States government have found TEX-COTE a superior product for insulation of heat shields used in the space programs.

School boards everywhere have found textured coating more economical and longer lasting. They now specify this material.

After more than 10 years' exposure to extreme weather, thousands of textured coating applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings world-wide, remain in perfect condition.

The United States government, large corporations, such as Shell Oil, Pacific Telephone, Thunderbird International Hotels are using TEX-COTE. TEX-COTE comes in 12 beautiful decorator colors — adds new beauty, better insulation and waterproofing to the building, thus increasing its value. Through the use of silicones, today's scientific advance, a water-repellent "blanket" envelops the entire building so no moisture can penetrate to damage the interior. TEX-COTE with its fiberglass and perlite maximum insulating materials, cools the building in summer and warms it in winter.

Applied With a Gun

TEX-COTE is applied with heavy duty spray equipment under high pressure. It fuses itself to the wall surface to a thickness 15 to 20 times that of normal paint. It remains flexible and withstands cracking and normal surface expansion and contraction.

10-Year Factory Guarantee

Every TEX COTE job is registered and factory guaranteed for 10 years against chipping, flaking or peeling. TEX-COTE is the only coating with this qualified guarantee.

No Obligation

Ask for free information on how easily you may have TEX-COTE applied at low bank terms with no down payment. If you are a home owner, mail this coupon or call collect 24 hours a day. GA 3-8411, within 5 days and permit our representative to make a home demonstration of TEX-COTE.

PLANNING MODERNIZATION

What's Involved If You Remodel

By George Weeks

Pine Avenue has seen some extensive remodeling and face lifting, two projects banks, as seen above by direct vision and by a reflection.

MORE than 35,000 Long Beach property owners have spent in excess of $58.5 million on remodeling existing buildings within the last four years and the first three months of 1965.

These figures are cited by city building officials as proof that owners are finding it advantageous to upgrade their old properties despite the tightening of code requirements since the original construction dates.

The pace of remodeling has been fairly constant since 1961. In two of those years the valuation topped $15.5 million.

OFFICIALS NOTE the beginning of a trend toward commercial-property improvements. An outstanding example is the nearly-complete reworking of the former Wise Building, once maligned as an almost hopeless sample of 40-year-old construction not adaptable to modern use.

Kenneth S. Wing, architect on the project for the United California Bank, reports that the remodeling is being accomplished without unusually difficult problems. Moreover, it will save many months in construction time and possibly a million dollars as compared with a complete building job, he said.

THE OLD building had a handsome if dangerous facade of terra cotta. In its recreation it will be even more attractive, the architect promised, with gleaming bronze-colored window walls.

It will also offer patrons 225 parking spaces in a five-level (three underground) garage along the Broadway side. There will be direct access from the garage to the bank and to elavators leading to upper-floor offices. On the Pine Avenue side what was primarily a four-story structure now rises six stories.

Other successful improvements of existing structures both in the downtown and outlying business areas are mentioned by Robert F. Hoffman, senior structural engineer in the City Building Department:

BUFFUMS' downtown store has created a comfortable dining room, altered ceilings and lighting fixtures, improved air conditioning and expanded selling space.

In the Los Altos area Broadway Department Store has added another floor and improved its appearance both inside and out.

U.S. National Bank, after one outstanding remodeling project on downtown Pine Avenue, has embarked on another in the Los Altos area.

Bank of America's Main Office downtown has a new luminous ceiling.

Henry Sassoon hasn't completed his 34-story Tower Apartment Building on Ocean Boulevard, but already he is adding an easterly extension to give more parking space. A novel attraction here will be the revolving restaurant atop the tower.

SEARS, WALKER'S and such smaller business places as the Jones Cafeteria and Andy's Pancake House are other examples of successful remodeling. And at least three hospitals — Memorial, St. Mary's and Harriman Jones Clinic — are expanding or improving their buildings.

One mental block facing some owners of older commercial properties is the well-known fact that Long Beach's building and related codes have been materially strengthened since the 1933 earthquake. Thus a good many structures are what City Hall calls existing nonconforming buildings.

But Edward M. O'Connor, city superintendent of building, emphasizes that under present regulations the owners are allowed to remodel to the extent of 50% of replacement cost without bringing the buildings up to current code requirements.

THE SENSIBLE course in planning a major modernization, says O'Connor, is to have a structural engineer evaluate potential earthquake hazards and determine whether the building should be remodeled or replaced.

Minor interior remodelings, where there are no structural changes, do not require submission of plans to the Building Department. Others require two sets of plans.

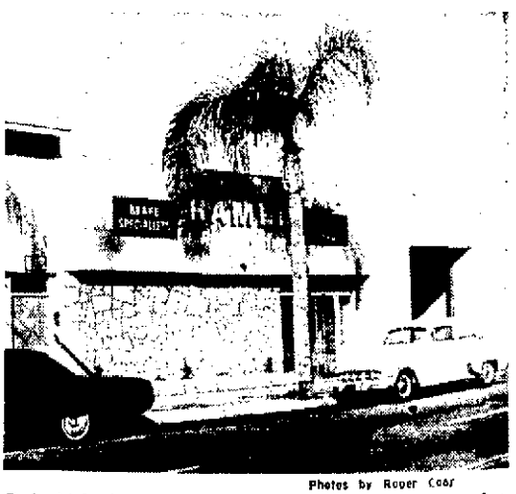

There are no retroactive provisions in regard to existing nonconforming electrical and plumbing systems. Building officials may require corrections only when such systems are overloaded or hazardous.

A REQUIREMENT that buildings be brought up to code does apply in a limited number of cases — those where the present occupancy or uses are to be drastically changed.

Most commercial buildings, however, fit into the broad Group F, covering many types of retail and office activity. Thus a store of one type may be converted to a variety of other retail uses without meeting present code standards.

O'Connor recalls only two instances in recent years where a change of occupancy made necessary a complete reworking of the buildings. In one case a store was converted to a school. In the other a storage garage became a restaurant.

In C-1, C-2 and C-3 commercial zones, the exterior of the building must have Planning Commission approval for uniform treatment of design, in addition to a building permit. Unless some glaring deviation is proposed, the commission normally approves the plans in quick order.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

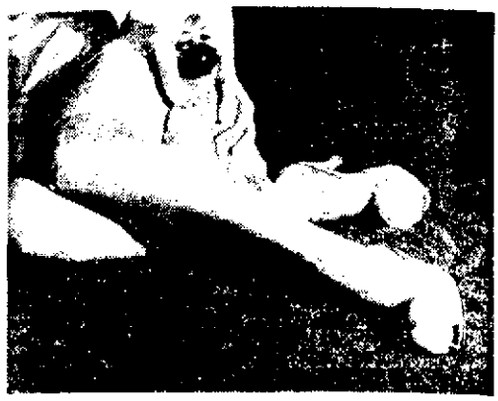

Glamour Under Foot

IF YOUR family is typical, your carpets and upholstered furniture represent one of the three biggest investments you will make. Yet what takes more punishment? Spills, tracked-in dirt, even the air you breathe are constantly at work to shorten the lifetime of your precious furnishings.

The battle can be won, however. You can actually add years to the life and beauty of your carpets and furniture if you understand a few basic concepts of soiling and of soil removal.

Essentially, there are two types of soil that must be

OUR COVER

Spring and new are words long associated in meaning in the lexicons of the world, and so it is today that spring is bringing word of newer homes, better businesses and more beautiful communities. Home owners, commercial enterprise operators and public agencies are pointing toward more eye-appeal, more comfort and more all-around enjoyment of living, working and playing conditions. Southland's cover points up various facets of this renewal and Southland offers a variety of helpful hints and suggestions on how householders may lend a hand in the general trend by improving their surroundings—to their own pleasure, too. Spring is the time for do-it-yourself or for have-it-done—and to get ready for the long relaxation and fun of summer.

NEWS WEEK

March Field, long a hub of military aviation in Southern California, began as a dusty clearing in the semi-desert out beyond Riverside. Today, at March Air Force Base, the field observes Armed Forces Week as a world powerhouse of aerial muscle. How the great center grew and something of what it means in the scheme of America's might will be related in "Jenny to Jet" by Ev Hosking, Independent, Press-Telegram Sunday editor, a WW II aviator and a major in the U. S. Air Force Reserve.

A New Look Is Sweeping Clean Through Long Beach

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

LONG BEACH has lowered the broom on encroaching ugliness, litter and trash, tawdry commercialism and widespread apathy.

City beautifiers—paid and volunteer, from the highest city official to the housewife interested in her home and her hometown—are rolling up their sleeves in an all-out fight against blight.

They're taking up broom, rake, blueprint, master plan, paint brush—even the bulldozer, where necessary—in a sweeping campaign to transform our "queen of the beaches" into the vital, beautiful metropolis she has every right to be.

One of the most attractive, active AND articulate groups in the citywide clean-up program is the civic beautification committee of the women's division, Long Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Organized four years ago through the efforts of Harry J. Krusz, Chamber executive vice president, with civic leader Mrs. George P. Taubman at the helm, the committee has outgrown its all-woman status, branching out into so many men-included committees that members can scarcely keep track of meeting dates.

But they attend—and they take action. Together they looked at our city and saw many things they did not like—

THEY VIEWED our approaches to the city, many of them jungles of junk, unlandscaped, eroded by the spoils of heavy industrialism . . . they eyed the stretches of billboards, especially the roof top spectaculars, that mar our would-be scenic views . . . they knitted brows over the blighted areas, unnecessary litter, also the run-down-at-the-heels look in much of our core area.

Result: They declared 1965 the Year of Beauty.

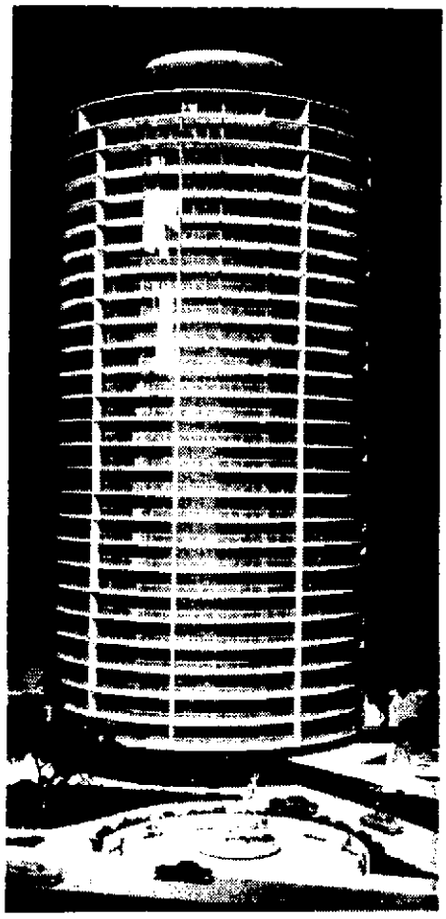

It proved such a here-and-now cause that the entire Chamber adopted the Year of Beauty program as their objective for 1965.

City officials (many of them working members of the Year of Beauty committee) have mobilized man and might to accomplish a long list of city beautification goals.

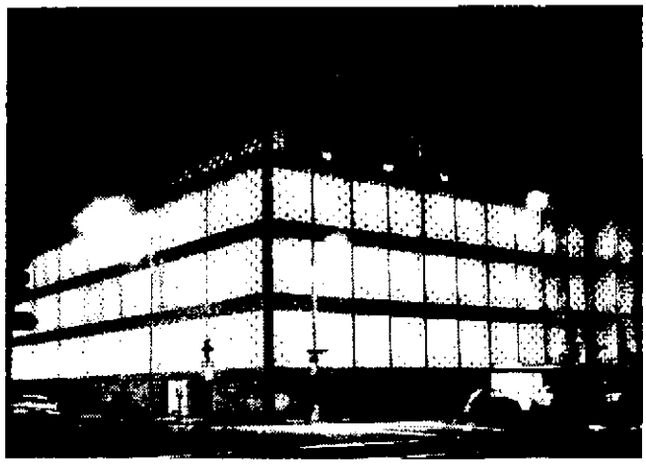

THEIR CAUSE was reinforced with an edict from Mayor Edwin W. Wade declaring 1965 Long Beach's Year of Beauty.

Climaxing the year-long effort is "Clean-Up, Paint-

Outside House Painting Now Outdated!

Another space age boon has been accomplished for home owners . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable product is TEX-COTE, combining the long lasting properties of fiberglass, asbestos, mica and perlite to make a wall surface that resists all climatic extremes.

Guided missile manufacturers for the United States government have found TEX-COTE a superior product for insulation of heat shields used in the space programs.

School boards everywhere have found textured coating more economical and longer lasting. They now specify this material.

After more than 10 years' exposure to extreme weather, thousands of textured coating applications on homes, commercial and industrial buildings world-wide, remain in perfect condition.

The United States government, large corporations, such as Shell Oil, Pacific Telephone, Thunderbird International Hotels are using TEX-COTE. TEX-COTE comes in 12 beautiful decorator colors — adds new beauty, better insulation and waterproofing to the building, thus increasing its value. Through the use of silicones, today's scientific advance, a water-repellent "blanket" envelops the entire building so no moisture can penetrate to damage the interior. TEX-COTE with its fiberglass and perlite maximum insulating materials, cools the building in summer and warms it in winter.

Applied With a Gun

TEX-COTE is applied with heavy duty spray equipment under high pressure. It fuses itself to the wall surface to a thickness 15 to 20 times that of normal paint. It remains flexible and withstands cracking and normal surface expansion and contraction.

10-Year Factory Guarantee

Every TEX-COTE job is registered and factory guaranteed for 10 years against chipping, flaking or peeling. TEX-COTE is the only coating with this qualified guarantee.

No Obligation

Ask for free information on how easily you may have TEX-COTE applied at low bank terms with no down payment. If you are a home owner, mail this coupon or call collect 24 hours a day. GA 5-8411, within 5 days and permit our representative to make a home demonstration of TEX-COTE.

PLANNING MODERNIZATION

What's Involved If You Remodel

By George Weeks

Pine Avenue has seen some extensive remodeling and face lifting, two projects banks, as seen above by direct vision and by a reflection.

MORE than 35,000 Long Beach property owners have spent in excess of $58.5 million on remodeling existing buildings within the last four years and the first three months of 1965.

These figures are cited by city building officials as proof that owners are finding it advantageous to upgrade their old properties despite the tightening of code requirements since the original construction dates.

The pace of remodeling has been fairly constant since 1961. In two of those years the valuation topped $15.5 million.

OFFICIALS NOTE the beginning of a trend toward commercial-property improvements. An outstanding example is the nearly-complete reworking of the former Wise Building, once maligned as an almost hopeless sample of 40-year-old construction not adaptable to modern use.

Kenneth S. Wing, architect on the project for the United California Bank, reports that the remodeling is being accomplished without unusually difficult problems. Moreover, it will save many months in construction time and possibly a million dollars as compared with a complete building job, he said.

THE OLD building had a handsome if dangerous facade of terra cotta. In its recreation it will be even more attractive, the architect promised, with gleaming bronze-colored window walls.

It will also offer patrons 225 parking spaces in a five-level (three underground) garage along the Broadway side. There will be direct access from the garage to the bank and to elavators leading to upper-floor offices. On the Pine Avenue side what was primarily a four-story structure now rises six stories.

Other successful improvements of existing structures both in the downtown and outlying business areas are mentioned by Robert F. Hoffman, senior structural engineer in the City Building Department:

BUFFUMS' downtown store has created a comfortable dining room, altered ceilings and lighting fixtures, improved air conditioning and expanded selling space.

In the Los Altos area Broadway Department Store has added another floor and improved its appearance both inside and out.

U.S. National Bank, after one outstanding remodeling project on downtown Pine Avenue, has embarked on another in the Los Altos area.

Bank of America's Main Office downtown has a new luminous ceiling.

Henry Sassoon hasn't completed his 34-story Tower Apartment Building on Ocean Boulevard, but already he is adding an easterly extension to give more parking space. A novel attraction here will be the revolving restaurant atop the tower.

SEARS, WALKER'S and such smaller business places as the Jones Cafeteria and Andy's Pancake House are other examples of successful remodeling. And at least three hospitals — Memorial, St. Mary's and Harriman Jones Clinic — are expanding or improving their buildings.

One mental block facing some owners of older commercial properties is the well-known fact that Long Beach's building and related codes have been materially strengthened since the 1933 earthquake. Thus a good many structures are what City Hall calls existing nonconforming buildings.

But Edward M. O'Connor, city superintendent of building, emphasizes that under present regulations the owners are allowed to remodel to the extent of 50% of replacement cost without bringing the buildings up to current code requirements.

THE SENSIBLE course in planning a major modernization, says O'Connor, is to have a structural engineer evaluate potential earthquake hazards and determine whether the building should be remodeled or replaced.

Minor interior remodelings, where there are no structural changes, do not require submission of plans to the Building Department. Others require two sets of plans.

There are no retroactive provisions in regard to existing nonconforming electrical and plumbing systems. Building officials may require corrections only when such systems are overloaded or hazardous.

A REQUIREMENT that buildings be brought up to code does apply in a limited number of cases — those where the present occupancy or uses are to be drastically changed.

Most commercial buildings, however, fit into the broad Group F, covering many types of retail and office activity. Thus a store of one type may be converted to a variety of other retail uses without meeting present code standards.

O'Connor recalls only two instances in recent years where a change of occupancy made necessary a complete reworking of the buildings. In one case a store was converted to a school. In the other a storage garage became a restaurant.

In C-1, C-2 and C-3 commercial zones, the exterior of the building must have Planning Commission approval for uniform treatment of design, in addition to a building permit. Unless some glaring deviation is proposed, the commission normally approves the plans in quick order.

paid more than once, or which is based upon a clerical error appearing in the tax records, may be refunded by the Council to the person entitled thereto; provided, however, that such refunds shall only be made upon the written application of the person entitled thereto, which must be filed with the City Clerk not later than one year after the date the erroneous payment was made.

Subdivision 3—Permits and Inspections

SECTION 8100.301—Building Permits—(a) General. No person shall erect, construct, enlarge, alter, remodel, move, or demolish any building or part of a building or structure, or install, repair or replace any refrigeration, ventilation, heating or air conditioning system (see Subdivisions 49 and 51), or change the character of occupancy or use of any building or structure, or part of a building or structure, in the City without first obtaining a building permit covering such work from the Department of Building and Safety. (Amended by Ord. C-4237, 4-10-62)

(b) Sub-work. Separate permits also must be obtained, to wit: plumbing (Section 8120), electrical (Section 8130), signs and billboards (Section 8140), and house moving (Section 8300). In cases where only plumbing, electrical or sign work is involved, separate sub-permits as provided in Parts II, III and IV of this chapter shall be obtained and no building permit covering these is required unless there is a

You Can (Do It Yourself) If You Are Careful --And Use Common Sense

By JEROME HALL

Breathes there a man with hopes alight
Who's never uttered these sad cries:
This %$%& thing just won't fit right,
It must be the wrong %&%& size!

"DO IT YOURSELF" is perhaps the most contagious catch phrase since Plutonus said to Androcles, the architect of the Parthenon, "I can get it for you wholesale."

Everybody is a do-it-yourselfer, from the man who doesn't need a greener lawn because he lives on a houseboat, to the fellow who moves into an own-your-own only to find that the doorbell always gets stuck and the faucet always springs a leak on the handyman's day off.

There are 100 million painters and 80 million carpenters in the United States, by conservative estimate, and most of them are preparing right now for a springtime project . . . a new hue to the bedroom or some more shelves in the garage or maybe even, at long last, an end to that drippy faucet.

This is the do-it-yourself season.

IT HAS BEEN estimated that 100% of the householders in most any residential neighborhood are either just completing a home improvement project, about to embark on one, or wishing they could. And it is for certain that 100% of those who are now in the midst of a do-it-yourself project are more than anxious to make it a done-it-myself accomplishment as soon as possible, for no matter what the handy hints books say, a sizable home improvement project done by the homeowner is precisely that—a sizeable project.

But you CAN do it yourself—if you're careful and if you use common sense and if you use all the assistance that's available.

The biggest source of assistance for the homeowner who decides to tackle a big job himself is, paradoxically, the one he is likely to think of last. It is the Building and Safety Department in his city.

ACCORDING TO the Long Beach Municipal Code, "No person shall erect, construct, enlarge, alter, remodel, move or demolish any building or part of a building or structure . . . without first obtaining a building permit. . . ."

The Building Department's inspectors are too often considered as unfriendly interlopers by do-it-yourselfers and corner-cutting contractors alike, but in truth the city inspector is the best friend a homeowner has during a building project.

Last year 6,548 permits for alterations and/or additions were issued in Long Beach. The total valuation of these home improvements was $15,503,390. Since there are some 74,000 single-family dwellings in Long Beach, it can be estimated that on the average, one house in every block was enlarged or improved during 1964. The current year bids fair to be an even busier one.

None of these figures take into account the new coats of paint or the new shelves in the garage, for those are normal maintenance projects. But, according to municipal law, anything beyond normal maintenance requires a building permit.

"IF THE HOMEOWNER will come to us before he starts a project we will give him a lot of helpful information that might save him a lot of headaches," says Ray Brosterhous, assistant superintendent of the Long Beach Department of Building and Safety.

The department also can save a lot of wasted effort, like the fellow who dutifully obtained a permit to re-shingle his home. He insisted he knew all about how to do it and when he called an inspector for a "final," the inspector was left speechless. The fellow had covered every bit of his roof with shingles, all right, but he had carefully aligned them in rows up and down as well as across. "The inspector had to explain that the shingles had to be staggered so the spaces between would be covered by the next overlapping row." So he re-re-roofed.

There is another case in Long Beach that hasn't been so easily solved as by tearing off a few thousand shingles. It's the case of the husband who sent his wife to city hall to secure a permit to pour a concrete slab for a room addition. She forgot. And he forgot to ask her if she forgot. So he poured the concrete. And then she remembered about the permit. But the fellows at the Building and Safety Department took one look at the plans and informed her the sewer pipes would have to be dug up and replaced with stronger ones before hubby spread the tons of concrete.

THE BOYS at the Building Department didn't know that hubby already had poured. And hubby didn't know he shouldn't have. And the forgetful wife doesn't know how to tell him.

"The fees (for a permit) do not nearly cover the cost of services provided by the Building Department," points out Leonard Greb, an inspector in Long Beach for 10 years. On a $4.50 permit for a small addition, for instance, the homeowner gets seven to 10 inspections which, in the long run, keep neighborhood property values high.

During many of those seven to 10 inspections it is not at all unusual for the inspector to show the do-it-yourselfer how to put proper bracing into a wall or cut a header. Some inspectors have been known to pick up a hammer and do the job for the bewildered fellow who doesn't know a buttonboard from a piece of romex.

When Ray San Jose, a Lakewood Plaza homeowner, started building a large family room on his residence he had never constructed anything larger than a bird house. "I bought some books, but they didn't do much good because I didn't understand most of the technical terms. The inspectors gave me so much information I ought to invite them to the housewarming."

THERE IS a belief that Long Beach's building code is more strict, more demanding than most cities, but it varies little from the uniform code used in most all municipalities. But the building regulations are more rigidly enforced in Long Beach.

This close control "tends to make the contracting business of higher quality in Long Beach," says Brosterhous, who adds that the trend is away from do-it-yourself-ism on major projects. Gone are the days when a man builds a garage and moves his family into it while he builds the house, a practice so common in the 40s. Today it is too easy to call in a contractor, who can give you an extra bedroom and that longed-for family room in two weeks, give or take a few delays because of that finicky inspector.

But for the adventuresome, there's still a wilderness to be considered right here within the city limits. It's known as do-it-yourself. You may save a lot of money if you intersperse a lot of common sense with your nailing and sawing.

Major do-it-yourself projects can save householders money but sometimes the long delays often encountered can make wives extra-nervous, over-anxious, as Mrs. William Gay demonstrates.

Pools and Patios in the Sun

California's outdoor style of living requires adequate shelter, at times from chill breezes, at others from excessive heat of summer sun. Aluminum, redwood, stone, canvas—all are among materials used.

By EV HOSKING

THERE'S a lot more to a swimming pool than swimming—

Like lounging, sunbathing and, in short, plenty of outdoor living.

Pool companies now come equipped with expert designers who plan the pool to be the central part of a design for outdoor living.

And there are patio designers who will plan that outdoor patio with its aluminum-shaded area to complement not only the pool area but the whole house.

There are three good reasons for building some kind of a shelter patio around a swimming pool.

THE FIRST concerns good looks. There is nothing quite as awkward as a pool that doesn't relate to the house and its garden. The right kind of a sheltering structure—maybe only a roof or a wall—can unite the pool and the house.

The second major reason is economy. The right kind of a pool shelter can actually save you money if you are on an exposed site where the winds blow cold in the winter. The exposed pool in winter can't be heated except at excessive cost. This means that the pool stands empty and cold for several months a year but still collects dirt and has to be cleaned and maintained at considerable cost. With shelter the pool can be heated economically and maintenance costs fade with the added useability.

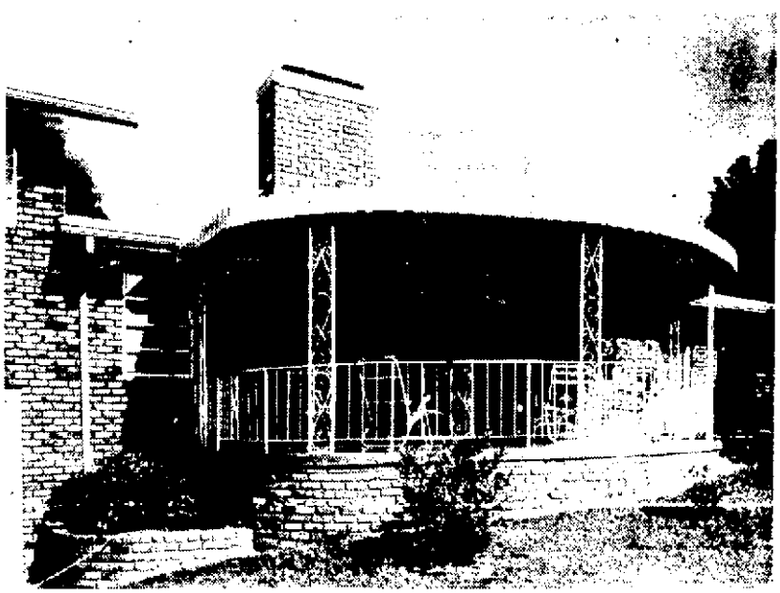

The third, the biggest, reason for the sheltered poolside patio is personal comfort.

NOT TOO MANY years ago the pool was only a refuge from the heat on a midsummer day. Now that the pool habit is firmly entrenched, the pool has become a place to swim in any season of the year—not just July through September. A shelter materially increases the pleasure of the year-around swimming habit.

A bonus reason for the protected poolside patio—it makes a wonderful place to maintain close supervision of toddlers who are playing in the pool area.

In days past swimming pools were primarily rectangular. Now they come in all sorts of shapes and sizes—meandering all over the place.

In fact some of them will meander right into the middle of the patio if desired. Some are even brought into the house.

Aluminum patio cover conforms to curved design of patio, providing visual beauty as well as protection. Patio covers may now be shaped as desired.

PRACTICALITY of the protected, aluminum-shielded patio is even more enhanced with the construction of a swimming pool.

With the advent of the easily constructed aluminum patio and dressy, elegant poolside furniture, homeowners have found that they can have an outdoor living room nearly the year around with the budget-priced patio protection and furniture readily available to all.

Day or night, the Southland climate is conducive to poolside patio pleasures. Pool and garden lights lend a dramatic air to an evening setting.

The pool area can be used for year around entertaining. Flagstone decks and a decorative aluminum patio add to this interesting and inviting spot for recreation for all.

Adequate planting alongside the patio and pool makes poolside pleasures far more abundant, heightening the sense of relaxation by providing contrasting textures, soft colors and sparkling accent hues.

DESIGNERS say that the area around a pool may be compared to the setting for a valuable diamond. The pool of course is the brilliant, valuable gem and the best landscaping and patio is the setting which shows it to the best advantage.

To go with all this, aluminum patio covers can be made to conform with any patio shape—to conform to the edges of the free-form swimming pool.

Aluminum construction affords a simple, easy way to shield the pool heater from the view of those relaxing around the pool area, too.

With the transition from winter to summer already well along, it is high time that the early bird homeowner starts planning—and constructing—that outdoor living room and pool.

As a matter of fact, there are lots of uses for aluminum for the homeowner who is already planning his spring and summer "projects."

FOR THOSE interested, here's a rundown on aluminum products designed to keep humans comfortable in the home and around the pool and to keep them and their possessions protected despite the rays of a sometimes unfriendly sun.

WINDOW AWNINGS — to keep the house degrees cooler during the summer and protect furniture, carpeting and upholstery from the drying effects of the sun's rays. Awnings made of aluminum come in a variety of styles and colors to suit your window needs and exterior color schemes.

ROLL-UP AWNINGS - have the additional advantage of being adjustable. They can be rolled up during the winter or on cool days when the sun is welcome and rolled down on the hot days.

PATIO COVERS—convert your unprotected patio from a hot spot to a cool oasis alongside the pool.

CARPORT COVERS—protect the family car during inclement weather and provide another cool spot for family relaxation when the sun is out. An aluminum carport cover also keeps adjacent rooms cooler.

SUN'N WIND SHADES—Fend off the low-angled sun and keep the wind out of the patio. Made of aluminum they are suspended from patio covers and adjusted by the pull of a cord.

SOLAR SCREENS—are something new for those who like a light and airy effect on their patio. Consisting of open panels interlaced with ribbon-like aluminum strips, 3½ inches deep, they are highly effective sun stoppers. You may want to consider them where rain protection is not sought.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Glamour Under Foot

IF YOUR family is typical, your carpets and upholstered furniture represent one of the three biggest investments you will make. Yet what takes more punishment? Spills, tracked-in dirt, even the air you breathe are constantly at work to shorten the lifetime of your precious furnishings.

The battle can be won, however. You can actually add years to the life and beauty of your carpets and furniture if you understand a few basic concepts of soiling and of soil removal.

Essentially, there are two types of soil that must be

HOME IMPROVEMENT

The Little Kitchen That Grew

ORIGINALLY INTENDED as a weekend vacation place, not a permanent residence, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hattery, 55 63rd Place, had a problem kitchen—the problem: too small. So cramped was the 7x7-foot area that the refrigerator had to occupy a place in the adjoining dining room. The Hatterys called in Kay Langen, an expert in kitchen designing, and a conspiracy was plotted—to operate on the kitchen and extend it to 7x10 feet. The interior was completely changed. Now there are 14½ feet of counter area instead of 5; 18 feet of cupboard space instead of approximately 3, a half circle cupboard in a corner to accommodate many items hard to store, and 8 functional drawers. Cabinets and drawers are finished in natural birch; the oven is over the stove with a cabinet above. It's still small by many standards but the kitchen now has a place for everything needed—including the once-orphaned refrigerator!—STELLA GEORGE.

A New Look Is Sweeping Clean Through Long Beach

By MARY ELLIS CARLTON

LONG BEACH has lowered the broom on encroaching ugliness, litter and trash, tawdry commercialism and widespread apathy.

City beautifiers—paid and volunteer, from the highest city official to the housewife interested in her home and her hometown—are rolling up their sleeves in an all-out fight against blight.

They're taking up broom, rake, blueprint, master plan, paint brush—even the bulldozer, where necessary—in a sweeping campaign to transform our "queen of the beaches" into the vital, beautiful metropolis she has every right to be.

One of the most attractive, active AND articulate groups in the citywide clean-up program is the civic beautification committee of the women's division, Long Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Organized four years ago through the efforts of Harry J. Krusz, Chamber executive vice president, with civic leader Mrs. George P. Taubman at the helm, the committee has outgrown its all-woman status, branching out into so many men-included committees that members can scarcely keep track of meeting dates.

But they attend—and they take action. Together they looked at our city and saw many things they did not like—

THEY VIEWED our approaches to the city, many of them jungles of junk, unlandscaped, eroded by the spoils of heavy industrialism . . . they eyed the stretches of billboards, especially the roof-top spectaculars, that mar our would-be scenic views . . . they knitted brows over the blighted areas, unnecessary litter, also the run-down-at-the-heels look in much of our core area.

Result: They declared 1965 the Year of Beauty.

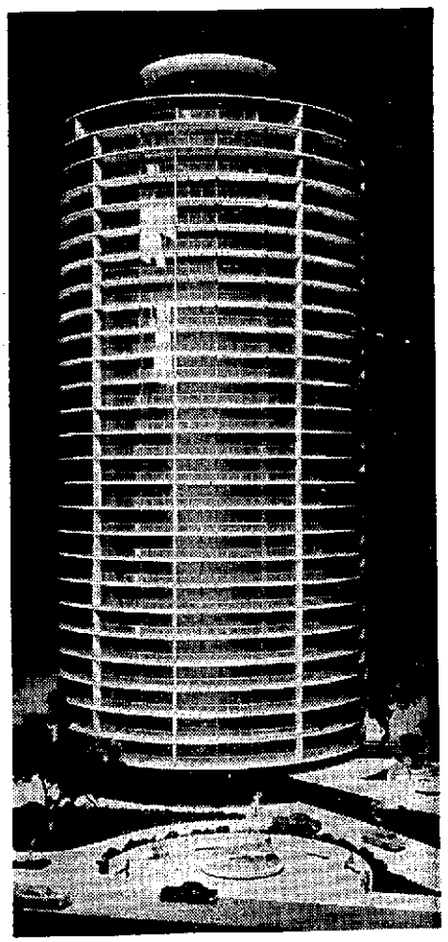

It proved such a here-and-now cause that the entire Chamber adopted the Year of Beauty program as their objective for 1965.

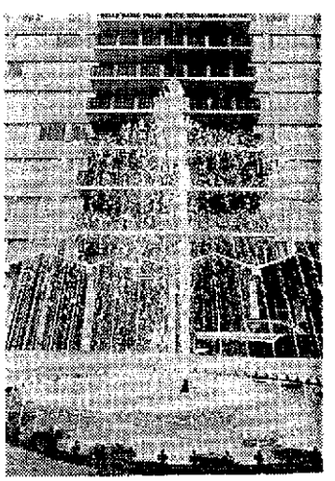

City officials (many of them working members of the Year of Beauty committee) have mobilized man and might to accomplish a long list of city beautification goals.

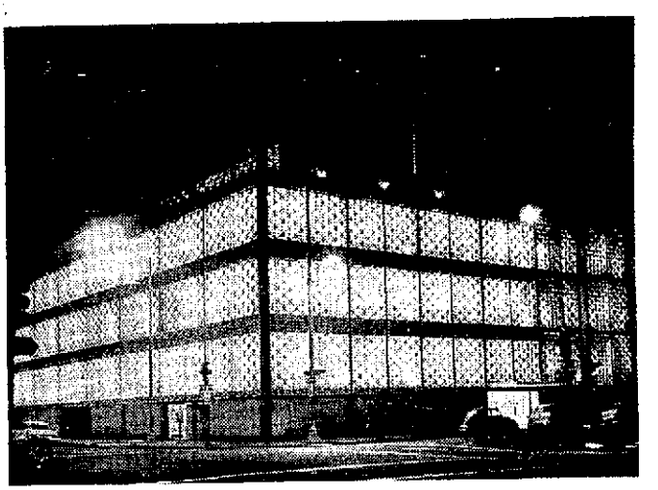

THEIR CAUSE was reinforced with an edict from Mayor Edwin W. Wade declaring 1965 Long Beach's Year of Beauty.

Climaxing the year-long effort is "Clean-Up, Paint-

Subdivision 3—Permits and Inspections

SECTION 8100.301—Building Permits—(a) General. No person shall erect, construct, enlarge, alter, remodel, move, or demolish any building or part of a building or structure, or install, repair or replace any refrigeration, ventilation, heating or air conditioning system (see Subdivisions 49 and 51), or change the character of occupancy or use of any building or structure, or part of a building or structure, in the City without first obtaining a building permit covering such work from the Department of Building and Safety. (Amended by Ord. C-4237, 4-10-62)

(b) Sub-work. Separate permits also must be obtained, to wit: plumbing (Section 8120), electrical (Section 8130), signs and billboards (Section 8140), and house moving (Section 8300). In cases where only plumbing, electrical or sign work is involved, separate sub-permits as provided in Parts II, III and IV of this chapter shall be obtained and no building permit covering these is required unless there is a

You Can (Do It Yourself) If You Are Careful --And Use Common Sense

By JEROME HALL

Breathes there a man with hopes alight
Who's never uttered these sad cries:
This %$%& thing just won't fit right,
It must be the wrong %&%& size!

"DO IT YOURSELF" is perhaps the most contagious catch phrase since Plutonus said to Androcles, the architect of the Parthenon, "I can get it for you wholesale."

Everybody is a do-it-yourselfer, from the man who doesn't need a greener lawn because he lives on a houseboat, to the fellow who moves into an own-your-own only to find that the doorbell always gets stuck and the faucet always springs a leak on the handyman's day off.

There are 100 million painters and 80 million carpenters in the United States, by conservative estimate, and most of them are preparing right now for a springtime project . . . a new hue to the bedroom or some more shelves in the garage or maybe even, at long last, an end to that drippy faucet.

This is the do-it-yourself season.

IT HAS BEEN estimated that 100% of the householders in most any residential neighborhood are either just completing a home improvement project, about to embark on one, or wishing they could. And it is for certain that 100% of those who are now in the midst of a do-it-yourself project are more than anxious to make it a done-it-myself accomplishment as soon as possible, for no matter what the handy hints books say, a sizable home improvement project done by the homeowner is precisely that—a sizeable project.

But you CAN do it yourself—if you're careful and if you use common sense and if you use all the assistance that's available.

The biggest source of assistance for the homeowner who decides to tackle a big job himself is, paradoxically, the one he is likely to think of last. It is the Building and Safety Department in his city.

ACCORDING TO the Long Beach Municipal Code, "No person shall erect, construct, enlarge, alter, remodel, move or demolish any building or part of a building or structure . . . without first obtaining a building permit. . . ."

The Building Department's inspectors are too often considered as unfriendly interlopers by do-it-yourselfers and corner-cutting contractors alike, but in truth the city inspector is the best friend a homeowner has during a building project.

Last year 6,548 permits for alterations and/or additions were issued in Long Beach. The total valuation of these home improvements was $15,503,390. Since there are some 74,000 single-family dwellings in Long Beach, it can be estimated that on the average, one house in every block was enlarged or improved during 1964. The current year bids fair to be an even busier one.

None of these figures take into account the new coats of paint or the new shelves in the garage, for those are normal maintenance projects. But, according to municipal law, anything beyond normal maintenance requires a building permit.

"IF THE HOMEOWNER will come to us before he starts a project we will give him a lot of helpful information that might save him a lot of headaches," says Ray Brosterhous, assistant superintendent of the Long Beach Department of Building and Safety.

The department also can save a lot of wasted effort, like the fellow who dutifully obtained a permit to re-shingle his home. He insisted he knew all about how to do it and when he called an inspector for a "final," the inspector was left speechless. The fellow had covered every bit of his roof with shingles, all right, but he had carefully aligned them in rows up and down as well as across. "The inspector had to explain that the shingles had to be staggered so the spaces between would be covered by the next overlapping row." So he re-re-roofed.

There is another case in Long Beach that hasn't been so easily solved as by tearing off a few thousand shingles. It's the case of the husband who sent his wife to city hall to secure a permit to pour a concrete slab for a room addition. She forgot. And he forgot to ask her if she forgot. So he poured the concrete. And then she remembered about the permit. But the fellows at the Building and Safety Department took one look at the plans and informed her the sewer pipes would have to be dug up and replaced with stronger ones before hubby spread the tons of concrete.

THE BOYS at the Building Department didn't know that hubby already had poured. And hubby didn't know he shouldn't have. And the forgetful wife doesn't know how to tell him.

"The fees (for a permit) do not nearly cover the cost of services provided by the Building Department," points out Leonard Greb, an inspector in Long Beach for 10 years. On a $4.50 permit for a small addition, for instance, the homeowner gets seven to 10 inspections which, in the long run, keep neighborhood property values high.

During many of those seven to 10 inspections it is not at all unusual for the inspector to show the do-it-yourselfer how to put proper bracing into a wall or cut a header. Some inspectors have been known to pick up a hammer and do the job for the bewildered fellow who doesn't know a buttonboard from a piece of romex.

When Ray San Jose, a Lakewood Plaza homeowner, started building a large family room on his residence he had never constructed anything larger than a bird house. "I bought some books, but they didn't do much good because I didn't understand most of the technical terms. The inspectors gave me so much information I ought to invite them to the housewarming."

THERE IS a belief that Long Beach's building code is more strict, more demanding than most cities, but it varies little from the uniform code used in most all municipalities. But the building regulations are more rigidly enforced in Long Beach.

This close control "tends to make the contracting business of higher quality in Long Beach," says Brosterhous, who adds that the trend is away from do-it-yourselfism on major projects. Gone are the days when a man builds a garage and moves his family into it while he builds the house, a practice so common in the 40s. Today it is too easy to call in a contractor, who can give you an extra bedroom and that longed-for family room in two weeks, give or take a few delays because of that finicky inspector.

But for the adventuresome, there's still a wilderness to be considered right here within the city limits. It's known as do-it-yourself. You may save a lot of money if you intersperse a lot of common sense with your nailing and sawing.

Major do-it-yourself projects can save householders money but sometimes the long delays often encountered can make wives extra-nervous, over-anxious, as Mrs. William Gay demonstrates.

A Touch of Perfection

By Stella George

Low bar with mobile panels (shown partly open) divides living room, kitchen.

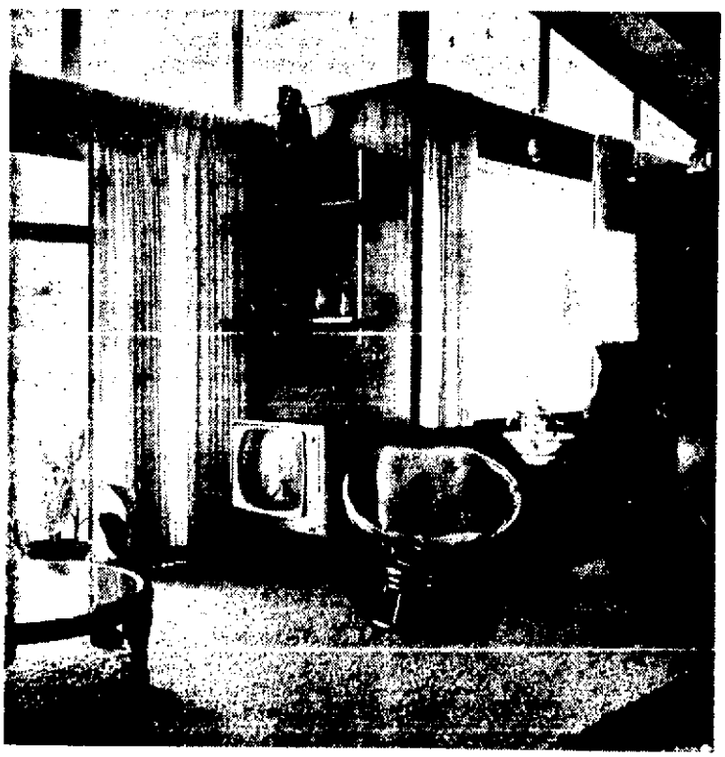

THE GARDEN GROVE home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hapke, 11681 Puryear St., has that "certain something" which lends it individuality. The dwelling consists of a large living room, kitchen, three bedrooms and two baths, so well arranged that the home is functional, attractive, and easy to maintain with no wasted space.

A low bar which can be closed off with a sliding panel separates the living room from the kitchen, and serves as a sit-down dining center for the entire family: Mr. and Mrs. Hapke and small sons, Scott and Mark.

While there is no entrance hall to the living room, the feeling of an entry has been achieved in a practical and unique manner. The fireplace is on the front door wall; bricks from the hearth have been carried along the floor just inside the doorway. The bricked area is wide enough to save wear and tear on the living room carpeting and, in addition, it forms its own decorative touch.

THE SAME neutral tone in carpeting is carried throughout the house. The living room views the patio and pool through a glass wall as well as a large window in an alcove. The area encircling the bar at the far end of the living room (with the kitchen beyond) has been paneled in rich walnut, with the panelling carried around the window in the alcove and on a narrow wall adjacent to the glass doors. The decorating motif is Oriental, and three bold brass Chinese symbols dominate the paneling above the bar.

A long sofa upholstered in blue-green, which blends into jade green, lines the wall opposite the glass wall. A long black coffee table in front of the sofa has a practical plastic top which withstands wear although it looks like highly polished wood. Tall, graceful lamps rest on black end tables on either side of the sofa. A low and very handsome round table near the glass wall was brought from the Orient by Hapke, as were some of the other treasures in the room. Behind the sofa is a three-piece Oriental mural which blends to form one picture.

This walnut-paneled corner is in the living room of an interesting residence in Garden Grove.

OCCASIONAL rataan chairs are painted in a green to match the sofa—one, very low, comfortable and inviting, is called a Beatnik chair. The bar is low with two rataan chairs on the living room side and two on the kitchen side. The TV is placed against the paneled wall near the glass doors with hanging knickknack shelves above. Large pillows on one side of the wide hearth provide a seating area.

Philippine mahogany furniture is used in the master bedroom which is quite large and forms a suite with an adjoining bath. Mark and Scott each has his own room with bunk beds ready for overnight guests.

The property is pie

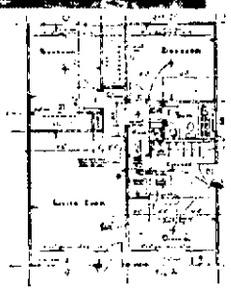

This is the home of the Walter Hapke family where attention to detail has paid well.

Pools and Patios in the Sun

California's outdoor style of living requires adequate shelter, at times from chill breezes, at others from excessive heat of summer sun. Aluminum, redwood, stone, canvas—all are among materials used.

By EV HOSKING

THERE'S a lot more to a swimming pool than swimming—

Like lounging, sunbathing and, in short, plenty of outdoor living.

Pool companies now come equipped with expert designers who plan the pool to be the central part of a design for outdoor living.

And there are patio designers who will plan that outdoor patio with its aluminum-shaded area to complement not only the pool area but the whole house.

There are three good reasons for building some kind of a shelter patio around a swimming pool.

THE FIRST concerns good looks. There is nothing quite as awkward as a pool that doesn't relate to the house and its garden. The right kind of a sheltering structure—maybe only a roof or a wall—can unite the pool and the house.

The second major reason is economy. The right kind of a pool shelter can actually save you money if you are on an exposed site where the winds blow cold in the winter. The exposed pool in winter can't be heated except at excessive cost. This means that the pool stands empty and cold for several months a year but still collects dirt and has to be cleaned and maintained at considerable cost. With shelter the pool can be heated economically and maintenance costs fade with the added useability.

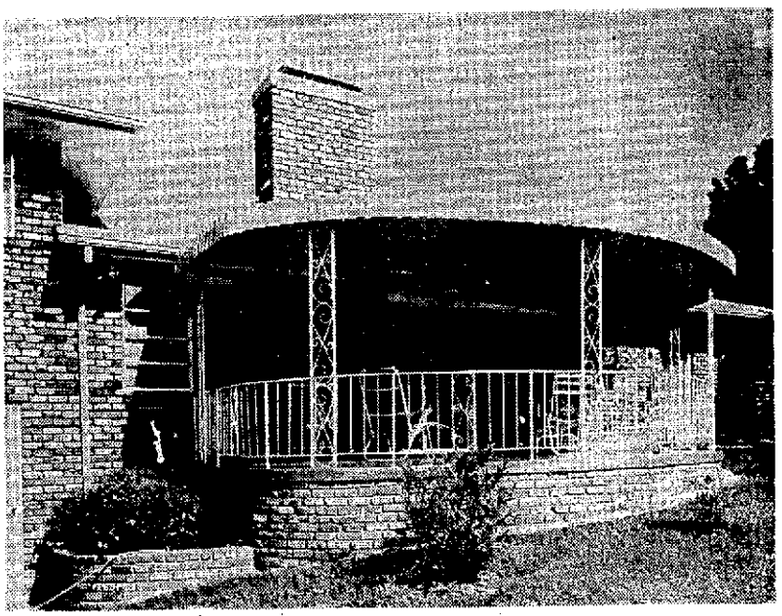

The third, the biggest, reason for the sheltered poolside patio is personal comfort.

NOT TOO MANY years ago the pool was only a refuge from the heat on a midsummer day. Now that the pool habit is firmly entrenched, the pool has become a place to swim in any season of the year—not just July through September. A shelter materially increases the pleasure of the year-around swimming habit.

A bonus reason for the protected poolside patio—it makes a wonderful place to maintain close supervision of toddlers who are playing in the pool area.

In days past swimming pools were primarily rectangular. Now they come in all sorts of shapes and sizes—meandering all over the place.

In fact some of them will meander right into the middle of the patio if desired. Some are even brought into the house.

Aluminum patio cover conforms to curved design of patio, providing visual beauty as well as protection. Patio covers may now be shaped as desired.

PRACTICALITY of the protected, aluminum-shielded patio is even more enhanced with the construction of a swimming pool.

With the advent of the easily constructed aluminum patio and dressy, elegant poolside furniture, homeowners have found that they can have an outdoor living room nearly the year around with the budget-priced patio protection and furniture readily available to all.

Day or night, the Southland climate is conducive to poolside patio pleasures. Pool and garden lights lend a dramatic air to an evening setting.

The pool area can be used for year around entertaining. Flagstone decks and a decorative aluminum patio add to this interesting and inviting spot for recreation for all.

Adequate planting alongside the patio and pool makes poolside pleasures far more abundant, heightening the sense of relaxation by providing contrasting textures, soft colors and sparkling accent hues.

DESIGNERS say that the area around a pool may be compared to the setting for a valuable diamond. The pool of course is the brilliant, valuable gem and the best landscaping and patio is the setting which shows it to the best advantage.

To go with all this, aluminum patio covers can be made to conform with any patio shape—to conform to the edges of the free-form swimming pool.

Aluminum construction affords a simple, easy way to shield the pool heater from the view of those relaxing around the pool area, too.

With the transition from winter to summer already well along, it is high time that the early bird homeowner starts planning—and constructing—that outdoor living room and pool.

As a matter of fact, there are lots of uses for aluminum, for the homeowner who is already planning his spring and summer "projects."

FOR THOSE interested, here's a rundown on aluminum products designed to keep humans comfortable in the home and around the pool and to keep them and their possessions protected despite the rays of a sometimes unfriendly sun.

WINDOW AWNINGS — to keep the house degrees cooler during the summer and protect furniture, carpeting and upholstery from the drying effects of the sun's rays. Awnings made of aluminum come in a variety of styles and colors to suit your window needs and exterior color schemes.

ROLL-UP AWNINGS — have the additional advantage of being adjustable. They can be rolled up during the winter or on cool days when the sun is welcome and rolled down on the hot days.

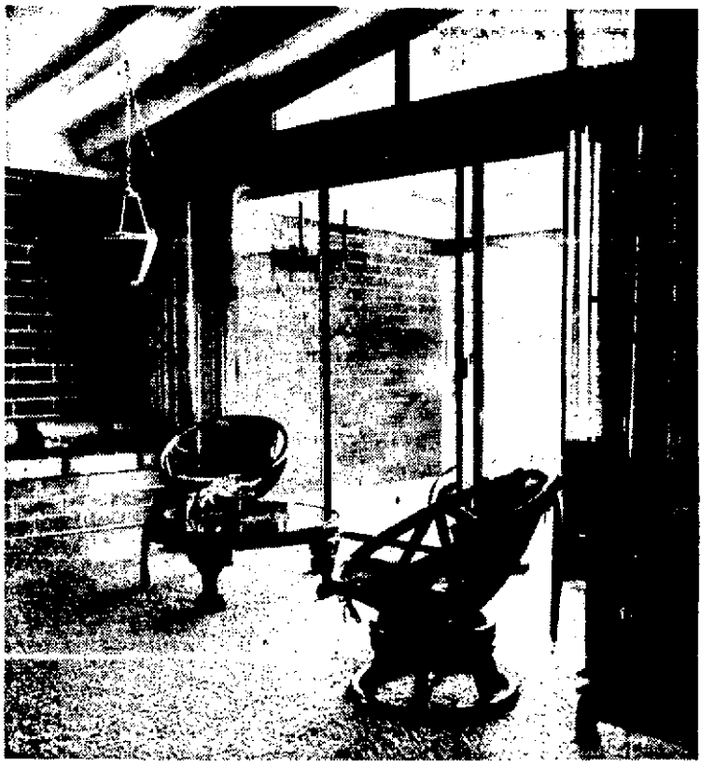

PATIO COVERS—convert your unprotected patio from a hot spot to a cool oasis alongside the pool.

CARPORT COVERS—protect the family car during inclement weather and provide another cool spot for family relaxation when the sun is out. An aluminum carport cover also keeps adjacent rooms cooler.

SUN'N WIND SHADES—Fend off the low-angled sun and keep the wind out of the patio. Made of aluminum they are suspended from patio covers and adjusted by the pull of a cord.

SOLAR SCREENS—are something new for those who like a light and airy effect on their patio. Consisting of open panels interlaced with ribbon-like aluminum strips, 3½ inches deep, they are highly effective sun stoppers. You may want to consider them where rain protection is not sought.

shaped with most of the land in the rear of the home. The pool is large and designed without curves. A roofed patio adjacent to the living room is also large, well arranged for family or company.

IN ONE CORNER of the patio two slat benches circle a low, built-in fireplace (created by Hapke) which has a gas burner and volcanic rock within. It is a practical and attractive addition to the area. The family solved the problem of where to keep the hose for the pool vacuum cleaner in an ingenious manner. It is curved up and down on the far end fence like the body of a dragon with large dragon's head at the end of the "body"—another interesting touch of the Oriental.

The entire home represents excellent long-range planning. Furniture and home harmonize and each item is in its place, keyed to fit, a fact which pleases the family pet poodle, Misty, no end since she is blind. She particularly likes the fact that there is a small play yard (separate from the patio and pool area) where she and Scott and Mark can entertain friends without fear of her falling into the pool.

Jade green sofa and black table are grouped above. Oriental mural creates background.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

The Little Kitchen That Grew

ORIGINALLY INTENDED as a weekend vacation place, not a permanent residence, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hattery, 55 63rd Place, had a problem kitchen—the problem: too small. So cramped was the 7x7-foot area that the refrigerator had to occupy a place in the adjoining dining room. The Hatterys called in Kay Langen, an expert in kitchen designing, and a conspiracy was plotted—to operate on the kitchen and extend it to 7x10 feet. The interior was completely changed. Now there are 14½ feet of counter area instead of 5; 18 feet of cupboard space instead of approximately 3, a half circle cupboard in a corner to accommodate many items hard to store, and 8 functional drawers. Cabinets and drawers are finished in natural birch; the oven is over the stove with a cabinet above. It's still small by many standards but the kitchen now has a place for everything needed—including the once-orphaned refrigerator!—STELLA GEORGE.

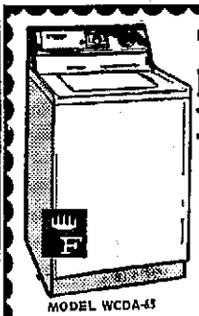

Looking into the Hattery kitchen after (top) and before remodeling.

Teen Dream Room Decor

By Margery McElheny

United Press International

GIVE A teen-age girl the chance and how will she decorate her "dream room"?

In general, she will select contemporary furniture with period accents: choose rugs and printed fabrics in warm, bright colors and combine them with white walls, not pastels; plan separate areas for sleeping, studying, entertaining friends, and express a whimsical personality with anything from a velvet ceiling or a refrigerator in the bedroom to a hanging basket chair for herself or a hanging basket bed for her cat.

"Seventeen Magazine" recently concluded a "plan a dream room" contest that discovered these trends in teen taste.

THE TEEN market is considered an important one to furnishings manufacturers because one million of the 11,441,000 teen-age girls in America are engaged, and shopping for furniture perhaps for the first time, the magazine said.

In addition to the teens who are planning new homes, there were thousands of girls who expressed a desire to have one room of the house where they could entertain friends, pursue hobbies and remove themselves from the rest of the family.

The contest entries showed that teens envisioned this room as a combined bedroom - sitting room with a studio look.

It contained areas for study, and was decorated in bright, cheerful, even daring colors of orange yellow, pink and "sick" greens.

MOST OF the girls selected contemporary furniture, with lots of bookshelves and cupboard space, and accented their choices with period pieces. Some picked French Provincial, Victorian and Early American furniture.

Throw pillows were used everywhere as were Princess phones, window seats and dressing tables. In most instances, walls were painted white or eggshell.

When planning their "dream" bedrooms, teens take their friends into consideration. Almost all the girls provided an extra bed for an overnight guest. Most chose trundle beds, day beds or hide-a-beds, seldom finding enough floor space for two separate single beds.

BEING practical about storing their vast accumulations of clothing, books, records, stuffed animals, school supplies and just plain "junk," the young designers created spacious shelves and built-in shelf and drawer units. Several planned triple dressers with 12 drawers.

They also allowed for storage space under decorative window seats and used bulletin-board catch-alls for pictures, trinkets, memos and the like.

Closets, all "spacious," of course, got some unusual treatments. One girl disguised her closet door with a fake garden "window" effect, complete with lattice work, a "sky" made of linen and curtains. Another, in a Spanish mood, dressed hers up with golden grille work. Windows also came in for fanciful treatments, all the way from French shutters and Roman shades to "framed" curtains.

Statistics show that four out of five teen girls sew at home for themselves and their rooms, "Seventeen" said. Many of the entrants planned to make their own slip covers, curtains and pillow covers, from easy-to-sew, washable cotton fabrics.

For Summer Fun Afloat

Dick Kallman of NBC displays an aquaplane that is easy to make and will give many hours of fun.

By Steve Ellingson

IF YOU want to add a new thrill to this summer's water sports, build an aquaplane. It's something every member of the family will enjoy.

The aquaplane, shown here with Dick Kallman, star of NBC's new series called "Hank," is wider than skis and rides over water the same as a toboggan slides over snow. With skis, a rider must hang onto the tow rope, but an aquaplane is tied directly to the boat which eliminates the problem of keeping your balance. You may go as fast as you like with a board of this kind and maneuver it across the boat's wake without falling.

Another advantage, aquaplanes will skim along the water at very low speeds, consequently a high-powered boat isn't necessary. A three-horsepower outboard will do the job nicely. Youngsters who are old enough to walk can ride on this with complete safety. They can sit on it, stand on it or lie on it. It's not tiring, and for that reason, Grandma will enjoy it too.

HERE IS a project you can complete in an evening's time and for a cost of a couple of dollars. No problems when you use the full size pattern. Illustrations show how to give the front a slight rising curve to make it glide smoothly over the water. Directions are also included for adding the non-skid material on the floor.

To obtain the full size aquaplane pattern, specify No. 240 and send 75 cents in coins, money order or check to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

A Touch of Perfection

By Stella George

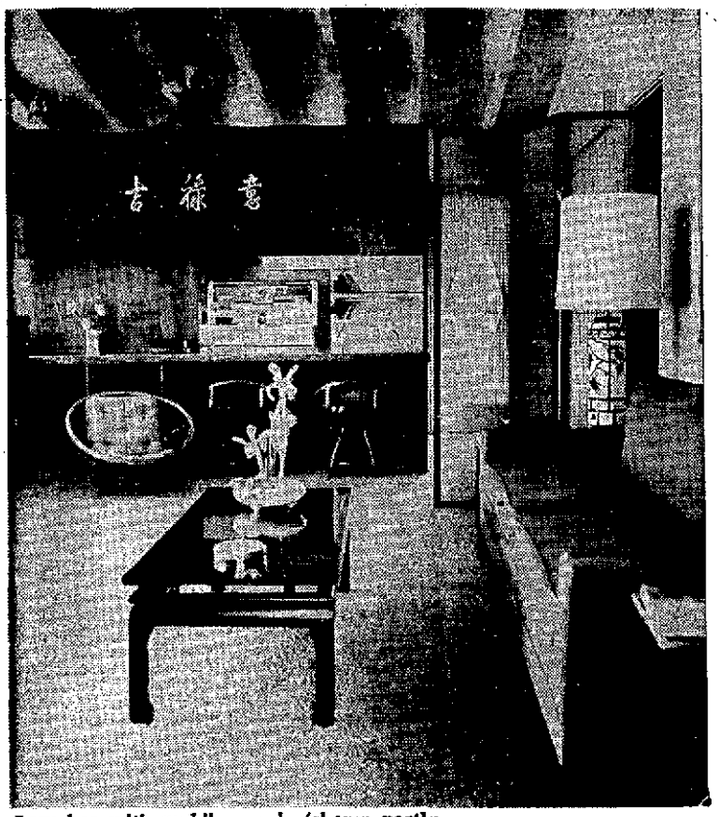

THE GARDEN GROVE home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hapke, 11681 Puryear St., has that "certain something" which lends it individuality. The dwelling consists of a large living room, kitchen, three bedrooms and two baths, so well arranged that the home is functional, attractive, and easy to maintain with no wasted space.

A low bar which can be closed off with a sliding panel separates the living room from the kitchen, and serves as a sit-down dining center for the entire family: Mr. and Mrs. Hapke and small sons, Scott and Mark.

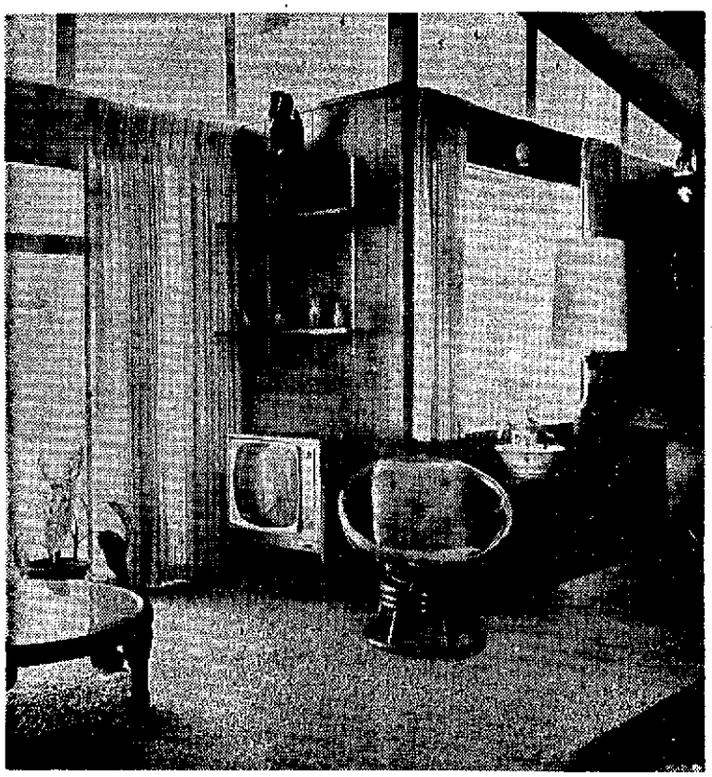

While there is no entrance hall to the living room, the feeling of an entry has been achieved in a practical and unique manner. The fireplace is on the front door wall; bricks from the hearth have been carried along the floor just inside the doorway. The bricked area is wide enough to save wear and tear on the living room carpeting and, in addition, it forms its own decorative touch.

THE SAME neutral tone in carpeting is carried throughout the house. The living room views the patio and pool through a glass wall as well as a large window in an alcove. The area encircling the bar at the far end of the living room (with the kitchen beyond) has been paneled in rich walnut, with the paneling carried around the window in the alcove and on a narrow wall adjacent to the glass doors. The decorating motif is Oriental, and three bold brass Chinese symbols dominate the paneling above the bar.

A long sofa upholstered in blue-green, which blends into jade green, lines the wall opposite the glass wall. A long black coffee table in front of the sofa has a practical plastic top which withstands wear although it looks like highly polished wood. Tall, graceful lamps rest on black end tables on either side of the sofa. A low and very handsome round table near the glass wall was brought from the Orient by Hapke, as were some of the other treasures in the room. Behind the sofa is a three-piece Oriental mural which blends to form one picture.

Low bar with mobile panels (shown partly open) divides living room, kitchen.

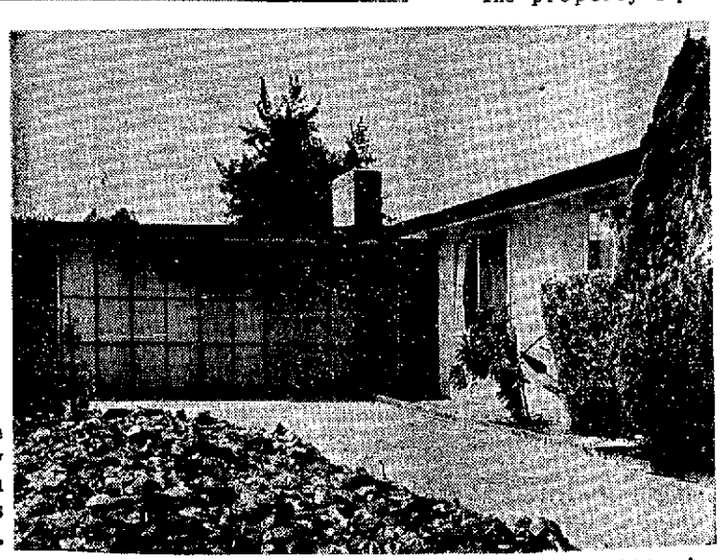

This walnut-paneled corner is in the living room of an interesting residence in Garden Grove.

OCCASIONAL rataan chairs are painted in a green to match the sofa—one, very low, comfortable and inviting, is called a Beatnik chair. The bar is low with two rataan chairs on the living room side and two on the kitchen side. The TV is placed against the paneled wall near the glass doors with hanging knickknack shelves above. Large pillows on one side of the wide hearth provide a seating area.

Philippine mahogany furniture is used in the master bedroom which is quite large and forms a suite with an adjoining bath. Mark and Scott each has his own room with bunk beds ready for overnight guests.

The property is pie-

shaped with most of the land in the rear of the home. The pool is large and designed without curves. A roofed patio adjacent to the living room is also large, well arranged for family or company.

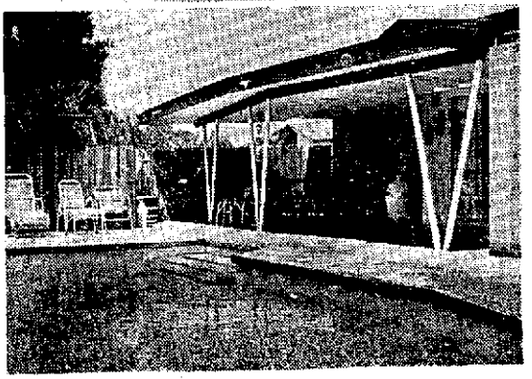

IN ONE CORNER of the patio two slat benches circle a low, built-in fireplace (created by Hapke) which has a gas burner and volcanic rock within. It is a practical and attractive addition to the area. The family solved the problem of where to keep the hose for the pool vacuum cleaner in an ingenious manner. It is curved up and down on the far end fence like the body of a dragon with large dragon's head at the end of the "body"—another interesting touch of the Oriental.

The entire home represents excellent long-range planning. Furniture and home harmonize and each item is in its place, keyed to fit, a fact which pleases the family pet poodle, Misty, no end since she is blind. She particularly likes the fact that there is a small play yard (separate from the patio and pool area) where she and Scott and Mark can entertain friends without fear of her falling into the pool.

Patio and pool are visible through a glass wall in the Hapke living room.

Jade green sofa and black table are grouped above. Oriental mural creates background.

View (left) is from the far end of the pool looking toward sheltered patio.

New Beauty: Long Beach's first marina-style apartments, Portofino, add aesthetic values to Belmont Shore area. Boats lie idle at its slips, above.

New Look in Long Beach

Up, Fix-Up Week" (May 2-8), also stamped "official business" by a mayor's proclamation.

Under fire are littered grounds, decadent structures, unsightly trash receptacles, accumulations of junk, weed-choked vacant lots.

THE GOALS: a cleaner, more attractive city; more tree planting in commercial and residential areas; a more litter-conscious citizenry and general improvement of properties—both commercial and residential.

On the East Side, the West Side and all around the town, men, women and children are concerning themselves with preserving and enhancing the city's enduring values and its inherent beauty.

Under the city beautification banner, several subcommittees have been set up to study specific problems.

The ordinance committee has studied and made significent recommendations concerning the litter and billboard problems. Examples: An ordinance has been passed which will enable the city to receive aid from the state in beautifying freeways within our city boundaries. Also, the city manager's office is cooperating fully on a citywide anti-litter educational and enforcement program.

CURRENTLY, flyers are being inserted in city utility bills, setting out regulations for the sanitary and proper handling of garbage and trash.

As the heading points out: "GARBAGE CAN'T BE BEAUTIFUL—BUT . . . neither garbage nor rubbish should be an eyesore in your community."

And in the 75 schools in the Long Beach Unified School District, young anti-litter warriors—100,000 strong—are using all manner of tactics to obliterate litter on streets and sidewalks, gutters and vacant lots, school grounds and school buildings.

IN A SPONTANEOUS combustion of enthusiasm, students all over the city are involved in essay contests, clean-up competitions, policing their own school grounds to keep them clean and neat, planting flowers and shrubs, painting trash cans and a dozen or so other anti-litter projects.

Says Mrs. Elizabeth Hudson, member of the school board and chairman of the schools' beautification effort: "We're proud of the all-out support local schools are giving the city's civic beautification effort. Activities such as these, where children participate and feel personally involved, produce long-lasting attitudes that not only result in cleaner, more beautiful cities, but also produce responsible, more worthwhile citizens."

Vera Johnston, assistant supervisor of physical education for the school system, is co-chairman of the city-wide school clean-up.

AND REALLY big things are coming off the drawing boards at City Hall.

During a recent color slide presentation before members of Downtown Long Beach Associates, City Manager John Mansell showed and outlined major developments soon to get under way here . . . developments that will greatly change and beautify the face of Long Beach.

Among them are development of the city's 1.2-billion-barrel oil reserve, to be started this year, with the city receiving $250 million to continue harbor expansion and to finance shoreline improvements of broad public benefit. Already blueprinted are a small boat harbor, a large swimming lagoon, a Navy and Maritime Museum along the downtown section of shoreline, also a scenic shoreline drive and bridge between city and harbor.

Soon to be improved are the shoreline from Alamitos Avenue to and including the Peninsula . . . also Marine Stadium, Ocean Boulevard and Long Beach Boulevard (tracks to be removed and replaced by landscaped islands from Ocean Boulevard to Seventh Street).

MEANWHILE, realizing that beauty is good business, more and more retailers are improving store fronts, sprucing up premises and putting their business houses in order for the most spectacular upgrading of visual environment in Long Beach history.

Home owners also are getting on the bandwagon with the greatest number of home improvements on record.

"All must help," says general chairman Mrs. Taubman, "if we are to stem the tide of blight and apathy that has been eating away at our spirit and inherent beauty.

"All will benefit. Beauty is good business!"

Teen Dream Room Decor

By Margery McElheny
United Press International

GIVE A teen-age girl the chance and how will she decorate her "dream room"?

In general, she will select contemporary furniture with period accents; choose rugs and printed fabrics in warm, bright colors and combine them with white walls, not pastels; plan separate areas for sleeping, studying, entertaining friends, and express a whimsical personality with anything from a velvet ceiling or a refrigerator in the bedroom to a hanging basket chair for herself or a hanging basket bed for her cat.

"Seventeen Magazine" recently concluded a "plan a dream room" contest that discovered these trends in teen taste.

THE TEEN market is considered an important one to furnishings manufacturers because one million of the 11,441,000 teen-age girls in America are engaged, and shopping for furniture perhaps for the first time, the magazine said.

In addition to the teens who are planning new homes, there were thousands of girls who expressed a desire to have one room of the house where they could entertain friends, pursue hobbies and remove themselves from the rest of the family.

The contest entries showed that teens envisioned this room as a combined bedroom - sitting room with a studio look.

It contained areas for study, and was decorated in bright, cheerful, even daring colors of orange yellow, pink and "sick" greens.

MOST OF the girls selected contemporary furniture, with lots of bookshelves and cupboard space, and accented their choices with period pieces. Some picked French Provincial, Victorian and Early American furniture.

Throw pillows were used everywhere as were Princess phones, window seats and dressing tables. In most instances, walls were painted white or eggshell.

When planning their "dream" bedrooms, teens take their friends into consideration. Almost all the girls provided an extra bed for an overnight guest. Most chose trundle beds, day beds or hide-a-beds, seldom finding enough floor space for two separate single beds.

BEING practical about storing their vast accumulations of clothing, books, records, stuffed animals, school supplies and just plain "junk," the young designers created spacious shelves and built-in shelf and drawer units. Several planned triple dressers with 12 drawers.

They also allowed for storage space under decorative window seats and used bulletin-board catch-alls for pictures, trinkets, memos and the like.

Closets, all "spacious," of course, got some unusual treatments. One girl disguised her closet door with a fake garden "window" effect, complete with lattice work, a "sky" made of linen and curtains. Another, in a Spanish mood, dressed hers up with golden grille work. Windows also came in for fanciful treatments, all the way from French shutters and Roman shades to "framed" curtains.

Statistics show that four out of five teen girls sew at home for themselves and their rooms, "Seventeen" said. Many of the entrants planned to make their own slip covers, curtains and pillow covers, from easy-to-sew, washable cotton fabrics.

Onions for the Birds

Sweet Spanish onions and burgundy blend in this complement for fowl.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

WITH MORE truth than colloquialism, we can really say about our recipe for Burgundy Onions, that "It's for the birds!" Because this dish, compounded of Sweet Spanish Onions and superb Burgundy wine, is a perfect accompaniment for ducks—both wild and domestic—goose, Rock Cornish hen, barbecued chicken and turkey. But it is equally good with broiled steaks, pot roast of beef or venison, roast pork, veal and other meats.

These unusual onions, sweet and mild-mannered as their name implies, are also good in salads and sandwiches, as relishes, stuffed for an entree, pan-fried and French-fried, as casseroles, and in a dish such as this!

Burgundy Onions

Choose 5 or 6 Idaho sweet Spanish onions, about 3 inches in width (which is actually on the smallish side for this mammoth-sized variety!) Cut off the root end; carefully peel back the fragile skin, leaving the stem end to serve as a handle. Cut in ¼ inch slices. Pack into a quart measure. There should be 2 rounded quarts.

Separate slices into rings. The centers and end pieces may be held back, to be chopped and used in vegetable salads or added to cooking carrots, peas and other vegetables for subtle flavor. Or spread on cookie sheet and freeze for later use.

Heat 3 tablespoons butter in a Dutch oven, deep heavy frying pan or your electric skillet. Add onion rings, tossing them about with a wooden spoon until rings are coated with butter. Add 3 whole cloves, ½ teaspoon salt. Continue cooking over low heat until onions just start to brown. Watch this! Add 1 cup California Burgundy wine.

Cover pan; simmer about 15 minutes. Onions should be slightly crisp but tender. Remove cover and cook until the wine is reduced almost to a glaze. Serve at once. Note: at the start, this may seem like a lot of onions but they do cook down and folks' idea of size of servings changes with the first taste! Oh yes, remove cloves before serving. Six to eight servings.

Recipe of the Week

CASSEROLE to serve for company wins this week's $5 for best recipe, submitted by R. R. Copeland, 3324 Colorado St., Long Beach 90814. The recipe:

Company Casserole

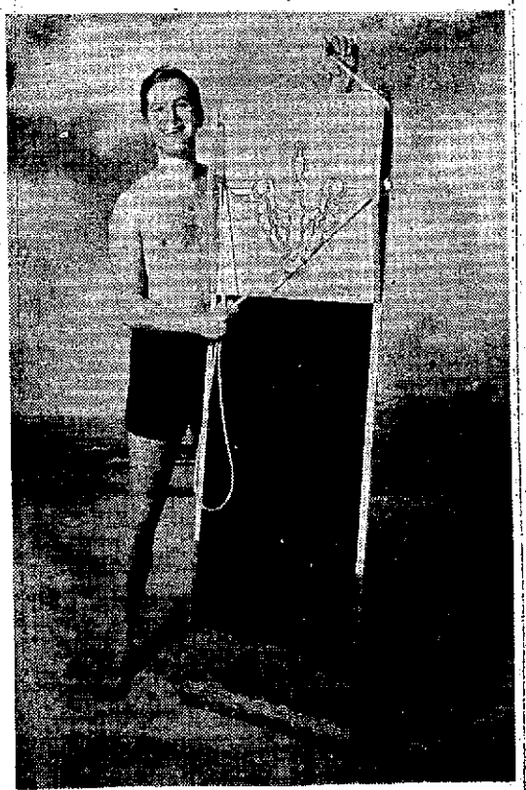

1 med. onion, minced
1 med. green pepper, minced
½ cup butter or margarine
1 can (17-oz.) cream style corn
1 med. tomato, chopped
½ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. sugar
2 egg yolks
½ cup ripe olives, chopped
½ cup seedless raisins
2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
¼ tsp. powdered thyme
Salt to taste

Cook onion and pepper in butter 3-4 minutes. Remove half of the mixture. To the remainder, add corn and tomato and cook about 5 minutes. Add the pepper, sugar and egg yolks and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. The reserved onion-pepper mixture, add olives, raisins, hard-boiled eggs, thyme and salt. Spread half of the corn mixture in a shallow 1½ quart baking dish. Top with olive mixture and remaining corn. Bake at 350 degrees for about 20 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812.

WORKSHOP

For Summer Fun Afloat

Dick Kallman of NBC displays an aquaplane that is easy to make and will give many hours of fun.

By Steve Ellingson

IF YOU want to add a new thrill to this summer's water sports, build an aquaplane. It's something every member of the family will enjoy.

The aquaplane, shown here with Dick Kallman, star of NBC's new series called "Hank," is wider than skis and rides over water the same as a toboggan slides over snow. With skis, a rider must hang onto the tow rope, but an aquaplane is tied directly to the boat which eliminates the problem of keeping your balance. You may go as fast as you like with a board of this kind and maneuver it across the boat's wake without falling.

Another advantage, aquaplanes will skim along the water at very low speeds, consequently a high-powered boat isn't necessary. A three-horsepower outboard will do the job nicely. Youngsters who are old enough to walk can ride on this with complete safety. They can sit on it, stand on it or lie on it. It's not tiring, and for that reason, Grandma will enjoy it too.

HERE IS a project you can complete in an evening's time and for a cost of a couple of dollars. No problems when you use the full size pattern. Illustrations show how to give the front a slight rising curve to make it glide smoothly over the water. Directions are also included for adding the non-skid material on the floor.

To obtain the full size aquaplane pattern, specify No. 240 and send 75 cents in coins, money order or check to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

What Your Name Means

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812, for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have the background on CODY, COADY—S. C., Lakewood, T. C., Westminster.

S. C., T. C.: CODY, and the variation COADY are primarily derived from the Irish clan name Mac-Giolla-Chuda, modernized as MacGillacuddy and Cuddy, Cody. This Gaelic name means "sons of the adherent of St. Mhochuda." Additionally, Cody, developed from the Irish Mac-Oda describing "sons of the wealthy one." The latter branch of this clan were from Kilkenny; the MacGillacuddy ancestors are from Kerry, descended from an ancient chief of the O'Sullivans. The Cody armorial shield is red, emblazoned with a golden wyvern, a mythical combination dragon-eagle. The clan motto "Sursum corda" translates as "Lift up your hearts." This name is famed in America from Buffalo Bill Cody, 1846-1917, American showman, scout and Indian fighter.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have the source of ITZKOWITZ—R.C., Seal Beach.

R.C.: ITZKOWITZ, a primary Slavic surname from central Europe, evolved from the Slavic syllables "Idz-owItz," describing "descendants of the property owned by the Worker." I find no other data available on this family.

DEAR MISS RULE: What have you on MONTANO.—R.M., Long Beach.

R.M.: MONTANO, Spanish in origin, translates as "mountainous," referring to the progenitor's home land location.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give genealogy of ADAMS. — M.L., San Pedro; W.A., Long Beach.

M.L., W.A.: ADAMS was initiated by the ancient poetical Biblical name Adam meaning "man of the red earth." Adams, or "son of Adam," was acquired from an English forefather christened with this name in the 1200s. A descendent, William Adams, obtained Charwelton Manor in Northamptonshire in 1360. Henry Adams, born in Somerset, England, in 1584, migrated to Massachusetts as a young man. He was the ancestor of John Adams, second U.S. president, and of John Quincy Adams, sixth president. New Look in Long Beach

Up, Fix-Up Week" (May 2-8), also stamped "official business" by a mayor's proclamation.

Under fire are littered grounds, decadent structures, unsightly trash receptacles, accumulations of junk, weed-choked vacant lots.

THE GOALS: a cleaner, more attractive city; more tree planting in commercial and residential areas; a more litter-conscious citizenry and general improvement of properties—both commercial and residential.

On the East Side, the West Side and all around the town, men, women and children are concerning themselves with preserving and enhancing the city's enduring values and its inherent beauty.

Under the city beautification banner, several subcommittees have been set up to study specific problems.

The ordinance committee has studied and made significent recommendations concerning the litter and billboard problems. Examples: An ordinance has been passed which will enable the city to receive aid from the state in beautifying freeways within our city boundaries. Also, the city manager's office is cooperating fully on a citywide anti-litter educational and enforcement program.

CURRENTLY, flyers are being inserted in city utility bills, setting out regulations for the sanitary and proper handling of garbage and trash.

As the heading points out: "GARBAGE CAN'T BE BEAUTIFUL—BUT . . . neither garbage nor rubbish should be an eyesore in your community."

And in the 75 schools in the Long Beach Unified School District, young anti-litter warriors—100,000 strong—are using all manner of tactics to obliterate litter on streets and sidewalks, gutters and vacant lots, school grounds and school buildings.

IN A SPONTANEOUS combustion of enthusiasm, students all over the city are involved in essay contests, clean-up competitions, policing their own school grounds to keep them clean and neat, planting flowers and shrubs, painting trash cans and a dozen or so other anti-litter projects.

Says Mrs. Elizabeth Hudson, member of the school board and chairman of the schools' beautification effort: "We're proud of the all-out support local schools are giving the city's civic beautification effort. Activities such as these, where children participate and feel personally involved, produce long-lasting attitudes that not only result in cleaner, more beautiful cities, but also produce responsible, more worthwhile citizens."

Vera Johnston, assistant supervisor of physical education for the school system, is co-chairman of the city-wide school clean-up.

AND REALLY big things are coming off the drawing boards at City Hall.

During a recent color slide presentation before members of Downtown Long Beach Associates, City Manager John Mansell showed and outlined major developments soon to get under way here . . . developments that will greatly change and beautify the face of Long Beach.

Among them are development of the city's 1.2-billion-barrel oil reserve, to be started this year, with the city receiving $250 million to continue harbor expansion and to finance shoreline improvements of broad public benefit. Already blueprinted are a small boat harbor, a large swimming lagoon, a Navy and Maritime Museum along the downtown section of shoreline, also a scenic shoreline drive and bridge between city and harbor.

Soon to be improved are the shoreline from Alamitos Avenue to and including the Peninsula . . . also Marine Stadium, Ocean Boulevard and Long Beach Boulevard (tracks to be removed and replaced by landscaped islands from Ocean Boulevard to Seventh Street).

MEANWHILE, realizing that beauty is good business, more and more retailers are improving store fronts, sprucing up premises and putting their business houses in order for the most spectacular upgrading of visual environment in Long Beach history.

Home owners also are getting on the bandwagon with the greatest number of home improvements on record.

"All must help," says general chairman Mrs. Taubman, "if we are to stem the tide of blight and apathy that has been eating away at our spirit and inherent beauty.

"All will benefit. Beauty is good business!"

MEDICINE AND YOU

Warn of Danger in Plastic Plants

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

ARTIFICIAL plants with delicate lacy leaves made of plastic are capable of giving off nitrogen dioxide, and this could be dangerous if the frilly plastic flowers are kept in a confined area where the gas can be breathed.

The warning is in Clinical Pediatrics, a medical journal.

Furthermore, 90% of all plastic flowers and plants can ignite with ease and hence are a potential fire hazard.

If a lighted match is held close to such plants for a few seconds, the plastics tend to burn like paraffin and produce dripping balls of fire or puddles of burning liquid.

TWO NEW YORK doctors report the "panty girdle syndrome."

The report describes two women who had unexplained swelling of the feet and ankles.

One patient was a 52-year-old cashier, the other a 20-year-old secretary. The latter had complained of the swelling for two years.

The swelling, technically called edema, was not present on arising but became progressively worse during the day.

The cause was finally found to be tight-legged panty girdles, which acted as tourniquets. The constriction led to fluid accumulation in the ankles and feet.

Improvement was dramatic when the women abandoned panty girdles with too-tight elastic, the doctors report in the New York State Journal of Medicine.

THE USE of radium in cancer treatment should be discontinued, a committee of medical specialists recommends. Reason: Better radioactive substances are now available—substances that pose fewer contamination hazards. According to the journal Cancer, some of these radioactive items are iridium 192, gold 198 and strontium 90.

THERE ARE TIMES, a medical journal says, when it may be undesirable for hospital personnel to take shower baths before going on duty.

Research at St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London shows that showers temporarily increase the number of germs shed by the bather.

Among certain surgical patients, exposure to bacteria can be extremely risky, doctors say in a report in Lancet.

(This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.)

Food

Onions for the Birds

Sweet Spanish onions and burgundy blend in this complement for fowl.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

WITH MORE truth than colloquialism, we can really say about our recipe for Burgundy Onions, that "It's for the birds!" Because this dish, compounded of Sweet Spanish Onions and superb Burgundy wine, is a perfect accompaniment for ducks — both wild and domestic — goose, Rock Cornish hen, barbecued chicken and turkey. But it is equally good with broiled steaks, pot roast of beef or venison, roast pork, veal and other meats.

These unusual onions, sweet and mild-mannered as their name implies, are also good in salads and sandwiches, as relishes, stuffed for an entree, pan-fried and French-fried, as casseroles, and in a dish such as this!

Burgundy Onions

Choose 5 or 6 Idaho sweet Spanish onions, about 3 inches in width (which is actually on the smallish side for this mammoth-sized variety!) Cut off the root end; carefully peel back the fragile skin, leaving the stem end to serve as a handle. Cut in ¼-inch slices. Pack into a quart measure. There should be 2 rounded quarts.

Separate slices into rings. The centers and end pieces may be held back, to be chopped and used in vegetable salads or added to cooking carrots, peas and other vegetables for subtle flavor. Or spread on cookie sheet and freeze for later use.

Heat 3 tablespoons butter in a Dutch oven, deep heavy frying pan or your electric skillet. Add onion rings, tossing them about with a wooden spoon until rings are coated with butter. Add 3 whole cloves, ½ teaspoon salt. Continue cooking over low heat until onions just start to brown. Watch this! Add 1 cup California Burgundy wine.

Cover pan; simmer about 15 minutes. Onions should be slightly crisp but tender. Remove cover and cook until the wine is reduced almost to a glaze. Serve at once. Note: at the start, this may seem like a lot of onions but they do cook down and folks' idea of size of servings changes with the first taste! Oh yes, remove cloves before serving. Six to eight servings.

Recipe of the Week

CASSEROLE to serve for company wins this week's $5 for best recipe, submitted by R. R. Copeland, 3324 Colorado St., Long Beach 90814. The recipe:

Company Casserole

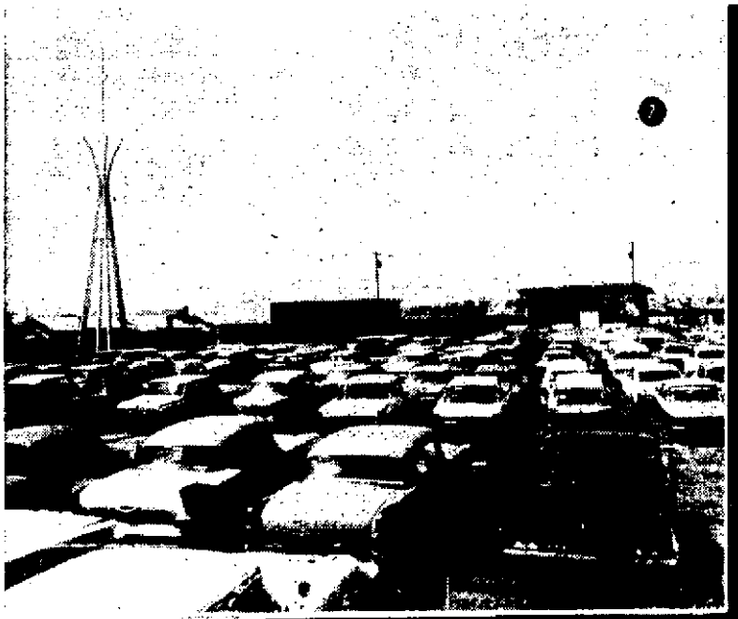

1 med. onion, minced
1 med. green pepper, minced
½ cup butter or margarine
1 can (17-oz.) cream style corn
1 med. tomato, chopped
½ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. sugar
2 egg yolks
½ cup ripe olives, chopped
½ cup seedless raisins
2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
¼ tsp. powdered thyme
Salt to taste

Cook onion and pepper in butter 3-4 minutes. Remove half of the mixture. To the remainder, add corn and tomato and cook about 5 minutes. Add the pepper, sugar and egg yolks and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. The reserved onion-pepper mixture, add olives, raisins, hard-boiled eggs, thyme and salt. Spread half of the corn mixture in a shallow 1½ quart baking dish. Top with olive mixture and remaining corn. Bake at 350 degrees for about 20 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90812.

EL DORADO PARK COMMUNITY CHURCH

3655 NORWALK BLVD. LONG BEACH

On March 10 1957, the El Dorado Park Community Church of Long Beach held its first service with nothing more than a homemade cross, communion table, pulpit, and a mortaged electronic organ. Without any publicity, the Rev. and Mrs. William Miedema began holding services in the Los Altos Drive-in Theatre. It wasn't long before people began responding to an outdoor worship service and the congregation which was formed a year later decided to build a combination church using the traditional indoor arrangement and uniting it with an outdoor drive-in facilty.

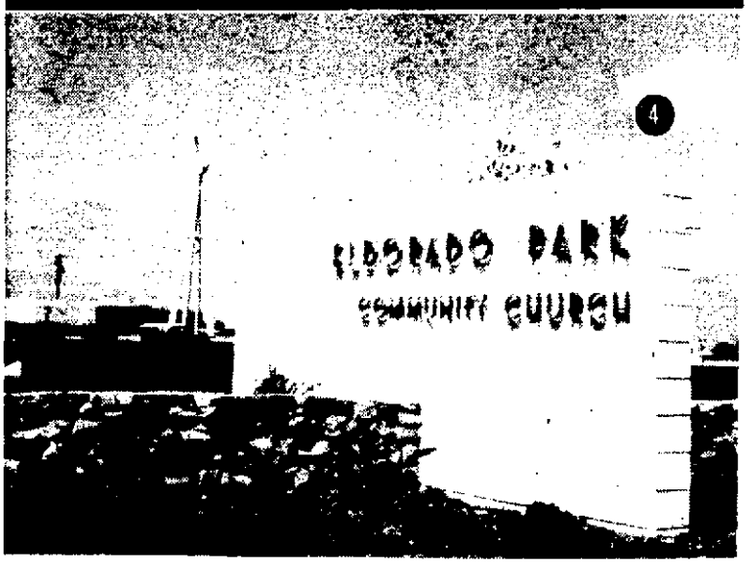

In 1961, 5¾ acres of property was purchased at 3655 Norwalk Boulevard, Long Beach. In May, 1963, ground was broken and the church was under construction until the middle of 1964. Three men combined efforts in producing the present development—Charles Beck, architect, Costa Mesa; Charles Laughlin, landscape architect, Anaheim, and Ralph Davis, interior designer representing Lloyd's of Long Beach.

The idea behind the construction of the church was to blend all the natural elements into a community of inside-outside; for instance, material such as wood, wood panelling, Palo Verde stone and the extensive use of glass and stone were used in constructing the buildings and outside there is an extensive use of plantings and grass including the entire drive-in area on which the automobiles park for worship. The use of natural materials has made worship warm and relaxing whether it be inside or outside.

What is completed now is the first unit. Future plans call for a sanctuary seating 1000 people. At that time combined indoor-outdoor worship centers will accommodate 2000 people at each service. Additional plans also call for classrooms to house 1000 pupils, a Garden of Meditation, pools and fountains to complement the 100-ft. tower.

The church offers a full program with activities for youth, women, men, special musical events, church school, vacation bible school, midweek family programs, regular worship services (indoors at 9:30 a.m. and outdoors at 11:00 a.m.) and pastoral counseling. As a public service a daily meditation is available. Dial-a Prayer, 431-3521.

The ministers of the church are the Rev. William Miedema, pastor and founder, and the Rev. James Flingstad, minister of education and youth.

1. Lighted at night this 100 ft. tower can be seen for several miles. It has become a landmark in El Dorado Park signifying the church as the home of 'the Majestic White Tower'.
2. Sunday morning worship out of doors. Cars park on the grassed drive-in area listening to the service on a specially designed low level sound system. There is room for over 250 cars.
3. The relaxed natural outdoor atmosphere is blended in the decor of the lounge with easy access to the garden.
4. For the weary passer-by these are the symbols of revitalization . . . the [illegible] designating the church and the tower and cross in the background.

COIN ROUNDUP

Trade Dollars

By Maurice M. Gould

U. S. TRADE DOLLARS were issued from 1873 to 1885. They were issued for circulation in the Orient to compete with the Mexican and Spanish dollars circulating there. Originally, these coins were legal tender in the amount of $5, but in 1876, after the decline in the price of silver bullion, they were no longer legal tender and were minted only in the amount of the export demand.

Our Trade Dollars could never seem to compete with the others, and eventually were redeemed if they were not mutilated. Many of these came back home with chopmarks all over the coins, which were put there by Oriental merchants who had tested them for silver.

In 1877, more than 13,000,000 were issued at the Philadelphia, Carson City and San Francisco Mints, and from 1879 to 1885, under 2,000 were issued each year for collectors. In 1884, only ten were issued, and in 1885, only five pieces were made. When offered for sale in auction, the last few pieces bring close to $10,000 and probably will bring higher prices in the years to come.

This is one of the most unusual and interesting of U. S. type coins. (Obverse side of 1878 Trade Dollar shown in inset.)

ANNOUNCEMENT of the Agency for Cuban Numismatics in Exile, with the backing of Alpha 66 (II Frente-Alpha 66 M. R. P.), a leading Cuban revolutionary group which has a long and successful record of aggressive action against Castro's tyranny, has issued a 1965 Souvenir Coin is of interest to many collectors.

In 1897, the Cuban Revolutionary Junta, with headquarters in New York City, struck a famous souvenir piece which has been known as the Cuban Souvenir Peso, as a money-raising and publicity-creating issue for their cause, the Liberation and Establishment of a Free Cuba.

This new Souvenir Peso will follow along the same lines, and the new coin was modeled after the 1897 Souvenir, but with a number of significant changes. The obverse bears a youthful head of Liberty facing right, dividing the date, 19-65, with the motto "Patria Y Libertad" above, and the word "Souvenir" below.

THE REVERSE, following the original, uses the central design of the Cuban coat of arms, but with the legend "Cubanos En Exilio" (Cubans in Exile) divided by two small stars from the fineness, 925-Fino, with six stars below.

In 1897, there were 9,970 specimens struck and the mintage of the new piece will be exactly the same; the dies will be defaced after minting, and copies of an affidavit to this effect will be supplied on request. All the specimens are full crown or dollar size and struck in brilliant proof condition, with .925 fine silver.

These souvenirs will be available in a luxurious, plush, lined leatherette case, with the Cuban coat of arms on the outside and the colors of the Cuban flag on the inside.

A PORTION of the proceeds from the sale of every piece will go directly to Alpha 66, to be used by this fighting revolutionary group in its crusade against Castro's Communist regime.

I have been fortunate to examine the lead trial strikes of this piece, and look for a beautiful and historical crown size numismatic item. They will sell at $12.50 each, and should be available for sale about May 1, 1965.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Warn of Danger in Plastic Plants

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

ARTIFICIAL plants with delicate lacy leaves made of plastic are capable of giving off nitrogen dioxide, and this could be dangerous if the frilly plastic flowers are kept in a confined area where the gas can be breathed.

The warning is in Clinical Pediatrics, a medical journal.

Furthermore, 90% of all plastic flowers and plants can ignite with ease and hence are a potential fire hazard.

If a lighted match is held close to such plants for a few seconds, the plastics tend to burn like paraffin and produce dripping balls of fire or puddles of burning liquid.

TWO NEW YORK doctors report the "panty girdle syndrome."

The report describes two women who had unexplained swelling of the feet and ankles.

One patient was a 52-year-old cashier, the other a 20-year-old secretary. The latter had complained of the swelling for two years.

The swelling, technically called edema, was not present on arising but became progressively worse during the day.

The cause was finally found to be tight-legged panty girdles, which acted as tourniquets. The constriction led to fluid accumulation in the ankles and feet.

Improvement was dramatic when the women abandoned panty girdles with too-tight elastic, the doctors report in the New York State Journal of Medicine.

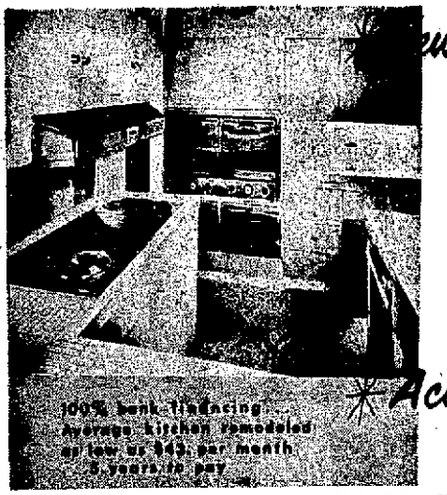

THE USE of radium in cancer treatment should be discontinued, a committee of medical specialists recommends. Reason: Better radioactive substances are now available—substances that pose fewer contamination hazards. According to the journel Cancer, some of these radioactive items are iridium 192, gold 198 and strontium 90.

THERE ARE TIMES, a medical journal says, when it may be undesirable for hospital personnel to take shower baths before going on duty.

Research at St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London shows that showers temporarily increase the number of germs shed by the bather.

Among certain surgical patients, exposure to bacteria can be extremely risky, doctors say in a report in Lancet.

(This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.)

Diary of 'Good Pope John'

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

DID YOU EVER "take pen in hand" to record the happenings of your day? Such resolutions to keep a diary usually last for a few weeks, months or years and then dwindle into nothingness. Not so with Pope John XXIII, popularly known as "The Good Pope John," who kept a diary from the age of 14 when he was a simple peasant schoolboy almost until his death in the Vatican in 1963.

Pope John literally lived with "pen in hand" although in later years he wrote on a battered portable typewriter recording his innermost thoughts, ambitions, prayers and hopes for the world.

Today Pope John's writings form the basis of a beautifully illustrated 450 page book, "JOURNAL OF A SOUL" (McGraw-Hill $7.95). Dorothy M. White translated the book from the Italian and the many illustrations adding greatly to the interest and value of the volume are reproductions of actual photographs taken by Luigi Felici, papal photographer.

Besides his diary, "JOURNAL OF A SOUL" contains also other writings of Pope John such as letters written while he was in military service; his will; his "Rules for the Ascetic Life;" brief thoughts and prayers. Included also is a history of the Roncalli family. On November 25, 1881, Angelo Giuseppe was born to Battista Roncalli and his wife, Marianna Mazzola at Sotto il Monte (Bergamo) in the Brusico district. While he was a student at the seminary of Bergamo in 1896 he began the writings which today comprise the "Journal of a Soul."

As a young seminary student he wrote in his diary, "I waste too much time in the kitchen in idle chatter. I must also take care not to doze during meditations as I did this morning. O God, all these sins." As the diary progresses there is evidence of his spiritual growth forecasting his development into a great human being. That he labored throughout his life to achieve holiness in thought and action is reflected in his 1959 entry, "Since the Lord chose me, unworthy as I am, for this great service, I feel I have no longer any special ties in this life. Now, more than ever, I see myself only as the humble and unworthy servant of God and servant of the servants of God. The whole world is my family."

"BUTTERMILK AND BRAN" is the title of the latest book by Ora Pate Stewart, Garden Grove writer who will be a principal speaker at the Long Beach Writers Conference Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Lafayette Hotel.

The title, she says, comes from the fact that when her father, who had completed the fifth grade, was courting her mother, a graduate of the University of Utah, he told her that he did not have much to offer her but he would try to see that she always had buttermilk and bran. To this day, explains Mrs. Stewart, busy writer-lecturer-wife-mother, buttermilk is her tranquilizer and bran the staff of life.

"Buttermilk and Bran" (Naylor, $4) is a collection of Mrs. Stewart's short stories, some fact, some fiction, with others falling between. "A Practical Joke" is retold from an experience of Dr. Robert Thomas, professor of English at Brigham Young University, used here with his approval. Many, following the lead of "Pages from the Book of Eve" are drawn from rich reminiscence of family pioneering in the West. She writes about broken wagon axles on the trail miles from help, repasts of flour mush or cornmeal mush when there was nothing else, flights from mountain lions, and above all, courage, love and devotion to duty.

FIRST APPEARING as a serial in Esquire Magazine and now between hard covers as a novel is "AN AMERICAN DREAM," a troubled new book by Norman Mailer (Dial Press, $5).

A fast-moving modern morality tale, it is the story of 32 hours in the life of Stephen Richards Rojack, a war hero-college professor who is married to an immensely wealthy young woman.

Crammed with suspense and the dark unconscious thoughts that only Mailer characters seem capable of, "American Dream" is set in the bigger-than-life world of New York City, moving from the plush duplexes of the East Side to the tenements and after-hour dives of the Lower Side.

Your old roof is just the place to put a new roof of Red Cedar Shingles.

See?

Any home that's given a new roof of red cedar shingles is never quite the same again. The most obvious improvement is appearance. But that's only the beginning. The fact is that financing agencies look on a red cedar roof as an excellent long-term investment. Red cedar shingles are durable, even in violent extremes of weather. They're light in weight, but extremely strong. And they're good insulators (which helps hold the lid on your heating and air conditioning costs). So whether you're planning to sell your home, refinance it, or live in it for decades to come, a roof of red cedar shingles could more than repay its cost. Ask your architect. Ask your builder. Ask your bank.

EL DORADO PARK COMMUNITY CHURCH

3655 NORWALK BLVD. LONG BEACH

On March 10, 1957, the El Dorado Park Community Church of Long Beach held its first service with nothing more than a homemade cross, communion table, pulpit, and a mortaged electronic organ. Without any parishioners the Rev. and Mrs. William Miedema began holding services in the Los Altos Drive-in Theatre. It wasn't long before people began responding to an outdoor worship service and the congregation which was formed a year later decided to build a combination church using the traditional indoor arrangement and uniting it with an outdoor drive-in facilty.

In 1961, 5¾ acres of property was purchased at 3655 Norwalk Boulevard, Long Beach. In May, 1963, ground was broken and the church was under constructon until the middle of 1964. Three men combined efforts in producing the present development—Charles Beck, architect, Costa Mesa; Charles Laughlin, landscape architect, Anaheim, and Ralph Davis, interior designer representing Lloyd's of Long Beach.

The idea behind the construction of the church was to blend all the natural elements into a continuity of inside-outside; for instance, material such as wood, wood paneling, Palo Verde stone and the extensive use of glass and stone were used in constructing the buildings and outside there is an extensive use of plantings and grass including the entire drive-in area on which the automobiles park for worship. The use of natural materials has made worship warm and relaxing whether it be inside or outside.

What is completed now is the first unit. Future plans call for a sanctuary seating 1000 people. At that time combined indoor-outdoor worship centers will accommodate 2000 people at each service. Additional plans also call for classrooms to house 1000 pupils, a Garden of Meditation, pools and fountains to complement the 100-ft. tower.

The church offers a full program with activities for youth, women, men, special musical events, church school, vacation bible school, midweek family programs, regular worship services (indoors at 9:30 a.m. and outdoors at 11:00 a.m.)' and pastoral counseling. As a public service a daily meditation is available. Dial-a-Prayer, 431-3521.

The ministers of the church are the Rev. William Miedema, pastor and founder, and the Rev. James Plingstel, minister of education and youth.

1. Lighted at night this 100-ft. tower can be seen for several miles. It has become a landmark in El Dorado Park signifying the church as the home of 'the Majestic White Tower'.
2. Sunday morning worship out of doors. Cars park on the grassed drive-in area listening to the service on a specially designed low level sound system. There is room for over 250 cars.
3. The relaxed natural outdoor atmosphere is blended in the decor of the lounge with easy access to the garden.
4. For the weary passer-by these are the symbols of revitalization . . . the entrance designating the church and the tower and cross in the background.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

The View's The Thing

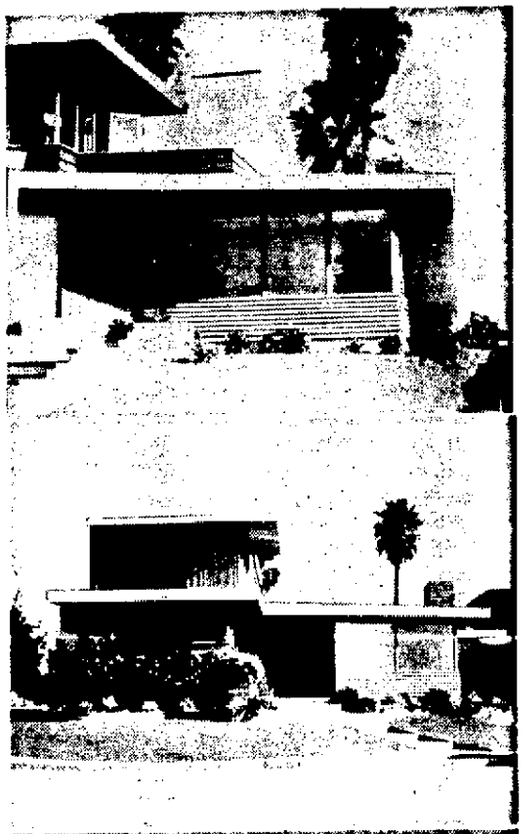

By HI SIBLEY

EARLY CALIFORNIANS were not concerned with landscape vistas. A smallish square opening in the adobe wall lets in enough light so that the barefoot occupants wouldn't step on lizards or scorpions. As for the view, who cared to look at passing oxcarts on a dusty road?

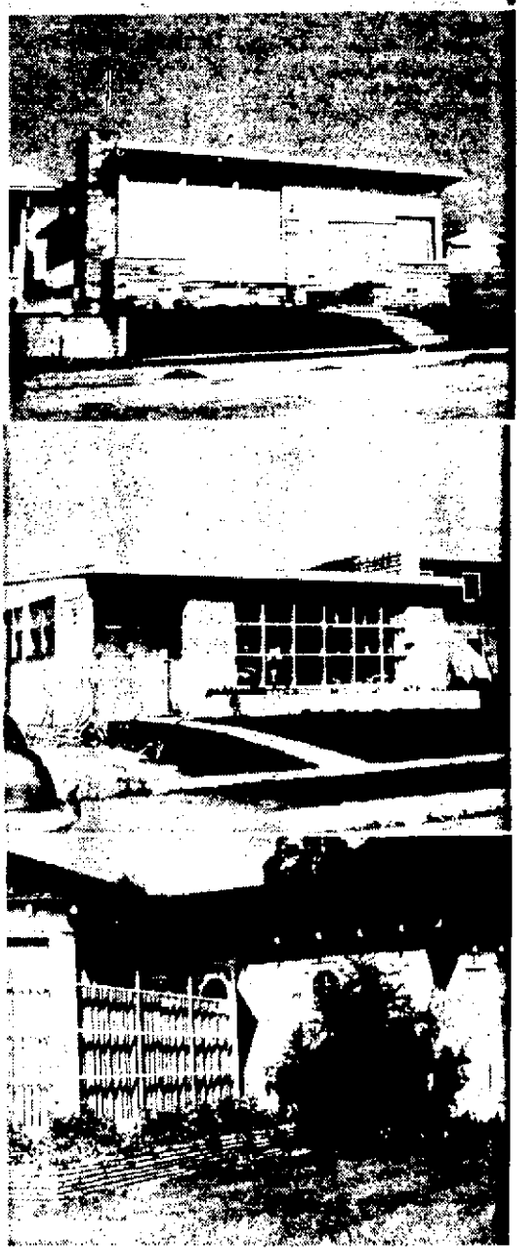

Gradually the middle-westerners invaded the land and the more opulent built those gaunt, two-story frame dwellings in the style of Indiana and Iowa with their 12 and 14-foot ceilings and tall, narrow windows. The view was not yet all-important.

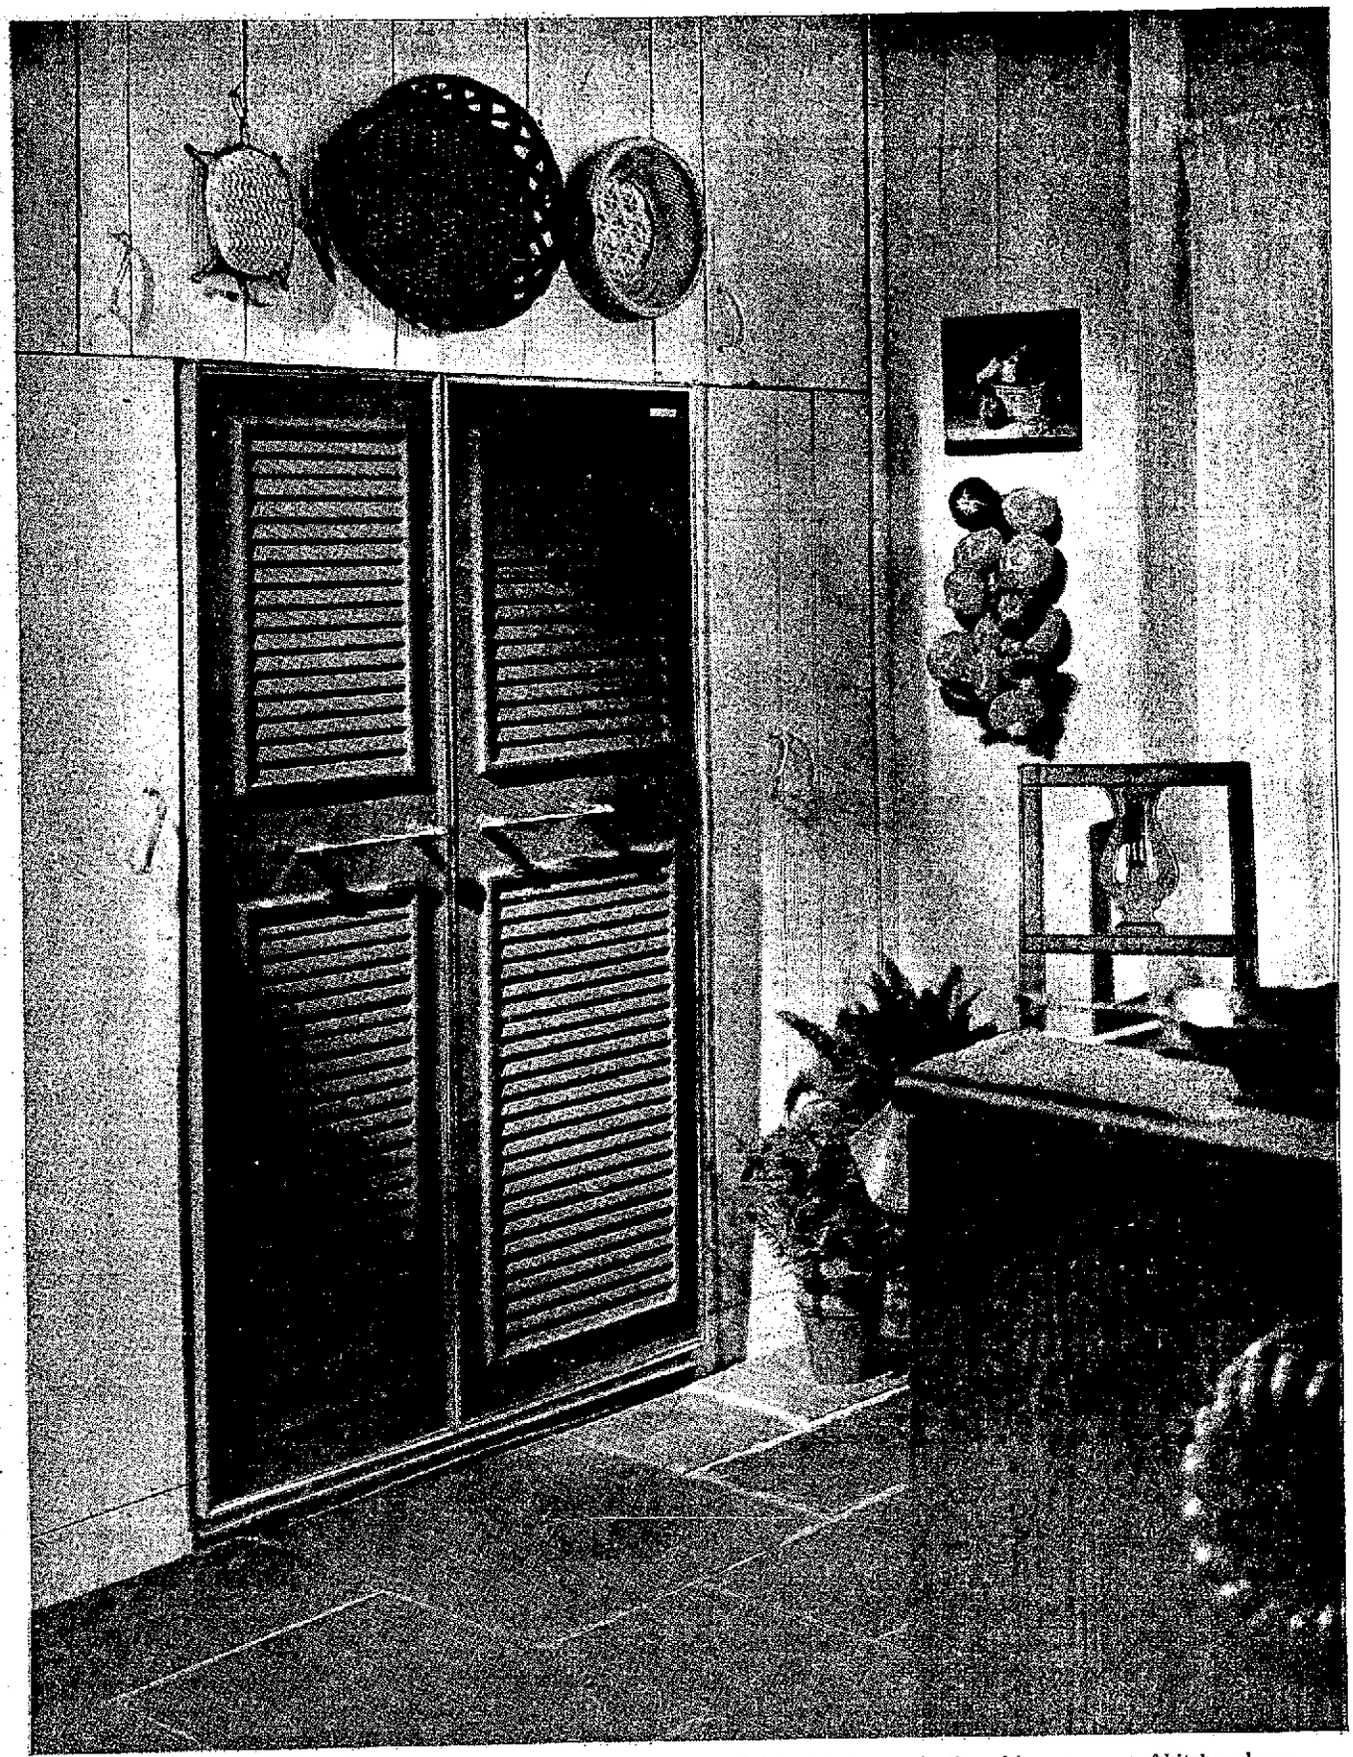

But with growing interest in landscaping and the mild climate encouraging colorful gardens, the view window became a must. In fact, many homes were practically designed around the large expanses of glass so familiar today.

Here are pleasing examples of what has been done, in some cases an entire wall consists of window—looking out on the sea. All of these subjects were photographed in the Newport Bay area.

Louvered brown doors of Town and Country Foodarama, a Kelvinator Original design, make the refrigerator part of kitchen decor.

Decorating the Kitchen

HOMEMAKERS with a deep personal yen for self-expression in custom decorating usually have been frustrated when they tackle kitchen decor.

After all, the major elements in the kitchen are the appliances which have generally fitted into millions of homes, but seldom met individual taste requirements.

From the Kelvinator division of American Motors Corp. has come one of the most revolutionary ideas in kitchen design since the time when someone had the bright idea to hide the sink plumbing behind cabinets.

The company's designers opened the door to good taste in kitchen by creating nearly three dozen different designs for refrigerators and matching ranges

Carpets

controlled by different measures.

One type is the loose, gritty soil that is tracked in from outside. Each of these soil particles has many sharp edges which grind away at the carpet pile or upholstery fabrics under ordinary use.

Fortunately, this abrasive soil can be controlled by frequent vacuuming plus periodic deep-suctioning by professional cleaners.

The second type of soil is the homemaker's real enemy. It's the "atmospheric" soil that floats in the air and comes from cooking, exhausts, and other sources.

This is the greasy, clinging soil you're constantly wiping off your mirrors, windows, and polished furniture.

You can't see it as easily on your carpets and upholstery, but it's collecting on them at the same rate, clouding the colors and slowly deteriorating dyes and fabrics.

Because this atmospheric soil is almost weightless, it stays on the surface of your carpets and upholstery. Since it contains oil or grease, it sticks tightly where where it lands . . . can't be removed by vacuuming.

UPHOLSTERED furniture and tacked-down or wall-to-wall carpeting can't be rinsed through both sides. The greasy soil must be extracted through the top surface of the pile or fabric.

Many carpet and furniture manufacturers, as well as leading homemakers' magazines, advise against do-it-yourself cleaning and recommend specific methods of professional cleaning.

The editors of "Better Homes and Gardens" advise professional attention in any difficult or "mystery" spots, and "House & Garden" recommends professional cleaning once a year.

Experts caution that machine scrubbing with whirling or oscillating brushes drives greasy surface soil down deep into the pile or fabric. The result may be a surface-brightening effect, but much of the soil is still there, along with considerable embedded detergent which is not removed by wet or dry vacuuming.

Straining

For best results when using paint or varnish from a previously opened can, strain the amount necessary through an old nylon stocking into a "Chinet" molded paper bowl. The stocking will snare any bits of dried paint scum that might ruin the job. The plasticized bowl won't leak or soak up paint; can be thrown away.

COIN ROUNDUP

Trade Dollars

By Maurice M. Gould

U. S. TRADE DOLLARS were issued from 1873 to 1885. They were issued for circulation in the Orient to compete with the Mexican and Spanish dollars circulating there. Originally, these coins were legal tender in the amount of $5, but in 1876, after the decline in the price of silver bullion, they were no longer legal tender and were minted only in the amount of the export demand.

Our Trade Dollars could never seem to compete with the others, and eventually were redeemed if they were not mutilated. Many of these came back home with chopmarks all over the coins, which were put there by Oriental merchants who had tested them for silver.

In 1877, more than 13,000,000 were issued at the Philadelphia, Carson City and San Francisco Mints, and from 1879 to 1885, under 2,000 were issued each year for collectors. In 1884, only ten were issued, and in 1885, only five pieces were made. When offered for sale in auction, the last few pieces bring close to $10,000 and probably will bring higher prices in the years to come.

This is one of the most unusual and interesting of U. S. type coins. (Obverse side of 1878 Trade Dollar shown in inset.)

ANNOUNCEMENT of the Agency for Cuban Numismatics in Exile, with the backing of Alpha 66 (II Frente-Alpha 66-M. R. P.), a leading Cuban revolutionary group which has a long and successful record of aggressive action against Castro's tyranny, has issued a 1965 Souvenir Coin is of interest to many collectors.

In 1897, the Cuban Revolutionary Junta, with headquarters in New York City, struck a famous souvenir piece which has been known as the Cuban Souvenir Peso, as a money-raising and publicity-creating issue for their cause, the Liberation and Establishment of a Free Cuba.

This new Souvenir Peso will follow along the same lines, and the new coin was modeled after the 1897 Souvenir, but with a number of significant changes. The obverse bears a youthful head of Liberty facing right, dividing the date, 19-65, with the motto "Patria Y Libertad" above, and the word "Souvenir" below.

THE REVERSE, following the original, uses the central design of the Cuban coat of arms, but with the legend "Cubanos En Exilio" (Cubans in Exile) divided by two small stars from the fineness, 925-Fino, with six stars below.

In 1897, there were 9,970 specimens struck and the mintage of the new piece will be exactly the same; the dies will be defaced after minting, and copies of an affidavit to this effect will be supplied on request. All the specimens are full crown or dollar size and struck in brilliant proof condition, with .925 fine silver.

These souvenirs will be available in a luxurious, plush, lined leatherette case, with the Cuban coat of arms on the outside and the colors of the Cuban flag on the inside.

A PORTION of the proceeds from the sale of every piece will go directly to Alpha 66, to be used by this fighting revolutionary group in its crusade against Castro's Communist regime.

I have been fortunate to examine the lead trial strikes of this piece, and look for a beautiful and historical crown size numismatic item. They will sell at $12.50 each, and should be available for sale about May 1, 1965.

WHAT CAN YOU DO BESIDES PAINT 'EM?

You Can 'Design' Your Walls

Today's wallpaper is a far cry from yesterday's loud floral designs, permitting interesting effects in redecorating walls.

IN THE LONG, long ago the walls of a home were there merely to hold up the roof and hold off the weather. But today the walls of Southern California homes have a new function—they are there not to hold up the ceiling, but to hold all manner of attention-getting decoration.

Long neglected by professional and amateur interior decorators have been a home's walls, but no longer. Walls that used to be changed only by a new hue of paint every second springtime are now becoming an important part of a home's decoration.

It long was the exasperated plaint of the housewife: "What can you do besides paint?" The answer is: Walls can be papered, wood paneled, mirrored, upholstered and clothed. They can be muraled. If none of those sound appealing, you can knock a hole in the wall, fill it with glass, build a tall fence around a tiny courtyard or garden and let the hole in the wall be a flora and fauna mural.

"WE HAVE GIVEN more attention to wall covering than any other phase of decoration in the last year or two," says a Long Beach interior designer who is famous throughout Southern California.

Wallpaper has come back to the modern home. Long abandoned since the day of the gaudy floral design that came in two varieties — loud and louder — wallpaper is hardly related to its predecessor of 25 years ago. More often than not, today's wallpaper is not paper at all, but cloth or vinyl or plastic. Scrubbable wall covering has invaded the nursery and children's bedrooms, as well as the bath. It is even possible to purchase do-it-yourself kits of vinyl wall cover that has adhesive backing and comes in a package that has a built-in water container. As the covering is unrolled from the package, it is moistened and ready for hanging by most any housewife.

Wallpaper has many advantages over paint," says Long Beach decorator Don McNeely. "Only through use of it can you achieve such special effects as to make a small room look larger or a large room look smaller. You can make it look taller or not so tall. You can create new dimensions with use of patterns and textures and color combinations."

IT IS McNEELY'S view that only wallpaper can truly express the homeowner's individuality.

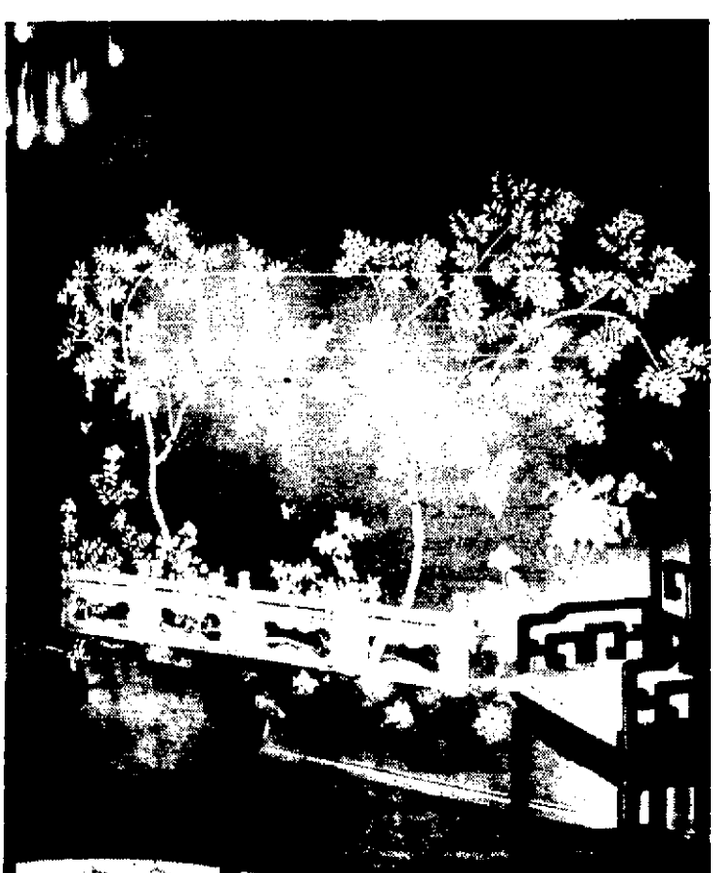

Perhaps the quickest way to make a room look larger, however, is by use of mirrors. Modern technology has done much to the looking glass. Today it is gold-veined or smoked or clouded or bronzed. Interior decorators estimate that a mirrored wall will give a room the appearance of being 50% larger. Combined with a glass chandelier, the mirrored wall is the symbol of elegance.

While the sanctuary for the head of the house—the den—is commonplace in Southland homes, it is not a major project to turn a commonplace den into a most uncommon study. This merely by redecorating with a leather-like, padded wall, a low-cost luxury that easily falls within the do-it-yourself category.

MANUFACTURERS have provided a multitude of materials with which to turn a dull home into a showplace. It is even possible now, quickly and inexpensively, to install a brick wall in the living room or family room of a small tract house. A real-brick material that is about a quarter of an inch thick can be applied to the wall with an adhesive paste. Because of its comparative light weight, this kind of brick wall needs no special foundation and is nearly undetectable from the ordinary-size brick wall.

Other home-decoration suppliers offer brick-like sheets of plastic, sections of wood and plastic grillework that can be used as room dividers or placed against the walls for three-dimensional effects and it is possible to have expensive-looking hand-painted wall murals through the use of by the-numbers paint kits on wallpaper, an artistic do-it-yourself project.

The ingenuity of the American manufacturers has made home improvement easy and inexpensive.—JEROME HALL.

Murals to brighten your living room are now in the realm of do-it-yourself projects.

Diary of 'Good Pope John'

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

DID YOU EVER "take pen in hand" to record the happenings of your day? Such resolutions to keep a diary usually last for a few weeks, months or years and then dwindle into nothingness. Not so with Pope John XXIII, popularly known as "The Good Pope John," who kept a diary from the age of 14 when he was a simple peasant schoolboy almost until his death in the Vatican in 1963.

Pope John literally lived with "pen in hand" although in later years he wrote on a battered portable typewriter recording his innermost thoughts, ambitions, prayers and hopes for the world.

Today Pope John's writings form the basis of a beautifully illustrated 450 page book, "JOURNAL OF A SOUL" (McGraw-Hill $7.95). Dorothy M. White translated the book from the Italian and the many illustrations adding greatly to the interest and value of the volume are reproductions of actual photographs taken by Luigi Felici, papal photographer.

Besides his diary, "JOURNAL OF A SOUL" contains also other writings of Pope John such as letters written while he was in military service; his will; his "Rules for the Ascetic Life;" brief thoughts and prayers. Included also is a history of the Roncalli family. On November 25, 1881, Angelo Giuseppe was born to Battista Roncalli and his wife, Marianna Mazzola at Sotto il Monte (Bergamo) in the Brusico district. While he was a student at the seminary of Bergamo in 1896 he began the writings which today comprise the "Journal of a Soul."

As a young seminary student he wrote in his diary, "I waste too much time in the kitchen in idle chatter. I must also take care not to doze during meditations as I did this morning. O God, all these sins." As the diary progresses there is evidence of his spiritual growth forecasting his development into a great human being. That he labored throughout his life to achieve holiness in thought and action is reflected in his 1959 entry, "Since the Lord chose me, unworthy as I am, for this great service, I feel I have no longer any special ties in this life. Now, more than ever, I see myself only as the humble and unworthy servant of God and servant of the servants of God. The whole world is my family."

"BUTTERMILK AND BRAN" is the title of the latest book by Ora Pate Stewart, Garden Grove writer who will be a principal speaker at the Long Beach Writers Conference Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Lafayette Hotel.

The title, she says, comes from the fact that when her father, who had completed the fifth grade, was courting her mother, a graduate of the University of Utah, he told her that he did not have much to offer her but he would try to see that she always had buttermilk and bran. To this day, explains Mrs. Stewart, busy writer-lecturer-wife-mother, buttermilk is her tranquilizer and bran the staff of life.

"Buttermilk and Bran" (Naylor, $4) is a collection of Mrs. Stewart's short stories, some fact, some fiction, with others falling between. "A Practical Joke" is retold from an experience of Dr. Robert Thomas, professor of English at Brigham Young University, used here with his approval. Many, following the lead of "Pages from the Book of Eve" are drawn from rich reminiscence of family pioneering in the West. She writes about broken wagon axles on the trail miles from help, repasts of flour mush or cornmeal mush when there was nothing else, flights from mountain lions, and above all, courage, love and devotion to duty.

FIRST APPEARING as a serial in Esquire Magazine and now between hard covers as a novel is "AN AMERICAN DREAM," a troubled new book by Norman Mailer (Dial Press, $5).

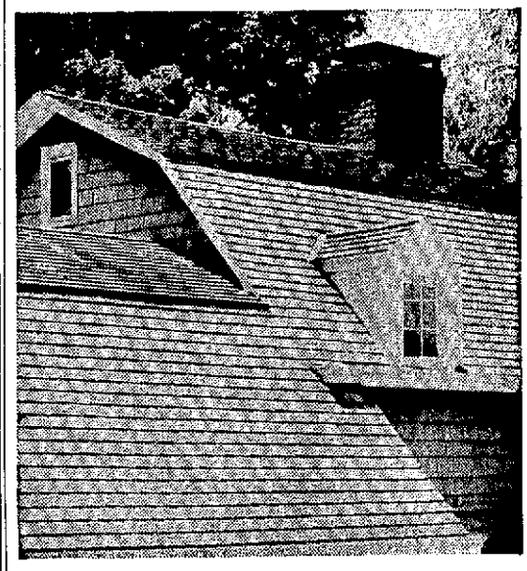

A fast-moving modern morality tale, it is the story of 32 hours in the life of Stephen Richards Rojack, a war hero-college professor who is married to an immensely wealthy young woman.

Crammed with suspense and the dark unconscious thoughts that only Mailer characters seem capable of, "American Dream" is set in the bigger-than-life world of New York City, moving from the plush duplexes of the East Side to the tenements and after-hour dives of the Lower Side.

Your old roof is just the place to put a new roof of Red Cedar Shingles.

See?

Any home that's given a new roof of red cedar shingles is never quite the same again. The most obvious improvement is appearance. But that's only the beginning. The fact is that financing agencies look on a red cedar roof as an excellent long-term investment. Red cedar shingles are durable, even in violent extremes of weather. They're light in weight, but extremely strong. And they're good insulators (which helps hold the lid on your heating and air conditioning costs). So whether you're planning to sell your home, refinance it, or live in it for decades to come, a roof of red cedar shingles could more than repay its cost. Ask your architect. Ask your builder. Ask your bank.

A ROOM with too many accessories is like a woman wearing too much jewelry. Many home decorators crowd rooms with a jumble of accessories. The entire effect being sought with the use of the said accessories is lost.

A good check is to ask yourself if most of them are necessary. Nine times out of 10, the answer will be a resounding NO! If this is the case, discard them. When you are in doubt about including certain pieces, you can almost be certain you don't require them.

A great many attractive odds and ends may help a place look lived in, but not livable. The neat, tidy, crisp, well-arranged appearance which good decoration should have is destroyed.

ONLY ONE or two important and good-sized accessories are needed to give some distinction to otherwise ordinary tables and chests. And to be really enjoyed, most accessories should be seen the width and length of a room.

Many scattered small saucers, bowls and whatnots are annoyingly busy, hard to care for, and add absolutely nothing decoratively worth while.

JUST AS TOO MANY small objects can ruin a room, so can an overpowering object. To be a good addition to a room, accessories must be appropriate to your home, to some extent unique.

One of the nicest aspects of accessories is that they don't have to be costly and still can accomplish much. It is their intrinsic value to your plan that counts, not the money involved; their arrangement, not the price tag; your initiative, not convention.

Coin Club Will Meet Tuesday

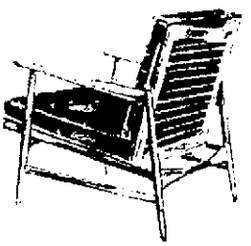

"The Mint at Guadalupe Y Calvo" will be the topic of Sol Alexander at a meeting of Long Beach Coin Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Recreation Building, 350 E. Ocean Blvd., Elm Way entrance. The View's The Thing

By HI SIBLEY

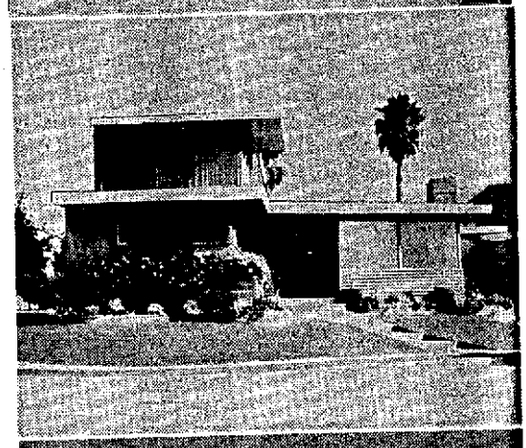

EARLY CALIFORNIANS were not concerned with landscape vistas. A smallish square opening in the adobe wall lets in enough light so that the barefoot occupants wouldn't step on lizards or scorpions. As for the view, who cared to look at passing oxcarts on a dusty road?

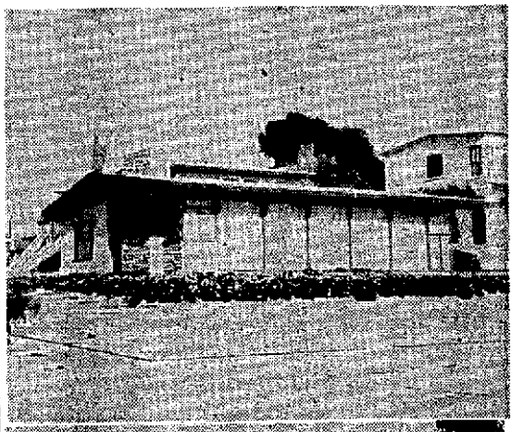

Gradually the middle-westerners invaded the land and the more opulent built those gaunt, two-story frame dwellings in the style of Indiana and Iowa with their 12 and 14-foot ceilings and tall, narrow windows. The view was not yet all-important.

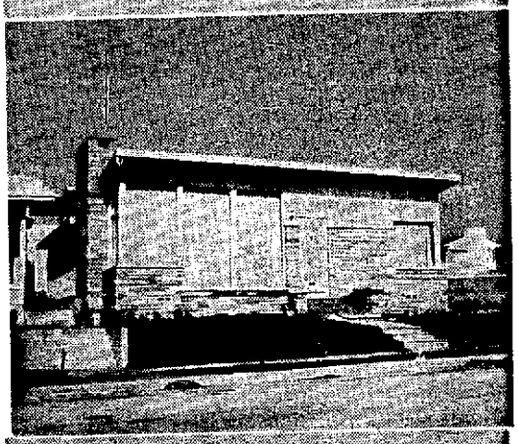

But with growing interest in landscaping and the mild climate encouraging colorful gardens, the view window became a must. In fact, many homes were practically designed around the large expanses of glass so familiar today.

Here are pleasing examples of what has been done, in some cases an entire wall consists of window—looking out on the sea. All of these subjects were photographed in the Newport Bay area.

Furniture's 'Harlow Look'

Hollywood's gorgeous Thirties are making a mark on home furnishings this year. The look is lavish, set on carpet of a luxurious air.

HELLO AGAIN . . . this is Hollywood . . . making home furnishings news with the "Harlow Look." The tinsel and glamour of the 30s is back, and this time it has a new respectability. Manufacturers and designers from coast to coast have adapted the style of cinema's Golden Age. They've gone Hollywood and have kept the grand manner, the luxury and the bigger-than-big look.

An important part of this feeling are the acres of white and the palest pastels with the lavish sparkle of silver and gold. This living room is sure to win an Oscar. It starts with a shaggy pile carpet made of thick, luxuriant wool yarns that seem to be miles deep. For sheer opulence, the color is whipped-cream white. White, too, is the couch which is deeply quilted and ready to sink into like the wool carpet.

The bulging bombe chest in the entryway is antiqued a French blue. An elegant art noveau wallpaper, executed in the proper full-blown style, is used behind the chest. The rear wall is painted a pale green and the coffee table in front of the couch is in white marble. As for the beads, a "must" for imitators of the Hollywood heyday, they are powder blue strands mixed with strands of transparent azure and crystal to create the proper glitter for a star.

Profitable Fluke

A fluke industrial accident led to the discovery of latex foam rubber, now widely used for mattresses, furniture cushions, rug pads and many other applications.

In 1928, says the Latex Foam Rubber Council, two British scientists were attempting to make improved tire cords by extruding liquid latex rubber through a tiny nozzle into a gelling solution. The nozzle popped off and a gas of rubber shot into the gelling agent. The rubber foamed because of the pressure, and then set into a soft, resilient, spongy mass.

The scientists realized that latex foam rubber could have commercial applications, so they refined the process, patented it and created the world's first modern foam cushioning material. A number of synthetic plastic foams have been invented since, but latex foam rubber still is the most popular cushioning material made.

Carpets

controlled by different measures.

One type is the loose, gritty soil that is tracked in from outside. Each of these soil particles has many sharp edges which grind away at the carpet pile or upholstery fabrics under ordinary use.

Fortunately, this abrasive soil can be controlled by frequent vacuuming plus periodic deep-suctioning by professional cleaners.

The second type of soil is the homemaker's real enemy. It's the "atmospheric" soil that floats in the air and comes from cooking, exhausts, and other sources.

This is the greasy, clinging soil you're constantly wiping off your mirrors, windows, and polished furniture.

You can't see it as easily on your carpets and upholstery, but it's collecting on them at the same rate, clouding the colors and slowly deteriorating dyes and fabrics.

Because this atmospheric soil is almost weightless, it stays on the surface of your carpets and upholstery. Since it contains oil or grease, it sticks tightly where where it lands . . . can't be removed by vacuuming.

UPHOLSTERED furniture and tacked-down or wall-to-wall carpeting can't be rinsed through both sides. The greasy soil must be extracted through the top surface of the pile or fabric.

Many carpet and furniture manufacturers, as well as leading homemakers' magazines, advise against do-it-yourself cleaning and recommend specific methods of professional cleaning.

The editors of "Better Homes and Gardens" advise professional attention to any difficult or "mystery" spots, and "House & Garden" recommends professional cleaning once a year.

Experts caution that machine scrubbing with whirling or oscillating brushes drives greasy surface soil down deep into the pile or fabric. The result may be a surface-brightening effect, but much of the soil is still there, along with considerable embedded detergent which is not removed by wet or dry vacuuming.

Straining

For best results when using paint or varnish from a previously opened can, strain the amount necessary through on old nylon stocking into a "Chinet" molded paper bowl. The stocking will snare any bits of dried paint scum that might mar the job. The plasticized bowl won't leak or soak up paint; can be thrown away.

Open and Shut Case

Open doors show ample storage in these cabinet spaces created by Signal Hill home owner.

IT IS LIKELY that many times in his long career William Stovall, chief of police of Signal Hill, has used the expression "an open and shut case." The open and shut case of the cabinets he built in the recreation room of his home at 2275 Legion St., Signal Hill, is a conversation topic among his many friends.

The unit lines a wall and combines storage space for both odds and ends and ne-

WHAT CAN YOU DO BESIDES PAINT 'EM?

You Can 'Design' Your Walls

Today's wallpaper is a far cry from yesterday's loud floral designs, permitting interesting effects in redecorating walls.

IN THE LONG, long ago the walls of a home were there merely to hold up the roof and hold off the weather. But today the walls of Southern California homes have a new function—they are there not to hold up the ceiling, but to hold all manner of attention-getting decoration.

Long neglected by professional and amateur interior decorators have been a home's walls, but no longer. Walls that used to be changed only by a new hue of paint every second springtime are now becoming an important part of a home's decoration.

It long was the exasperated plaint of the housewife: "What can you do besides paint?" The answer is: Walls can be papered, wood paneled, mirrored, upholstered and clothed. They can be muraled. If none of those sound appealing, you can knock a hole in the wall, fill it with glass, build a tall fence around a tiny courtyard or garden and let the hole in the wall be a flora and fauna mural.

"WE HAVE GIVEN more attention to wall covering than any other phase of decoration in the last year or two," says a Long Beach interior designer who is famous throughout Southern California.

Wallpaper has come back to the modern home. Long abandoned since the day of the gaudy floral design that came in two varieties—loud and louder—wallpaper is hardly related to its predecessor of 25 years ago. More often than not, today's wallpaper is not paper at all, but cloth or vinyl or plastic. Scrubbable wall covering has invaded the nursery and children's bedrooms, as well as the bath. It is even possible to purchase do-it-yourself kits of vinyl wall cover that has adhesive backing and comes in a package that has a built-in water container. As the covering is unrolled from the package, it is moistened and ready for hanging by most any housewife.

Wallpaper has many advantages over paint," says Long Beach decorator Don McNeely. "Only through use of it can you achieve such special effects as to make a small room look larger or a large room look smaller. You can make it look taller or not so tall. You can create new dimensions with use of patterns and textures and color combinations."

IT IS McNEELY'S view that only wallpaper can truly express the homeowner's individuality.

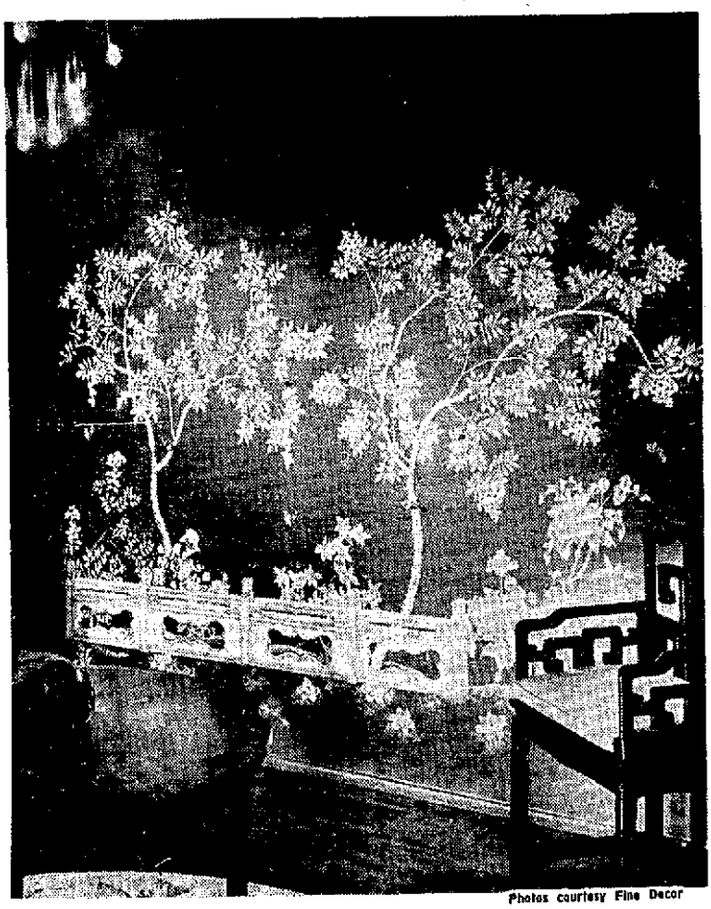

Perhaps the quickest way to make a room look larger, however, is by use of mirrors. Modern technology has done much to the looking glass. Today it is gold-veined or smoked or clouded or bronzed. Interior decorators estimate that a mirrored wall will give a room the appearance of being 50% larger. Combined with a glass chandelier, the mirrored wall is the symbol of elegance.

While the sanctuary for the head of the house—the den—is commonplace in Southland homes, it is not a major project to turn a commonplace den into a most uncommon study. This merely by redecorating with a leather-like, padded wall, a low-cost luxury that easily falls within the do-it-yourself category.

MANUFACTURERS have provided a multitude of materials with which to turn a dull home into a showplace. It is even possible now, quickly and inexpensively, to install a brick wall in the living room or family room of a small tract house. A real-brick material that is about a quarter of an inch thick can be applied to the wall with an adhesive paste. Because of its comparative light weight, this kind of brick wall needs no special foundation and is nearly undetectable from the ordinary-size brick wall.

Other home-decoration suppliers offer brick-like sheets of plastic, sections of wood and plastic grillework that can be used as room dividers or placed against the walls for three-dimensional effects and it is possible to have expensive-looking hand-painted wall murals through the use of by-the-numbers paint kits on wallpaper, an artistic do-it-yourself project.

The ingenuity of the American manufacturers has made home improvement easy and inexpensive.—JEROME HALL.

Murals to brighten your living room are now in the realm of do-it-yourself projects.

Red Has Moved Inside

By Betty DeWeese

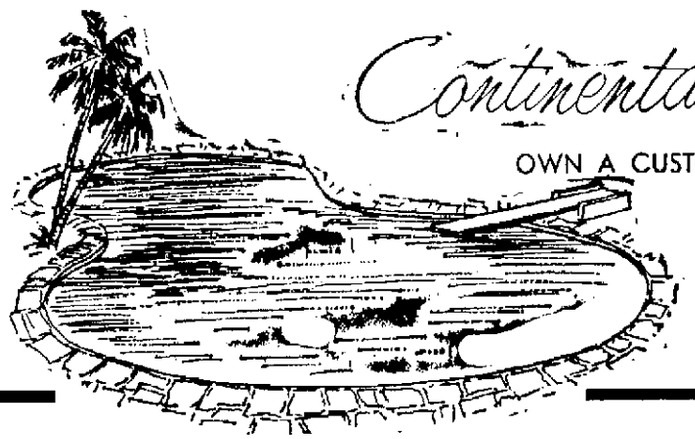

IN grandmother's day, the only place where red would have been used as a wall color was on the side of a barn. But red, brilliant red, has moved inside and with it has come some stunning decorating effects . . . effects that are possible in nearly every room in the house.

Let's take a couple of examples of the outstanding use of such a color. First, we'll look in on one of the more formal rooms in most homes, the dining room. Picture the wall of the entry hall facing the dining room done in this color. Looking through the door, imagine the inside wall also done in red, along with the luxurious red rug. Complementing this highly imaginative color

Vibrant red is predominant color in this dining room where good lighting adds to effect.

Simplicity Best

A ROOM with too many accessories is like a woman wearing too much jewelry. Many home decorators crowd rooms with a jumble of accessories. The entire effect being sought with the use of the said accessories is lost.

A good check is to ask yourself if most of them are necessary. Nine times out of 10, the answer will be a resounding NO! If this is the case, discard them. When you are in doubt about including certain pieces, you can almost be certain you don't require them.

A great many attractive odds and ends may help a place look lived in, but not livable. The neat, tidy, crisp, well-arranged appearance which good decoration should have is destroyed.

ONLY ONE or two important and good-sized accessories are needed to give some distinction to otherwise ordinary tables and chests. And to be really enjoyed, most accessories should be seen the width and length of a room.

Many scattered small saucers, bowls and whatnots are annoyingly busy, hard to care for, and add absolutely nothing decoratively worth while.

JUST AS TOO MANY small objects can ruin a room, so can an overpowering object. To be a good addition to a room, accessories must be appropriate to your home, to some extent unique.

One of the nicest aspects of accessories is that they don't have to be costly and still can accomplish much. It is their intrinsic value to your plan that counts, not the money involved; their arrangement, not the price tag; your initiative, not convention.

Easy Paneling

By John Ronson

EXPENSIVE redecorating can be eliminated when walls and ceilings are covered with attractive paneling, which has a permanent plastic surface that is highly-resistant to stains and hard wear.

The durable plastic-finished hardboard paneling resists fruit juices, alcohol and countless other household liquids that stain ordinary finishes. It is easily wiped clean with a damp or sudsy cloth.

Available in a wide range of colors and patterns, Marlite paneling is suitable for any room in the house. Used for both new construction and remodeling, the versatile paneling can be applied by either a professional applicator or an experienced home handyman.

PLASTIC-FINISHED Marlite, because of its easy maintenance and durability, also is widely used for interiors of offices, stores, public rooms, shops, institutions and hospitals.

Now included in the Marlite line of plastic-finished hardboard paneling are: four-foot-wide panels in deluxe high gloss colors, marble patterns, woodgrains, and three types of decorator patterns; 16-inch by 8-foot random plank, a handsome woodgrain panel; 16-inch by 8-foot planks in 12 colors and a gold lace pattern; 16-inch square ceiling blocks in white and parchment, as well as nugget and gold lace patterns; versatile Peg-Board in solid colors, marble reproductions and other patterns; and a new line of 5-foot wide gold-on-white mural accent panels, especially suitable for tub areas.

American Color Trends, a leading firm of color consultants, has created two lines of plastic-finished hardboard paneling that are ideal for accent walls and other areas that need a spacious look. One is a line of four marble patterns, which provide a distinctive interior at a reasonable price. The other is a group of six decorator patterns, which give a bright, modern look to any interior.

RANDOM PLANK, a tongue-and-groove panel that can be applied over old walls or furring strips, simplifies the installation of long-lasting woodgrain walls. Shallow decorative grooves create an effect of individual planks of varying widths for distinctive appearance on the wall.

Lumber dealers have this high-fidelity woodgrain paneling in six beautiful Trendwood finishes — Swiss and American Walnut, Norwegian Maple, English Oak, and Swedish and Italian Cherry.

FOR EASY application, Marlite plank and ceiling block also come with tongue-and-groove edges. The blocks are ideal for ceilings because they are easy to apply directly over existing ceilings and can be damp-wiped clean in minutes.

Highly-resistant to heat and moisture, plastic-finished hardboard paneling is popular for kitchen and bathroom modernization projects. Hard wear does not affect the decorative paneling.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Furniture's 'Harlow Look'

Hollywood's gorgeous Thirties are making a mark on home furnishings this year. The look is lavish, set on carpet of a luxurious air.

HELLO AGAIN . . . this is Hollywood . . . making home furnishings news with the "Harlow Look." The tinsel and glamour of the 30s is back, and this time it has a new respectability. Manufacturers and designers from coast to coast have adapted the style of cinema's Golden Age. They've gone Hollywood and have kept the grand manner, the luxury and the bigger-than-big look.

An important part of this feeling are the acres of white and the palest pastels with the lavish sparkle of silver and gold. This living room is sure to win an Oscar. It starts with a shaggy pile carpet made of thick, luxuriant wool yarns that seem to be miles deep. For sheer opulence, the color is whipped-cream white. White, too, is the couch which is deeply quilted and ready to sink into like the wool carpet.

The bulging bombe chest in the entryway is antiqued a French blue. An elegant art noveau wallpaper, executed in the proper full-blown style, is used behind the chest. The rear wall is painted a pale green and the coffee table in front of the couch is in white marble. As for the beads, a "must" for imitators of the Hollywood heyday, they are powder blue strands mixed with strands of transparent azure and crystal to create the proper glitter for a star.

Profitable Fluke

A fluke industrial accident led to the discovery of latex foam rubber, now widely used for mattresses, furniture cushions, rug pads and many other applications.

In 1928, says the Latex Foam Rubber Council, two British scientists were attempting to make improved tire cords by extruding liquid latex rubber through a tiny nozzle into a gelling solution. The nozzle popped off and a gas of rubber shot into the gelling agent. The rubber foamed because of the pressure, and then set into a soft, resilient, spongy mass.

The scientists realized that latex foam rubber could have commercial applications, so they refined the process, patented it and created the world's first modern foam cushioning material. A number of synthetic plastic foams have been invented since, but latex foam rubber still is the most popular cushioning material made.

They're Mobile

An estimated four million Americans live in mobile homes, most of them in the nation's 20,000 mobile home parks and subdivisions which can accommodate 1½ million homes.

PET PARADE

A Week to Be Kind

Ch. Greenelm Glitter is the cocker spaniel pride of William and Joy Craig of Orange.

By Eleanor Avery Price

TODAY marks the start of Be Kind to Animals Week, a period of observance that should be extended to include every week of the year. You may think that you are doing all that is necessary for your pet, but think back. How long has it been since he had his last booster shots? And how long ago was he checked for worms? Not every pet with worms coughs, acts listless, looks dull-coated, has anemia, diarrhea or intestinal block, but these may come.

Fleas are the breeding grounds for tape worms. The flea larvae eats tape worm eggs, then when it is an adult flea it bites the pet and causes the pet to nip at himself and probably swallow the flea with the tape worm larvae. This larvae goes into the small intestines and attaches itself to the inestinal lining where it grows. Better sanitation as well as medication are needed.

DO YOU CHECK your pet's ears regularly? You may be aghast at the wax, dirt, soap, mites, ticks etc. that can collect there. And his ears will have a bad odor. Fill the ears with warm mineral oil and massage the base to float up the debris, then wipe with clean cotton. When the ears are dry, sprinkle in boric acid powder or squeeze in 2% yellow oxide of mercury. If the pet digs at his ears, he may need veterinarian help.

Are you feeding your dog good food? Labels don't always give exact amounts of carbohydrates, etc. And over supplementation is not good, either. Science News Letter reports the only known vegetable source of vitamin B-12 is seaweed (kelp). It also provides carotine, vitamin B1, Vitamin E., and folic acid. Get this at a pet shop. Don't overdo amount, however, as it may cause loose stool. Kelp also helps enrichen a dam's milk.

Your pet, if a dog, needs exercise in sunshine and fresh air. If he prefers to sleep out on warm nights, give him a dog house off the ground. Bedding can be a washable blanket or clean hay. Sprinkle a little harmless-to-dogs flea powder in the hay, however, or flea eggs will find a great nesting place.

SANTA ANA Valley Kennel Club presents its unbenched show and obedience trial today at La Palma Park, Anaheim. Next Sunday there are several events: Hollywood Dog Obedience Club trial at North Hollywood Park; Basset Hound Club of Southern California's hilarious picnic and basset "bash" at the same park; Boxer Club of Southern California puppy match at El Nido Park, Torrance; San Fernando Kennel Club's all-breed match at San Fernando's Recreation Park; and San Gabriel Valley Cocker Spaniel Fanciers puppy match at Long Beach Pan American Park. Entries for this last event close at 9:45 a.m.

Entries close tomorrow for Del Sur Kennel Club event at El Cajon May 23. Jack Bradshaw is superintendent.

Silky Terrier Club of Southern California has a match May 9 at Brookside Park, Pasadena. Mrs. Benj. Ackerman, New York, will judge.

Decorating the Kitchen

and dishwashers which blend with the decor of the house or establish the basic decorating theme of the kitchen.

The individualist, custom-designing her home, need no longer stop at the kitchen door. These new functional kitchen appliances not only continue the interior theme, they may inspire and enhance it!

Among these fresh and exciting new designs is the one shown here, the popular louvered brown shutters.

The Town and Country Foodarama with simulated louvered doors is the perfect refrigerator-freezer for a country kitchen or an informal town house kitchen. Built into the wall here, the Town and Country is adept at attractively hiding the functional purpose behind louvered doors. The popular shutter design is conceived in molded vinyl in a soft brown color carrying out the country theme, with door frames and handles of gleaming brass. This design is also available in a top or bottom freezer Trimwall refrigerator.

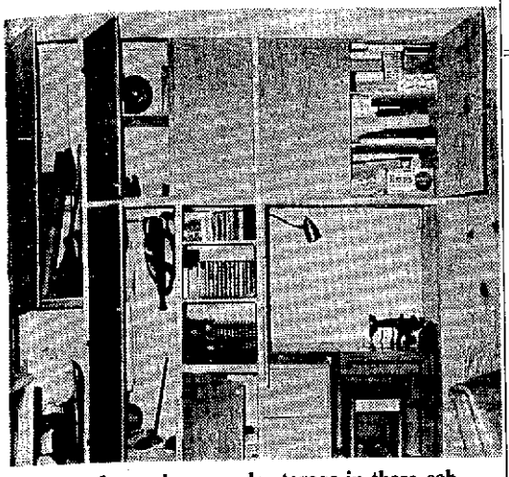

The Foodarama itself (introduced by Kelvinator 10 years ago) is reminiscent of a wardrobe type of storage piece that appeared in China about 1000 B.C., long before chairs, tables and beds were developed. These large storage pieces functioned as closets (then non-existent) and used in pairs, often set the theme for the interior decor.

Open and Shut Case

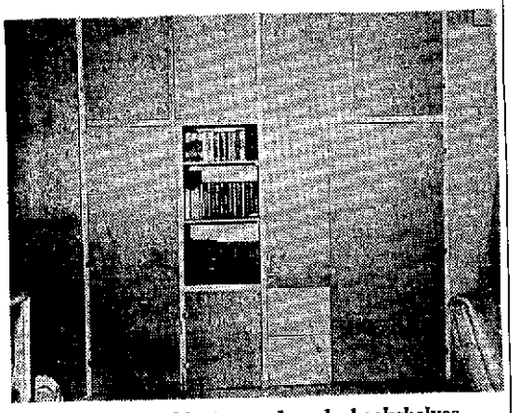

Open doors show ample storage in these cabinet spaces created by Signal Hill home owner.

IT IS LIKELY that many times in his long career William Stovall, chief of police of Signal Hill, has used the expression "an open and shut case." The open and shut case of the cabinets he built in the recreation room of his home at 2275 Legion St., Signal Hill, is a conversation topic among his many friends.

The unit lines a wall and combines storage space for both odds and ends and ne-

NOT A CONTRACTOR

Ten Ways to Produce a Better Paint Job

Painting door panels is demonstrated above. Do it right, use right paint, is the best advice.

By Robert C. Daley

WHAT makes a house a home? Love may be the No. 1 ingredient, but a good paint job is a big help, too. And in the spring, all over the nation the householder's fancy turns lightly to thoughts of rejuvenating the old manse via the paint brush.

It's probably the biggest do-it-yourself activity there is. Still, you can always use a few tips to guide your brush or roller toward that "stroke of genius."

1. When picking colors, think of the effect you're striving for. Red is exciting, but also overwhelming in large doses — and tends to make an area look smaller. Yellow is cheerful, like sunlight, and its lighter tints provide a sense of spaciousness. Green is tranquil — like a smooth lawn; blue is soothing.

2. Make hue work for you. To shorten a long room, use a warm color such as yellow-orange — or a deep shade of a cool color like green — on the end walls. To widen a room, use light tints on the side walls. Paint out architectural defects — old-fashioned molding, for example — by making them the same color as the surrounding area. To accent a desirable feature, such as a fireplace, paint it to contrast with the walls.

3. Pick the right sort of paint for the job. Richard P. Cook, general paint manager of trade paint sales, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, says, "Choosing the right type of paint is the first step to top paint performance. The painter who uses the wrong type of finish generally blames poor performance on the paint; the painter is at fault."

Rubberized or latex paints, most popular of the interior finishes for walls and ceilings, have several advantages. They dry in 20 minutes; except on new work, a prime coat is not necessary. After a 30-day curing period, they may be washed and even scrubbed — great for homes with tiny, grimy hands.

Alkyd paints and enamels are ideal for areas like kitchens and bathrooms,

Proudly Introducing

The New Woodruff Doctors Building, 3840 Woodruff Ave., Long Beach, recently completed, is a prime example of the use of good architecture, combining both utility and beauty.

Built by the Parkwood Development Corp. "of Anaheim," the lavish landscaping, reflection pools and fountains have been utilized to bring an esthetic appeal to doctors' offices.

A pharmacy and laboratory are included in the structure with individual air conditioning and heating units for each suite.

A large elevator makes it easier for both tenants and patients to reach the second floor.

Next door to fully accredited Woodruff Community Hospital, the building currently has suites available on either an "own-your-own" or "lease" basis.

Red Has Moved Inside

By Betty DeWeese

IN grandmother's day, the only place where red would have been used as a wall color was on the side of a barn. But red, brilliant red, has moved inside and with it has come some stunning decorating effects . . . effects that are possible in nearly every room in the house.

Let's take a couple of examples of the outstanding use of such a color. First, we'll look in on one of the more formal rooms in most homes, the dining room. Picture the wall of the entry hall facing the dining room done in this color. Looking through the door, imagine the inside wall also done in red, along with the luxurious red rug. Complementing this highly imaginative color

Vibrant red is predominant color in this dining room where good lighting adds to effect.

Red Has Moved Inside

are the rich walnut woods of the chairs, table and classic leaded window on the opposite wall. Brighter accents are achieved through gold upholstery, gold trimmed china and gold place mats. Picture the centerpiece with its polished copper bowl holding what else but red carnations.

LET'S MOVE upstairs to one of the hardest rooms in the house to decorate . . . the attic. Here again, red plays the biggest part. Used as the predominant color with contrasting off-white, medium dark blues and greens, this many angled room, with its functional, built-in furniture, is converted from practically useless space into a highly contemporary retreat.

Color, too, has affected lighting, according to the stylists of the residential lighting division of Thomas Industries Inc., leading manufacturer of home lighting units. They state that nearly all new lighting styles are designed with these vibrant colors in mind, either to match, blend or contrast. Even traditional fixtures have to stand the test of color.

As an example, let's move back to the dining room. Note the copper Moe Light coach lamps flanking the dining room door, where they bid guests welcome and pick up the red tones of the wall, enhancing their traditional finish.

A HAND-CARVED Moe Light pineapple chandelier, too, blends with the other rich wood tones of the room and seems to be specially made for that particular setting, a sure sign of proper fixture selection. Combined with a dimmer control, light in the dining room can be varied to achieve innumerable decorating effects.

Climbing the stairs again, the attic, with its angularity, lends itself to some unusual lighting possibilities. Here, luminous ceilings have provided "skylights" for work areas and over the bed. A contemporary pull-down fixture, in red and white stripes, adds another stylish touch while offering supplemental light.

Bright, vigorous colors are truly here, and, according to decorating experts, the trend is expected to continue for some time. What you can do in your home, with color, aided by good lighting, is limited only by your imagination.

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Easy Paneling

By John Ronson

EXPENSIVE redecorating can be eliminated when walls and ceilings are covered with attractive paneling, which has a permanent plastic surface that is highly-resistant to stains and hard wear.

The durable plastic-finished hardboard paneling resists fruit juices, alcohol and countless other household liquids that stain ordinary finishes. It is easily wiped clean with a damp or sudsy cloth.

Available in a wide range of colors and patterns, Marlite paneling is suitable for any room in the house. Used for both new construction and remodeling, the versatile paneling can be applied by either a professional applicator or an experienced home handyman.

PLASTIC-FINISHED Marlite, because of its easy maintenance and durability, also is widely used for interiors of offices, stores, public rooms, shops, institutions and hospitals.

Now included in the Marlite line of plastic-finished hardboard paneling are: four-foot-wide panels in deluxe high gloss colors, marble patterns, woodgrains, and three types of decorator patterns; 16-inch by 8-foot random plank, a handsome woodgrain panel; 16-inch-by 8-foot planks in 12 colors and a gold lace pattern; 16-inch square ceiling blocks in white and parchment, as well as nugget and gold lace patterns; versatile Peg-Board in solid colors, marble reproductions and other patterns; and a new line of 5-foot wide gold-on-white mural accent panels, especially suitable for tub areas.

American Color Trends, a leading firm of color consultants, has created two lines of plastic-finished hardboard paneling that are ideal for accent walls and other areas that need a spacious look. One is a line of four marble patterns, which provide a distinctive interior at a reasonable price. The other is a group of six decorator patterns, which give a bright, modern look to any interior.

RANDOM PLANK, a tongue-and-groove panel that can be applied over old walls or furring strips, simplifies the installation of long-lasting woodgrain walls. Shallow decorative grooves create an effect of individual planks of varying widths for distinctive appearance on the wall.

Lumber dealers have this high-fidelity woodgrain paneling in six beautiful Trendwood finishes — Swiss and American Walnut, Norwegian Maple, English Oak, and Swedish and Italian Cherry.

FOR EASY application, Marlite plank and ceiling block also come with tongue-and-groove edges. The blocks are ideal for ceilings because they are easy to apply directly over existing ceilings and can be damp-wiped clean in minutes.

Highly-resistant to heat and moisture, plastic-finished hardboard paneling is popular for kitchen and bathroom modernization projects. Hard wear does not affect the decorative paneling.

Carpets Find New Uses

CARPETS seem to be taking off in new dimensions of use this spring.

Homemakers seeking new utility, plus good appearance in their homes have come up with some ingenious and imaginative uses of soft surface floor coverings.

Carpets are now blossoming forth as colorful wall hangings in elegant living rooms and dens. On music room walls, they're being used to improve acoustics as well as to provide a focal point for a bright spot of color in decorating schemes.

Olefin fiber is a boon to homemakers who care about both dogs and carpets. Most any stain can be cleared with water, detergent.

Actually, carpets as wall hangings once were the fashion when only royalty could afford fine carpets. In those days, carpets were primarily to look at and not to walk on.

To day's soft surface floor coverings, though, are spreading out in new directions throughout the home to answer the need for fibers that are tough yet beautiful.

FOR example, carpets are now being used in bathrooms, wall-to-wall. Since the new Herculon olefin fiber does not absorb moisture, carpeting the bath can be practical, yet fanciful and luxurious. Bathroom carpets give welcome warmth and comfort to the feet on cold mornings.

Kitchens and nurseries are two other rooms where soft surface floor coverings are finding new use. Special carpet treatments for these rooms revolve around the sturdy new science fibers like olefin that are better able to resist moisture, stains and dirt.

A final new attention-getter for carpets is on the stairs. Homemakers are dressing up their stairs for spring by alternating carpet colors on each step.

cessities. There is room for books, world globes, and many things. One entire corner is devoted to a built-in sewing center for Mrs. Stovall, complete with drawers for material and patterns and a good movable light.

When closed, the wall shows only fine polished doors and drawers with a single open book space to add a point of interest.

PET PARADE

A Week to Be Kind

Ch. Greenelm Glitter is the cocker spaniel pride of William and Joy Craig of Orange.

By Eleanor Avery Price

TODAY marks the start of Be Kind to Animals Week, a period of observance that should be extended to include every week of the year. You may think that you are doing all that is necessary for your pet, but think back. How long has it been since he had his last booster shots? And how long ago was he checked for worms? Not every pet with worms coughs, acts listless, looks dull-coated, has anemia, diarrhea or intestinal block, but these may come.

Fleas are the breeding grounds for tape worms. The flea larvae eats tape worm eggs, then when it is an adult flea it bites the pet and causes the pet to nip at himself and probably swallow the flea with the tape worm larvae. This larvae goes into the small intestines and attaches itself to the inestinal lining where it grows. Better sanitation as well as medication are needed.

DO YOU CHECK your pet's ears regularly? You may be aghast at the wax, dirt, soap, mites, ticks etc. that can collect there. And his ears will have a bad odor. Fill the ears with warm mineral oil and massage the base to float up the debris, then wipe with clean cotton. When the ears are dry, sprinkle in boric acid powder or squeeze in 2% yellow oxide of mercury. If the pet digs at his ears, he may need veterinarian help.

Are you feeding your dog good food? Labels don't always give exact amounts of carbohydrates, etc. And over supplementation is not good, either. Science News Letter reports the only known vegetable source of vitamin B-12 is seaweed (kelp). It also provides carotine, vitamin B1, Vitamin E., and folic acid. Get this at a pet shop. Don't overdo amount, however, as it may cause loose stool. Kelp also helps enrichen a dam's milk.

Your pet, if a dog, needs exercise in sunshine and fresh air. If he prefers to sleep out on warm nights, give him a dog house off the ground. Bedding can be a washable blanket or clean hay. Sprinkle a little harmless-to-dogs flea powder in the hay, however, or flea eggs will find a great nesting place.

SANTA ANA Valley Kennel Club presents its unbenched show and obedience trial today at La Palma Park, Anaheim. Next Sunday there are several events: Hollywood Dog Obedience Club trial at North Hollywood Park; Basset Hound Club of Southern California's hilarious picnic and basset "bash" at the same park; Boxer Club of Southern California puppy match at El Nido Park, Torrance; San Fernando Kennel Club's all-breed match at San Fernando's Recreation Park; and San Gabriel Valley Cocker Spaniel Fanciers puppy match at Long Beach Pan American Park. Entries for this last event close at 9:45 a.m.

Entries close tomorrow for Del Sur Kennel Club event at El Cajon May 23. Jack Bradshaw is superintendent.

Silky Terrier Club of Southern California has a match May 9 at Brookside Park, Pasadena. Mrs. Benj. Ackerman, New York, will judge.

Decorating the Kitchen

and dishwashers which blend with the decor of the house or establish the basic decorating theme of the kitchen.

The individualist, custom-designing her home, need no longer stop at the kitchen door. These new functional kitchen appliances not only continue the interior theme, they may inspire and enhance it!

Among these fresh and exciting new designs is the one shown here, the popular louvered brown shutters.

The Town and Country Foodarama with simulated louvered doors is the perfect refrigerator-freezer for a country kitchen or an informal town house kitchen. Built into the wall here, the Town and Country is adept at attractively hiding the functional purpose behind louvered doors. The popular shutter design is conceived in molded vinyl in a soft brown color carrying out the country theme, with door frames and handles of gleaming brass. This design is also available in a top or bottom freezer Trimwall refrigerator.

The Foodarama itself (introduced by Kelvinator 10 years ago) is reminiscent of a wardrobe type of storage piece that appeared in China about 1000 B.C., long before chairs, tables and beds were developed. These large storage pieces functioned as closets (then non-existent) and used in pairs, often set the theme for the interior decor.

Better Painting

where moisture is a problem. They are exceptionally tough and have outstanding wearing qualities. For exteriors some of the house paints now available have such virtues as fume-resistance, mildew-resistance, and the ability to clean themselves with every rain.

4. Proper surface preparation is essential. It's one of the things that can make the difference between a paint job that will last five years or more, and one that will have to be repeated after a season or two. The surface should be clean and dry; never attempt to paint over a damp or dirty surface. All nail holes and cracks should be filled and all rough spots sanded smooth.

5. Don't fall down on the job! Plant your ladder on a solid, non-skid footing so that distance from ladder bottom to wall is one-fourth the ladder's height. Go up or down facing the ladder, don't lean from the ladder. You can reach out, but keep your feet firmly planted on the ladder rung. Just keep in mind the gravity of the situation and you'll be all right.

6. When painting exteriors, follow this order: Start to paint at the top of the house and apply paint in three-foot strips from side to side. Drop down and paint a second strip. Paint the house trim before painting the house walls.

7. Indoors, use this system: Paint the ceiling first, in one or two-foot strips from side to side. Work from dry to wet surface. For painting walls, start in a corner and paint in strips from the top to within six inches of the baseboard. Do cut-in work as you go along. After wall and ceiling surfaces are done, paint the trim. According to Cook, many amateur painters are tempted to start painting one room before they finish another; for even temper and even results, avoid this temptation. Do one room at a time.

8. Put drop cloths or newspapers along the wall to catch drops and splatters. When paint spots do drip on floors, you just wipe them up with a damp cloth if you are using rubberized paint. If you are using an alkyd or other type finish, a solvent is required to remove spots.

9. Clean brushes and rollers immediately after painting. For ruhberized paint, warm soapy water will do. For other paints, use a thinner recommended for the particular paint.

10. And a few miscellaneous suggestions: If you use rollers, be sure they're large enough. Small ones make the job needlessly difficult.

When you use a brush, don't "flip." Hold the brush short and steady.

To avoid fatigue, alternate hands.

One final word: Don't paint yourself into a corner!

New Trend

Rustic, natural looking materials are expected to dominate home decorating trends in 1965 and this interest in textured effects has already become quite evident in the many different embossed surfaces that are available in resilient flooring.

Ten Ways to Produce a Better Paint Job

By Robert C. Daley

WHAT makes a house a home? Love may be the No. 1 ingredient, but a good paint job is a big help, too. And in the spring, all over the nation the householder's fancy turns lightly to thoughts of rejuvenating the old manse via the paint brush.

It's probably the biggest do-it-yourself activity there is. Still, you can always use a few tips to guide your brush or roller toward that "stroke of genius."

1. When picking colors, think of the effect you're striving for. Red is exciting, but also overwhelming in large doses — and tends to make an area look smaller. Yellow is cheerful, like sunlight, and its lighter tints provide a sense of spaciousness. Green is tranquil — like a smooth lawn; blue is soothing.

2. Make hue work for you. To shorten a long room, use a warm color such as yellow-orange — or a deep shade of a cool color like green — on the end walls. To widen a room, use light tints on the side walls. Paint out architectural defects — old-fashioned molding, for example — by making them the same color as the surrounding area. To accent a desirable feature, such as a fireplace, paint it to contrast with the walls.

3. Pick the right sort of paint for the job. Richard P. Cook, general paint manager of trade paint sales, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, says, "Choosing the right type of paint is the first step to top paint performance. The painter who uses the wrong type of finish generally blames poor performance on the paint; the painter is at fault."

Rubberized or latex paints, most popular of the interior finishes for walls and ceilings, have several advantages. They dry in 20 minutes; except on new work, a prime coat is not necessary. After a 30-day curing period, they may be washed and even scrubbed — great for homes with tiny, grimy hands.

Alkyd paints and enamels are ideal for areas like kitchens and bathrooms,

Proudly Introducing

The New Woodruff Doctors Building, 3840 Woodruff Ave., Long Beach, recently completed, is a prime example of the use of good architecture, combining both utility and beauty.

Built by the Parkwood Development Corp. "of Anaheim," the lavish landscaping, reflection pools and fountains have been utilized to bring an esthetic appeal to doctors' offices.

A pharmacy and laboratory are included in the structure with individual air conditioning and heating units for each suite.

A large elevator makes it easier for both tenants and patients to reach the second floor.

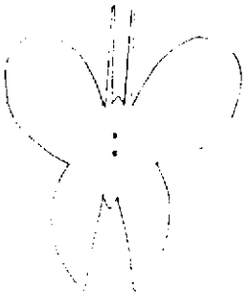

Next door to fully accredited Woodruff Community Hospital, the building currently has suites available on either an "own-your-own" or "lease" basis.

Plastic Takes a Pretty Turn

Butterflies and flowers arranged here are clipped from household container plastics.

Outline of butterflies.

By Lorena Fleissig

BLOSSOMS and butterflies contribute much to our visual delight, our pleasure in color and form. They are reproduced in every medium, from carved bone and wood to cloth and glass. Small wonder that the housewife, too, can see butterflies and blossoms in ordinary kitchen helpers, such as smooth plastic bottles in rich bachelor-button blue, petunia-pink, daisy-yellow and vibrant turquoise. Inherent is a field of wild flowers accompanied by butterflies.

Armed with an ice pick and scissors, scalloping shears and floral wire, one may take but a short time to cut two- and three-inch free hand circles from the flat sides of the bottles or from the curving sides of the containers.

(All the aforementioned colored containers and more can be found at the laundromats or will be donated by friends if they get the word.)

The colored rounds are scissored into flower form by making eight cuts toward the center. Leave a center about the size of a nickel.

Round out the petals with the scissors and to get the fluted effect at the end of each petal barely clip each one with the scalloping shears.

Heat the tip of the ice-pick and bore two small holes, ¼ inch apart, in the flower centers.

Cut more nickel size circles from the scrap material, using the same color as the flowers. Place this so-called washer under the center of the flower and thrust the heated ice pick through to make the matching holes in the washer. One could also mark with pencil and then bore the holes.

Cut more small circles of brown and white plastic for the top centers of the flowers. The brown or dark centers are on the light colored flowers, the white is to center the dark flowers. A single hole is bored in each center.

ASSEMBLING proceeds with a three-inch length of floral wire that is stiff enough to hold up the flower and yet pliant enough to bend. The wire is put through one washer hole, through the matching one in the flower, then through the single hole in the brown or white circle, through a small gold or glass bead, returning the wire down the single hole, through the matching holes of flower and washer. Even the wires, cinch the parts tightly then twist the wires twice to hold the parts together. The double stem of wire will be an inch and a half long. The wire may be made longer to start, the stem may be covered or simply wound together and thrust into a foam base.

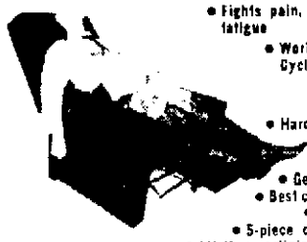

The stylized butterflies are first designed on a four-inch square of paper. Fold the paper to even up the pattern. Then it may be outlined with pencil on the plastic. With the square of plastic in hand, cut the fine antennas of the butterfly down to the body and if the scissors didn't slip, the pointed head is snipped out. In case the slip chops off the antennas, there is the area to the center or to side, to cut other antennas.

TURN THEN to the opposite end and cut a pie-shaped section up to the body, snipping out the point of the tail. Then cut out the side of the wings. Thick spots in the plastic sometimes cause a problem but any wavy edges may be trimmed after the pattern is cut.

Red Has Moved Inside

are the rich walnut woods of the chairs, table and classic leaded window on the opposite wall. Brighter accents are achieved through gold upholstery, gold trimmed china and gold place mats. Picture the centerpiece with its polished copper bowl holding what else but red carnations.

LET'S MOVE upstairs to one of the hardest rooms in the house to decorate . . . the attic. Here again, red plays the biggest part. Used as the predominant color with contrasting off-white, medium dark blues and greens, this many angled room, with its functional, built-in furniture, is converted from practically useless space into a highly contemporary retreat.

Color, too, has affected lighting, according to the stylists of the residential lighting division of Thomas Industries Inc., leading manufacturer of home lighting units. They state that nearly all new lighting styles are designed with these vibrant colors in mind, either to match, blend or contrast. Even traditional fixtures have to stand the test of color.

As an example, let's move back to the dining room. Note the copper Moe Light coach lamps flanking the dining room door, where they bid guests welcome and pick up the red tones of the wall, enhancing their traditional finish.

A HAND-CARVED Moe Light pineapple chandelier, too, blends with the other rich wood tones of the room and seems to be specially made for that particular setting, a sure sign of proper fixture selection. Combined with a dimmer control, light in the dining room can be varied to achieve innumerable decorating effects.

Climbing the stairs again, the attic, with its angularity, lends itself to some unusual lighting possibilities. Here, luminous ceilings have provided "skylights" for work areas and over the bed. A contemporary pull-down fixture, in red and white stripes, adds another stylish touch while offering supplemental light.

Bright, vigorous colors are truly here, and, according to decorating experts, the trend is expected to continue for some time. What you can do in your home, with color, aided by good lighting, is limited only by your imagination.

Flame Thrower in the Garden

By Joe Littlefield

Basketful of flame is this colorful array of dwarf cockscomb brought in from the garden.

CELOSIA, or cockscomb, is a tropical annual that is easily started from seed, and sowing the seed is like throwing flame into the garden because of cockscomb's bright blooms. Just sow the seeds in the soil where you want the color.

The small, silky, feathery flowers crowded into showy dense plumes are borne on short spikes. They grow about a foot tall and are good for flower arrangements in small bowls and vases.

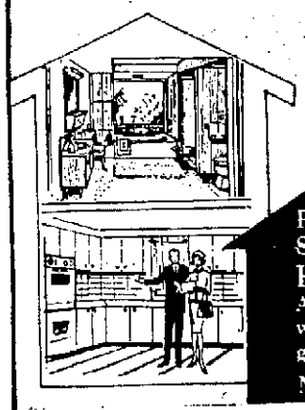

The newest introduction of these dwarf annuals is Sunburst Celosia, heat tolerant and disease resistant, in bright red and glowing gold.

Gardeners who prefer everlasting dry bouquets instead of the plastic blossoms, cut the celosia flower stems, hang them upside down in a shady area to dry for several weeks, then arrange them.

TO SOW SEEDS, soak the planting area a day of two in advance, spread quarter-inch layer of quality grade steer manure over soil and cultivate it in about inch deep, rake over to level the soil. Mix the seeds with manure in a bucket. Manure helps separate the seeds for even broadcasting. After sowing, rake in the seeds and water carefully. Keep the soil moist till young seedlings are about an inch tall, then water as the soil dries. At first, protect the seedlings from snails and slugs by periodically scattering snail bait.

Zinnia and aster plants set out in separate groups, but related in the sunny garden area, provide a wide range of colors and flowers excellent for cut flower use.

Carpets Find New Uses

CARPETS seem to be taking off in new dimensions of use this spring.

Homemakers seeking new utility, plus good appearance in their homes have come up with some ingenious and imaginative uses of soft surface floor coverings.

Carpets are now blossoming forth as colorful wall hangings in elegant living rooms and dens. On music room walls, they're being used to improve acoustics as well as to provide a focal point for a bright spot of color in decorating schemes.

Olefin fiber is a boon to homemakers who care about both dogs and carpets. Most any stain can be cleared with water, detergent.

Actually, carpets as wall hangings once were the fashion when only royalty could afford fine carpets. In those days, carpets were primarily to look at and not to walk on.

To day's soft surface floor coverings, though, are spreading out in new directions throughout the home to answer the need for fibers that are tough yet beautiful.

FOR example, carpets are now being used in bathrooms, wall-to-wall. Since the new Herculon olefin fiber does not absorb moisture, carpeting the bath can be practical, yet fanciful and luxurious. Bathroom carpets give welcome warmth and comfort to the feet on cold mornings.

Kitchens and nurseries are two other rooms where soft surface floor coverings are finding new use. Special carpet treatments for these rooms revolve around the sturdy new science fibers like olefin that are better able to resist moisture, stains and dirt.

A final new attention-getter for carpets is on the stairs. Homemakers are dressing up their stairs for spring by alternating carpet colors on each step.

cessities. There is room for books, world globes, and many things. One entire corner is devoted to a built-in sewing center for Mrs. Stovall, complete with drawers for material and patterns and a good movable light.

When closed, the wall shows only fine polished doors and drawers with a single open book space to add a point of interest.

The Accidental Tomato

By Caroline Coleman

They planted a cactus and this tomato plant was a bonus for Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Chandler.

WHEN the Charles Chandlers potted a cactus plant and set it on a window sill of their third story apartment at 229 Atlantic Ave., harvesting a crop of tomatoes was the last thing in their minds.

When a small plant appeared at the side of the cactus, Mrs. Chandler allowed it to grow, just to see the results. Soon the tomato plant completely covered the cactus, and filled the window base.

"We didn't really expect the plant to bear tomatoes though," explained Mrs. Chandler," as we had been told that pollination from other such plants was necessary in order to bear."

In a third story window in downtown Long Beach, such pollination seemed most improbable. All we know is that blossoms appeared, then real tomatoes!

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week. . . . This is the ideal time to set out shrubs and trees from containers. For a difficut, shady spot, try the new Aucuba Japonica Picturata, whose showy leaves provide a stunning accent of golden yellow edged with glossy, rich green. Not fussy about soil.

Hydrangeas are available at your nursery now, and if you haven't tried the new French hybrids, you're in for a pleasant surprise. They provide midsummer drama in scarlet, salmon, soft pink or white, and grow no higher than 3 or 4 feet. Give them a fast-draining, humusy soil and a spot in the shade.

Garden Clubs

Belmont Heights Garden Club will have a spring flower show at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Wesley Hall, 317 Termino Ave. Musical selections will be presented by Mmes. Doris Longfellow, vocalist, and Shelby Bernard, pianist. Mrs. Muriel Oyaas will preside and a tea committee will include Mmes. Ruth Munson, Ethel Anderson, Anna Bramham, Madge Fatout, Katherine Hill, Olive Lucas and Minnie O'Toole. Visitors are welcome.

Plastics

will make designs on the plastic wings and the centers filled in with gold from a trichem tube, available in 10-cent stores.

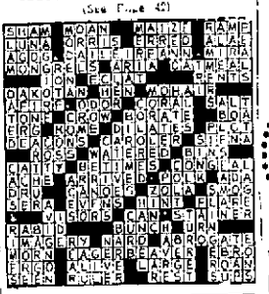

Two holes in the center back are bored with the ice pick, heated. A firm wire is inserted to hold the butterfly upright over the flowers. For illustrating purposes (see photos), they were placed to one side.

Cornflower (Wrights) blue metallic rickrack circles the field, fastened with straight pins.

The turquoise flowers wired to the pink satin ribbon may be placed against a simple glass candle holder.

Better Painting

where moisture is a problem. They are exceptionally tough and have outstanding wearing qualities. For exteriors some of the house paints now available have such virtues as fume-resistance, mildew-resistance, and the ability to clean themselves with every rain.

4. Proper surface preparation is essential. It's one of the things that can make the difference between a paint job that will last five years or more, and one that will have to be repeated after a season or two. The surface should be clean and dry; never attempt to paint over a damp or dirty surface. All nail holes and cracks should be filled and all rough spots sanded smooth.

5. Don't fall down on the job! Plant your ladder on a solid, non-skid footing so that distance from ladder bottom to wall is one-fourth the ladder's height. Go up or down facing the ladder, don't lean from the ladder. You can reach out, but keep your feet firmly planted on the ladder rung. Just keep in mind the gravity of the situation and you'll be all right.

6. When painting exteriors, follow this order: Start to paint at the top of the house and apply paint in three-foot strips from side to side. Drop down and paint a second strip. Paint the house trim before painting the house walls.

7. Indoors, use this system: Paint the ceiling first, in one or two-foot strips from side to side. Work from dry to wet surface. For painting walls, start in a corner and paint in strips from the top to within six inches of the baseboard. Do cut-in work as you go along. After wall and ceiling surfaces are done, paint the trim. According to Cook, many amateur painters are tempted to start painting one room before they finish another; for even temper and even results, avoid this temptation. Do one room at a time.

8. Put drop cloths or newspapers along the wall to catch drops and splatters. When paint spots do drip on floors, you just wipe them up with a damp cloth if you are using rubberized paint. If you are using an alkyd or other type finish, a solvent is required to remove spots.

9. Clean brushes and rollers immediately after painting. For rubberized paint, warm soapy water will do. For other paints, use a thinner recommended for the particular paint.

10. And a few miscellaneous suggestions: If you use rollers, be sure they're large enough. Small ones make the job needlessly difficult.

When you use a brush, don't "flip." Hold the brush short and steady.

To avoid fatigue, alternate hands.

One final word: Don't paint yourself into a corner!

New Trend

Rustic, natural looking materials are expected to dominate home decorating trends in 1965 and this interest in textured effects has already become quite evident in the many different embossed surfaces that are available in resilient flooring.

Painless Painting Pointers

MOST intrepid do-it-yourself painter—the fellow who tackles walls, ceilings, even exterior house painting without a qualm—often dreads, and botches the job, when it comes to windows.

Smeared glass, finger marked sash, windows stuck tight are the marks of an amateur paint job. They need not brand your work, however, if you will take care to use the proper tools, time to learn the proper techniques and patience to do the job right.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association says window painting is simple if you follow recommended procedure carefully and use only quality products.

FIRST OFF, tools for the job should be assembled: a long-handled sash brush, 1½ or 2-inch size or smaller for metal casement windows; a metal or plastic paint shield or masking tape; undercoater and paint; brushes, scraper or steel wool as necessary to prepare the surface for painting.

Loose dust and dirt should be removed and peeling paint should be scraped. Any heavily soiled areas should be washed. Exposed wood should be primed with quality enamel undercoating indoors and house paint primer outdoors. Metal sash can be rubbed with steel wool and coated with metal primer.

Masking tape should be applied carefully, making sure it is butted against the sash, unless you prefer to use a paint shield. This shield is held with its edges pressed against the wood and is slid along the glass to keep paint off the panes. The shield should be wiped often since paint collects along the edges.

ONLY WHEN the surface is in good condition should painting begin. The Association gives the following procedure for double hung windows:

Raise the bottom sash and lower the top one, leaving a few inches clearance top and bottom. Start with the bottom sash, painting its top horizontal.

—Next, paint the strips of wood dividing the window into panes. Paint the vertical parts of the sash, leaving the bottom horizontal unpainted for the time being.

—Paint the strips of the upper sash, which is still lowered, and work as high as you can reach without going between the top and bottom sash. Paint the side verticals and the bottom horizontal of the top sash.

—Lower the bottom sash almost to its normal position by taking hold of the unpainted bottom horizontal. Leave the window partly open and raise the upper sash almost to the top by pushing on the unpainted top horizontal.

—Paint the upper horizontal of the top sash and follow by painting the parts of the strips and verticals you left unpainted. Paint the bottom horizontal of the lower sash and the top surface of the top horizontal strip of the bottom window. Paint the top half of the channel above the lower sash.

—Finally, paint the surrounding face trim, window frame and sill.

—Move both sashes at intervals until the paint is hard in order to prevent sticking.

Our PIZZA DEN and the New TERRACE ROOM

Dear Friend and Patron:

Twelve years ago my wife and I opened a tiny place at the above address.

Faith, struggle and your continues patronage through the years have made possible our success in expanding to over 100 seating-capacity while keeping the same warmth and true Italian Cuisine.

We have just completed the remodeling and addition of a new dining room, the Terrace Room. Come and visit us. We promise you something exceptionally different in atmosphere and quality.

In thanking you for all of this, we would like to inform you that from May 4th, 1965, every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, we shall celebrate with a Special Four-Course Dinner, not to exceed $1.85, having a choice of 10 different Italian Specialties. Price of Pizza includes salad. Children's servings from 45¢ to $1. throughout the week.

Our expanded menu of over 25 different four course dinners to choose from is available at all times where prices do not exceed $2.95.

Thanking you again,
Yours Sincerely,

Plastic Takes a Pretty Turn

Butterflies and flowers arranged here are clipped from household container plastics.

Outline of butterflies.

By Lorena Fleissig

BLOSSOMS and butterflies contribute much to our visual delight, our pleasure in color and form. They are reproduced in every medium, from carved bone and wood to cloth and glass. Small wonder that the housewife, too, can see butterflies and blossoms in ordinary kitchen helpers, such as smooth plastic bottles in rich bachelor-button blue, petunia-pink, daisy-yellow and vibrant turquoise. Inherent is a field of wild flowers accompanied by butterflies.

Armed with an icepick and scissors, scalloping shears and floral wire, one may take but a short time to cut two- and three-inch free-hand circles from the flat sides of the bottles or from the curving sides of the containers.

(All the aforementioned colored containers and more can be found at the laundromats or will be donated by friends if they get the word.)

The colored rounds are scissored into flower form by making eight cuts toward the center. Leave a center about the size of a nickel.

Round out the petals with the scissors and to get the fluted effect at the end of each petal barely clip each one with the scalloping shears.

Heat the tip of the icepick and bore two small holes, ¼ inch apart, in the flower centers.

Cut more nickel size circles from the scrap material, using the same color as the flowers. Place this so-called washer under the center of the flower and thrust the heated ice pick through to make the matching holes in the washer. One could also mark with pencil and then bore the holes.

Cut more small circles of brown and white plastic for the top centers of the flowers. The brown or dark centers are on the light colored flowers, the white is to center the dark flowers. A single hole is bored in each center.

ASSEMBLING proceeds with a three-inch length of floral wire that is stiff enough to hold up the flower and yet pliant enough to bend. The wire is put through one washer hole, through the matching one in the flower, then through the single hole in the brown or white circle, through a small gold or glass bead, returning the wire down the single hole, through the matching holes of flower and washer. Even the wires, cinch the parts tightly then twist the wires twice to hold the parts together. The double stem of wire will be an inch and a half long. The wire may be made longer to start, the stem may be covered or simply wound together and thrust into a foam base.

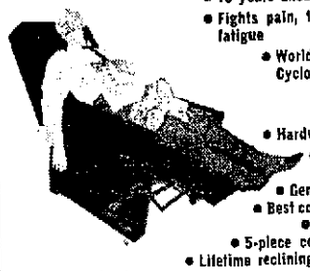

The stylized butterflies are first designed on a four-inch square of paper. Fold the paper to even up the pattern. Then it may be outlined with pencil on the plastic. With the square of plastic in hand, cut the fine antennas of the butterfly down to the body and if the scissors didn't slip, the pointed head is snipped out. In case the slip chops off the antennas, there is the area to the center or to side to cut other antennas.

TURN THEN to the opposite end and cut a pie-shaped section up to the body, snipping out the point of the tail. Then cut out the side of the wings. Thick spots in the plastic sometimes cause a problem but any wavy edges may be trimmed after the pattern is cut.

Southland Dining at its Finest in the Long Beach and Orange County Area

"WHAT HE lacked in formal training, he more than made up for in ability and hard work . . ."

Those words of praise were spoken recently by Ralph Fulton, manager of The Reef restaurant, 880 Harbor Scenic Dr., in Long Beach Harbor, in honor of a talented young chef, Art Dozal, who was killed in a Wilmington traffic accident in March. Fulton's tribute is noteworthy because it referred to a man who was not on the staff of his beautiful restaurant. Art was head chef at the Ports O' Call restaurant in San Pedro, operated—with the Reef—by the Tallichet restaurant chain.

Unlike most of the top chefs in the Tallichet organization, Art did not receive his training in the hallowed kitchens of Europe. He learned a harder way, acquiring his technique in busy American kitchens which do not have leisurely apprentice programs like those in France and Switzerland. Half a dozen years ago he worked for a time as a helper in the Reef kitchen. Then he was employed as a cook in a Catalina restaurant before going to the Ports O' Call 4½ years ago. Jerry Sutton, Ports O' Call manager, recognized Art's potential and promoted him to No. 1 chef. One of the dishes he created there, the Ports O' Call combination, is still the restaurant's most popular entree. It consists of delectable chunks of top sirloin broiled with mushroom caps on a skewer and served with a tender broiled lobster tail.

That dish is also by far the most popular item on the Reef's menu where it is served for $4.60 with chilled appetizers, fine salad, baked potato or long grain rice and beverage. It will be continued indefinitely on the menu of both restaurants in memory of 32-year-old Art, who is survived by his wife Pat and six small children.

SUNDAY TREAT — Frequently I'm asked this question by readers: "What's the name of that restaurant that serves little loaves of bread with its dinners?" The answer is Ken's Restaurant, 3918 Long Beach Blvd., an attractive, smoothly run place which bakes fresh loaves of bread daily, white and dark. Each dinner guest receives one, served on a board with a sharp knife for carving. The bread is warm and delicious. So are Ken's generous dinners, including select steaks, sea foods and fowls, priced from $2.25.

Flame Thrower in the Garden

By Joe Littlefield

Basketful of flame is this colorful array of dwarf cockscomb brought in from the garden.

CELOSIA, or cockscomb, is a tropical annual that is easily started from seed, and sowing the seed is like throwing flame into the garden because of cockscomb's bright blooms. Just sow the seeds in the soil where you want the color.

The small, silky, feathery flowers crowded into showy dense plumes are borne on short spikes. They grow about a foot tall and are good for flower arrangements in small bowls and vases.

The newest introduction of these dwarf annuals is Sunburst Celosia, heat tolerant and disease resistant, in bright red and glowing gold.

Gardeners who prefer everlasting dry bouquets instead of the plastic blossoms, cut the celosia flower stems, hang them upside down in a shady area to dry for several weeks, then arrange them.

TO SOW SEEDS, soak the planting area a day of two in advance, spread quarter-inch layer of quality grade steer manure over soil and cultivate it in about inch deep, rake over to level the soil. Mix the seeds with manure in a bucket. Manure helps separate the seeds for even broadcasting. After sowing, rake in the seeds and water carefully. Keep the soil moist till young seedlings are about an inch tall, then water as the soil dries. At first, protect the seedlings from snails and slugs by periodically scattering snail bait.

Zinnia and aster plants set out in separate groups, but related in the sunny garden area, provide a wide range of colors and flowers excellent for cut flower use.

The Accidental Tomato

By Caroline Coleman

They planted a cactus and this tomato plant was a bonus for Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Chandler.

WHEN the Charles Chandlers potted a cactus plant and set it on a window sill of their third story apartment at 229 Atlantic Ave., harvesting a crop of tomatoes was the last thing in their minds.

When a small plant appeared at the side of the cactus, Mrs. Chandler allowed it to grow, just to see the results. Soon the tomato plant completely covered the cactus, and filled the window base.

"We didn't really expect the plant to bear tomatoes though," explained Mrs. Chandler," as we had been told that pollination from other such plants was necessary in order to bear."

In a third story window in downtown Long Beach, such pollination seemed most improbable. All we know is that blossoms appeared, then real tomatoes!

Tips on Gardening

Garden tips for the week. . . . This is the ideal time to set out shrubs and trees from containers. For a difficut, shady spot, try the new Aucuba Japonica Picturata, whose showy leaves provide a stunning accent of golden yellow edged with glossy, rich green. Not fussy about soil.

Hydrangeas are available at your nursery now, and if you haven't tried the new French hybrids, you're in for a pleasant surprise. They provide midsummer drama in scarlet, salmon, soft pink or white, and grow no higher than 3 or 4 feet. Give them a fast-draining, humusy soil and a spot in the shade.

Garden Clubs

Belmont Heights Garden Club will have a spring flower show at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Wesley Hall, 317 Termino Ave. Musical selections will be presented by Mmes. Doris Longfellow, vocalist, and Shelby Bernard, pianist. Mrs. Muriel Oyaas will preside and a tea committee will include Mmes. Ruth Munson, Ethel Anderson, Anna Bramham, Madge Fatout, Katherine Hill, Olive Lucas and Minnie O'Toole. Visitors are welcome.

Plastics

will make designs on the plastic wings and the centers filled in with gold from a trichem tube, available in 10-cent stores.

Two holes in the center back are bored with the ice pick, heated. A firm wire is inserted to hold the butterfly upright over the flowers. For illustrating purposes (see photos), they were placed to one side.

Cornflower (Wrights) blue metallic rickrack circles the field, fastened with straight pins.

The turquoise flowers wired to the pink satin ribbon may be placed against a simple glass candle holder.

Painless Painting Pointers

MOST intrepid do-it-yourself painter — the fellow who tackles walls, ceilings, even exterior house painting without a qualm — often dreads, and botches the job, when it comes to windows.

Smeared glass, finger marked sash, windows stuck tight are the marks of an amateur paint job. They need not brand your work, however, if you will take care to use the proper tools, time to learn the proper techniques and patience to do the job right.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association says window painting is simple if you follow recommended procedure carefully and use only quality products.

FIRST OFF, tools for the job should be assembled: a long-handled sash brush, 1½ or 2-inch size or smaller for metal casement windows; a metal or plastic paint shield or masking tape; undercoater and paint; brushes, scraper or steel wool as necessary to prepare the surface for painting.

Loose dust and dirt should be removed and peeling paint should be scraped. Any heavily soiled areas should be washed. Exposed wood should be primed with quality enamel undercoating indoors and house paint primer outdoors. Metal sash can be rubbed with steel wool and coated with metal primer.

Masking tape should be applied carefully, making sure it is butted against the sash, unless you prefer to use a paint shield. This shield is held with its edges pressed against the wood and is slid along the glass to keep paint off the panes. The shield should be wiped often since paint collects along the edges.

ONLY WHEN the surface is in good condition should painting begin. The Association gives the following procedure for double hung windows:

Raise the bottom sash and lower the top one, leaving a few inches clearance top and bottom. Start with the bottom sash, painting its top horizontal.

—Next, paint the strips of wood dividing the window into panes. Paint the vertical parts of the sash, leaving the bottom horizontal unpainted for the time being.

—Paint the strips of the upper sash, which is still lowered, and work as high as you can reach without going between the top and bottom sash. Paint the side verticals and the bottom horizontal of the top sash.

—Lower the bottom sash almost to its normal position by taking hold of the unpainted bottom horizontal. Leave the window partly open and raise the upper sash almost to the top by pushing on the unpainted top horizontal.

—Paint the upper horizontal of the top sash and follow by painting the parts of the strips and verticals you left unpainted. Paint the bottom horizontal of the lower sash and the top surface of the top horizontal strip of the bottom window. Paint the top half of the channel above the lower sash.

—Finally, paint the surrounding face trim, window frame and sill.

—Move both sashes at intervals until the paint is hard in order to prevent sticking.

Dear Friend and Patron:

Twelve years ago my wife and I opened a tiny place at the above address.

Faith, struggle and your continues patronage through the years have made possible our success in expanding to over 100 seating capacity while keeping the same warmth and true Italian Cuisine.

We have just completed the remodeling and addition of a new dining room, the Terrace Room. Come and visit us. We promise you something exceptionally different in atmosphere and quality.

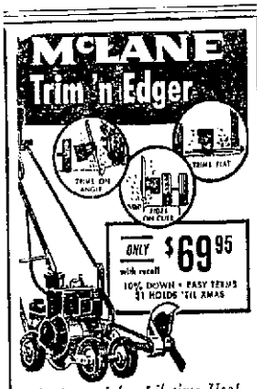

In thanking you for all of this, we would like to inform you that from May 4th, 1965, every Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, we shall celebrate with a Special Four-Course Dinner, not to exceed $1.85, having a choice of 10 different Italian Specialities. Price of Pizza includes salad. Children's servings from 45¢ to $1. throughout the week.

An expanded menu of over 25 different four course dinners to choose from is available at all times where prices do not exceed $2.95.

Thanking you again,
Yours Sincerely,

Personality Parade

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, PARADE, 733 Third Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Has Jackie Kennedy been dating anyone since the end of her mourning period?—A. Lerner, Los Angeles, Calif.

A. She has attended several affairs, has been seen with Adlai Stevenson (below), Rudolph Bing and others, but she is not "dating."

Q. Is it true that the major Japanese cartels, Mitsui, Mitsubishi and Sumitomo, now trade regularly with Red China?—H. L. T., Cambridge, Mass.

A. Yes. They have set up dummy firms which handle the Chinese trade under various names.

Q. My husband says there are more children in the Ozzie Nelson family than David and Ricky. Who is right?—Mary Adams, St. Louis, Mo.

A. You are.

Q. Lawrence Welk, is he married? How long? Does he have a family?—Mrs. E. R. B., Sr., Blairstown, Iowa.

A. Lawrence and Fern Welk have been married 34 years. They have three children (two married daughters, one unmarried son), five grandchildren.

Q. I read that President Johnson personally believes 18-year-olds should be given the right to vote. Is it true that he feels that way?—Helen Lawrence, Palo Alto, Calif.

A. True.

Q. Does the great violinist Yehudi Menuhin also have a son who is a genius with the violin?—Charles Klein, Chicago, Ill.

A. Jeremy Menuhin, son of the great violinist, recently made his debut as a classical pianist in England at age 13.

Q. What's happened to Walter Jenkins, formerly of the White House?—D. L., Washington, D.C.

A. Jenkins has moved to Austin, Tex., plans to make his home there.

Q. I would like to know something about David McCallum, co-star of The Man from U.N.C.L.E. — especially, if he's married. — Margaret Fraser, Portland, Ore.

A. David McCallum is a young Scottish actor who served as a small arms expert in the British Army in Africa from 1951 to 1953. He is married to actress Jill Ireland. They have three small children, reside in Hollywood. McCallum's father is the bandmaster in the famed Mantovani orchestra. McCallum's interest in the theater began when, at 14, he started to work as an apprentice electrician backstage.

Q. Eartha Kitt's husband, Bill McDonald—white or Negro?—G. T., Jackson, Miss.

A. White.

Q. I've been told many times that the Queen of England owns the most valuable real estate in London, that she owns in fact the whole of Regent Street, which brings in rents of $5 million a year. Is this a fact?—Irving Allen, Brooklyn, N.Y.

A. The land in question is part of the Crown Estates. These estates were considered the monarch's private property until George III agreed to hand over the revenue from these lands to the British treasury in exchange for a fixed annual income. Thus ever since the 18th century the British Monarchy has been supported by a grant of the Civil List. The Crown Estates are scattered throughout Britain in 41 different counties. According to the last published report, they provided the country with a net annual revenue of approximately $7,500,000.

A. Sean Connery, who plays James Bond in the movies, is he divorced from his wife, Diane Cilento?—Willa Martin, Miami, Fla.

A. They have reconciled as of this writing.

Q. Can you explain how an astronaut can step out of a spaceship going 18,000 miles an hour and not be blown away?—F. R., Columbia, S.C.

A. Speed is the measure of the relative motion of two objects. When Col. Alexei Leonov, the Russian astronaut who took a walk in space, left his spacecraft, both he and the capsule were in orbit at the same speed. In addition, there is practically no air at 300 miles altitude, which is why astronauts wear pressurized spacesuits equipped with oxygen. This lack of air means that the spaceman feels no blast of wind when he leaves his capsule. He is in a near-vacuum.

Q. Has Gloria Swanson, once managed by Joseph P. Kennedy—has she retired from films?—Jim Daniels, Winston Salem, N.C.

A. Miss Swanson says she would like to act in films, "but all I'm offered these days is horror films."

Q. How old is golfer Jack Nicklaus? Is he the world's richest golfer?—Dan O'Brien, Denver, Colo.

A. Nicklaus was born in Columbus, Ohio, on January 21, 1940. He is not at present the world's richest golfer, but at the rate he is going, he may well be one day.

Q. Who is the author of the following quotation: "On one issue at least, men and women agree; they both distrust women."?—S. Kavanaugh, New York, N.Y.

A. The late H. L. Mencken, American editor and critic.

Q. Fat King Farouk had dozens of dames in Rome before he kicked off. Did any of these beauties show up at his funeral? Also, who got his dough?—Ely R., Syracuse, N.Y.

A. Irma Capece Minutolo (above), Farouk's companion in his last years, cried copiously over his coffin. Farouk's entire estate was left to his children, Ferial, Fawzia, Fadia and Fuad.

Q. Dr. Janet Travell, formerly the White House physician, will she practice in Washington or New York?—L. T., Bethesda, Md.

A. Says Dr. Travell: "I intend to devote my time to clinical teaching and medical writing, and not to private practice." Dr. Travell owns a home in the District of Columbia and plans to reside in it.

Southland Dining at its Finest in the Long Beach and Orange County Area

"WHAT HE lacked in formal training, he more than made up for in ability and hard work..."

Those words of praise were spoken recently by Ralph Fulton, manager of The Reef restaurant, 880 Harbor Scenic Dr., in Long Beach Harbor, in honor of a talented young chef, Art Dozal, who was killed in a Wilmington traffic accident in March. Fulton's tribute is noteworthy because it referred to a man who was not on the staff of his beautiful restaurant. Art was head chef at the Ports O' Call restaurant in San Pedro, operated—with the Reef — by the Tallichet restaurant chain.

Unlike most of the top chefs in the Tallichet organization, Art did not receive his training in the hallowed kitchens of Europe. He learned a harder way, acquiring his technique in busy American kitchens which do not have leisurely apprentice programs like those in France and Switzerland. Half a dozen years ago he worked for a time as a helper in the Reef kitchen. Then he was employed as a cook in a Catalina restaurant before going to the Ports O' Call 4½ years ago. Jerry Sutton, Ports O' Call manager, recognized Art's potential and promoted him to No. 1 chef. One of the dishes he created there, the Ports O' Call combination, is still the restaurant's most popular entree. It consists of delectable chunks of top sirloin broiled with mushroom caps on a skewer and served with a tender broiled lobster tail.

That dish is also by far the most popular item on the Reef's menu where it is served for $4.60 with chilled appetizers, fine salad, baked potato or long grain rice and beverage. It will be continued indefinitely on the menu of both restaurants in memory of 32-year-old Art, who is survived by his wife Pat and six small children.

SUNDAY TREAT — Frequently I'm asked this question by readers: "What's the name of that restaurant that serves little loaves of bread with its dinners?" The answer is Ken's Restaurant, 3918 Long Beach Blvd., an attractive, smoothly run place which bakes fresh loaves of bread daily, white and dark. Each dinner guest receives one, served on a board with a sharp knife for carving. The bread is warm and delicious. So are Ken's generous dinners, including select steaks, sea foods and fowls, priced from $2.25.

A PARADE SERIAL

THE END OF A NAZI

by JACK ANDERSON

Riga monster, former Nazi SS major Herbert Cukurs, was tracked to Brazil and "executed."

Scattered throughout Latin America today are men who live in terror, Nazi war criminals who got away but now feel the hot breath of vengeance on their necks. This is the story of one of them—Herbert Cukurs, the monster of Riga, who took a leading part in the massacre of 32,000 Latvian Jews in 1941.

It took five years from the time PARADE tracked him down in Brazil until vengeance caught up with Cukurs. On February 23 his bullet-riddled body was found in a trunk in Montevideo, Uruguay, where he had been decoyed to his death. Greed had turned Cukurs into a Nazi thug, and greed led to his downfall. From what little is known about the plot to execute him, it seems a lucrative travel agency contract was the bait that tempted him to Montevideo.

After Israeli agents seized Adolf Eichmann in Buenos Aires, PARADE sent me to trace other war criminals hiding in Latin America. I found Cukurs in a white and blue lakeside bungalow not far from São Paulo, where he thought he had at last dropped out of sight. There can be little doubt that the PARADE discovery put the hounds of vengeance on his trail again.

A former Nazi SS major had tipped me off that Cukurs operated a seaplane service which gave joyrides to vacationers and sometimes flew other Nazis-on-the-run into the interior of Brazil. The SS officer's directions led me straight to Cukurs at the Paulista Riviera, a hot and dusty jeep ride from São Paulo.

THE RIGA MONSTER

I had collected a huge and horrifying file on Cukurs, including eyewitness reports of the Riga massacres, 10 days of blood and terror without mercy. They described Cukurs as strutting about in a black leather coat, brandishing a pistol, as Jews were brutalized and murdered. At least 11,000 Jewish men, women and children were herded into the Rumbil Forest outside Riga and shot down into mass graves. Others were barricaded in their synagogues, then burned alive. One witness alleged that Cukurs sought out Jewish children and flung them screaming into the flames.

Another survivor, Michael Miron, reported: "For some minutes I stayed very close to Cukurs. A Jewish lady started to cry when taken to one of the trucks. She wanted her daughter with her. Cukurs shot her. I was an eyewitness to this. In the same manner, I saw Cukurs shoot a child who was crying because she could not find her mother in the crowd. It took only one shot."

Nobody had any doubt about Cukurs' identity. He was well-known in Riga as a daredevil aviator, who had flown under the Libau bridge. He also had a reputation as a world traveler. Indeed, he had visited Palestine and had even lectured on his trip to the Jewish club at No. 6 Synagoga Street in Riga. On his way to his death a Jewish doctor who had been savagely beaten by Cukurs' men faced him and taunted through bloody lips: "Don't you intend to take me to Palestine, since you know the way so well?"

But the most moving and prophetic words were those of a woman, Iona Rodinov: "More than a pair of eyes looked at the well-known face of the executioner of Jews, Herbert—also known as Albert—Cukurs. Jews from the labor concentration camps saw how Herbert Cukurs took their mothers, sisters, fathers and children to their deaths. They swore over the bloody streets of the ghetto in Riga that they will never forget and much less forgive."

As the German front in the East crumbled, Cukurs fled first to Berlin, on to Marseilles, then made his way to Brazil. It is believed he chose Brazil because there were no known survivors of the Riga massacres living there and he would stand little chance of being recognized.

But he guessed badly. Only four months after his arrival a Jewish agent in Stockholm cabled Jewish leaders in Brazil to look out for Cukurs. It took three years before he was found operating a pleasure boat concession on a lake in Rio de Janeiro. Jewish youths picketed the place. The alarmed Cukurs, fearing an attempt to extradite him to stand trial for his war crimes, applied for Brazilian citizenship. But the Jewish community was able to block him.

Then he vanished—until I located him in the lakeside community. Already frightened by the Eichmann kidnaping, he had attracted local attention to himself by asking for police protection.

MAN IN TERROR

Two policemen were guarding his bungalow when I drove up. As they examined my credentials, I could see him watching me from the patio. The police took my White House press card to him, and he agreed to talk to me. But before he would let me through the gate, I had to convince him that I was not a Jew.

In my career as a reporter I have seen frightened men, but no man so deathly afraid as Herbert Cukurs. All the old Nazi bluster had drained from his stocky, barrel-chested figure. He fingered his heavy, dark-rimmed glasses nervously as he launched into a rebuttal of the charges against him.

"I don't have the blood of any Jews on my hands," he pleaded. "Nor did my subordinates murder any Jews. I was not a leader of the Nazi Party in Latvia. I was a simple mechanic. All I did was to repair the Party's trucks. I was too busy for politics and Jew killing. Here, let me show you some papers. . . ."

But when he opened a closet door to get them, I noticed other things more meaningful than his dubious documents—an old Nazi uniform, a black leather coat, a pistol peeping from his hip pocket, a plain gold ring on the little finger of his right hand. It looked like a wedding band that had been made for a larger finger of a smaller, less muscular hand.

For years after I first wrote about him, Cukurs must have been too cagey to leave his police protection. But the promise of profit finally lured him away.

THE EXECUTIONERS

Nobody knows who was responsible for the execution—it is hard to call it murder—of Herbert Cukurs, except that it was carried out by a group calling itself "Those who can never forget." Apparently there were at least two executioners, a tall, thin man in his late 60's who spoke French, and a shorter, younger man who spoke Spanish. They rented the Casa Cubertini villa in a fashionable suburb of Montevideo.

One day they were seen lugging in a large crate and were heard to say, "At last the refrigerator has arrived." That was on February 20, three days before Cukurs arrived in Montevideo from São Paulo with an airline ticket to Buenos Aires. But he never got further than the Casa Cubertini.

He had fled across half the world, and from across half the world vengeance had reached out for him. The first clue to this death came in a note addressed to the Associated Press office in Bonn, Germany. It announced that Cukurs, who had been named in absentia at Nuremburg as a war criminal, had been tried, found guilty and executed. His body, said the note, would be found in a trunk at the Casa Cubertini, Calle Colombia, Balneario Parque Carasco, Montevideo.

At first the AP thought the note a grisly prank. But after a follow-up phone call, the AP cabled its Montevideo office, which in turn notified the Uruguayan police. The mysterious tenants of the Casa Cubertini had vanished. But Cukurs was there, dead in the trunk. On the body was an airline ticket in Cukurs' name and a small gold medallion with a Nazi air force insignia and a tribute to Cukurs engraved on it.

The avengers clearly had gone to some pains to make sure that everyone would know Cukurs had been punished. How many more names are on their death list? For the hunters have now become the hunted, pursued by shadows. Any man's shadow can be that of his executioner.

Relax in a State of Excitement...

OREGON

Whale's Head, named from the appearance of an off-shore rock on Oregon's southern coast, (on U.S. 101), is one of three new additions to Oregon's magnificent system of state parks.

Wallowa Lake, in its alpine setting amid 10,000-foot peaks, offers scenic and uncrowded enjoyment of water sports, fishing, or exploring. It is in northeastern Oregon, easily reached over excellent state highways.

Two great north-south mountain ranges, the Cascades and the Coastal Range, plus the scattered heights of the Siskiyous, Blue Mountains and Wallowas, partition the state into distinctive geographic units of astonishing scenic beauty. Modern, easy-to-drive highways interlace all of Oregon—so that travel is only a matter of hours from the spicy warmth of the eastern plateaus to the tingle of salt spray on curved beach and rocky headland. Every sport, every hobby, every accommodation has been designed for your vacation delight. Come lose your cares in the cool, green vacationland. See America at its most beautiful—see Oregon!

Q. Has Jackie Kennedy been dating anyone since the end of her mourning period?—A. Lerner, Los Angeles, Calif.

A. She has attended several affairs, has been seen with Adlai Stevenson (below), Rudolph Bing and others, but she is not "dating."

Q. Is it true that the major Japanese cartels, Mitsui, Mitsubishi and Sumitomo, now trade regularly with Red China?—H. L. T., Cambridge, Mass.

A. Yes. They have set up dummy firms which handle the Chinese trade under various names.

Q. My husband says there are more children in the Ozzie Nelson family than David and Ricky. Who is right?—Mary Adams, St. Louis, Mo.

A. You are.

Q. Lawrence Welk, is he married? How long? Does he have a family?—Mrs. E. R. B., Sr., Blairstown, Iowa.

A. Lawrence and Fern Welk have been married 34 years. They have three children (two married daughters, one unmarried son), five grandchildren.

Q. I read that President Johnson personally believes 18-year-olds should be given the right to vote. Is it true that he feels that way?—Helen Lawrence, Palo Alto, Calif.

A. True.

Q. Does the great violinist Yehudi Menuhin also have a son who is a genius with the violin?—Charles Klein, Chicago, Ill.

A. Jeremy Menuhin, son of the great violinist, recently made his debut as a classical pianist in England at age 13.

Q. What's happened to Walter Jenkins, formerly of the White House?—D. L., Washington, D.C.

A. Jenkins has moved to Austin, Tex., plans to make his home there.

Q. I would like to know something about David McCallum, co-star of The Man from U.N.C.L.E. — especially, if he's married. — Margaret Fraser, Portland, Ore.

A. David McCallum is a young Scottish actor who served as a small arms expert in the British Army in Africa from 1951 to 1953. He is married to actress Jill Ireland. They have three small children, reside in Hollywood. McCallum's father is the bandmaster in the famed Mantovani orchestra. McCallum's interest in the theater began when, at 14, he started to work as an apprentice electrician backstage.

Q. Eartha Kitt's husband, Bill McDonald—white or Negro?—G. T., Jackson, Miss.

A. White.

Q. I've been told many times that the Queen of England owns the most valuable real estate in London, that she owns in fact the whole of Regent Street, which brings in rents of $5 million a year. Is this a fact?—Irving Allen, Brooklyn, N.Y.

A. The land in question is part of the Crown Estates. These estates were considered the monarch's private property until George III agreed to hand over the revenue from these lands to the British treasury in exchange for a fixed annual income. Thus ever since the 18th century the British Monarchy has been supported by a grant of the Civil List. The Crown Estates are scattered throughout Britain in 41 different counties. According to the last published report, they provided the country with a net annual revenue of approximately $7,500,000.

A. Sean Connery, who plays James Bond in the movies, is he divorced from his wife, Diane Cilento?—Willa Martin, Miami, Fla.

A. They have reconciled as of this writing.

Q. Can you explain how an astronaut can step out of a spaceship going 18,000 miles an hour and not be blown away?—F. R., Columbia, S.C.

A. Speed is the measure of the relative motion of two objects. When Col. Alexei Leonov, the Russian astronaut who took a walk in space, left his spacecraft, both he and the capsule were in orbit at the same speed. In addition, there is practically no air at 300 miles altitude, which is why astronauts wear pressurized spacesuits equipped with oxygen. This lack of air means that the spaceman feels no blast of wind when he leaves his capsule. He is in a near-vacuum.

Q. Has Gloria Swanson, once managed by Joseph P. Kennedy—has she retired from films?—Jim Daniels, Winston Salem, N.C.

A. Miss Swanson says she would like to act in films, "but all I'm offered these days is horror films."

Q. How old is golfer Jack Nicklaus? Is he the world's richest golfer?—Dan O'Brien, Denver, Colo.

A. Nicklaus was born in Columbus, Ohio, on January 21, 1940. He is not at present the world's richest golfer, but at the rate he is going, he may well be one day.

Q. Who is the author of the following quotation: "On one issue at least, men and women agree; they both distrust women."?—S. Kavanaugh, New York, N.Y.

A. The late H. L. Mencken, American editor and critic.

Q. Fat King Farouk had dozens of dames in Rome before he kicked off. Did any of these beauties show up at his funeral? Also, who got his dough?—Ely R., Syracuse, N.Y.

A. Irma Capece Minutolo (above), Farouk's companion in his last years, cried copiously over his coffin. Farouk's entire estate was left to his children, Ferial, Fawzia, Fadia and Fuad.

Q. Dr. Janet Travell, formerly the White House physician, will she practice in Washington or New York?—L. T., Bethesda, Md.

A. Says Dr. Travell: "I intend to devote my time to clinical teaching and medical writing, and not to private practice." Dr. Travell owns a home in the District of Columbia and plans to reside in it.

SEE THE NEW USA

by NEAL ASHBY

There's a "New" USA to be seen and savored. If you haven't been on the move in America lately, you've missed the recreation areas and parks, resort and amusement centers and added features in cities that weren't there even a year or two ago. And you haven't traveled the new highways that speed you on your way.

President Johnson first called attention to the "New" USA in urging Americans to see the wonders and sample the vacation facilities in our own land. Scanning the nation, PARADE has found there is, indeed, a striking new look on the travel scene.

Today, PARADE describes some highlights of the scenic and pleasure surprises within our borders. And if you're planning to see the "New" USA this year, take advantage of PARADE's special, exclusive, money-saving package of maps, information and discount tickets to help you eliminate worrisome travel uncertainties and get the most out of your trip. Or trips! See the details on the opposite page.

The travel package will assist you in reaching (and finding food and lodging near) any point of interest in the U.S. A new national park—like Canyonlands in southeastern Utah, with its weird rock formations and gaping gorges—might be your choice.

We're increasingly aware of the value of our relics of history. Our newest such attractions are mighty battleships, with proud war records, which are open to the public. No less than four of them may be boarded at widely separated U.S. ports.

There's renewal and enrichment in every U.S. city. Los Angeles has a new Art Museum and Music Center, Chicago a new Science Hall, Washington a new free-flight rare bird enclosure.

The state of Kentucky, going heavily into the tourist business, is adding to its unique resort parks. Homestead, Fla., has established a Pioneer Museum. Winthrop Rockefeller has opened his Arkansas estate to the public. There's even something new at that granddaddy of tourist attractions, Niagara Falls: tall towers from which to view this extravaganza of nature.

Just completed segments of the 41,000-mile federal Interstate Highway System, and of important state routes, are speeding continental travel in all directions. For those who want to leave the driving to someone else, bus systems, railroads and airlines are competing hotly to fashion the most appealing tour plans.

President Johnson late last year signed a joint congressional resolution and issued a proclamation calling on Americans to visit their own nation. He appointed a Presidential Task Force on Travel and Recreation, headed by Vice-President Humphrey and including members of the Commerce, Interior and Treasury departments and the Office of Emergency Planning.

"At no other time in the history of the country has travel received such top-level attention," notes James Gross, executive director of the National Association of Travel Organizations.

a question of balance

Our government's strongest motivation, frankly, is the need to reduce the balance of payments deficit. Travel expenditures are a principal factor in the deficit. Last year, U.S. citizens touring abroad spent 2 billion more dollars than foreign visitors spent here. You can help your country's economy by doing your traveling at home.

But, as the government points out, seeing the U.S.A. assures more tangible benefits as well.

"Americans who have visited the memorable monuments of Washington will better grasp the real meaning of Trafalgar Square and the Arc de Triomphe," Interior Secretary Stewart Udall has noted. Economic advantages have been pinpointed by James Morton, special assistant Secretary of Commerce: "Travel creates jobs in the unskilled categories where they are most needed. Expanding travel brings expansion of many supporting service enterprises. The travel dollar moves swiftly through the community."

tion is not sharing in the joys of new experiences and new surroundings.

Travel, according to the Commerce Department, has become a $30 billion a year industry, the nation's third-largest after manufacturing and agriculture. Last year, 55 per cent of us took some kind of weekend or vacation trip, the American Automobile Association reports. AAA adds that 94.5 million persons took at least a 1-day trip by car in 1964.

Yet, paradoxically, the hotel industry estimates that 60 per cent of our citizens have never spent a night in a hotel. Airlines say some 75 per cent of Americans have never flown in a plane. And 45 per cent of us took no weekend or vacation trip.

So, any way you look at it, whether your suitcase is battered or you've been a stay-at-home, there's a lot of traveling to be done. Here are some of the newest things in travel within our far-flung boundaries:

NATIONAL PARKS. Cape Cod was designated a National Seashore a few years ago; now more shore areas have been added to our national park system. Two of these, Point Reyes, Calif., and Padre Island, Tex., will welcome swimmers and fishermen for their first official vacation season this summer.

Also new, products of federal support for recreation facilities, are National Recreation Areas. At Glen Canyon on the Arizona-Utah border, a huge dam has created vast Lake Powell. The National Park Service is busily installing boating and camping facilities. It's doing the same at Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area on the Utah-Wyoming border and at Whiskeytown-Shasta-Trinity in northern California.

BATTLESHIPS. Landlubbers are scurrying over the decks of four now-retired great battleships. They're the U.S.S. North Carolina, docked at Wilmington, N.C.; the Alabama, at Mobile; the Texas, at Houston, and "Mighty Mo," the Missouri, at Bremerton, Wash.

CITIES. Besides the bird-watching facility at the National Zoo, Washington has a new Naval Museum. The fabulous Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, world's longest suspension span, now enhances New York City's lower skyline. Dallas has a new skyscraper Apparel Mart. St. Petersburg, Fla., is presenting sea acts in a new, $3 million Aquatarium.

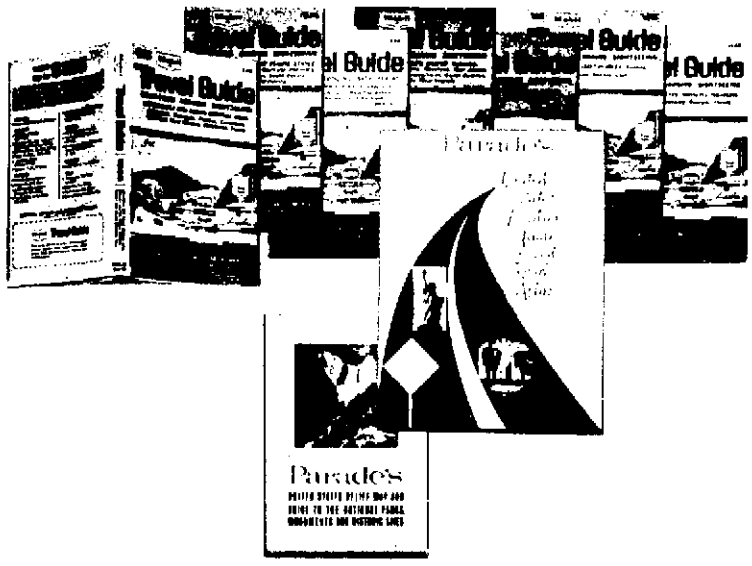

TOUR PLANS. "See the USA" is the theme of several new Greyhound bus tours that carry passengers to whole strings of cities for under $100. One example is San Francisco-Los Angeles-El Paso-Dallas-Memphis-St. Louis-Omaha-Salt Lake City-San Francisco. There also are "Quick Trip" weekend trips for about $75.

The New York Central Railroad is running new, week-long World's Fair tours from Chicago every Sunday which include a Broadway show and sight-seeing between visits to the fair.

"Western USA Adventures" tours have been inaugurated by Trans World Airlines, winging travelers to view the sights on the West Coast and in the canyon country, with side trips included.

HIGHWAYS. The huge interstate system should reach the halfway point toward completion this year. Month by month, last links are being added to long stretches of limited-access, divided highway. Interstate 80 now makes easy the previously difficult drive through the Donner Pass in California's Sierra Nevada. Completion of the final 72-mile segment makes possible a clear shot from Macon, Ga., down to Miami on I 75. In Ohio, I 71 now runs almost all the way across the state, northeast to southwest, Akron to Cincinnati. With completion of a new bridge, the state of Florida now offers a 72-mile oceanfront drive (Rte. A1A) down the east coast from Cape Kennedy to Ft. Pierce.

It's all there, and much more, waiting to be appreciated by American travelers. Plan your trip. And let PARADE's remarkable travel package ride with you. You get it at a significant money saving and are guaranteed to have some of the worries removed from your shoulders, some of the strain lifted from your pocketbook and some miles shaved from your route.

"I don't have the blood of any Jews on my hands," he pleaded. "Nor did my subordinates murder any Jews. I was not a leader of the Nazi Party in Latvia. I was a simple mechanic. All I did was to repair the Party's trucks. I was too busy for politics and Jew killing. Here, let me show you some papers. . . ."

But when he opened a closet door to get them, I noticed other things more meaningful than his dubious documents—an old Nazi uniform, a black leather coat, a pistol peeping from his hip pocket, a plain gold ring on the little finger of his right hand. It looked like a wedding band that had been made for a larger finger of a smaller, less muscular hand.

For years after I first wrote about him, Cukurs must have been too cagey to leave his police protection. But the promise of profit finally lured him away.

THE EXECUTIONERS

Nobody knows who was responsible for the execution—it is hard to call it murder—of Herbert Cukurs, except that it was carried out by a group calling itself "Those who can never forget." Apparently there were at least two executioners, a tall, thin man in his late 60's who spoke French, and a shorter, younger man who spoke Spanish. They rented the Casa Cubertini villa in a fashionable suburb of Montevideo.

One day they were seen lugging in a large crate and were heard to say, "At last the refrigerator has arrived." That was on February 20, three days before Cukurs arrived in Montevideo from São Paulo with an airline ticket to Buenos Aires. But he never got further than the Casa Cubertini.

He had fled across half the world, and from across half the world vengeance had reached out for him. The first clue to this death came in a note addressed to the Associated Press office in Bonn, Germany. It announced that Cukurs, who had been named in absentia at Nuremburg as a war criminal, had been tried, found guilty and executed. His body, said the note, would be found in a trunk at the Casa Cubertini, Calle Colombia, Balneario Parque Carasco, Montevideo.

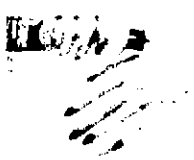

At first the AP thought the note a grisly prank. But after a follow-up phone call, the AP cabled its Montevideo office, which in turn notified the Uruguayan police. The mysterious tenants of the Casa Cubertini had vanished. But Cukurs was there, dead in the trunk. On the body was an airline ticket in Cukurs' name and a small gold medallion with a Nazi air force insignia and a tribute to Cukurs engraved on it.

The avengers clearly had gone to some pains to make sure that everyone would know Cukurs had been punished. How many more names are on their death list? For the hunters have now become the hunted, pursued by shadows. Any man's shadow can be that of his executioner.

Relax in a State of Excitement... OREGON

Whale's Head, named from the appearance of an off-shore rock on Oregon's southern coast, (on U.S. 101), is one of three new additions to Oregon's magnificent system of state parks.

Wallowa Lake, in its alpine setting amid 10,000-foot peaks, offers scenic and uncrowded enjoyment of water sports, fishing, or exploring. It is in northeastern Oregon, easily reached over excellent state highways.

Two great north-south mountain ranges, the Cascades and the Coastal Range, plus the scattered heights of the Siskiyous, Blue Mountains and Wallowas, partition the state into distinctive geographic units of astonishing scenic beauty. Modern, easy-to-drive highways interlace all of Oregon—so that travel is only a matter of hours from the spicy warmth of the eastern plateaus to the tingle of salt spray on curved beach and rocky headland. Every sport, every hobby, every accommodation has been designed for your vacation delight. Come lose your cares in the cool, green vacationland. See America at its most beautiful—see Oregon!

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by DAVE MADDEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dave Madden, born in Canada but raised in Terre Haute, Ind., is a comedian in his early 30's who mixes whimsy, satire and timeliness in his entertainment package. A graduate of the University of Miami, class of '55, Dave worked his way through college telling jokes at clubs and parties in greater Miami, then graduated to the giant hotels on Miami Beach. His first big break was achieved several years ago at Ye Little Club in Beverly Hills, where he was booked for 10 smash weeks. This led to other night club engagements and appearances on most of the major network TV shows. In addition to playing the Playboy Club circuit, Dave has appeared at the Tidelands in Houston, the Embers in Indianapolis, the Chi Chi in Palm Springs, the King's Club in Dallas. He is what is known in the trade as a "soft-sell comic," employing a gentle, persuasive type of comedy. One of his sock routines is his Leopoldville Hootenanny, in which he dons robe and red beret and strums a guitar while singing parodies of well-known folk songs. Herewith some of Dave Madden's favorite jokes:

I think that every comedian who wants to hit it big should sponsor a disease. I'm raising money to wipe out one of the greatest killers of all time—natural causes.

The last night club I worked—business was so good that our night off was Saturday.

A customer returned to his favorite druggist. "And how did you like the bath salts?" asked the druggist.

Said the customer ruefully: "They tasted good enough, but frankly I don't think they have the same effect as a real bath."

A poor student was explaining his poor grades to his irate father. "You just can't beat the system, Dad. Last semester I decided to take basket-weaving. It's a snap course, and I figured I would sail through. Know what happened? Two Navajos enrolled, raised the class average, and I flunked."

An American tourist, newly returned from Russia, was fascinating the folks with tales of his auto trips from Leningrad to Odessa.

"Gee!" said his sister. "But how do you know when you violate traffic laws?"

"Easy," replied the tourist. "You go to prison."

Then there was the absent-minded professor who forgot to write a book to sell to his class.

Two society matrons met in a department store. Said the first, "I met your husband the other day. Gosh! What a brilliant man. I suppose he knows everything."

Said the second: "Don't be silly. He doesn't suspect a thing."

"Your age?" asked the female lawyer. "Just about the same as yours," replied the female witness.

"I just read in the paper," said a suburban housewife, "that Mrs. Castle has cremated her third husband."

Her friend, a spinster, shook her head sadly. "Isn't that always the way?" she demanded. "Some of us can't get one, and others have husbands to burn."

Anecdote of the Week

■ Actress Angie Dickinson, single and in her 30's, was asked which of the following characteristics she wanted most in a husband: brains, wealth or appearance.

"Appearance," she replied immediately. "And the sooner the better."

THE CONN THEATRETTE

At last! A true theatre organ that's home-size

The magical, wonderful sound of that big movie-palace organ—now yours to play and enjoy in your own home!

SEE THE NEW USA

by NEAL ASHBY

There's a "New" USA to be seen and savored. If you haven't been on the move in America lately, you've missed the recreation areas and parks, resort and amusement centers and added features in cities that weren't there even a year or two ago. And you haven't traveled the new highways that speed you on your way.

President Johnson first called attention to the "New" USA in urging Americans to see the wonders and sample the vacation facilities in our own land. Scanning the nation, PARADE has found there is, indeed, a striking new look on the travel scene.

Today, PARADE describes some highlights of the scenic and pleasure surprises within our borders. And if you're planning to see the "New" USA this year, take advantage of PARADE's special, exclusive, money-saving package of maps, information and discount tickets to help you eliminate worrisome travel uncertainties and get the most out of your trip. Or trips! See the details on the opposite page.

The travel package will assist you in reaching (and finding food and lodging near) any point of interest in the U.S. A new national park—like Canyonlands in southeastern Utah, with its weird rock formations and gaping gorges—might be your choice.

We're increasingly aware of the value of our relics of history. Our newest such attractions are mighty battleships, with proud war records, which are open to the public. No less than four of them may be boarded at widely separated U.S. ports.

There's renewal and enrichment in every U.S. city. Los Angeles has a new Art Museum and Music Center, Chicago a new Science Hall, Washington a new free-flight rare bird enclosure.

The state of Kentucky, going heavily into the tourist business, is adding to its unique resort parks. Homestead, Fla., has established a Pioneer Museum. Winthrop Rockefeller has opened his Arkansas estate to the public. There's even something new at that granddaddy of tourist attractions, Niagara Falls: tall towers from which to view this extravaganza of nature.

Just completed segments of the 41,000-mile federal Interstate Highway System, and of important state routes, are speeding continental travel in all directions. For those who want to leave the driving to someone else, bus systems, railroads and airlines are competing hotly to fashion the most appealing tour plans.

President Johnson late last year signed a joint congressional resolution and issued a proclamation calling on Americans to visit their own nation. He appointed a Presidential Task Force on Travel and Recreation, headed by Vice-President Humphrey and including members of the Commerce, Interior and Treasury departments and the Office of Emergency Planning.

"At no other time in the history of the country has travel received such top-level attention," notes James Gross, executive director of the National Association of Travel Organizations.

a question of balance

Our government's strongest motivation, frankly, is the need to reduce the balance of payments deficit. Travel expenditures are a principal factor in the deficit. Last year, U.S. citizens touring abroad spent 2 billion more dollars than foreign visitors spent here. You can help your country's economy by doing your traveling at home.

But, as the government points out, seeing the U.S.A. assures more tangible benefits as well.

"Americans who have visited the memorable monuments of Washington will better grasp the real meaning of Trafalgar Square and the Arc de Triomphe," Interior Secretary Stewart Udall has noted. Economic advantages have been pinpointed by James Morton, special assistant Secretary of Commerce: "Travel creates jobs in the unskilled categories where they are most needed. Expanding travel brings expansion of many supporting service enterprises. The travel dollar moves swiftly through the community."

A steadily growing number of us are seeing our own country, but a surprisingly large portion of the population is not sharing in the joys of new experiences and new surroundings.

Travel, according to the Commerce Department, has become a $30 billion a year industry, the nation's third-largest after manufacturing and agriculture. Last year, 55 per cent of us took some kind of weekend or vacation trip, the American Automobile Association reports. AAA adds that 94.5 million persons took at least a 1-day trip by car in 1964.

Yet, paradoxically, the hotel industry estimates that 60 per cent of our citizens have never spent a night in a hotel. Airlines say some 75 per cent of Americans have never flown in a plane. And 45 per cent of us took no weekend or vacation trip.

So, any way you look at it, whether your suitcase is battered or you've been a stay-at-home, there's a lot of traveling to be done. Here are some of the newest things in travel within our far-flung boundaries:

NATIONAL PARKS. Cape Cod was designated a National Seashore a few years ago; now more shore areas have been added to our national park system. Two of these, Point Reyes, Calif., and Padre Island, Tex., will welcome swimmers and fishermen for their first official vacation season this summer.

Also new, products of federal support for recreation facilities, are National Recreation Areas. At Glen Canyon on the Arizona-Utah border, a huge dam has created vast Lake Powell. The National Park Service is busily installing boating and camping facilities. It's doing the same at Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area on the Utah-Wyoming border and at Whiskeytown-Shasta-Trinity in northern California.

BATTLESHIPS. Landlubbers are scurrying over the decks of four now-retired great battleships. They're the U.S.S. North Carolina, docked at Wilmington, N.C.; the Alabama, at Mobile; the Texas, at Houston, and "Mighty Mo," the Missouri, at Bremerton, Wash.

CITIES. Besides the bird-watching facility at the National Zoo, Washington has a new Naval Museum. The fabulous Verrazano-Narrows Bridge, world's longest suspension span, now enhances New York City's lower skyline. Dallas has a new skyscraper Apparel Mart. St. Petersburg, Fla., is presenting sea acts in a new, $3 million Aquatarium.

TOUR PLANS. "See the USA" is the theme of several new Greyhound bus tours that carry passengers to whole strings of cities for under $100. One example is San Francisco-Los Angeles-El Paso-Dallas-Memphis-St. Louis-Omaha-Salt Lake City-San Francisco. There also are "Quick Trip" weekend trips for about $75.

The New York Central Railroad is running new, week-long World's Fair tours from Chicago every Sunday which include a Broadway show and sight-seeing between visits to the fair.

"Western USA Adventures" tours have been inaugurated by Trans World Airlines, winging travelers to view the sights on the West Coast and in the canyon country, with side trips included.

HIGHWAYS. The huge interstate system should reach the halfway point toward completion this year. Month by month, last links are being added to long stretches of limited-access, divided highway. Interstate 80 now makes easy the previously difficult drive through the Donner Pass in California's Sierra Nevada. Completion of the final 72-mile segment makes possible a clear shot from Macon, Ga., down to Miami on I 75. In Ohio, I 71 now runs almost all the way across the state, northeast to southwest, Akron to Cincinnati. With completion of a new bridge, the state of Florida now offers a 72-mile oceanfront drive (Rte. A1A) down the east coast from Cape Kennedy to Ft. Pierce.

It's all there, and much more, waiting to be appreciated by American travelers. Plan your trip. And let PARADE's remarkable travel package ride with you. You get it at a significant money saving and are guaranteed to have some of the worries removed from your shoulders, some of the strain lifted from your pocketbook and some miles shaved from your route.

Uniforms of tomorrow: Pants are much more practical for nurses, say manufacturers.

SHOULD NURSES WEAR TROUSERS?

by LLOYD SHEARER

LONDON.

■ For the past two years a bevy of attractive fashion models, demonstrating the newest in uniforms, has proved the show-shopper of the annual Nurses & Midwives Exhibition here. Clothes manufacturers claim that nurses throughout the world are long overdue for a change in dress style, that traditional uniforms— white, heavy, stiff and starchy—are based on old Victorian 19th-century models and are no longer practical. "We're sure," says one manufacturer, "that there's a crying need for new uniforms, not only for nurses but for the rest of the hospital staff. We've gotten our designers to meet with a panel of nurses, and these are the designs we've come up with. Many of the nurses say that the caps they wear are useless and can be done away with, but there's tradition to think of. In some hospitals they are already experimenting with disposable paper caps and cuffs, but for the most part the nursing and medical worlds move slowly. The stout nurses still like billowing uniforms with aprons. They are dead set against the new trouser uniform. Those nurses who have good figures, however, prefer pants with pockets. The whole idea is to take the stiffness and impracticality out of the hospital uniform. Nurses work extremely hard, and they are entitled to a maximum of personal comfort." As yet there is no hospital in America or England where the nurses wear trousers, but according to the manufacturers that day isn't far off.

Some nurses prefer this type cap, say that the old kind tends to slip off head.

Stylish jacket replaces nurse's apron, is worn over cool seersucker uniform.

The Rev. Danny Graber motorcycles with—and helps—Akron's JD's.

A MINISTER AND HIS GANG

by GENE I. MAEROFF

AKRON, OHIO.

A group of tough-looking youngsters saunter out of a grimy pool hall and mount their motorcycles. Leading the pack as they roar off into the night is the toughest-looking one of them all, a brute of a crewcut, 200-pound 6-footer. He's dressed the way the others are, except for a couple of embellishments: a clerical collar and a cross.

Almost every night the Rev. Danny Graber leads some of his "flock"—juvenile delinquents and young hoods—from the hangouts of this industrial city's toughest neighborhoods to the Main St. Methodist Church. They go for bull sessions and for workouts in the church gym—sometimes for private sparring sessions that are anything but friendly.

"These kids are just hanging around," says Danny, who at 23 is younger than some of his charges. "Now they know they can drift over to the church and hang around there. There they can be sure of keeping out of trouble at least, and we sometimes get some worthwhile talking done. Other guys use the gym to work off steam and sometimes grudges. I try to make them use the gloves, but if they want to do it street style, it's all right; I don't let anybody get really hurt—and nobody's going to get arrested here."

Bull sessions and working off steam are just a part of the unique program Danny Graber has established. "This is no recreation project," he emphasizes. "But the first thing to do is get the kids interested in coming here. I don't try to force anything on them or preach at them, but I do invite them to our daytime sessions, where we really go to work on their problems."

Danny uses what he calls the week-by-week system in his sessions. "The guys talk about what happened last week—what went right, what went wrong. Then we talk about what we'd like to happen next week. It's sort of the way Alcoholics Anonymous works."

While the church doesn't officially attempt to help these youngsters find work, Danny and others do what they can in this area. "If a kid is employable and I hear of a job, I try to get them together," he says. "We also try to get the younger ones back to school; if they need work we sometimes work out a part-time deal—a few days at school, a few at work. The important thing is to get them started in some direction. At this age—between 17 and 25—most people make up their minds what they want to do in life. We hope to help them make the right kind of decisions."

The key to Danny's program—and to his own attitude toward life—is his use of Christ as an example and the way he introduces Him to his youngsters. "Most of these guys have this image of Jesus as a soft, gentle person who had long hair and wore a flowing robe. He looked like their older sister. But I try to present Him as a real, dynamic guy, one who can break your head as well as save your soul. It seems to work."

It was while Danny was serving a hitch in the Navy, right after graduating from high school, that he formed his ideas about Christ. "I'd been exposed to religion, sure, just like most of the kids I work with here, but it didn't mean anything to me. But while I was in the Navy I was stuck in the hospital for a while with a case of food poisoning, and there happened to be a Bible handy. Since I was bored and had nothing else to do, I started to read it. I can't put my finger on anything specific, but somehow I began to think there might be something to this religion bit."

BIBLE SESSIONS

Soon after he got out of the hospital he spoke to some of his buddies about his reactions to the Bible and asked them if they'd like to give it a similar try. "It's kind of funny, looking back on it, but pretty soon there I was, leading regular Bible study sessions."

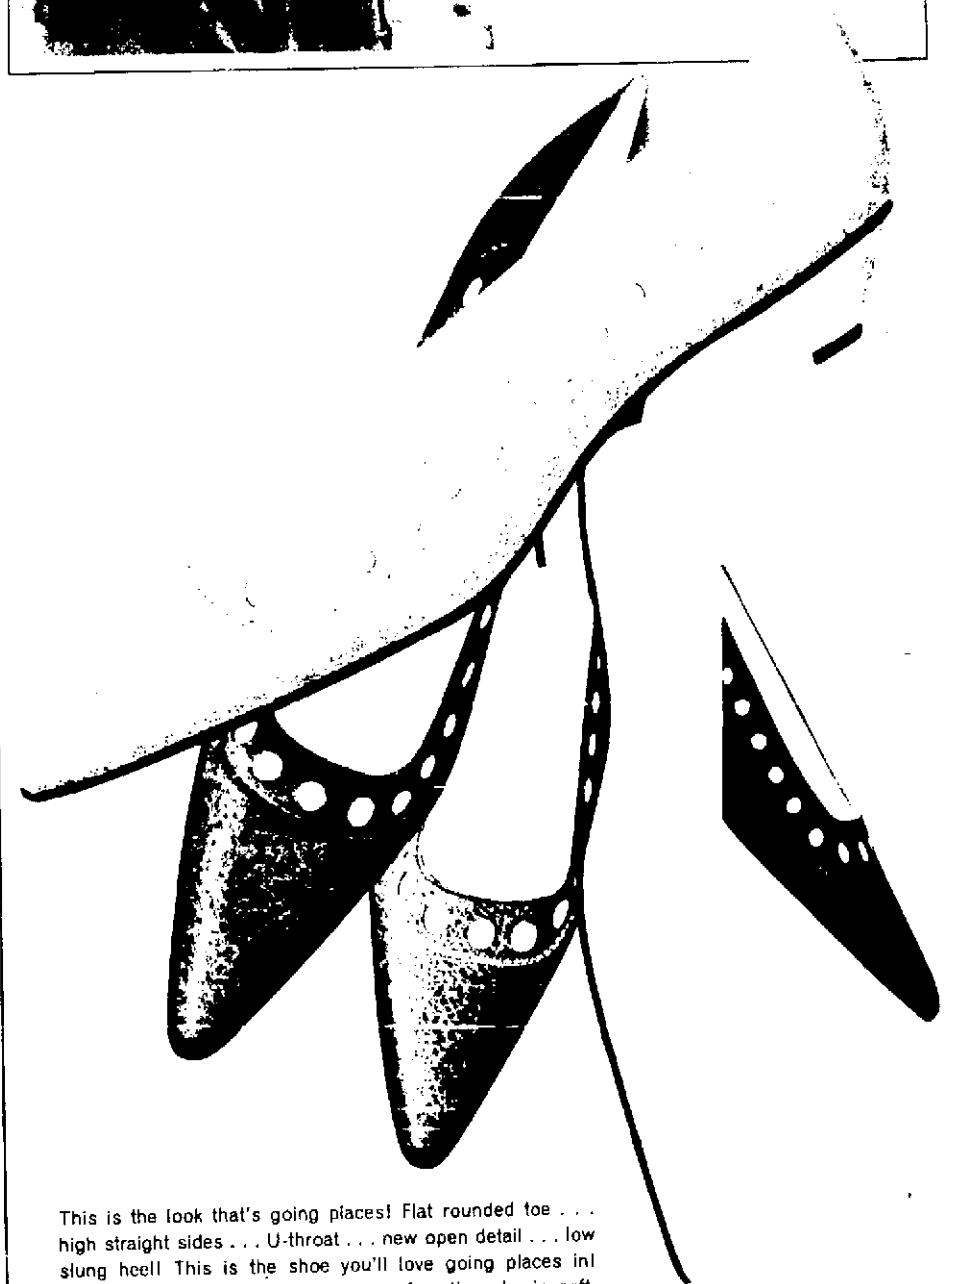

Danny went right from the Navy to Evangelical Congregational School of Theology in Myerstown, Pa. While he was there he started his work with delinquent youngsters. He started a similar program in his home town of Canton, Ohio, after graduation and licensing, but didn't get the support he felt he needed. Then the pastor of Main St. Methodist Church heard about his work and invited him to Akron last December. Danny's work since then has been so effective that he's now helping other churches here set up similar programs.

"I don't expect other ministers to go out the way I do and hang out with kids who would just as soon beat up a minister as look at him. But they can go out in their neighborhoods, where the kids live, and offer them the same kind of help I offer. The important thing is to make them want to come in, not to force them or make it an obligation."

Danny doesn't say so, but it's doubtful that anyone else would dare try to work the way he does with young hoods. "The photographer who was assigned to this story didn't mind taking pictures in the church's gym, but he wouldn't come out at night with me," Danny says with a smile. But every night Danny himself rides his motorcycle into this city's most dangerous areas, with nothing but his 200 pounds of muscle for protection—together with his faith and understanding. For the Rev. Danny Graber, that's plenty.

THEY TRAVEL WITH OUR SECRETS

U.S. Diplomatic Courier gets international secrets through safely.

by FRED BLUMENTHAL

WASHINGTON, D.C.

If you are a young man who loves to travel—and what young man doesn't?—how would you like to live abroad and criss-cross the world at Uncle Sam's expense?

You won't be a tourist. You will be doing a difficult, vital job with enormous responsibility—carrying America's most important secrets to our diplomatic posts in 156 cities in 103 countries.

You will have time to study. You will see more of the world than almost any man alive. You will learn languages, customs, the art of getting along in foreign lands. In a few short years you will acquire assets that could make you valuable in either business or diplomacy.

The job: A member of Uncle Sam's Diplomatic Courier Service, an elite team of 84 globe-trotters who travel far and fast as his most trusted messengers.

The qualifications: You must be between 25 and 31, a college graduate—and single. In fact, you must agree not to marry for at least a year after joining the service (so you will know what a young wife will be up against). You must pass a rigid security and loyalty test going back to the day of your birth—to achieve the required top secret clearance.

BRAINS NOT BRAWN

Starting pay is $5,490, rising to maximum of $9,775. While traveling you will get a standard allowance of $16 a day. You don't have to speak a foreign language—though you will soon learn to get by in many—and you don't have to be a muscle man. Brains and integrity are the chief requirements—and as always the State Department maintains a backlog of applicants.

You won't carry a gun, and you won't be chained to a pouch. It may disappoint the James Bond enthusiasts, but no U.S. courier has ever been robbed, no pouch lost and no courier slugged or drugged by a foreign spy.

Yet you will be loaded down with the nation's most precious secrets. The dirty white canvas pouches for which you are responsible will contain 200 to 300—and sometimes as much as 1,000—pounds of vital materials and information.

What's inside the pouches? The courier does not know. But they could hold, for example, crucial code changes, high-altitude U-2 and satellite spy pictures, intelligence reports covering anything from an international plot to a narcotics ring in Hong Kong and accounts of confidential talks between U.S. ambassadors and world leaders that could mean the difference between peace and war.

When the White House sends a change of policy instruction to our ambassador in Moscow, it goes by pouch.

Despite today's sophisticated communications systems, there is equally sophisticated code-breaking equipment in all major countries. Consequently the really important things still have to go the old-fashioned way—in the hands of a trusted courier.

If you become a courier, you will be based at one of three headquarters, Frankfurt, Panama or Manila. Behind the Iron Curtain you will travel in pairs, just as Russian couriers travel in pairs in the free world. But most of the time you will be on your own, and in emergencies, such as the Cuban crisis, you may find yourself traveling 12 hours a day, 7 days a week.

It sounds easy to sit back and fly. But regulations require you to be at the airport a full hour before your plane leaves. You have to watch your pouches, which are stowed in the belly of the plane. You will always be the last man on board—and the first off to check those pouches out. To miss a flight without excellent reason—like a revolution downtown—is unforgivable; and couriers may not make mistakes. One courier carried three wristwatches, another two alarm clocks.

You will go through as many as three time zones in a day and Uniforms of tomorrow: Pants are much more practical for nurses, say manufacturers.

SHOULD NURSES WEAR TROUSERS?

by LLOYD SHEARER

LONDON.

■ For the past two years a bevy of attractive fashion models, demonstrating the newest in uniforms, has proved the show-shopper of the annual Nurses & Midwives Exhibition here. Clothes manufacturers claim that nurses throughout the world are long overdue for a change in dress style, that traditional uniforms—white, heavy, stiff and starchy—are based on old Victorian 19th-century models and are no longer practical. "We're sure," says one manufacturer, "that there's a crying need for new uniforms, not only for nurses but for the rest of the hospital staff. We've gotten our designers to meet with a panel of nurses, and these are the designs we've come up with. Many of the nurses say that the caps they wear are useless and can be done away with, but there's tradition to think of. In some hospitals they are already experimenting with disposable paper caps and cuffs, but for the most part the nursing and medical worlds move slowly. The stout nurses still like billowing uniforms with aprons. They are dead set against the new trouser uniform. Those nurses who have good figures, however, prefer pants with pockets. The whole idea is to take the stiffness and impracticality out of the hospital uniform. Nurses work extremely hard, and they are entitled to a maximum of personal comfort." As yet there is no hospital in America or England where the nurses wear trousers, but according to the manufacturers that day isn't far off.

Some nurses prefer this type cap, say that the old kind tends to slip off head.

Stylish jacket replaces nurse's apron, is worn over cool seersucker uniform.

temperature changes that range from 112 degrees in the shade to sub-zero. You will carry two sets of clothing, one for the tropics and one for the Arctic, which you may pass through in the same day.

Though practically all of your traveling will be done by plane, you still must be prepared to get the pouches through by horse, camel—even oxcart.

Yet despite the millions of miles traveled by U.S. couriers—Frank Phillips, recently retired after 20 years, alone clocked 3 million miles—only 5 have lost their lives. But many have risked their lives to see their pouches safely delivered.

Courier Frank P. Irwin, whose plane crashed on a hillside near Vienna, clung to his pouches even though severely injured. He steeled himself against unconsciousness until the embassy security officer relieved him of his responsibility.

HE'S ON HIS OWN

American diplomatic pouches are not fitted with self-destruct devices. If a courier feels that his pouches are in danger of falling into the wrong hands, he must use his own initiative to destroy their contents. He may slit them and let them sink into the sea if a plane has to ditch. He may try to burn them.

His schedule is timed from flight to flight. Any deviation without his warning will start a massive search for him by every facility of the U.S. government.

Through every hour of every day of the year, international secrets are shuttling across the world's borders—our own as well as those of other nations. If you would like to play a part in ensuring the safety of that vital traffic, write for further information to Recruitment Branch, Office of Personnel, Department of State, Washington, D.C. 20520. You may be one of the lucky ones chosen to be a member of Uncle Sam's Diplomatic Courier Service.

The Rev. Danny Graber motorcycles with—and helps—Akron's JD's.

A MINISTER AND HIS GANG

by GENE I. MAEROFF

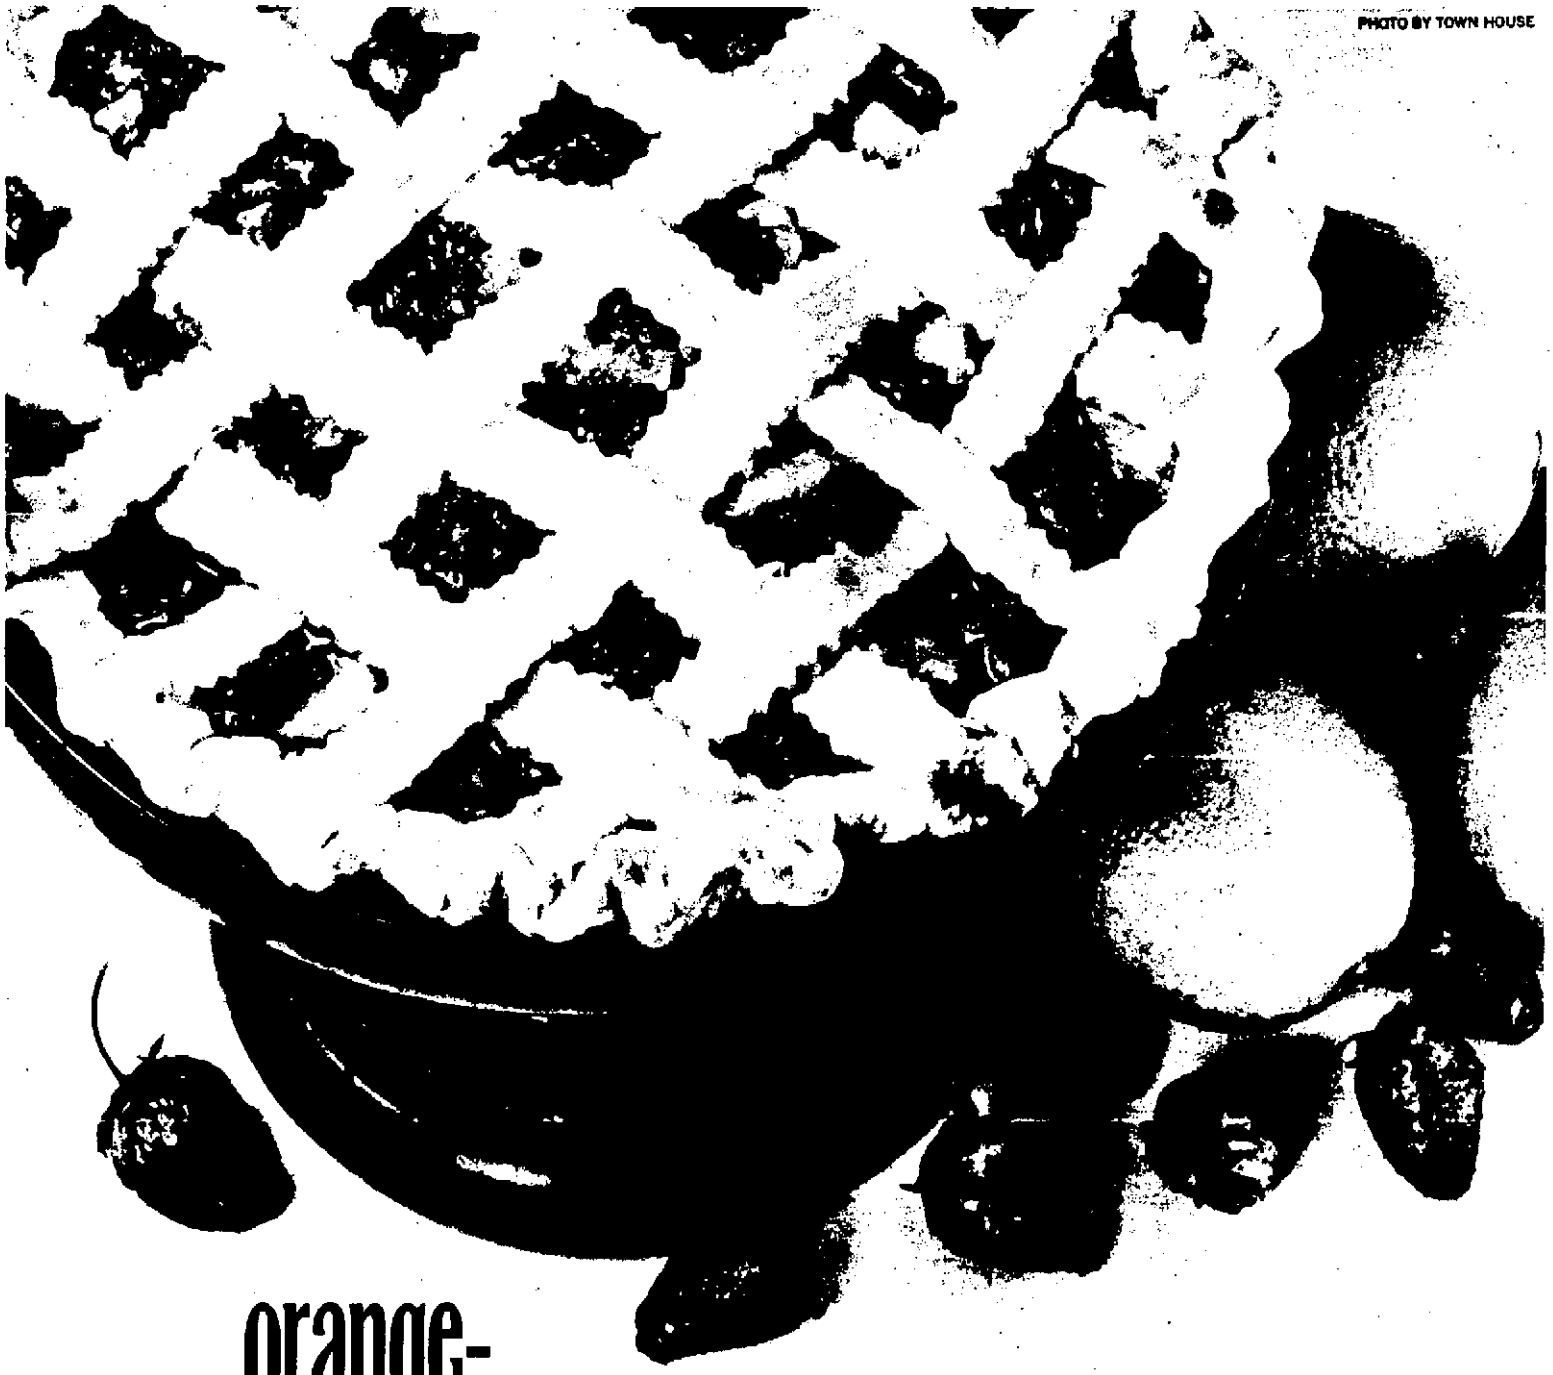

AKRON, OHIO.

A group of tough-looking youngsters saunter out of a grimy pool hall and mount their motorcycles. Leading the pack as they roar off into the night is the toughest-looking one of them all, a brute of a crewcut, 200-pound 6-footer. He's dressed the way the others are, except for a couple of embellishments: a clerical collar and a cross.

Almost every night the Rev. Danny Graber leads some of his "flock"—juvenile delinquents and young hoods—from the hangouts of this industrial city's toughest neighborhoods to the Main St. Methodist Church. They go for bull sessions and for workouts in the church gym— sometimes for private sparring sessions that are anything but friendly.

"These kids are just hanging around," says Danny, who at 23 is younger than some of his charges. "Now they know they can drift over to the church and hang around there. There they can be sure of keeping out of trouble at least, and we sometimes get some worthwhile talking done. Other guys use the gym to work off steam and sometimes grudges. I try to make them use the gloves, but if they want to do it street style, it's all right; I don't let anybody get really hurt—and nobody's going to get arrested here."

PARADE FOOD EDITOR

Looking for a sensational new dessert that is pleasing both to the eye and the palate? Combine strawberries and golden orange slices and bake them in a beautiful pie with a lattice topping of crisp pastry. It's a delicious new flavor combination, certain to delight your guests. Serve for festive tea time or a party dinner.

orange-strawberry pie

1 package pie crust mix
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons grated orange peel
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
2 cups orange sections
2 cups washed and hulled strawberries
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Prepare pie crust mix as directed on package. Roll out 2/3 of pastry on lightly floured board or pastry cloth; fit into 9-inch pie pan. Combine sugar, orange peel, salt and tapioca. Arrange half the fruit in pie pan; sprinkle with half the sugar mixture. Repeat; dot with butter. Roll out remaining pastry; cut into strips. Arrange lattice fashion on top of pie; secure ends. Flute edges. Bake at 425° for 30 minutes. Cool before cutting.

Bull sessions and working off steam are just a part of the unique program Danny Graber has established. "This is no recreation project," he emphasizes. "But the first thing to do is get the kids interested in coming here. I don't try to force anything on them or preach at them, but I do invite them to our daytime sessions, where we really go to work on their problems."

Danny uses what he calls the week-by-week system in his sessions. "The guys talk about what happened last week—what went right, what went wrong. Then we talk about what we'd like to happen next week. It's sort of the way Alcoholics Anonymous works."

While the church doesn't officially attempt to help these youngsters find work, Danny and others do what they can in this area. "If a kid is employable and I hear of a job, I try to get them together," he says. "We also try to get the younger ones back to school; if they need work we sometimes work out a part-time deal—a few days at school, a few at work. The important thing is to get them started in some direction. At this age—between 17 and 25—most people make up their minds what they want to do in life. We hope to help them make the right kind of decisions."

The key to Danny's program—and to his own attitude toward life—is his use of Christ as an example and the way he introduces Him to his youngsters. "Most of these guys have this image of Jesus as a soft, gentle person who had long hair and wore a flowing robe. He looked like their older sister. But I try to present Him as a real, dynamic guy, one who can break your head as well as save your soul. It seems to work."

It was while Danny was serving a hitch in the Navy, right after graduating from high school, that he formed his ideas about Christ. "I'd been exposed to religion, sure, just like most of the kids I work with here, but it didn't mean anything to me. But while I was in the Navy I was stuck in the hospital for a while with a case of food poisoning, and there happened to be a Bible handy. Since I was bored and had nothing else to do, I started to read it. I can't put my finger on anything specific, but somehow I began to think there might be something to this religion bit."

BIBLE SESSIONS

Soon after he got out of the hospital he spoke to some of his buddies about his reactions to the Bible and asked them if they'd like to give it a similar try. "It's kind of funny, looking back on it, but pretty soon there I was, leading regular Bible study sessions."

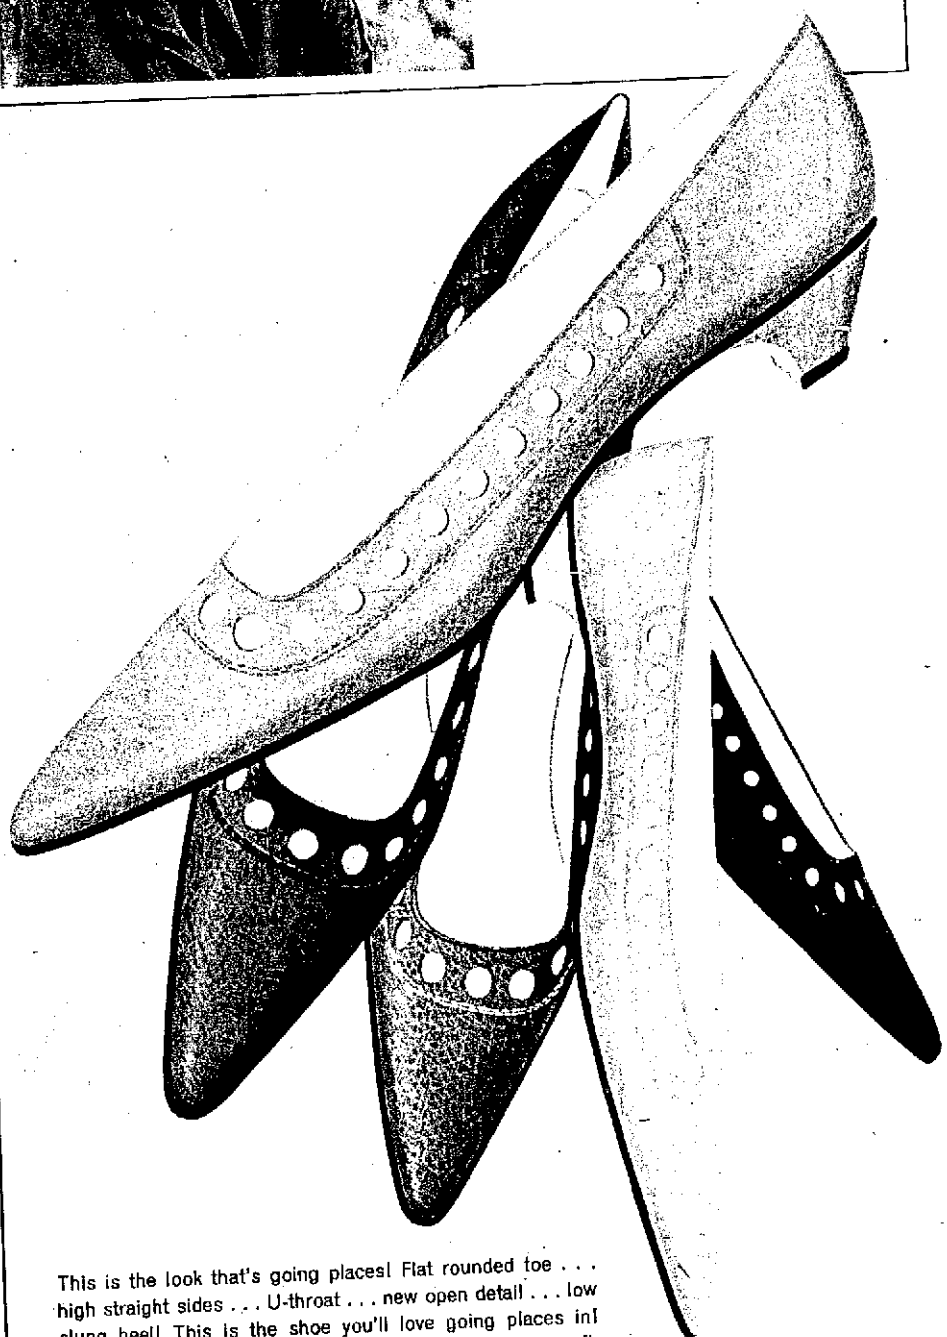

Danny went right from the Navy to Evangelical Congregational School of Theology in Myerstown, Pa. While he was there he started his work with delinquent youngsters. He started a similar program in his home town of Canton, Ohio, after graduation and licensing, but didn't get the support he felt he needed. Then the pastor of Main St. Methodist Church heard about his work and invited him to Akron last December. Danny's work since then has been so effective that he's now helping other churches here set up similar programs.

"I don't expect other ministers to go out the way I do and hang out with kids who would just as soon beat up a minister as look at him. But they can go out in their neighborhoods, where the kids live, and offer them the same kind of help I offer. The important thing is to make them want to come in, not to force them or make it an obligation."

Danny doesn't say so, but it's doubtful that anyone else would dare try to work the way he does with young hoods. "The photographer who was assigned to this story didn't mind taking pictures in the church's gym, but he wouldn't come out at night with me," Danny says with a smile. But every night Danny himself rides his motorcycle into this city's most dangerous areas, with nothing but his 200 pounds of muscle for protection—together with his faith and understanding. Wily racketeers reap huge profits by selling bogus perfume at so-called bargain prices.

THE PERFUME RACKET

by ROBERT MACKIN and CHARLES W. STICKLE

The bootlegger and the counterfeiter have joined forces, and the victim is the fashion-conscious American woman.

Using techniques long identified with the manufacture of illicit liquors and the printing of bogus currency, racketeers are turning out an equally spurious product—bogus perfume.

Working in clandestine laboratories, these brazen operators concoct cheap essences and package their wares in containers which imitate those used by the world's foremost perfume producers.

"Perfume racketeering has become a multimillion-dollar business in the United States," declares John Power Daley, former FBI agent and chief of the Bureau of Ethical Security, a special investigation agency serving the perfume industry.

Daley's bureau, headquartered in New York, has followed the "scent" of the perfume racketeer to cities throughout the country. Both the Federal Trade Commission and the U.S. Pure Food and Drug Administration have begun to crack down.

Kenneth Willson, president of the National Better Business Bureau, says, "These racketeers reap fantastic profits at the expense of consumers and legitimate manufacturers, both foreign and domestic."

In Los Angeles recently, hundreds of housewives paid door-to-door salesmen $5 an ounce for what they thought was an exclusive French perfume. The package design, label and bottle shape were identical in every detail to the genuine product. The imitation cost the counterfeiters 12¢ an ounce.

In Miami, detectives posing as itinerant salesmen eager to get in on the racket obtained "homebrew" perfume in 2,000 half-ounce bottles bearing the label of another famous brand. The detectives paid $450 for the bogus merchandise. If genuine, it would have sold for $27,000 on the legitimate market.

Analysis of the bogus substance, which actually had been concocted in a bathtub, revealed that its fragrance was similar to that of the brand that bootleggers attempted to imitate. But the scent vanished quickly after application to the skin, contrary to the lasting fragrance of quality perfume.

a ready market

Bogus perfume suppliers and their pushers find department stores and smaller retail outlets closed to them, but a ready market exists through door-to-door solicitation, mail order promotions and street corner sales. They offer cut rate prices, backed up by fast talk. They claim their supply was obtained from "going out of business sales," bankrupt merchants, overstocked warehouses.

Hundreds of residents of Charlotte, N.C., were the victims of hucksters who offered 1-ounce bottles of "perfume" at $8.75, about one-third the retail cost of the genuine product. A chain reaction of sales was triggered in office buildings when businessmen and their secretaries telephoned co-workers. Few who heard of the deal could contain their enthusiasm and passed the word on to others. One man was reported to have purchased $300 worth as gifts.

Frequently, the same bogus wares are unloaded on women's clubs and charity organizations. Not long ago, fund raisers for one of the temperature changes that range from 112 degrees in the shade to sub-zero. You will carry two sets of clothing, one for the tropics and one for the Arctic, which you may pass through in the same day.

Though practically all of your traveling will be done by plane, you still must be prepared to get the pouches through by horse, camel—even oxcart.

Yet despite the millions of miles traveled by U.S. couriers—Frank Phillips, recently retired after 20 years, alone clocked 3 million miles—only 5 have lost their lives. But many have risked their lives to see their pouches safely delivered.

Courier Frank P. Irwin, whose plane crashed on a hillside near Vienna, clung to his pouches even though severely injured. He steeled himself against unconsciousness until the embassy security officer relieved him of his responsibility.

HE'S ON HIS OWN

American diplomatic pouches are not fitted with self-destruct devices. If a courier feels that his pouches are in danger of falling into the wrong hands, he must use his own initiative to destroy their contents. He may slit them and let them sink into the sea if a plane has to ditch. He may try to burn them.

His schedule is timed from flight to flight. Any deviation without his warning will start a massive search for him by every facility of the U.S. government.

Through every hour of every day of the year, international secrets are shuttling across the world's borders—our own as well as those of other nations. If you would like to play a part in ensuring the safety of that vital traffic, write for further information to Recruitment Branch, Office of Personnel, Department of State, Washington, D.C. 20520. You may be one of the lucky ones chosen to be a member of Uncle Sam's Diplomatic Courier Service.

best-known and most reputable charity drives in the United States sold counterfeit purse-size dispensers until its directors were informed of the fraud. They had been the dupes of a slick promoter who painted a rosy picture of profits to be made through the sale of a well-known brand of perfume.

"Divergence," the term used by the legitimate industry to denote the rebottling of cologne and toilet water and its resale as perfume, is one of the commonest tricks of the promoters.

A Midwestern bootlegger peddled large quantities of toilet water, claiming it was expensive perfume bottled especially for the Seattle World's Fair.

Another divergence cheat victimized hundreds of housewives in the New York area. He purchased 8-ounce bottles of a well-known toilet water which sells for $10 in retail stores. He rebottled it in purse flacons containing 1 dram (one-sixteenth of an ounce) and sold them for $1 each—a 600 per cent profit.

The divergence swindle numbers among its victims the president of a New Jersey women's club, who purchased 6 dozen flacons to be sold in a fund-raising drive.

"I paid $4 for the same purse-size containers in department stores, and when they were offered for only $1 each, I thought I had a real buy," she admitted.

Many perfume racketeers imprint such deceptive phrases as "originated in Paris," "created in France," "exclusive French formula" on packages of domestically manufactured perfume.

phony code

A frequent ruse is the initialing gimmick. The experience of a Long Island aircraft worker provides a case in point. On a visit to his wife, who had given birth to their third son, he noticed a sign outside the hospital gift shop, suggesting the purchase of perfume sprays. It contained the following code: A—Arpege; WS—White Shoulders; C—Chanel; MS—My Sin.

He asked the clerk for Chanel. Only after his wife opened the gift was it apparent that except for the letter "C" neither the package nor the bottle contained any reference to the well-known brand. He reported the incident to the hospital administrator, who found that a clerk had purchased the initialed packages from an unknown salesman.

This is a favorite device of perfume racketeers who sell through the mails. Coeds at several Midwestern universities who ordered perfume from mail order catalogues have been victims of the initialing gimmick.

Alert to the rampant growth of the racket, retail stores are continually on guard.

Louis Sisapel, former New York City police captain, now chief investigator for the Better Business Bureau of Metropolitan New York, points out that established retail outlets deal only with the same wholesalers and distributors year after year.

Sisapel can recall only a single instance where a phony shipment reached the counters of a reputable retailer. On that occasion, investigators traced the shipment to a Long Island discount house. The fake packages were immediately removed from the shelves when the store manager learned of the fraud.

tourists beware

Sisapel does point out, however, that counterfeit shipments are being moved from New York to Honduras in Central America for distribution to gift shops catering to tourists in Mexico and the Caribbean resort area. Victimized American vacationers have no recourse. When they discover the fraud they are back home and can do little about it.

But even in the United States, despite the barriers presented by the established retailer and legitimate manufacturers, perfume racketeers dupe consumers and reap large profits because loopholes in existing laws give them wide freedom of operation.

The United States Trademark Association believes laws with "teeth" at the state and federal levels would help reduce counterfeiting of trademarks and labels.

Only two states, New York and California, prohibit rebottling of cologne or toilet water.

Concerned by legal loopholes, the Federal Trade Commission has ruled that when cologne or toilet water is rebottled in containers "usually associated with perfume," the package must disclose that the product is not perfume.

Ex-FBI man Daley, whose Bureau of Ethical Security has investigated hundreds of cases, reports that many racketeers consider the civil penalties which may be imposed on them as part of the cost of doing business.

Because detection of carefully counterfeited packages is nearly impossible except by experts, the racket persists and its slick operators continue to gyp consumers. However, you can avoid being duped if you buy from reputable retail stores and shun "bargains."

"The manufacturer of high-quality perfume uses costly materials which preclude bargains of the type offered by the perfume racketeer," Daley says.

What he means is that you get what you pay for.

PAIN is the test that BAYER® meets best

What's more, here's how Bayer Aspirin meets the test of competition.

Reporting on a government-financed study of five leading pain relievers, an article in The Journal of The American Medical Association shows:

For speed and strength of relief, Bayer Aspirin is unsurpassed by any product tested, including the so called "extra-strength" one that claims to be 50% stronger.

Of special concern, the product that claims to be 50% stronger than aspirin does upset the stomach with significantly greater frequency than Bayer Aspirin.

In fact, Bayer Aspirin is as gentle to the stomach as any product tested, including the higher-priced buffered product.

Wily racketeers reap huge profits by selling bogus perfume at so-called bargain prices.

THE PERFUME RACKET

by ROBERT MACKIN and CHARLES W. STICKLE

The bootlegger and the counterfeiter have joined forces, and the victim is the fashion-conscious American woman.

Using techniques long identified with the manufacture of illicit liquors and the printing of bogus currency, racketeers are turning out an equally spurious product—bogus perfume.

Working in clandestine laboratories, these brazen operators concoct cheap essences and package their wares in containers which imitate those used by the world's foremost perfume producers.

"Perfume racketeering has become a multi-million-dollar business in the United States," declares John Power Daley, former FBI agent and chief of the Bureau of Ethical Security, a special investigation agency serving the perfume industry.

Daley's bureau, headquartered in New York, has followed the "scent" of the perfume racketeer to cities throughout the country. Both the Federal Trade Commission and the U.S. Pure Food and Drug Administration have begun to crack down.

Kenneth Willson, president of the National Better Business Bureau, says, "These racketeers reap fantastic profits at the expense of consumers and legitimate manufacturers, both foreign and domestic."

In Los Angeles recently, hundreds of housewives paid door-to-door salesmen $5 an ounce for what they thought was an exclusive French perfume. The package design, label and bottle shape were identical in every detail to the genuine product. The imitation cost the counterfeiters 12¢ an ounce.

In Miami, detectives posing as itinerant salesmen eager to get in on the racket obtained "homebrew" perfume in 2,000 half-ounce bottles bearing the label of another famous brand. The detectives paid $450 for the bogus merchandise. If genuine, it would have sold for $27,000 on the legitimate market.

Analysis of the bogus substance, which actually had been concocted in a bathtub, revealed that its fragrance was similar to that of the brand that bootleggers attempted to imitate. But the scent vanished quickly after application to the skin, contrary to the lasting fragrance of quality perfume.

a ready market

Bogus perfume suppliers and their pushers find department stores and smaller retail outlets closed to them, but a ready market exists through door-to-door solicitation, mail order promotions and street corner sales. They offer cut rate prices, backed up by fast talk. They claim their supply was obtained from "going out of business sales," bankrupt merchants, overstocked warehouses.

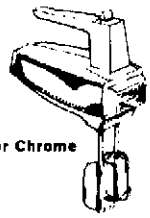

Hundreds of residents of Charlotte, N.C., were the victims of hucksters who offered 1-ounce bottles of "perfume" at $8.75, about one-third the retail cost of the genuine product. A chain reaction of sales was triggered in office buildings when businessmen and their secretaries telephoned co-workers. Few who heard of the deal could contain their enthusiasm and passed the word on to others. One man was reported to have purchased $300 worth as gifts.

Frequently, the same bogus wares are unloaded on women's clubs and charity organizations. Not long ago, fund raisers for one of the

TARITA WITH SIMON TEHOTU, BRANDO'S SON.

BRANDO BABY.

Four years ago when MGM went to Tahiti to film Mutiny on the Bounty for the second time, a beautiful native dancer of 19 from Bora Bora who had worked as a cook at Les Tropiques hotel in Papeete, was signed at $96 a week to play Marlon Brando's girl friend in the film. Her name was shortened from Taritatum a Teripaiam to Tarita, and eventually she was flown to Hollywood where the film was finished. Interviewed then by a PARADE reporter, Tarita explained that she considered Brando a charming and considerate gentleman—"But I love him only in Hollywood. In Papeete I am most in love with another man. He is Danish. His name is Christianson Jorlen. He wants me to marry him. Marlon has never mentioned marriage. I don't know if it is good for Tahitian vahine [woman] to marry white man." In May 1963, Tarita gave birth to a boy in Tahiti. She named him Simon Tehotu. A few months ago, in a custody battle for his 6-year-old son by his former wife, actress Anna Kashfi, Brando, now 40 and rapidly balding, declared that Simon Tehotu is his son. Ever since, Tarita has been pursued by reporters and photographers who want to know if her 2-year-old son is like his father. Her answer: "Yes, he is very clever." Will she raise Simon in the United States? "Never. He is too happy here." Does she plan to abandon her career as an actress? "Yes, even though I have a contract." Is there any chance she will marry Mr. Brando? "He is still married to his second wife." Living in Tahiti with her child, visited intermittently by Brando, Tarita felt she was far removed from the news centers of the world, could raise her son in idyllic peace. Unfortunately, her secret son is no longer a secret. He is part of the public record.

PARADE'S SPECIAL - INTELLIGENCE REPORT

CAREERS AND HOW THEY PAY.

On the basis of the 1960 census interviews, the Department of Labor has recently made public the estimated annual earnings of male workers in some 300 different occupations. Herewith some popular occupations and their median -- halfway between the highest and lowest -- annual earnings. Remember, these figures are now 5 years old, and earnings have increased considerably:

Physicians	$14,561
Managers	12,757
Dentists	11,858
Lawyers, judges	10,587
Pilots, navigators	10,274
College presidents, deans	9,704
Chemists	7,120
Stenographers	5,379
Elementary schoolteachers	5,201

TARITA WITH SIMON TEHOTU, BRANDO'S SON.

BRANDO BABY. Four years ago when MGM went to Tahiti to film Mutiny on the Bounty for the second time, a beautiful native dancer of 19 from Bora Bora who had worked as a cook at Les Tropiques hotel in Papeete, was signed at $96 a week to play Marlon Brando's girl friend in the film. Her name was shortened from Taritatum a Teripaiam to Tarita, and eventually she was flown to Hollywood where the film was finished. Interviewed then by a PARADE reporter, Tarita explained that she considered Brando a charming and considerate gentleman—"But I love him only in Hollywood. In Papeete I am most in love with another man. He is Danish. His name is Christianson Jorlen. He wants me to marry him. Marlon has never mentioned marriage. I don't know if it is good for Tahitian vahine [woman] to marry white man." In May 1963, Tarita gave birth to a boy in Tahiti. She named him Simon Tehotu. A few months ago, in a custody battle for his 6-year-old son by his former wife, actress Anna Kashfi, Brando, now 40 and rapidly balding, declared that Simon Tehotu is his son. Ever since, Tarita has been pursued by reporters and photographers who want to know if her 2-year-old son is like his father. Her answer: "Yes, he is very clever." Will she raise Simon in the United States? "Never. He is too happy here." Does she plan to abandon her career as an actress? "Yes, even though I have a contract." Is there any chance she will marry Mr. Brando? "He is still married to his second wife." Living in Tahiti with her child, visited intermittently by Brando, Tarita felt she was far removed from the news centers of the world, could raise her son in idyllic peace. Unfortunately, her secret son is no longer a secret. He is part of the public record.

UNDERCOVER GARMENTS.
